CAMPBELL'S PURPOSE

Ad astra per aspera

Implicit in this old Latin motto, adopted during the dark days of Reconstruction in the Old South, are beliefs, aims and objectives that have guided this institution through ever-changing circumstances without. Campbell's rise from a community school of sixteen students to eminence as a great southern academy and later to its present standing among the State's largest church-related senior colleges is illustrative of what perseverance can accomplish in scaling the heights. It is a matter of common knowledge that Campbell College has always unapologetically affirmed her faith in an omnipotent, omniscient and benevolent Creator, who with singularity of purpose ever controls man's destiny; in the potentialities of mankind when properly related to his Creator; in the competence of liberal arts education to free men to live more abundantly in a democratic society.

Based on the conviction that in Christian Education is to be found "the unifying principle of the total college experience," Campbell's purpose as an educational institution has ever been:

1. To inspire youth with vistas of a better life through study, recreation, fellowship and guidance,

2. To discover and transmit within the context of the liberal arts curriculum truth about man, his origin and nature, and his ever-expanding environment.

3. To equip the student as a more efficient participant in the world's work through incorporation of certain vocational, pre-professional and professional courses of study, chosen upon the basis of student demands and institutional adequacy. Such courses, at present available, include the following:

1. Professional Four-Year Curricula:

- (1) primary and secondary education
- (2) sacred music
- (3) religious education for church educational directors
- (4) business administration

2. Four-year Pre-professional Curricula, leading toward law, medicine, dentistry, and the Christian ministry.

3. First Two years of Pre-professional and Vocational Courses of Study, leading to degrees in home economics, nursing, medical technology, engineering, agriculture, forestry, industrial arts, and textiles.

4. Two-year and One-Year Terminal Courses in secretarial science and bookkeeping.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Campbell College for years has been fully accredited as a junior college, holding membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, in the American Association of Junior Colleges, in the North Carolina College Conference, and in the Conference of Church-Related Colleges of North Carolina. During the transition to senior-college status the institution is operating with a strengthened faculty in pursuit of even higher standards. Hence its lower division should continue to enjoy the accreditation earned by its years of distinguished service.

The policy of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools toward all new senior colleges is to require the graduation of three senior classes before the college may apply for accreditation. Campbell will graduate its third senior class in 1965. The North Carolina College Conference requires the graduation of only one senior class before the institution may ask for accreditation. Campbell College expects to meet the full requirements of both of these agencies and apply for accreditation as a Senior College at the earliest permissible dates.

Students of Campbell's first graduating classes may be assured the full recognition accorded graduates of new colleges. They have additional assurance in the fact that Campbell is already recognized as a well established institution. Campbell's capable graduates should continue to find ready acceptance as they begin professional life or graduate to higher training in other institutions.

This claim is based upon a record of more than seventy years of public service in education,

HISTORICAL SKETCH

“Blest and distinguished days! which we should prize The first, the kindest bounty of the skies.”

I.

An Humble Beginning

1887 – 1900

On January 5, 1887, Campbell College had its beginning in a small one-room building, forty-eight by twenty-two feet in dimensions, newly built by local citizens for starting a community school.

President J. A. Campbell assumed full financial responsibility for maintaining the institution numbering on its opening day sixteen students, though rather pretentiously called Buie's Creek Academy. While the school was hardly expected to run for more than five months, a surprising growth during the first spring led to the addition of an east wing on the little building, eighteen by twenty-four feet for a primary department. A west wing was added in 1893, eighteen by thirty. By 1896 the growth in enrollment prompted the construction of a three-story annex, fifty by thirty-six feet, with a front projection, fourteen by sixteen feet. The new structure, now 136 feet in length, contained six large classrooms, an Art hall, a Commercial hall, two nicely furnished literary society halls, and a library room. On December 20, 1900, on the closing day of the fall term, this entire building was swept away by fire, probably at the hands of an incendiary.

II.

Resurgence Out of the Ashes

1900 – 1903

All that saved the institution from extinction, probably, was a large, open, unfloored tabernacle, eighty by ninety feet, erected in the spring of 1898 for Commencement exercises. Thanks to the heroic efforts of students, patrons, and other friends, within twenty days seven commodious classrooms were improvised and equipped in this roughly constructed tabernacle, and school reopened on January 8, 1901. These temporary quarters kept the school intact and growing for three years until the completion of the present Kivett Building.

The erection of old Kivett was one of the greatest, most sacrificial ventures ever undertaken by the school. With no money and no large contributors in sight, situated in a community remote from any railroad and made even more inaccessible by bad roads, President Campbell and his associates set about the construction of a brick building to cost the fabulous sum, at that time, of $30,000. Friends subscribed nickles and dimes to buy bricks; students without money cut cord wood to burn the brick made locally and supplied brick to masons on the job. The genius of the whole construction was Z. T. Kivett, who burned the brick and over a three-year period directed the erection of the building as money and credits were slowly obtained.

1903 - 1926

From the very first session in 1887 an increasing number of boarding students from this and other states continued to enter Buie's Creek Academy. In the absence of dormitory facilities all boarding students prior to 1913 had to be cared for in private homes. At the opening of that year Treat Dormitory, the first dormitory for girls, named in honor of M. C. Treat, generous benefactor and friend, was dedicated. Not until 1923 was the first residence hall for boys provided. Due to changing social conditions and growing enrollments, the construction of an annex to this first residence hall for men and the remodeling of Pearson Building later provided additional housing accommodations for men. Some idea of the growing influence of the institution is indicated by the fact that total enrollment in 1925 included 380 boarding students from seventy counties in the state and seven states in the nation. Of the institution Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy, wrote: "If every section of the state had such an Academy, North Carolina would in a few years take front rank in education."

1926 - 1961

The first step in transition from complete private ownership by J. A. Campbell to possession by North Carolina Baptists came in 1911 when under the name of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., twenty trustees, elected by the Little River Association, controlled Treat dormitory. Later the library was deeded by its donor, D. Rich, to the denomination. In 1925 all the property owned by J. A. Campbell and wife, together with that controlled by the local Association, was deeded to the Baptist State Convention, in whose hands it is now held.

In the fall of 1926, with the consent of the Baptist Board of Education, the institution added a year of college work, and the Baptist State Convention of the same year authorized the advancement of the institution to the rank of a junior college. The Convention, by the adoption of the Hamby resolution, which follows, changed the school's name:

"In view of the fact that our brother, Dr. J. A. Campbell, working strenuously and untiringly through a period of forty years, has built a great school at Buies Creek, known through the years as Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., and recently changed from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College.

"Whereas, it is eminently fitting that such devotion to the cause of education should be kept in memory perpetually, and the name and work of Brother Campbell be preserved as a cherished memorial of North Carolina Baptists, be it

"Resolved, that the Baptist State Convention now in session, request its Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to change the name from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College."

The college received immediate recognition by the State Department of Education and in 1941 was accepted as a fully accredited junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"To the stars through difficulties," originally adopted as the school motto, accurately describes the struggles as a junior college for the ensuing thirty-five years. From a total enrollment during the first college year (1926-1927) of 53 college students, plus 352 in high school and 333 in the elementary grades, the institution grew by its last year of operation as a junior college during 1960-1961 to an enrollment of 1,220 students, of whom 1,056 were in college and 164 were high school and sub-freshman enrollees. Some three million dollars had been expended in the enlargement and expansion of the college. But this record of achievement has not been easy. Through the depression years in the 1930's the college operated without endowment and without current support from the Baptist State Convention until 1937. The Founder and President died in 1934. The second World War all but stripped the campus of male students. During the 1950-1960 decade the college enjoyed its greatest growth in plant expansion and enrollment.

Aspiring to New Heights as a Senior College!

1961 —

In the spring of 1958 in its special session the Baptist State Convention authorized the Campbell College Board of Trustees, "in the light of its rapid expansion since 1950, the need for a senior coeducational Baptist college in the east, and the enthusiasm of its alumni concerning the future of the school (to) consider converting the institution into a senior college as soon as they think desirable and possible to do so." In the light of these instructions, the administration and trustees adopted plans for the orderly advancement to senior college status by adding the junior year in 1961-1962 and the senior year in 1962-1963. During the first full year as a senior college the fall enrollment in 1962 reached an all-time high of 1,730 students including a senior class of 164.

CLASSROOMS

D. RICH MEMORIAL BUILDING (1926). This fire-resistant structure of tapestry-faced brick and Indiana limestone was constructed with that portion of the D. Rich bequest, approximately $160,000, available at Mr. Rich's death. The building, 160 feet long and 120 feet wide, contains classrooms, lecture halls, teachers' offices, and an auditorium to seat 1,250.

J. CLYDE TURNER CHAPEL. In October 1961 the Board of Trustees, prompted by the deep desire to exalt worship as the pre-eminent function of the auditorium in D. Rich Memorial Building, as well as by the intention to associate permanently with its chapel the names of two distinguished Baptists, long time friends of Campbell College, voted unanimously to name the chapel in honor of Dr. J. Clyde Turner and wife, Bertha Hicks Turner. Such action called for complete renovation and installation of improved facilities prior to the formal dedicatory exercises on January 25, 1963.

KIVETT BUILDING (1903). Completion of this massive structure named for Z. T. Kivett, the builder, required nearly three years (May 23, 1901 to November 2, 1903). At present its lower two stories house the college bookstore, several classrooms and teachers offices. It was used by the local elementary school until 1948, when it was converted into a science hall and was thus used until the fall of 1962.

MATHEMATICS HALL (1923). Started by a $2,500 gift of Mr. D. Rich toward a temporary auditorium and gymnasium, this brick-veneered structure, 60 by 90 feet, served as a gymnasium from 1924 to 1953. In 1956 it was converted for use by the department of mathematics and the public relations and development staffs. Removal of public relations and development in 1961 permits its further modification for classroom use.

MUSIC AND ART CENTER (1947). The Music and Art departments are for the present housed in two frame buildings, 20 by 48 feet each, erected in the post-war years by the Federal Works Administration for the training of war veterans. These buildings have been substantially renovated and redesigned within to provide adequate studios, practice rooms and classrooms for these two departments.

FRED N. DAY COTTAGE (1936). In 1925 the Rev. Fred N. Day, purchasing a seven-room residence and about two adjacent acres, gave them to Buie's Creek Academy as a home for married students. When Campbell installed home economics in 1936, the building was renovated to provide space for practical training on the cottage plan. With the removal of the home economics department to the new Science Building in 1962 the building is now used as a kindergarten and temporary art studios.

SCIENCE BUILDING (1962). Realizing the strategic place of science in the future preparation of youth in this atomic age, nothing has been spared in the planning and construction of this new three and one-half story structure. Its 44,000 square feet provides spaciouly for physics, biology, chemistry, and home economics. On the first floor is a small auditorium seating 175 to accommodate science lecture groups as well as for other cultural purposes. Included in its modern conveniences are air conditioning and elevator service.

LIBRARY

CARRIE RICH MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1925). This building consisted originally of two large reading rooms, stack rooms, and librarian's office. In planning it as a memorial to his wife, the one intention of Mr. D. Rich, the donor, was to have the building as flawless and beautiful as was the Christian character of his beloved wife.

The college in 1956 erected an addition, harmonious with the original and three times its size, making the library adequate to store 30,000 volumes and to accommodate in the reading rooms 200 students at one time.

WILLIAM PEARSON HALL (1915). This building bears the name of the man who in 1887 made the first canvass for funds to establish this institution. Until his death on May 25, 1915, he became permanently identified with the school as father-in-law of the founder and active supporter by word and purse.

Pearson Hall was constructed with money borrowed from Harnett County and repaid by the principal by teaching the public school for this district. It was first used by the elementary department of the school; later converted in 1926 into a music hall; used from 1948 until 1962 as a Men's dormitory; at present used as a library annex and as teacher's offices.

THEATRE

PAUL GREEN THEATRE (1934). Located in a grove between Mathematics Hall and the D. Rich Memorial Building under an arch of

D. Rich Memorial Building

Layton Dormitory

South Dormitory

John S. Pearson Memorial Infirmary

oaks and pines, this three-stage amphitheatre is a naturally beautiful and acoustically excellent setting for outdoor musicals and dramas. It was designed by Paul Green distinguished poet and playwright, who is a graduate of Buies Creek Academy. Mr. Green himself supervised the construction of the amphitheatre in 1933-34. Through many performances, including repeated productions of Mr. Green's own symphonic drama "The Highland Call," Campbell players, musicians, and their patrons have enjoyed this contribution to the cultural life of the college.

ATHLETIC FIELD

HERBERT B. TAYLOR ATHLETIC FIELD. This well-lighted athletic field was purchased some years ago to provide for the growing college enrollments. Mr. Herbert B. Taylor of Dunn, N. C., athlete and sports lover, father of the nationally famous Knee-Pants Baseball League, sponsored the necessary park improvements, including stands for the spectators. His deep interest in Campbell College has been over and over expressed in his benefactions and in his devoted services on the Board of Trustees. In recognition of these services the Trustees named the athletic field in his honor.

DORMITORIES

JONES DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1954). By subsequent action by the trustees this building was named in honor of William Hubert Jones and Lula Bostic Jones, faithful trustees and benefactors. Rooms in this modern, fire-resistant building for 72 students are arranged in suites with connecting baths. Each is equipped with built-in closet, chest of drawers, study table, and vanity dresser. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. Lounges on the three floors supplement the reception center, which is equipped with kitchenette and with folding partitions for smaller groupings.

FRED N. DAY DORMITORY (1959). This modern dormitory for 78 students was accomplished by reconstructing a three-story, fire-resistant structure, adding wings to the north and south and a portico to its eastern exposure. As reconstructed, it is similar in appointments to New Dormitory, described above. Day Dormitory, as first built in 1937, replaced the Fred N. Day Annex, a two-story frame building destroyed by fire on December 15, 1936.

TREAT DORMITORY (1913). Treat Dormitory has thirty-two rooms and a large basement, which is now used as a recreation room for the women's campus. It is named for M. C. Treat of California, deceased, the largest contributor to its construction.

POWELL DORMITORY (1960). This three-story dormitory, accommodating sixty young women, is modern in construction and equipment throughout. It is adjoined to Treat Dormitory by a connecting lobby and reception room. By order of the Board of Trustees this attractive building has been named in honor of Misses Mabel and Nell Powell to commemorate their years of faithful service and loyalty as teachers and devoted friends of Campbell College.

JAMES E. AND MARY Z. BRYAN DORMITORY (1961). This dormitory, located on the newly acquired tract of land back of Treat, is in many respects the most modern and attractive on the campus. The building is a cluster of twelve one-story apartment units, grouped around an interior court and joined by an exterior wall and roof. One section provides a reception center, a guest room and quarters for the faculty counselor. Each unit consists of four bedrooms, a living room and bath, to accommodate eight young women. The building is named in memory of James E. Bryan, alumnus and successful businessman, and wife, Mary Z. Bryan.

LAYTON DORMITORY (1923). Layton Hall contains 45 rooms for men in its main section. In 1928 an annex of thirteen rooms was built with money given by the late B. N. Duke. Because of the "singular service to the cause of Christ" rendered by Mrs. Joel G. Layton of Lillington, N. C., and her late husband, and because of their generous support of the institution through the years, the Board of Trustees on March 22, 1951, unanimously directed that the main section of this building "be henceforth known as Layton Dormitory."

W. S. BRITT DORMITORY (1947). Constructed with funds supplied by many friends, this twenty-seven-room, fire-resistant dormitory for men is named for an alumnus, W. S. Britt of Lumberton, the largest benefactor.

J. F. KITCHIN DORMITORY FOR MEN (1955). This three-story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 96 men. Each room has built-in closets, chest of drawers, study table, and lavatory. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. A single-story section provides a guest room, accommodations for the dean of men, and a parlor for student use.

NEW DORMITORY FOR MEN (1959). This three story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 102 men. It is similar in design and facilities to the J. F. Kitchin building.

CAMPBELLTOWN APARTMENTS. Twelve duplex houses, erected in 1959, accommodate twenty-four married-student and faculty families. Attractively designed, they are supplied with modern built-in conveniences. In 1962 ten other similar houses were added.

CAMPBELL HOME. This house, originally the home of the Founder of Campbell College, about one-half mile from the campus, has been renovated and equipped to accommodate 18 students.

ELLIS APARTMENTS. These apartments for married students were provided in part by W. Caswell Ellis, alumnus, in memory of Ruth Miller Ellis, deceased mother of his two children, and William Caswell Ellis, Jr., who lived a short but beautiful life.

NORTH DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1962). This three story dormitory located behind Bryan Dormitory consists of apartment units, each housing ten young women with a total accommodation for 96 young women.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR MEN (1962). This modern three-story dormitory located to the west of the President's home houses 106 young men. The rooms are arranged in apartment units consisting of five bedrooms, a living room, and bath.

OTHER BUILDINGS

B. P. MARSHBANKS CAFETERIA (1934). Originally planned for 400 students, this cafeteria was constructed with contributions in cash, materials, and labor, supplemented by appropriations from the college budget. In 1957 it was expanded by addition of three dining rooms and much storage space. Stainless steel kitchen equipment was installed, and modern cafeteria counters were provided for three-line service. The cafeteria is now adequate for a student body of well over 1,000.

JOHN S. PEARSON MEMORIAL INFIRMARY (1960). A new health center, designed to be adequate for the present and readily expandable for future needs, was added to the Campbell family of buildings in October, 1960. This provides room for 16 students in two wards and four semi-private rooms. It is carefully designed as space for providing the medical care that is customarily given in first-class college health units. John S. Pearson, for whom the building is named, was at one time business manager of the Biblical Recorder and was for many years business manager of Progressive Farmer. He was the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Pearson Campbell, wife of the Founder. A challenge gift of Mrs. Campbell started the infirmary project.

JAMES A. CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING (1961). This beautiful, commodious structure is a fitting memorial to the Founder of Campbell College and his widow, Cornelia Pearson Campbell, who still lives. The first floor of the two-story structure provides in four spacious suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Students and the Business Manager. Located also on this floor will be found an attractive lobby and a large conference room, called the Trustee Room. The second floor provides adequate office space and facilities for such major programs as college development, public relations, publicity, multigraphing, photography, student guidance, religious activities and chapel direction.

CARTER GYMNASIUM (1952). This attractive, modern structure is named to honor the N. H. Carter Family and to commemorate the invaluable services and benefactions of Harry C. Carter of Greensboro, former president of the Trustees. During Campbell's recent years as a junior college the playing floor, standard gymnasium equipment, offices, and two large classrooms of this building have been adequate for a complete physical education program.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING PLANT (1951). The laundry and dry cleaning plant is one of the most useful auxiliary enterprises of the college.

OTHER EQUIPMENT

CHARLES L. ANDREWS CHAPEL ORGAN. In the summer of 1949 Mr. Charles L. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs, N. C., donated to the college a beautiful Baldwin Electronic organ, complete with chimes, for the spacious auditorium in the D. Rich Administration building. The organ adds much to all worship services held in the auditorium and also makes possible the study of organ by a number of interested music students.

THE J. F. AND KATYE HATCHER BLACKMON CARILLON SYSTEM. This lovely contribution to campus life, installed in 1955 from funds donated by Reverend and Mrs. J. F. Blackmon, coordinates the work of the whole day. Sweet toned, the amplified bells automatically announce the passing of the hours from morning until well in the night. Another most attractive feature is daily vespers, automatically presented.

The system likewise has provision for amplifying recitals from the chapel organ, as well as recordings.

BENEFACCTIONS

"He only does not live in vain who employs his wealth, his thoughts, his speech to advance the good of others."

The work of the institution has from time to time attracted many friends in and out of the State, who have given generously to its needs. Among its largest benefactors have been William Pearson, Z. T. Kivett, M. C. Treat of California, Fred N. Day, D. Rich, B. N. Duke of New York, D. H. Senter, W. C. Ellis, A. L. Byrd, J. F. Kitchin, Mrs. Sarah Baggett Cox, H. C. Carter, W. H. Jones, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, R. L. Pittman, R. A. Hedgpeth, L. A. McLeod, H. B. Taylor, L. D. Isenhour, Lawton Kitchin, and the R. P. Holding Family. These have aided in securing additional buildings and other property, the school water system, and the beginning of an endowment fund. Grateful acknowledgment is hereby made to these and a host of unnamed contributors, to whom the institution owes its origin and perpetuation.

B. N. Duke Gifts

In the spring of 1926 Mr. Duke gave the school $25,000 for the completion of a sewerage system and other needs. Three additional gifts during the year brought his contributions to $50,000.

ENDOWMENT

During the Commencement exercises in 1924, Mr. W. C. Ellis, Greenville, S. C., suggested a plan for increasing the endowment on an insurance plan. Alumni of the school were asked to take a ten-year endowment policy payable to the school for amounts from $100 up. In this way, the members of the senior class in 1925 subscribed about $5,000 to this fund.

Subsequent efforts have increased this endowment fund by several thousand dollars. Pledges and bequests are annually being converted into tangible assets, which are put into safe investments to produce much needed income as a supplement to student fees.

The D. Rich Endowment Fund. September 29, 1923, Mr. D. Rich, while conducting the devotional exercises at chapel, stated that little sleep had come to him on the previous night, because time was spent in talking with the Lord about Buie's Creek. In his soul was born that night, he said, this striking expression: "Buie's Creek must live." After his death on October 21, 1924, his will revealed that he had left the trustees of Buie's Creek Academy one-eighth of his estate. One-half of this amount, approximately $160,000, available at his death, made possible the construction of D. Rich Administration Building.

In August, 1940, Campbell College received from the will of Mr. D. Rich cash and securities valued at $151,669.80. By unanimous vote the trustees at their next annual meeting authorized that the entire amount be allocated to the permanent endowment fund of the college and that it be known thereafter as the D. Rich Endowment Fund.

Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund. Because of his lifelong interest in Campbell College, which is located in his native county, Mr. Allen L. Byrd bequeathed to this institution a share of his estate amounting to approximately $7,500. In the summer of 1941 a partial payment of $6,837 was received. By order of the Board of Trustees the entire amount is to remain intact as a part of the permanent endowment and is to be known as the Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund in memory of the donor.

ERWIN MILLS FOREST

In consideration of the long friendly relationship between Erwin Mills, Inc., and Campbell College in their joint promotion of the economic, social, cultural and religious development of their constituency, Erwin Mills, Inc., graciously donated to Campbell College in 1960 a valuable tract of timberland, containing approximately 150 acres, which the Board of Trustees of the college has designated as Erwin Mills Forest. This property is to be held for the foreseeable future to provide income for current support.

LOAN FUNDS

We are happy to announce the establishment of the following loan funds for worthy students. These sums, coming unsolicited, express the confidence of these benefactors in the work of Campbell College and their sympathy with poor boys and girls struggling for an education. In behalf of those to be blessed by these amounts, we express our thanks for the following loans:

Four-County Loan Fund. This fund of $1,000 was established in the summer of 1941 by a friend interested in helping students who would otherwise be unable to finance their education. Preference is to be given students from the four counties of Harnett, Johnston, Sampson, and Cumberland, "unless college officials deem students from elsewhere more worthy."

Betty Byrd Green Memorial Loan Fund. In memory of Betty Byrd Green, who in 1887 was among the first students to register in this institution, her children, out of deep gratitude for her sacrificial life, her noble character and her keen intellectual interests, created at the commencement of 1941 this fund to aid worthy students.

Page Loan Fund. This loan fund of $500 was established by Mrs. Theresa Page Magruder in memory of her father, mother, two brothers, and one sister. Members of the family plan to add to this fund from time to time.

Alberta Hinton Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1940 by C. R. Hinton, alumnus of the college, in memory of his mother.

Gerald Motley Loan Fund. This fund is created by friends of Gerald Motley, gifted young minister and loyal alumnus of this institution, who lost his life during the year of 1940 in an automobile accident en route to the college to speak at the daily chapel service. Contributors to this fund would memorialize his nobility of character, his loyalty to Campbell, and his interest in the problems of youth.

Mabel Powell Loan Fund. Former students of Miss Mabel Powell have started this fund out of appreciation for the inspiration and help received from their beloved teacher. Each year the size of the fund is being increased.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ousley Loan Fund. This fund is in honor of the late Mr. H. C. Ousley and Mrs. Ousley, for many years citizens of the Buie's Creek community. It has been established by one of their sons and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Ousley of Waco, Texas. This fund is for the purpose of assisting students who feel led to give themselves to full time Christian service. It is not available to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco.

Demming Morton Ward Loan Fund. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ward, Durham, North Carolina, have established this fund in loving memory of their son, killed in the service of his country on May 8, 1945. Two years prior he had left college as a sophomore to enter the U. S. Air Corps. At the time of his death, he was a first lieutenant flying a transport plane from Burma to India. Lieutenant Ward was a devoted son, an active participant in youth organizations, and a faithful member of his church. Through this memorial fund his parents hope to bless humanity in perpetuity by extending opportunity to other youth to live the more abundant life.

Jessie Slocumb Smith Scholarship Fund. This scholarship is sponsored by the Chicora Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, to commemorate the distinguished services of Jessie Slocumb Smith who for forty years was historian of her chapter. She served likewise in many other capacities, including the presidency. It is proposed to make this an ever enlarging benefit to the youth of this area by adding to the fund from time to time.

Fitchett Memorial Loan Fund. This fund is set up by the Fitchetts of Dunn to aid worthy students in need of financial assistance. Loans must meet the approval of the college committee.

Layton Loan Fund. This is an accumulative fund established by Mrs. Martha Layton Winston in honor of her parents, Mr. Joel G. Layton and Mrs. Maude C. Layton. The college deeply appreciates this scholarship aid to serve generations to come, set up as a tribute to these life-long friends, generous benefactors to Campbell College.

In addition to the loan funds above, Campbell College gratefully acknowledges smaller amounts established by the following friends to help needy students: J. F. Keith, I. T. Valentine, J. H. Barnes, John W. Holmes, Bruce Blackmon, James A. Buchanan.

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM

Under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Campbell College has been granted her proportionate share of Federal funds appropriated to the end "that no student of ability will be denied an opportunity for higher education because of financial need." While the Act provides that prospective teachers and students having special interest either in science, mathematics or modern languages be given preferential consideration, any capable high school graduate may apply for a loan in the amount necessary to attend college, not to exceed $1,000 a year. Information concerning the exceedingly generous terms for obtaining and repaying the loan will be supplied to any interested student upon request.

EXPENSES

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the previously listed expenses, Campbell College grants as scholarships to members of the following groups, deductions in the amounts indicated.

Ministerial students . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Volunteers for foreign missions . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Students from orphanages . . . . .	$100.00 a year
High School valedictorians . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Children of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year
Wives of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year

To qualify for a scholarship the ministerial student or mission volunteer must present letters of recommendation from his or her church. Continuation of the award of such scholarships is conditioned upon the student's satisfactory performance.

No special considerations or offers of scholarships or self-help employment are valid until approved by the President or Business Manager.

SELF-HELP EMPLOYMENT

The college has always sought to help worthy students unable to finance their college education. To that end all possible work assignments have been reserved for students. The compensation is in keeping with the charges made by the college and is payable in cash monthly. The college reserves the right to apply any compensation due against any unpaid balances currently due on the student account. Any student requiring financial assistance should obtain a "Self-Help Application Blank" from the college. Obviously, the amount of work available is limited. The Committee on job assignments will give consideration to priority of application, as well as to the merits of each case.

SETTLEMENTS

A charge of ten dollars for processing must accompany the application of each new student. This fee of $10.00 is applied against cost of evaluating applications and is not refundable. Each student requesting dormitory reservation must include also a room-reservation deposit of ten dollars. The room deposit will be returned, if request for cancellation is received before June 1 from applicants for the following fall term, or before January 15 from applicants for the spring term. The unexpended balance of the room deposit is refunded upon termination of stay in the dormitory.

By July 15, applicants for the fall term must deposit fifty dollars toward fall expenses. This is not refundable. Students who are accepted later than July 15, must make this deposit within fifteen days after the notice of acceptance is mailed.

Applicants for the spring term must make the non-refundable deposit of fifty dollars by January 15. Applicants notified of acceptance later than the fifteenth of January must make the deposit prior to registration.

This deposit of fifty dollars, or some arrangement satisfactory to the President, is required of all students. If the applicant fails to make the deposit by the appointed time, the application is subject to cancellation by the Admissions Office.

Tuition and General Fees must be paid upon entrance and are not refundable after 48 hours.

Settlement for room and board must be made in advance for each half-semester. In the event of justifiable withdrawal during the semester, the student will be charged for room and board a penalty of ten per cent in excess of the charges for the period of attendance. Proportionate refund may be allowed on charges for board if a student is absent for two consecutive weeks because of sickness.

No refund on any of these payments will be made to the student whose conduct requires suspension or expulsion.

Any variation in the above terms must be approved by the President before the student's entrance.

A student will not be permitted to undergo semester examinations unless satisfactory arrangements for payment of all outstanding obligations for that semester have been approved by the Business Manager.

No statement of work completed will be released by the Registrar until the student has made satisfactory settlement of all charges.

A dormitory student may not move his or her residence from the dormitory during a semester without special permission from the President. Changes proposed for the following semester must have similar approval.

ROOM AND BOARD

DORMITORIES. The college has facilities for housing practically all of its resident students. Others may find rooms in approved homes in the community. All dormitories are equipped with electricity, steam heat, and running water; but as is suggested by the variations in prices charged, the accommodations are not uniform. Every dormitory room is furnished with beds, dresser, chairs and study table or desk. Students must provide their own pillows, bed linens and covering, and towels; also curtains, study lamps, rugs and bookshelves, if these are desired.

BOARD. All students living in college dormitories eat together in the central dining hall, a commodious and well-lighted building. Every effort is made to provide a properly balanced menu of well-prepared foods under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

DEPOSIT. Each applicant for a room in the dormitory must deposit $10.00 to secure assignment. Priority of application determines the choice of rooms. If it becomes necessary to withdraw application, the college will refund the deposit fee, provided notice is received by June 1. A room not claimed after the opening of school will be declared vacant. After deducting cost of repairing any unnecessary damage done to rooms in dormitory, the College will refund any unexpended balance of room deposit at the end of the year.

No student will be allowed to board or room in any private home unless the keeper of the home pledges to support the government of the school and to report upon request as to the conduct of students in the home.

The use of electrical appliances in the dormitories is allowed only by special permission. Radios may be operated in students' rooms with permission of the dean of men or dean of women. In each women's dormitory an ironing room will be provided.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The requirements for entrance into the college conform to the regulations adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the North Carolina College Conference.

High school graduation from a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or the equivalent of the completion of such a course, as shown by examination, is required of all students seeking admission to the freshman class.

The major portion of the preparatory work shall be composed of basic college-preparatory subjects: English, foreign languages, mathematics, natural sciences, and the social studies, and should normally include English, four units; foreign language, two units; mathematics, two units; natural science, one unit; and social studies, one unit.

Students electing curricula leading to graduation, from Campbell or other colleges which may require additional preparation, must remove such deficiencies during the first year of residence, or during summer school preceding or following the first year.

All information showing the quality of work accomplished, the personality, character, and health of the applicant, and the recommendation of appropriate school officials must be available to the college before registration is permitted.

In addition to those students admitted by certificate or examination, special students who demonstrate their ability to profit by the instruction provided by the college may be admitted. The special student will be allowed no credit toward graduation until he has met the entrance requirements fully.

All applicants for admission to the freshman class are expected to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board and have the results sent to the college.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student applying for admission to advanced standing or for acceptance of credit earned at another college must present: (a) a certificate of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended; (b) an official transcript of record from the institution or institutions previously attended; (c) details of the high school work completed.

Admission to the work of the junior year requires a C average on all work attempted. Provision will be made for advanced placement of qualified students on the basis of standard tests in subject areas in general use among the leading colleges and universities

TRANSFERS

Students transferring from colleges not accredited by the regional accrediting agency will receive provisional credit which must be validated by a record of satisfactory performance during the first year of residence after transfer.

In general, the amount of credit accepted from other institutions in transfer will be determined by the requirements which apply to the non-transfer student. When a student is admitted with fewer quality points than semester hours of credit from another college, that student must make up the deficiency after transferring to Campbell.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Campbell College will confer two degrees; Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. It will award an Associate in Arts diploma, upon request, to properly qualified applicants who have completed the equivalent of two years of college work of acceptable quality. It will award a certificate, upon request, to those students who have completed a prescribed one-year business course with an average of C or better on all courses attempted.

To be eligible for a degree, diploma, or certificate, the candidate must have demonstrated evidence of good character and must have met the minimum residence requirement of one full academic year or its equivalent. It is assumed, further, that all financial obligations have been satisfactorily provided for in advance of graduation.

The conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas and certificates will take place at the end of the regular year or at the end of the summer session.

A candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must complete 124 semester hours of college work in addition to hygiene and two semesters of physical education. He must attain a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted.

A candidate for the Associate in Arts diploma must complete 64 semester hours of work including hygiene and in addition to two hours of physical education with a quality point average of 1.00 on all work offered for graduation. Also, he must have a 1.00 average on 80 per cent of all work attempted.

CREDIT, GRADES, POINTS, LOAD, ETC.

A "semester" hour usually represents one class period a week in a subject continued through a full semester. Thus, for a course meeting three times a week, a credit of three semester hours is given at the close of the semester. Courses in science, home economics, and business education carry laboratory requirements. Two hours of laboratory time is converted into one hour of credit. This laboratory credit is combined with lecture credit and accounts for the fact that a given course carrying five semester hours of credit may require a total of eight or more clock hours a week.

The following is the college scale of grading, with the number of quality points assigned for each grade:

A (Excellent)	93-100 per cent	3 points per hour of credit
B (Good)	85-92 per cent	2 points per hour of credit
C (Average)	77-84 per cent	1 point per hour of credit
D (Passing)	70-76 per cent	0 points per hour of credit
F (Failure)	Below 70	0 points per hour of credit

A grade of I must be removed by the completion of the work within 30 days after the opening of the next semester; otherwise it will be recorded as an F. The Dean may make exceptions to this rule in unusual cases.

Any course dropped without permission is recorded as an F. Permission to drop a course may be received only from the Dean of the College with the advice of the instructor involved. The Dean will determine whether the record should indicate dropped with permission, dropped failing, or dropped passing.

A normal load for any student in the college department is sixteen credit hours per semester. Students who enter with deficiencies will be expected to work off the conditions before taking the prescribed courses for credit. A pre-college level course will be considered the equivalent of two semester hours, and this sum is to be subtracted from what is considered the normal load.

For work done in other institutions the Dean of the College will assign appropriate credit.

CLASSIFICATION

The classification of a student depends upon the amount of the college work and the number of quality points he has to his credit and not upon the length of time he has been in college. A student is classified:

- (1) As a senior, upon the completion of 90 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 90 quality points.
- (2) As a junior, upon the completion of 55 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 55 quality points.
- (3) As a sophomore, upon the completion of 23 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 16 quality points.
- (4) As a freshman, if the regular admission requirements have been met.
- (5) As a special student, if for some approved reason he is registered for one or more courses but does not meet the admission requirement.

- (6) As a part-time student, if with approval he is registered for less than 9 hours of credit work.

A minimum of eight semester hours of work passed and a minimum of six quality points earned will enable a full time student to be readmitted for the following full semester without probation. A progressively higher standard will apply to upper-classmen. Any student failing to meet this minimum requirement will have his status determined by the Admissions Committee.

11, 12. Elementary Typewriting.—A thorough study of the keyboard, technique of the touch system, instructions on the care of the machine, special drills, in preparing letters and articles in proper and correct form. Minimum speed requirements: Secretarial students, fifty words a minute; Accounting students, forty words a minute.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Four semesters hours.

15, 16. Elementary Shorthand.—The principles of Gregg Simplified Shorthand are emphasized. Sufficient writing practice is given to develop a writing speed of eighty words a minute.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

18. Office Management.—A study of office practice and procedure under actual office conditions. Personality development, telephone technique, filing theory, and income and payroll tax procedure are among the subjects covered.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours

20. Elementary Transcription.—The fusion of the skills of English, shorthand, and typing are stressed to the end that efficiency in producing mailable transcripts is attained. Transcription of a minimum of fifty mailable letters and five articles at a reasonable speed is required.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. Advanced Typewriting.—Speed and accuracy are stressed. Special emphasis is placed on figure drills, tabulation, and typing from rough draft copy. Minimum speed requirements: Secretarial students, sixty words a minute; Accounting students, fifty words a minute.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Four semester hours.

25, 26. Advanced Shorthand.—An intensive review of Gregg Simplified Shorthand is given. Practice is provided in the construction of new outlines by evolution drills. A minimum dictation speed of one hundred words a minute is required.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

29, 30. Advanced Transcription.—A continuation of Transcription 20 is pursued. Basic techniques of transcription are refined and improved. Transcription of a minimum of fifty mailable letters and five articles at commercially accepted standards is required a semester.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Four semester hours.

28. Office Practice.—This course gives an intensive review of essential business forms and applies the basic principles of business filing.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

29. Office Machines.—Practice is given on the following machines: Adding-Listing Machine, Rotary Calculator, Key-Driven Calculator, Ten-Key Adding Machine, and Duplicating Machines.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

PROFESSOR DR. WEYER, DR. WEAVER

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DR. GODLOVE

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MR. GARRISON

INSTRUCTOR MRS. PARKER

All candidates for teacher education must be officially admitted to the teacher education program of the college. The criteria for admission to this program include, among other requirements, the following:

- (1) Grades—a minimum average of C in the major field, in professional education courses, and in overall scholastic work.
- (2) Approval of the major department and of the Department of Education.

To qualify for a North Carolina, Class A teaching certificate the degree Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must be obtained. The requirements for these degrees are listed elsewhere in this catalogue. The Elementary Education major is planned for those students who wish to qualify for an Elementary Class A certificate. The student wishing to qualify for a secondary certificate must take a major in an academic field—the academic field in which he wishes to be certified. Below is a summary of the professional education courses which must be taken to qualify for an elementary school certificate or a secondary school certificate.

General Psychology, 3 hours, is a requirement for all prospective teachers.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS

Sophomore Year: Introduction to Education—either semester

Junior Year: Human Growth and Development—first semester;

The Elementary School—second semester.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the first semester of the senior year, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the junior year: Education 41, Human Growth and Development and Education 51, The Elementary School; and during the second semester, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School and Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School. The Education Block of the first semester would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary School, Education 46, Science in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the second semester, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the senior year: Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary Schools, and Education 46, Science in the Elementary School. The second semester Education Block would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School, Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

SECONDARY TEACHERS

Students who plan to teach in High School should complete Education 21, 22, and 41 not later than the first semester of the Junior Year. The Education Block of 15 hours, Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 52, The Secondary School, Education 53, Methods and Materials in the Secondary School and Education 57, Student Teaching, which may be taken either the first semester or the second semester of the Senior Year, depending upon the student's major, will complete the Education requirements for teacher certification.

21. Introduction to the Study of Education.—Development of our modern educational system, with emphasis on historical background; aims of education in a democracy; how our present elementary, secondary, and higher educational levels came into existence; duties of the teacher; purpose of the curriculum; plant; support and control of schools. Designed to be a foundation for further study in education. Required of all prospective teachers.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Human Growth and Development.—Early postnatal life; physical growth and development; development of motor abilities, the language and thought of the child and adolescent; children's play and interest; adolescent interest; emotional factors in development during childhood and adolescence; parent-child relationships in childhood and adolescence; social education, mental hygiene, and psychosexual development of childhood and adolescence. Required of all prospective teachers.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Language Arts in the Elementary School.—Principles of organizing and teaching the language arts in the elementary school; content in the areas of reading, listening, writing, speaking, grammar, usage, penmanship, and spelling; problems of the slow learner and the rapid learner; the evaluation of the language arts program. Required for elementary school certification.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

44. Arithmetic in the Elementary School.—Organizing a modern arithmetic program; arithmetic readiness; the decimal system; addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division of whole numbers and fractions; decimal fractions; quantitative thinking and problem-solving; teaching measurement; evaluation in arithmetic; diagnosis and guidance in arithmetic; enriching learning in arithmetic. Laboratory experiences will be provided. Required for elementary school certification.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Social Studies in the Elementary School.—Principles for selecting and organizing the social studies curriculum; persons, institutions, and activities encountered in the immediate environment and their place in the social studies program; European backgrounds; "journey-type" geography; democracy as a way of life; our relationships to world neighbors; America in the world setting from national and international viewpoints; evaluating the social studies program. Required for elementary school certification.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

46. Science in the Elementary School.—Children and science; procedures in teaching and learning science; using a community as resource in teaching and learning science; earth and the universe; life of the earth; energy of the universe; planning a science program for children; evaluating science teaching and learning. Required for elementary school certification.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

51. The Elementary School.—A continuation of Education 21 with particular emphasis devoted to the philosophy, aims and purposes, principles and practices of the elementary school. Required for elementary school certification.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

52. The Secondary School.—A continuation of Education 21 with particular emphasis on the history and philosophy of the secondary school; the relation of elementary to secondary education; the aims, purposes and practices of the secondary curriculum; the place of guidance and counseling in secondary education; and an evaluation of the comprehensive high school. Required for secondary school certification.

Six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Methods and Materials in Teaching Secondary Grades.—

B. Biology

C. Chemistry

E. English

F. French

M. Mathematics

MU. Music

N. Natural Sciences

P. Health and Physical Education

S. Social Studies

B.E. Business Education

SP. Spanish

G. German

The selection of subject matter; the use of the textbook; diagnosing learning problems—readiness, the slow learner, the emotional problem, the gifted; teaching secondary students to read subject matter; methods of teaching—recitation, lecture, laboratory or project, cooperative group; new educational experiments, ideas, and practices—teaching machines, educational television, audiovisual devices, enrichment programs, team teaching; all the above activities applied to a specific subject matter. Required for secondary level certification.

Six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

57. Student Teaching.—Student teaching is conducted on a full-time basis during the second half of either the first or the second semester of the senior year. The student teacher observes, aids, and, ultimately, assumes charge of regularly scheduled classes in a school. Each student teacher will participate in a planning and evaluation session with the education faculty and others concerned, each Saturday morning while doing student teaching. Members of the education faculty, subject matter specialists, and cooperating teachers will work together in the assignment and supervision of the student teacher.

PSYCHOLOGY

22. General Psychology.—A study of the various fields of psychology; the developmental process; motivation; emotion; frustration and adjustment; mental health; attention and perception; problems in group living. Attention is given to application of these topics to problems of study, self-understanding, and adjustment to the demands of society. Required of all prospective teachers.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Educational Psychology.—Psychological tests of aptitude, achievement, interests, personality, and informal evaluation procedures with emphasis on the use of these instruments in an educational setting; the statistics of testing—central tendency, variability, correlation, standard score; cognition in the child and adolescent—learning theory, laws of learning, concept formation and extension, forgetting, intelligence, transfer of training; psychomotor learning; problem-solving and creativity; programming as a teaching device. Required of all prospective teachers.

Three hours a week, one semester; or six hours a week one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Social Psychology.—The study of forms of interaction of personalities which characterize social life. Topics for consideration include the manner in which status and role characteristics affect personality; the behavior of small groups studied experimentally; group pressure on individual judgment; rumor; leadership; crowd behavior; social movements.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Mental Hygiene.—A study of processes by which personalty disorders are prevented in normal individuals. An approach is developed which is designed to bring about increasing self-understanding, accepting oneself and others, and employing scientific methods for securing solutions to personal problems.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

ENGLISH

PROFESSOR DR. ELIASON, MISS POWELL

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS DR. GRAHAM, MRS. SWANN, MRS. KENNEDY, MR. KENNEDY, DR. HANSON, MR. ASHWORTH

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS MRS. CHRISTIAN, MISS STEWART, MISS OVERTON, MISS BAILEY

INSTRUCTORS MR. CHRISTIAN, MR. LINNEY, MRS. RAMOS

9. Composition.—A preparatory course in the construction of paragraphs and imple compositions. Instruction and practice in grammar, spelling, punctuation

Kivett Building

J. F. Kitchin Dormitory

Campus view from D. Rich Memorial Bldg.

Aerial View

and mechanics. This course is prerequisite to English 11 for students whom standardized placement examinations prove to be unprepared for undertaking the work of English 11 successfully.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

10. Reading.—A laboratory course intended primarily to help students whose score on standardized placement tests indicates that their lack of skill in reading will cause them serious difficulty in their college work.

Two hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

11. Freshman English.—A study of grammar, punctuation, spelling and mechanics; principles and methods of composition; study of essays and other selected readings as a basis for constant practice in self-expression. Regular themes, reports, and conferences. Required outside reading.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Freshman English.—Composition, continued; a study of selected masterpieces representing basic types of literature; training in the research paper; required outside reading.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

18. Word Study and Vocabulary.—The student undergoes a systematic study of word origin and meanings.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. English Literature.—A study of major English writers in their historical and cultural settings, with emphasis on appreciation and interpretation of their principal works.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

25. Reading in World Literature.—Selected classics, among them the Iliad and the Odyssey; the Greek drama, with adaptations from the French, English, and American drama; Job, J. B., and Samson Agonistes. Films, records, and pictures. An elective for sophomores and juniors.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. Business Communications.—The fundamentals of business writing carefully examined; application of these fundamentals in the writing of a business report and in the writing of letters—sales, credit, adjustment, application, and related types.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27, 28. American Literature.—A survey of the literature of the United States with emphasis on the historical, geographical, and aesthetic trends as interpreted through principal writings. An elective for sophomores and juniors. Required of English majors.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

29. Creative Writing.—The course is designed for students who wish to make progress in creative writing whether in prose or verse. All candidates will have an opportunity to submit a sample of their work during the first week of the term. The course is open to sophomores and juniors.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Literature of the English Renaissance.—Study of main Renaissance religious, political, and philosophic ideas as they appear in works of literary figures in Renaissance England. Particular attention to selected poetry and prose of Sidney, Spenser, Donne, and Milton and to selected plays of Marlowe and Jonson.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Shakespeare.—A detailed study of selected plays illustrating Shakespeare's development and significance as a dramatist. Supplementary readings concerning the Elizabethan theater, London life, and Shakespeare criticism will be a part of the course. Required of English majors.

Three hours a week, one or two semesters.

Three or six semester hours.

33. The English Language.—A study of the texts representing the development of the language from Old English to the present. A prerequisite to Introduction to Chaucer.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Introduction to Chaucer.—A reading of selected Canterbury Tales, with attention to the Middle English language and pronunciation.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Children's Literature.—This course is for students who expect to teach the language arts in the elementary school. The content includes the selection and evaluation of children's literature; an appraisal of illustrators and illustrated books for children; and a discussion of some uses of literature. Literature designed for children is read and evaluated. Required of elementary teachers. Elective for juniors and seniors majoring in English.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Advanced Grammar and Composition.—The purpose of the course is to give a more thorough knowledge of grammar and syntax and of the methods of teaching these. Instruction will also be given in the use of the dictionary and phonics. Short themes and practice in spoken English will be a part of the course. Required of prospective teachers.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Modern Fiction.—Selected short stories, poetry, and novels of the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries are studied. The reading of literary criticism and historical backgrounds enrich the course. Representative American and English writers will be read, together with some foreign forms in translation.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. English Prose of the Nineteenth Century.—Literary criticism and other prose writings of the nineteenth century are studied. A survey of fiction during this period introduces the major Victorian novelists.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. English Poetry and Drama of the Nineteenth Century.—This course presents the poetry of the Victorian period, paying special attention to the works of Tennyson and Browning. A survey of the theater leads to the late nineteenth century dramatic revival associated with Bernard Shaw.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

51. Modern Drama.—From Ibsen to the present. Realism and naturalism; various developments in non-realistic drama, such as symbolism and expressionism. Continental writers important in the modern drama; British and Irish dramatists; American playwrights beginning with O'Neill.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

JOURNALISM

21. News Reporting and Writing.—Study of newspaper English and style, study and practice of newsgathering techniques, practice in writing the basic types of news and feature stories. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12. An elective for sophomores and juniors.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. News Writing and Editing.—Study and practice of specialized news reporting—sports, speeches, and reviews. Attention to editorial procedure, re-writing, headlining, caption writing, and make-up. Some attention to the elements of photojournalism from the editorial viewpoint. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

SPEECH AND DRAMATICS

13. Voice and Diction.—A basic speech production course designed for the development of a more pleasing and efficient voice. Special attention is given to individual vocal problems.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Oral Interpretation.—Designed to follow Speech 13. Techniques and practice in the oral presentation of prepared works, original or from literature. Emphasis is on gaining the dramatic value from such works, as well as on improving vocal techniques.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15. Extempore Speaking.—An advanced speech course in the development and presentation of original speeches; pronunciations, voice, gesture, bearing; organization; delivery; speeches for special occasions; the extended address.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

16. Debating.—Open to those who give evidence of academic proficiency and skill in public speaking.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

17. Corrective Speech.—Designed specifically for students afflicted with speech disorders (one to three hours in one semester or extended over several semesters according to need); group meetings of the class, supplemented by clinical periods devoted to individual diagnosis and treatment.

One to three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

PROFESSORS DR. DEMENT, MR. BURKOT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS MISS MIX, MR. PHELPS, DR. HANSON

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MRS. BAGBY

LATIN

1-2. Elementary Latin; Reading of Easy Prose.—Open to students who do not offer two units of Latin for entrance.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11. Orationes and Letters of Cicero; Prose Composition; Survey of Roman History.—Prerequisite, two units of entrance Latin or Latin 1-2.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Vergil's Aeneid, Bks. I-VI Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 11.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Selection from Latin Prose; Composition; Roman Private Life.—Prerequisite, four units of entrance Latin or Latin 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Horace's Odes and Epodes; Roman Life and Literature in the Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 21.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

FRENCH

1-2. Elementary French.—Thorough study of the structure of the language. Special emphasis on comprehension of written and spoken French.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11-12. Intermediate French.—Prerequisite, French 1-2 or two units of French for entrance. Careful review of grammar, selected reading. Frequent exercises in composition and conversation.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. Advanced French.—Masterpieces of French Literature with selected reading from representative authors.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

31-32. French Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in French.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

41. Seventeenth Century Classicism.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. French Romanticism.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Modern French Literature.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. French Civilization and History.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

GERMAN

1-2. Elementary German.—A beginner's course offering thorough drill in the essentials of grammar and composition, exercises in pronunciation, easy reading, and gradually increasing use of German in the classroom.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11-12. Intermediate German.—Thorough review of grammar. Frequent composition and dictation. Study of German civilization and culture. Selected reading of modern literature.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. Survey of German Literature.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours

SPANISH

1-2. Elementary Spanish.—A beginner's course adapted to the needs of the students. Drill in essentials of grammar and pronunciation. Exercises in composition, dictation and conversation. Study of Spanish culture. Selected reading.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11-12. Intermediate Spanish.—Review of grammar and pronunciation. Exercises in composition, dictation, and conversation. Selected reading.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. Advanced Spanish.—Reading of selected masterpieces of Spanish literature.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

31-32. Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in Spanish.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

41-42. Spanish-American Literature and Civilization.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

51-52. Survey of Spanish Literature.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

HOME ECONOMICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS MRS. TUCK, MRS. KING

1. Principles of Homemaking.—Basic principles of furnishing a home from the standpoint of use, economy, beauty, and individuality. A study of the management of family resources including time and money to give future homemakers techniques of operating a home more efficiently.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

2. Consumer Education.—A study of the problems of family buying. Fundamental principles dealing with the selection and purchase of foods, clothing, household equipment, and home furnishings.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

3. Personal Development.—An approach to self-improvement through enrichment of one's personality, management of personal resources, aids in personal appearances, and techniques of social usages.

One hour lecture a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

7. Men and the Home.—Exclusively for men. A course designed for men to aid them in understanding the functions of the home and the consumer as important economic units in our society.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

11. Foods.—A basic study of food selection and preparation with an introduction to menu planning.

Two hours lecture, two two-hour laboratory periods a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Clothing and Textiles.—Fundamental principles of selection and construction of clothing. An introduction to the classification of textile fibers and fabrics. A study of the use of various patterns and principles of fitting.

Two hours lecture, two two-hour laboratory periods a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13. The House and Its Furnishings.—A study of the planning and furnishing of homes from an aesthetic and functional standpoint. Practical problems of house-planning in relation to family needs and income, the arrangement of furniture and furnishings, the construction of various furnishings and accessories.

Two hours lecture, two two-hour laboratory periods a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Foods.—A study of the principles and processes involved in the preparation and preservation of food, table services, and table appointments. Prerequisite H.E. 11.

Two hours lecture, two two-hour laboratory periods a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Clothing and Textiles.—Advance clothing construction. Fiber identification and classification. A study to relate the properties of fibers, yarns and fabrics to fabric performance or quality. Introduction to the basic art to weaving. Prerequisite: Home Economics 12.

Two hours lecture, two two-hour laboratory periods a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. Nutrition.—A study of the fundamentals of human nutrition. Practice in planning of menus to meet nutritional needs of the family. Open to pre-nursing students.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

MATHEMATICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS MR. BAIN, MR. RAYNOR, MISS KUHN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS MR. THOMAS, MR. IVEY

INSTRUCTORS MR. TAYLOR, MR. WEBB

1. Sub-freshman Algebra.—Open to students offering less than one and one-half units in high school algebra and to those not qualified for College Algebra on a pre-test in mathematics. Review of factoring, fractions, linear equations, functions and graphs, exponents and radicals.

Three meetings a week, first semester.

No credit.

2. Plane Geometry.—Open to students who do not offer one unit of plane geometry.

Four hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

6. Solid Geometry.—Study of lines, planes, and solids in space. Recommended for engineering students and mathematics majors. Prerequisite: Plane Geometry.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

11. College Algebra.—Review of elementary topics, quadratic equations, progressions, binomial theorem, permutations and combinations, logarithms, the general theory of equations, the solution of higher equations, and determinants. Prerequisite: one and one-half units of high school algebra.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Trigonometry.—The trigonometric functions, logarithms, derivation of formulas, the solution of right and oblique triangles, with practical applications. Prerequisite: one and one-half units of algebra and one unit of plane geometry.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13. Graphics-Engineering Drawing.—Drawing-board work on lettering, instrument practice, geometrical construction, projections, technical sketching, sections, auxiliary projections, revolutions, pictorial drawings, fasteners, intersection development-working drawing, tracing and blueprinting.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Graphics-Descriptive Geometry.—Representation of geometrical magnitudes with points, lines, planes and solids concurrent noncoplanar forces; the solution of problems.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15. Mathematics of Finance.—Interest and discount, simple and general annuities, amortization and sinking-fund schedules, stocks and bonds, life annuities and life insurance.

Recommended for business administration students. Prerequisite: College algebra.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

17E-18E. Engineering Mathematics.—This course is open only to properly qualified pre-engineering students. It parallels North Carolina State College's "First Year Mathematics for Engineers."

Six hours a week, two semesters.

Nine semester hours.

17A-18A. Non-engineering Mathematics.—This course parallels North Carolina State College's Mathematics 111-112. It includes algebra, trigonometry, analytical geometry and calculus.

Four hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

19. Math for Elementary Teachers.—Designed for elementary education Majors. Some of the topics considered are: the nature of the number system, measurement, simple concepts of algebra and geometry, sets and variables.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

20. Mathematics for Elementary Teachers.—Selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 19.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Theory of Equations.—Complex numbers, theorems on roots of polynomial equations, approximations, determinants, matrices and symmetric functions.

Prerequisites: Math 11, 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Analytic Geometry.—Cartesian coordinates, loci, the straight line, circles, conic sections, transformations of coordinates, tangents and normals, polar coordinates and the fundamental concepts of solid analytic geometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 6 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

23E. Calculus I.—A course in the fundamentals of the calculus including the formulas for differentiation and for differentials; the integrals of polynomial functions; applications to geometry, maxima and minima, areas, volumes, moments of area, work, fluid pressure; related rates, rectilinear and curvilinear motion; Newton's method of approximation of roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 18 E.

Five hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24E. Calculus II.—Methods of integration; definite integral with applications to length of arc, surface area, volumes, centroids and moments of inertia; Simpson's rule; indeterminate forms, infinite series, expansion of functions, hyperbolic functions, partial differentiation; multiple integration. Prerequisite: Calculus I.

Five hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Differential Calculus.—Differentiation of functions, with applications of the derivative to rates, length of tangents, normals, and other topics; the subjects of maxima and minima and rates.

Prerequisites: Math 11, 12, 22.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

24. Integral Calculus.—A study of the integration of algebraic, logarithmic, exponential, trigonometric, and inverse trigonometric functions, together with the various substitutions used, and applications to practical problems. Also areas under curves, areas of surfaces of revolution, volumes of solids of revolution, etc.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. History of Mathematics.—A study of the lives of the leading mathematicians, together with a study of the development of the number system, arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, etc. Recommended for those of junior standing who expect to teach mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Differential Equations.—A first course in ordinary differential equations, handling standard types, proceeding to linear equations of higher order; some operator methods; applications to geometrical, growth, and solution problems, and to dynamical and electrical systems, higher degree equations of order one; special equations of order two: further special applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Matrix Theory. Introduction to matrices; vector spaces; equivalence, rank, inverse of matrices; determinants; congruence; quadratic forms; polynomials over a field; similarly characteristic roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Introduction to Modern Algebra.—An introduction to the concepts of algebra. Topics included are: the number system; elementary theory of groups; rings, integral domains and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Modern Geometry.—A study of the recent geometry of the triangle and circle, with emphasis on harmonic points and lines, isogonal points and lines, inverse points and lines, power of a point, inversion, concurrency, collinearity, etc. Recommended for those of junior standing who expect to teach mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

Non-keyboard majors who have not passed the piano proficiency after completing four hours of piano study will be required to take additional work in piano without college credit.

Choir and/or band participation without credit is required each semester for music majors.

The Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in music, is designed to equip the student with the basic knowledge and training to provide musical leadership and to develop an acceptable degree of performance on a major instrument. The above proposed program may be altered and/or expanded to provide concentrated study in music education in the public school or in church music.

The equivalent of a minor in music shall consist of 24 hours, including Music Theory 11-12 and Music History 33-34. A maximum of eight semester hours of applied music will count toward a minor in music.

1, 2. Pre-Harmony.—A course designed for music students not adequately prepared to enter Music Theory I. Designed to present the basic elements of music, leading to entry in Theory I.

Two hours a week, two semesters.

No credit.

11, 12. Music Theory I.—The basic rudiments of music are presented, including scales, triads, chords, sight-singing, melodic and harmonic dictation, and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

13. Music Appreciation.—An introduction to music through an understanding of the principles of form and the elements of music. Various styles and types of vocal and instrumental works are studied.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21, 22. Music Theory II.—A continuation of Music 11, 12, including advanced modulation, chromatic harmony, seventh chords, and altered chords. Continued sight-singing, dictation and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

23. Hymnology.—A survey of church hymnology and music of the liturgy with special emphasis on the uses in the Church and their influence in cultural history.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

24. Woodwind Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of woodwind instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching of woodwind instruments.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

25. Brass Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of brass instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching on brass instruments.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

26. String Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of stringed instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching on stringed instruments.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

27. Music in the Elementary School.—A course dealing with techniques of teaching, and studying musical materials appropriate to the elementary grades. Deals with methods of teaching songs, creativity, rhythmic studies, the child's voice, music theory in the grades, directed listening, performance on simple instruments and supervision of musical activities in the classroom.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Modal Counterpoint.—A study of the vocal contrapuntal technique of the sixteenth century, with exercises in the five species.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Tonal Counterpoint.—A study of eighteenth century contrapuntal technique, with emphasis on the style of Bach.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33-34. History of Music.—A survey of the development of western musical culture from its origins to the present, with an emphasis of the chronological growth of musical concepts through the study of techniques and compositions of the various periods of history.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

35-36. Choral Conducting.—A study of the principles of conducting and choral interpretation, combined with a survey of church anthems and other short choral works.

Two hours a week, two semesters.

Four semester hours.

37. Elementary Public School Music.—The methods, objectives and materials used by the classroom teacher in teaching music in the elementary grades. Includes a review of the basic rudiments of music. (Not offered to music majors.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Instrumental Conducting.—A study of the fundamentals of instrumental conducting; technique of the baton, rehearsal techniques, repertoire, interpretation and leadership.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

41. Orchestration.—Prerequisite, Music 21, 22. The study of instrumental ranges and techniques, with arranging for orchestra, band, and other instrumental ensembles.

43. Teaching of Elementary School Music.—A lecture-laboratory course dealing with techniques of teaching and musical materials appropriate to grades one through eight.

One hour a week, two semesters.

Two semester hours.

44. Form and Analysis.—A study of small and large forms with analysis of works from art song, piano, and symphonic literature.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Opera Literature.—An historical and analytical study of opera literature from its beginning to the present day.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

46. Choral Literature.—A study of choral compositions from Palestrina to the present day with special attention given to the larger forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Symphonic Literature.—A detailed study of the growth of the larger orchestral forms illustrated by reference to significant compositions.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

49. Church Music Administration.—A study of the operation of a church-wide music program including the graded choir program, music budget, integrated educational program and music materials.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Music Methods in Junior and Senior High School.—The organization and maintenance of a music program in the junior and senior high school, including a study of the materials and methods appropriate to this group.

Three hours a week, one-half semester (see Education 53).

57. Supervised Work in Church Music.—Practical work in maintaining a church music program, under faculty supervision.

Scheduling to be arranged, one semester.

Three semester hours.

APPLIED MUSIC

11a, 21a, 31a, 41a. Piano.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours practice.

Two semester hours each semester.

11b, 21b, 31b, 41b. Organ.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours practice.

Two semester hours each semester.

11c, 21c, 31c, 41c. Voice.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours practice.

Two semester hours each semester.

Private instruction offered in any of the woodwind, brass or percussion instruments.

Credit to be arranged.

3. Choir.—Open to all students with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

4. Concert Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

BIOLOGY

Biology 11-12 or Botany 13 and Zoology 14, or the equivalent, is prerequisite to all higher courses in Biology.

The general requirements for the Bachelor of Science Degree with a major in Biology must include two semesters in Chemistry, and two semesters in Physics is advised. The major will consist of a minimum of twenty-four semester hours in Biology, exclusive of eight hours at the introductory level. Proper care should be exercised in choosing these courses, with due deliberation given to individual intent and interests.

Odd-numbered courses are normally offered in the fall semester, and even-numbered courses in the spring.

11-12. Fundamentals of Biology.—An introductory study of the structure, processes, principles, and concepts in Biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

13. General Botany.—A study of the structure, function, heredity, and classification of selected types to portray the evolutionary development of plants. Intended primarily for students needing one semester of Botany.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

14. General Zoology.—An introduction to the structure, physiology, genetics, and classification of animals. A brief study of general biological facts is followed by a survey of the animal kingdom. Intended primarily for students needing one semester of Zoology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

21. Morphology of Non-Vascular Plants.—A comparative study of the morphology of bacteria, fungi, algae, bryophytes, with regard to function and phylogeny.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Morphology of Vascular Plants.—A comparative survey of vascular plants dealing with their structure and reproduction in respect to developmental relationships.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Invertebrate Zoology.—A detailed study of invertebrate animals with emphasis on structure, function, taxonomy, and phylogenetic relationship.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Vertebrate Zoology.—A study of vertebrate evolution, morphology, distribution, and natural history. The laboratory work consists of dissections, classification, and field trips to selected localities.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Ecology.—The study of ecological principles and problems primarily in the relationship of organisms to marine, freshwater, and terrestrial environments in North Carolina. A year of preparation in Chemistry is recommended prior to enrollment in this course.

Two lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Microtechnique.—Instruction and experience are provided in the preparation of plant and animal tissues for study by optical microscopy. Prerequisite: two semesters of Chemistry.

One lecture hour and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Elementary Plant Taxonomy.—An introduction to plant classification, nomenclature, and identification, accompanied by a survey of the local seasonal flora. Prerequisite: Biology 21 and 22.

Two lecture hours and two three-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Microbiology.—A study of the morphology, physiology, and classification of bacteria, yeasts, and molds. Considerable attention is given to microbiological laboratory techniques. Prerequisite: Chemistry 11-14.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

35. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy.—A comparative study of the organ systems of vertebrates. Selected types are dissected in the laboratory.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

36. Vertebrate Embryology.—A study of embryological development in vertebrates.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

37. The Anatomy of Seed Plants.—A study of the developmental anatomy of seed plants. Prerequisite: Biology 22.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

38. Animal Histology.—A microscopic analysis of animal tissues.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

41. General Animal Physiology.—A study of functions and processes in animals, with emphasis on the human organism. Prerequisite: Chemistry 11-14, or the equivalent; Physics 11-12 is recommended.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

42. Genetics. (Formerly Biology 26.)—An analysis of principles and concepts pertaining to heredity, stressing their application in the interpretation of biological phenomena. Prerequisites: Chemistry 11-14, or the equivalent, and a minimum of sixteen semester hours in Biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

CHEMISTRY

Courses offered are expected to meet the needs of three groups: Those desiring only one year of chemistry to meet a natural science requirement, those planning a major in chemistry, and those looking forward to a career in related fields such as medicine, dentistry, agriculture, forestry, horticulture, public health, nursing and engineering.

Requirements for an A.B. in chemistry, 11-12, 11-13, 15-16, 27-28 required; a total of 36 semester hours to be included, excluding 11-12 and 36.

11-12. General Chemistry.—Introduction to the various fields of chemistry which will include some organic, inorganic, and qualitative analysis.

Two lectures and four laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

11, 13. General and Qualitative Analysis.—This course is designed especially for those students who are going into engineering, pharmacy and laboratory technology. First semester includes basic inorganic and organic necessary for a course in qualitative analysis is a semi-micro course. Course analysis includes the fundamental principles, problems, and theories underlying different methods of separation and identification of the common cations and anions in five groups.

Two lecture and four laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

17. Chemistry.—An introductory course in organic designed for nurses, medical technology students and others who need a semester of organic.

Three hours lecture and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

15-16. Advanced Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis.—An integrated course with emphasis on the mathematical phases of chemistry. Math. 11-12 is a prerequisite and Math. 23 is recommended.

Three hours lecture and six laboratory hours per week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

27-28. Organic.—Chemistry 11-13 recommended as a prerequisite. A mechanistic approach to the chemistry of aliphatic and aromatic organic compounds. Special topics include stereochemistry, carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins.

Three hours lecture and six laboratory hours per week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

29. Qualitative Organic Analysis.—Chemistry 27-28 a prerequisite. The qualitative analysis of organic compounds. Two hours lecture and two three-hour laboratory periods per week, alternate years.

Four semester hours.

31. Advanced Inorganic.—General chemistry, Qualitative and Quantitative Analysis recommended as prerequisites. A one semester course dealing with advanced topics in inorganic chemistry.

Three hours lecture and one three-hour laboratory period per week, fall semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Physiological Chemistry.—Prerequisite 11-13, 27-28. Emphasis on the chemistry of foods, drugs, vitamins and hormones as related to the life processes.

Three hours lecture and one three-hour laboratory period per week, fall semester.
Four semester hours.

33. Biochemistry.—Prerequisites: Organic, 11-13, 27-28.

Three hours lecture and three laboratory hours per week, one semester.
Four semester hours.

34-35. Physical Chemistry.—Prerequisite: 15-16, Physics, Calculus.

Three hours lecture and three hours laboratory per week, two semesters.
Eight semester hours.

36. Science Methods Course in the Teaching of Chemistry.

Three hours lecture and three hours laboratory per week. Credit to be arranged with the Education Department.

37-38. Introduction to Chemical Research.—Open only to chemistry majors in junior and senior years by permission of the instructor. The work may be a research problem or a thorough study of some phase of chemistry. Primarily a laboratory course, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

PHYSICS

11-12. General Physics.—Prerequisite: Mathematics 11-12. A study of general physics with emphasis on applications. Course includes demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory work designed to give a working knowledge and understanding of physics. First semester: mechanics, sound, and heat. Second semester: light, electricity, and modern physics.

Three hours a week recitation and three hours a week laboratory, two semesters.
Eight semester hours.

23-24. General Engineering Physics.—Co-requisite: Calculus. A study of general physics in which an analytical approach to the principles of physics is used. Emphasis is placed on problem solution and engineering applications. Recitations, demonstrated lectures, problem drill, and laboratory work are coordinated to give a working knowledge of the basic problems of physics. First semester: mechanics, sound, and heat, second semester: electricity, light and modern physics.

Three hours a week lecture and four hours a week laboratory, two semesters.
Ten semester hours.

SCIENCE EDUCATION

13, 14. General Science.—A study of the basic principles of physics, chemistry, and biology. The course will include demonstration lectures and coordinated laboratory work designed to give primary and elementary teachers a knowledge of the basic sciences.

Three hours a week lecture and one three-hour a week laboratory, two semesters.
Eight semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

PROFESSOR MR. HOOKS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR MR. MCCALL

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR MR. HYATT

INSTRUCTORS MR. COLE, MRS. LLOYD, MISS BLEDSOE

ASSISTANT MR. DAVIS

PHILOSOPHY OF THE PROGRAM

To provide skilled leadership and opportunities for students to participate in wholesome, educational activities. The program is organized to meet the needs and interests of the students in the areas of class instruction, intramural participation, recreation, and inter-collegiate athletics. In addition, a program of professional preparation is offered for students who choose Physical Education as a profession.

UNIFORMS

All students in physical education activity classes must wear the regulation uniform prescribed for the activity in which they are engaged. Uniforms may be purchased at the College Book Store.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

21. Principles of Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to the fields of health education, physical education and recreation including the historical, philosophical, and scientific background, training and qualifications of personnel, and professional opportunities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Organization and Administration of Health and Physical Education.—An orientation to policies, standards, procedures and problems pertaining to organizing and administering health and physical education programs with special emphasis in the areas of administrative duties of teachers and directors, curriculum development, intramural programs, school health programs and the duties of the coach and athletic director.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Measurement and Evaluation in Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to elementary statistical procedures as they relate to constructing, administering, scoring and grading tests and measures in health and physical education. Practical application of tests of knowledge, physical fitness, general motor ability, sports skills, and other areas will be stressed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Physical Education in the Elementary School.—The principles, practices and procedures of teaching physical education in the elementary school with emphasis on curriculum development and methods and materials involved in teaching.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

42. Individual Physical Education.—A study of the program of individual physical education for secondary schools including physiology of exercise and kinesiology as they apply to pupils with various physical limitations.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION ACTIVITY COURSES

The following are laboratory courses for physical education majors with emphasis on teaching and coaching methods and materials, fundamental skills, rules, etiquette, selection and care of equipment, history and strategy as they apply to each activity. The "W" designates courses for women and the "M" designates courses for men.

26 M, W.—Methods and Materials in Tennis, Badminton and Golf.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

32 W.—Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Field Hockey, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

32 M.—Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Wrestling, and Baseball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

33 W.—Methods and Materials in Softball and Basketball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

33 M.—Methods and Materials in Volleyball, Soccer, Speedball, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

34 W.—Methods and Materials in Track and Field and Sports Officiating.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

- 34 M.—Methods and Materials in Track and Field and Sports Officiating.
Two hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.
- 36 W.—Methods and Materials in Soccer, Speedball and Volleyball.
Four hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
- 36 M.—Methods and Materials in Football, Basketball and Weight.
Four hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
- 38 M, W.—Group Games of Low Organization and Rhythms.
Four hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

REQUIRED ACTIVITY COURSES

Two semesters of Physical Education are required of all students. Instruction is offered in history, care of equipment and facilities, fundamental skills, and elementary strategy in each activity. Students with physical limitations will participate in classes according to their capacities. Students may be exempted for special reasons by joint action of the Dean and the Director of Physical Education.

Men

Tennis and Volleyball
Softball and Badminton
Tumbling and Soccer
Football and Wrestling
Recreational Games and Rhythms
Archery and Physical Conditioning Activities
Two hours a week, one semester.

Women

Softball and Tumbling
Tennis and Rhythms
Soccer and Badminton
Volleyball and Archery
Recreational Games and Basketball
One semester hour.

HEALTH EDUCATION

11. Hygiene.—Vital phenomena and their application to the human organism. Fundamental biological facts of human anatomy, physiology, and hygiene are emphasized.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21a, 21b. Applied Anatomy and Physiology.—The structure and functions of the body and its systems as it relates to the field of health and physical education. First semester: anatomy; second semester: physiology.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Elementary School Health Program.—Principles, practices and procedures of teaching health in the elementary school with emphasis on improving the health of the child through healthful school living, health services, and health instruction.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Safety, First Aid and Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries.—Instruction includes the accepted principles of Red Cross first aid and the theory and practice of athletic training and conditioning. Emphasis is placed on safety and preventive measures with prompt treatment of athletic injuries.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. School Health Education.—Principles, practices and procedures of teaching and coordinating the school health program with the total school program at the secondary level.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. First Aid for Elementary Teachers.—Basic principles of first aid applicable to school, classroom, and playground situations.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

RELIGION

PROFESSORS DR. BUNN, DR. LANGSTON

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS DR. KEYSER, MR. NEWTON, DR. BROWN,
MR. MURRELL

INSTRUCTOR MR. TYNER

11. Introduction to the Bible.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with the necessary framework of reference for Biblical study. Attention is given to the transmission of the text; and to the geographical, historical and archaeological background of scripture. The Old Testament is then approached from the standpoint of its history, literature and faith.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Introduction to the New Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with New Testament times and New Testament Literature; with the life and message of Jesus, the emergence and the growth of the Early Church being presented. (Religion 21 and 22 may be substituted for Religion 12).

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. The Life and Teachings of Jesus.—An analysis of Inter-Biblical History followed by a study of the life and message of Jesus as revealed in the Gospels.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. The Life and Letters of Paul.—A survey of the life and teachings of Paul utilizing the Book of Acts as the basic historical document and the Epistles as they develop Paul's interpretation of the message of Jesus in the expansion of Christianity.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. The Minister and His Work.—An introduction to the practical aspects of the ministry. Supplementary lectures by guest speakers will acquaint the student with special areas of the minister's work.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

28. Homiletics.—An introductory course on the preparation and delivery of sermons.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

31. Historical Literature.—An introduction to the historical literature of the Old Testament from the standpoint of archaeological and critical investigations.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Poetic and Wisdom Literature.—A study of the poetic and wisdom literature of the Old Testament with a general introduction to Ancient Near Eastern speculative thought.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Prophetic Literature.—A study of the times, activities and messages of selected prophets preceded by a general introduction to the development of Hebrew prophetic consciousness.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

52. Church History.—A brief survey of the periods of the Christian church's history, its roots in the Old and New Testament and its expansion during the period of Persecution, Middle Ages, Reformation and establishment on American shores. Particular reference is made to the development of Baptist history and convictions.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

53. Christian Missions.—A course designed to acquaint the student with Biblical, historical and current missionary principles and practices.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

25. Survey of Religious Education.—An introduction to the principles upon which a program of religious education is based with an appraisal of the various agencies for carrying on the program. Designed to orient those who are emphasizing religious education and to prepare Christian laymen for more efficient service in the church.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. Education Administration.—A study of church organizations and methods used in promoting a well-rounded program of religious education through the church. The course consists of the development of a church calendar with an understanding of the purpose of the various activities which should be included. Methods of promoting such a program will be discussed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Age Group Work.—A study of the unfolding life from early childhood through adulthood. Characteristics of each stage of development will be discussed along with aims, agencies, and techniques for working with each age group. Prerequisite, a course in General Psychology.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Teaching of Religion.—A study of the principles, materials, and methods of education in general and religious education in particular. Enlistment and training of teachers for the local church will be discussed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours

PROJECTED OFFERINGS IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
1962-1964

45. Psychology of Religion.

46. Historical Backgrounds of Religious Education.

47-48. Supervised Practice in Religious Education.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

PROFESSORS DR. CHANG, MR. TRIPP, DR. BATTIN, DR. LANGSTON
ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS MR. GASS, MR. GRAHAM, MR. O'NEAL, DR. MAUPIN, DR. BROWN, MRS. MOORE, MR. NEWTON,
MR. VANN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS MR. EASLEY, MR. TUCK, MR. CRISP

A candidate for a B.A. or B.S. degree with a major in Social Science must satisfactorily complete 36 semester hours of Social Science including History 11-12. Each candidate will concentrate in one field of Social Science by completing 18 hours in Economics, History, Geography, Political Science, or Sociology. He will complete 18 hours in three fields of Social Science other than the area of concentration.

A candidate for a B.A. or B.S. degree with a major in History must satisfactorily complete 24 semester hours of History including History 11-12. Each candidate is required to complete the introductory courses in Geography 13, Government 29, Sociology 25, and either Economics 27 or Economics 23 or Economics 23-24.

HISTORY

11-12. Freshman History.—World Civilization. First semester: A survey of the rise of world civilizations (5000 B. C.-1648 A. D.). The ancient and medieval worlds. Second semester: The Modern World (1648 A. D. to the present). The Occident: The rise, spread and impact of Western Civilization. The Orient: The inter-action of Eastern and Western cultures in the modern world.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. American History.—First semester: (1492-1865). A survey of European background and colonial period; the Revolutionary War and the evolution of the Federal government; expansion; development of sectionalism and the Civil War. Second semester: (1865-present). Reconstruction, the Great West, the New South; industrialization; the United States a world power, twentieth century—World Wars and Problems.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

31. American Economic History.—A study of the economic development of the United States from the early Colonial Period down to the present, including agriculture, commerce, trade, industry, capital and labor.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. North Carolina History.—A brief survey of North Carolina, its settlement and colonial period, its role in the Revolution, Ante-bellum period, but special emphasis on North Carolina since the Civil War.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33-34. History of the Far East.—A general survey of the Far Eastern countries, stressing the more recent periods and their bearing on the United States. It traces the general background of the social, economic, political, and cultural history of China, Korea, Japan, and their adjacent regions from the arrival of European missionaries and traders in the sixteenth century to modern times.

LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

Nowhere in all human experience is there to be found an exact counterpart to life on a college campus. Properly planned and self directed, the varied activities on a college campus provide a student with some of the happiest, most meaningful, and decisive experiences of a lifetime; otherwise, this same period, misused and misdirected by an immature, mischief-bent student, can mark the beginning of his downfall. Particularly for the Freshman, away for the first time from the influences of a good home, his choice of friends, his selection of amusements, and his use of spare time, in a large measure will determine success or failure in college. Obviously, the wise student will budget well his spare time, so as to participate in a variety of valuable experiences from a broad range of student activities.

Religious Activities

Most unwise is the student who neglects the cultivation of his religious life in college. Under the unifying efforts of the Baptist Student Union, the college and local Baptist Church provide a full range of activities for the student. Other denominational groups include the Canterbury Club, the Methodist Student Movement, the Newman Club, and the Westminster Fellowship. The college sponsors brief chapel programs, with compulsory student attendance, five days a week. Jointly with the local Baptist Church, Religious Focus Week and Revival Week are conducted each year. Attendance upon morning and evening services at the local Baptist Church is encouraged.

Publications

Students, under faculty supervision, publish a bi-weekly newspaper, Creek Pebbles, and a comprehensive college yearbook, The Pine Burr. Together, these publications afford useful and entertaining journalistic experience, while preserving an interesting portrayal of student life.

Music and Dramatics

The large college chorus and touring choir afford excellent media for students with musical talent and interest. A number of concerts, sacred and secular, by the choir and by smaller groups are presented throughout the year. Of growing interest among the students is the more recently organized opera workshop, which gives opportunity for combining musical and dramatic skills in the presentation of short operatic works and musical comedy selections.

The Campbell Players, a dramatics club, regularly present two or more full-length productions during the year. Both the dramatics and the musical groups participate in the annual speech festival of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Speech Association.

Clubs

Numerous literary clubs at Campbell give opportunity for strengthening interest in subject matter and developing companionships begun in the various classrooms. Such organizations include Epsilon Pi Eta Honor Society, Delta Psi Omega Forensic Society, Alpha Beta Gamma Chemistry Society, Phi Beta Lambda Business Society, an International Relations Club, a Religious Education Club and French, Latin and Spanish Clubs.

ATHLETICS

Intramural

An extensive intramural program, open to all students, supplements the formal curriculum in physical education at Campbell. Spirited participation in touch football, basketball, volleyball and softball enlivens the campus and encourages friendly rivalry among the residence halls. Lake Small, on college land near the campus proper, affords opportunity for swimming.

Intercollegiate

Campbell teams compete in intercollegiate basketball and baseball among the major sports, and also in golf, track, and tennis. As a junior college, Campbell has enjoyed membership in the North Carolina-Virginia College Athletic Conference. It expects as a senior college to compete against available intercollegiate competition in these sports.

POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT

Traditionally this institution has believed in student participation in government, having been among the first to inaugurate, even as a junior college with a high school department, a faculty-student form of administration. The success of any form of government, however, depends upon whether integrity, excellence of character, sense of what is right, courage and honor, govern the decisions and actions of the group governed. With the increase of mature student leadership, as the senior college develops, the Administration will look with favor upon an increasingly great participation of students in the government of their own activities, commensurate with their assumption of responsibility for the preservation of the established aims and objectives of the institution.

Hopefully, students at Campbell will through closer understanding of administrative aims, realize increasingly that rules are enacted solely to protect and augment individual rights and welfare. After all, the purpose of even restrictive legislation pertaining to harmful self-indulgences and group violations of public conscience, is establishment of Christian standards of conduct and enhancement of the institution's service to student groups.

The Student Government Council is composed of duly elected student members, as provided for in the Student Handbook, and the Dean of the College, Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and one faculty member appointed by the President of the College, serving as advisors.

Two auxiliary councils; the Woman's Executive Council and the Men's Executive Council, share with this council the responsibility for and jurisdiction over their respective campuses. These two executive councils are responsible to the Student Government Association.

In each of the several residence halls on both the woman's campus and the men's campus, councils known locally as house councils are charged with the responsibility, along with the dormitory supervisor, of dealing with less serious infractions, and enforcement of dormitory regulations. The several councils are responsible to the Executive Council of that particular campus.

In accordance with the traditions and policies of the College, gambling, stealing, use of intoxicants, and immorality are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Such action will be recorded on the student's permanent record and the student's parent or guardian will be advised of such action.

The use of profanity is everywhere obnoxious in the best society and is therefore a violation of our rules of conduct.

Smoking is discouraged. Smoking in classrooms, auditorium, cafeteria, and library is not permitted.

Students are warned that the possession of firecrackers and explosives is a violation of State and local regulations and will not be permitted on the College campus.

The possession of firearms is discouraged but those bringing firearms must register them with the Dean of Men or the student will be subject to disciplinary action.

Hazing is a violation of local and State statutes. Students found guilty of participating in conduct normally interpreted as hazing will be subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government Association.

For the safety of the student, and for the convenience of the College, the student's parents, and of those who might call or visit the campus, all boarding students should advise the dormitory dean when they are leaving the campus. Additional information concerning such matters will be found in the Student Handbook.

Attendance at Chapel, Church School, and Worship Services, is considered a part of the student's obligation for his own Christian training.

Students convicted of serious infractions of school regulations forfeit their eligibility for positions on the B.S.U. Council, the dormitory council, the executive council, or the student government and other places of responsibility in extra-curricular activities and membership in the Epsilon Pi Eta.

Any student withdrawing from the College without the approval of the Dean of the College, the Business Manager, and the Registrar, forfeits the right to an honorable dismissal. Request for withdrawal must be presented in writing and signed by parent and guardian. Such requests must be submitted at least twenty-four hours before proposed departure of student.

The best interest of the group demands that student organizations and groups request permission in advance from the Committee of Deans to hold dinners, and socials away from the College community.

Students are held responsible for the care of quarters in which they live and of all College property. Payment for all unnecessary damage will be assessed against individuals involved.

Each student is expected to keep his or her assigned quarters in acceptable order. Dormitory rooms are subject to periodic inspection. Those who do not keep an acceptable room may be declared ineligible to continue occupancy of residence hall quarters.

Health and sanitary reasons deny students and others living in residence halls the privilege of keeping animals and pets of any kind in the residence halls.

Students on route to and from the College are subject to the regulations of the College.

Any student enrolled in Campbell College who engages in activities or conducts himself, either on the campus or away from the College community, in such a manner as to reflect adversely on himself or the College, is subject to disciplinary action or expulsion.

In compliance with the announced wishes of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the College does not permit dancing on College property, or elsewhere under its auspices.

The organization of social fraternities and sororities are not in keeping with the tradition and philosophy of Campbell College.

The Student Handbook for any given school year supplements the catalogue. Revisions, deletions, and additions to regulations are sometimes advisable. Students are therefore, fully responsible for acquainting themselves and complying with policies as stated in the Student Handbook. The Administration endeavors to supply each student seeking admission with a copy of the Student Handbook prior to the date of registration.

Honesty is a pre-requisite to academic excellence. Each student is expected to subscribe to a pledge of honesty in preparing assigned work and in taking examinations. Students and faculty, who are aware of violations of such a pledge, are under obligation to report such infractions to the Student Government Association.

All students who do not live in their own home or who do not establish a home in the local area will be considered boarding students so far as student regulations and activities are concerned.

The more recently constructed buildings have built-in bookshelves, study tables, study and reading lamps. Those living in the older buildings might find it convenient to bring with them a study lamp. All dormitory rooms are supplied with waste baskets, brooms, dust-pans, etc.

All dormitories have single beds. Each student is expected to supply a pillow and bed linens, two or three changes of sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, etc. The student is also expected to bring towels and bathcloths. Students are free to bring rugs and other such accessories for the room. The construction of the newer buildings is of such materials as to make the hanging of curtains and draperies undesirable and difficult.

Radios and record players are permitted so long as they do not interfere with the normal routine of others. Students should not bring television sets since most of the dormitories have a television in the lounge.

Short wave radios and similar equipment may not be installed in the dormitories.

The privilege of having a vehicle on the campus will be under the provisions of a merit system. If the boarding student fails to meet the stated standards, he or she will be denied the privilege of having the car until the conditions have been met. No refund nor adjustment of fees will be made should he or she be found ineligible to continue to keep the car on the campus.

Each vehicle used or parked on the campus must be registered and must display an official parking sticker. The person to whom the registration sticker is issued will be held responsible for traffic violations involving that vehicle.

Registration of vehicles will be conducted as a part of the College registration process at the beginning of the semester. A car acquired or brought to the campus after registration must be registered promptly. Additional information concerning the privileges of having an automobile on campus will be found in the Student Handbook.

Those coming to the area by plane would normally arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. The nearest Atlantic Coastline Railway Station is Dunn and the most convenient Seaboard Airline Railway Station is Raleigh. Bus schedules from Raleigh and Fayetteville provide access to Buies Creek.

The local post office is situated on the College campus. Students may secure a post office box or pick up their mail general delivery. All correspondence directed to students in care of the College should be delivered with no appreciable delay.

Those desiring additional information on rules governing student life and student activities should direct a written statement to, or visit with, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

CLASS ATTENDANCE REGULATIONS

Campbell College assumes the position that every class hour is important. Provision is made for accurate reporting of attendance of all organized groups working for credit and the daily chapel meeting. All absences are recorded on individual student cards in the Registrar's office.

In order to allow students some latitude in attending to important personal matters, during a full semester two unexcused absences from any class, except laboratory, and six unexcused absences from chapel may be allowed Freshmen and Sophomores who have been admitted without restrictions. Students admitted on probation may not take unexcused absences from any class. They are allowed the six cuts from chapel during one semester.

Some students are admitted on academic probation. They are not privileged to be absent from classes without excuse for the duration of the probation. Occasionally, a student is permitted to enroll after the opening weeks of the term. All late enrollees forfeit the privilege of absences if they have not attended the first five meetings of a class.

Should a student enroll at the regularly appointed time and because of adjustment in schedule fail to meet a class prior to the fifth meeting of that class, the student will be considered ineligible for unexcused absences in that particular class.

A student who has been absent for valid reasons may submit a request for excused absences in the Registrar's office. To receive consideration, such requests must be filed not later than seven days following student's return to class. Whenever possible, the student should anticipate his absence and receive approval from the Registrar and notify his teachers.

Students not on probation who are classified by the Registrar's office as Juniors or Seniors may be entitled to six unexcused absences from one-hour classes and four unexcused absences from classes meeting one and one-half hours at a time for three semester hours credit.

Should an upper classman fail to maintain an average of C on his work, he will be entitled to only two unexcused class absences and six unexcused Chapel absences.

Students on academic probation should not incur absences so as to participate in extra-curricular activities unless with permission of the Dean of the College.

All students are expected to remember:

1. No student will be given credit for a course unless he has attended seventy-five per cent of the class meetings in that course for the semester, except by a special ruling of the faculty.
2. No student should expect an excuse from regularly announced tests unless providentially hindered from attending class.
3. The grade of a student dropping a course without permission of the Dean and the instructor is recorded F.
4. Absences incurred while representing the college on an athletic team, debate team, glee club or other college-sponsored activity, will be recorded as excused absences provided the sponsor of the group requests such of the Registrar's office.
5. The faculty sponsor of any organization that wishes to claim excused absences for students under the regulations above stated before the group leaves the campus, will furnish the Dean with the names of the students involved, the time the group is to leave and return, and the persons going as chaperones.

6. The faculty sponsors of an organization, after securing the approval of the administration, may arrange for students to attend certain programs or other activities in lieu of regular class attendance.
7. Three tardies are equivalent to one absence.
8. The parents written request for a student to be absent from duties at the college is usually granted in the case of emergencies, but the parent is warned that absences seriously interfere with the student's work. The parent must accept responsibility for such absences and the consequence. It is hoped that parents will not send requests except in an emergency.
9. Faculty members may warn a student if he is in danger of exceeding the number of excused absences allowed, but the responsibility for penalties invoked for violations of the above regulations must be assumed by the student.
10. When a Freshman or Sophomore has exceeded the two unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. A combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
11. When a Junior or Senior has exceeded the number of unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. A combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in a suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
12. If a student has been suspended from school for overcutting returns to school and again begins to overcut, he will be permanently expelled. More detailed information concerning attendance regulations will be found in the student handbook.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS

1. No student will be allowed to take part in intercollegiate contests during a semester if he registered later than the fifteenth calendar day following the opening date of the semester.
2. No student who is taking less than three-fourths of a normal load of scholastic work, shall be permitted to represent the college in any contest or any public performance.
3. No one who passed during the previous semester less than eight semester hours and physical education will be permitted to represent the College in any contest or public performance.

It is understood that these regulations do not apply to the performance of special or part-time students in the departments of Music and Dramatics.

REGULATIONS REGARDING SICKNESS

1. Except for emergency cases students needing medical attention should report to the college nurse during office hours.
2. Students are expected at all times to conform to the instructions of the college nurse or college physician as to when to enter and leave the infirmary and when to report for examination or treatment.
3. No meals will be served students in their rooms except upon instructions of the nurse.
4. The college administration assumes no responsibility for complications arising from sickness when the student fails to comply with regulations and instructions of the medical staff or to report promptly such sickness.
5. The college administration will honor no excuses from resident students for any absences on the ground of sickness except upon a statement from the college nurse. The nurse will not offer such statements for absences incurred before such sickness is reported to her.
6. In order that the health record of each student may be complete, each student is required to report to the nurse any visit to the college physician for professional services.
7. If a student requires any professional services other than furnished by the college medical staff, upon returning to school the student will bring a written statement giving the date and general nature of such service, in order that the college nurse may issue excuses for any absence incurred.
8. According to good medical practices and the best interest of the health of the total student group, students should not expect visits from fellow students while confined to the infirmary. Those wishing to visit the sick will normally be denied that privilege.

EPSILON PI ETA SOCIETY

The Epsilon Pi Eta Society was organized in the fall of 1928, for the express purpose of promoting character, leadership and scholarship. Membership in the society is gained by the nomination of at least twenty-five per cent of both the faculty and members of the society, in addition to attaining a fixed scholarship record for at least one year.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Delta Psi Omega is a national fraternity with the sole purpose of promoting interest in college theatre. Membership is strictly honorary. It can only be won through participation in plays staged by the dramatic organization of the college.

HOW TO APPLY FOR APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

All students considering Campbell for their undergraduate college training are asked to follow this procedure in making application. The applicant will find it advantageous to apply as early as possible for the year of his intended entrance.

DIRECTIONS FOR THOSE BEGINNING COLLEGE WORK

1. Study the catalogue (copies may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions).
2. Ask the Director of Admissions to answer any questions concerning the college or its program.
3. If possible, visit the college, preferably with your parents, to tour the campus and to discuss your program of study.
4. Obtain from the Admissions Office the necessary forms.
5. Complete the application form carefully and attach a recent photograph. With the application enclose the ten-dollar processing fee, and, if you wish to reserve dormitory accommodations, the ten-dollar room deposit. Mail the application to the Director of Admissions.
6. With the assistance of your principal or guidance counselor, make the necessary arrangements for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Request that the scores be sent to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, Buies Creek, North Carolina. (Code 5100)
7. Upon completing the first half of the senior year, have your high school principal send to the Registrar of the college a record of all high school work attempted.
8. Upon graduation: (a) ask the high school to send to the Registrar of the college a supplementary transcript recording the grades and credits earned during the last semester, and (b) have your family physician complete the Student Health Service form and mail it to the Director of Admissions.

DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE TRANSFER

1. Follow steps 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 above.
2. Request the Registrar of the college at which you are now in attendance, or if not now in school the Registrar of the school where last in attendance, to mail to the Registrar, Campbell College, a complete transcript. If you have been in attendance at more than one college, the Registrar of each institution should mail to the Campbell College Registrar a transcript of all work attempted in that school.

3. Request a letter of recommendation from a responsible official of the college previously attended.

SUMMER SCHOOL TRANSFER

Students enrolling at Campbell College for the summer program should secure from the proper school official to which the credit will be transferred a statement certifying approval of such plans and listing approved courses.

PROVISIONAL ADMISSIONS

Should a student be admitted without completing the admissions procedure, he will not be eligible for credit on work done at Campbell College until he has satisfactorily met the requirements of the Admissions Office.

CAMPBELL'S PURPOSE

Ad astra per aspera

Implicit in this old Latin motto, adopted during the dark days of Reconstruction in the Old South, are beliefs, aims and objectives that have guided this institution through ever-changing circumstances without. Campbell's rise from a community school of sixteen students to eminence as a great southern academy and later to its present standing among the State's largest church-related senior colleges is illustrative of what perseverance can accomplish in scaling the heights. It is a matter of common knowledge that Campbell College has always unapologetically affirmed her faith in an omnipotent, omniscient and benevolent Creator, who with singularity of purpose ever controls man's destiny; in the potentialities of mankind when properly related to his Creator; in the competence of liberal arts education to free men to live more abundantly in a democratic society.

Based on the conviction that in Christian Education is to be found "the unifying principle of the total college experience," Campbell's purpose as an educational institution has ever been:

1. To inspire youth with vistas of a better life through study, recreation, fellowship and guidance,
2. To discover and transmit within the context of the liberal arts curriculum truth about man, his origin and nature, and his ever-expanding environment.
3. To equip the student as a more efficient participant in the world's work through incorporation of certain vocational, pre-professional and professional courses of study, chosen upon the basis of student demands and institutional adequacy. Such courses, at present available, include the following:
  1. Professional Four-Year Curricula:
    - (1) primary and secondary education
    - (2) sacred music
    - (3) religious education for church educational directors
    - (4) business administration
  2. Four-year Pre-professional Curricula, leading toward law, medicine, dentistry, and the Christian ministry.
  3. First Two years of Pre-professional and Vocational Courses of Study, leading to degrees in home economics, nursing, medical technology, engineering, agriculture, forestry, industrial arts, and textiles.
  4. Two-year and One-Year Terminal Courses in secretarial science and bookkeeping.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Campbell College has for years been fully accredited as a junior college, having held membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, in the American Association of Junior Colleges, in the North Carolina College Conferences, and in the Conference of Church-Related Colleges of North Carolina. While the junior college division will still possess full accreditation in transition, under the policy of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools a new senior college must graduate its third senior class before applying for full accreditation. The college expects to meet the requirements of the Southern Association and apply for admission at the earliest permissible date.

Accredited by the North Carolina College Conference

Based upon Campbell's having met the full minimum requirements for membership in the North Carolina College Conference prior to graduating its first senior class in 1963, this institution was admitted to membership at the annual meeting of the Conference held in the fall of the same year.

Students of Campbell's first graduating classes may be assured the full recognition accorded graduates of new colleges. They have additional assurance in the fact that Campbell is already recognized as a well established institution. Campbell's capable graduates should continue to find ready acceptance as they begin professional life or graduate to higher training in other institutions.

This claim is based upon a record of more than seventy years of public service in education.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

“Blest and distinguished days! which we should prize The first, the kindest bounty of the skies.”

I.

An Humble Beginning

1887 – 1900

On January 5, 1887, Campbell College had its beginning in a small one-room building, forty-eight by twenty-two feet in dimensions, newly built by local citizens for starting a community school.

President J. A. Campbell assumed full financial responsibility for maintaining the institution numbering on its opening day sixteen students, though rather pretentiously called Buie’s Creek Academy. While the school was hardly expected to run for more than five months, a surprising growth during the first spring led to the addition of an east wing on the little building, eighteen by twenty-four feet for a primary department. A west wing was added in 1893, eighteen by thirty. By 1896 the growth in enrollment prompted the construction of a three-story annex, fifty by thirty-six feet, with a front projection, fourteen by sixteen feet. The new structure, now 136 feet in length, contained six large classrooms, an Art hall, a Commercial hall, two nicely furnished literary society halls, and a library room. On December 20, 1900, on the closing day of the fall term, this entire building was swept away by fire, probably at the hands of an incendiary.

II.

Resurgence Out of the Ashes

1900 – 1903

All that saved the institution from extinction, probably, was a large, open, unfloored tabernacle, eighty by ninety feet, erected in the spring of 1898 for Commencement exercises. Thanks to the heroic efforts of students, patrons, and other friends, within twenty days seven commodious classrooms were improvised and equipped in this roughly constructed tabernacle, and school reopened on January 8, 1901. These temporary quarters kept the school intact and growing for three years until the completion of the present Kivett Building.

The erection of old Kivett was one of the greatest, most sacrificial ventures ever undertaken by the school. With no money and no large contributors in sight, situated in a community remote from any railroad and made even more inaccessible by bad roads, President Campbell and his associates set about the construction of a brick building to cost the fabulous sum, at that time, of $30,000. Friends subscribed nickels and dimes to buy bricks; students without money cut cord wood to burn the brick made locally and supplied brick to masons on the job. The genius of the whole construction was Z. T. Kivett, who burned the brick and over a three-year period directed the erection of the building as money and credits were slowly obtained.

Emergence as a Great Private Academy

1903 - 1926

From the very first session in 1887 an increasing number of boarding students from this and other states continued to enter Buie's Creek Academy. In the absence of dormitory facilities all boarding students prior to 1913 had to be cared for in private homes. At the opening of that year Treat Dormitory, the first dormitory for girls, named in honor of M. C. Treat, generous benefactor and friend, was dedicated. Not until 1923 was the first residence hall for boys provided. Due to changing social conditions and growing enrollments, the construction of an annex to this first residence hall for men and the remodeling of Pearson Building later provided additional housing accommodations for men. Some idea of the growing influence of the institution is indicated by the fact that total enrollment in 1925 included 380 boarding students from seventy counties in the state and seven states in the nation. Of the institution Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy, wrote: "If every section of the state had such an Academy, North Carolina would in a few years take front rank in education."

1926 - 1961

The first step in transition from complete private ownership by J. A. Campbell to possession by North Carolina Baptists came in 1911 when under the name of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., twenty trustees, elected by the Little River Association, controlled Treat dormitory. Later the library was deeded by its donor, D. Rich, to the denomination. In 1925 all the property owned by J. A. Campbell and wife, together with that controlled by the local Association, was deeded to the Baptist State Convention, in whose hands it is now held.

In the fall of 1926, with the consent of the Baptist Board of Education, the institution added a year of college work, and the Baptist State Convention of the same year authorized the advancement of the institution to the rank of a junior college. The Convention, by the adoption of the Hamby resolution, which follows, changed the school's name:

"In view of the fact that our brother, Dr. J. A. Campbell, working strenuously and untiringly through a period of forty years, has built a great school at Buies Creek, known through the years as Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., and recently changed from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College.

"Whereas, it is eminently fitting that such devotion to the cause of education should be kept in memory perpetually, and the name and work of Brother Campbell be preserved as a cherished memorial of North Carolina Baptists, be it

"Resolved, that the Baptist State Convention now in session, request its Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to change the name from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College."

The college received immediate recognition by the State Department of Education and in 1941 was accepted as a fully accredited junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"To the stars through difficulties," originally adopted as the school motto, accurately describes the struggles as a junior college for the ensuing thirty-five years. From a total enrollment during the first college year (1926-1927) of 53 college students, plus 352 in high school and 333 in the elementary grades, the institution grew by its last year of operation as a junior college during 1960-1961 to an enrollment of 1,220 students, of whom 1,056 were in college and 164 were high school and sub-freshman enrollees. Some three million dollars had been expended in the enlargement and expansion of the college. But this record of achievement has not been easy. Through the depression years in the 1930's the college operated without endowment and without current support from the Baptist State Convention until 1937. The Founder and President died in 1934. The second World War all but stripped the campus of male students. During the 1950-1960 decade the college enjoyed its greatest growth in plant expansion and enrollment.

Aspiring to New Heights as a Senior College!

In the spring of 1958 in its special session the Baptist State Convention authorized the Campbell College Board of Trustees, "in the light of its rapid expansion since 1950, the need for a senior coeducational Baptist college in the east, and the enthusiasm of its alumni concerning the future of the school (to) consider converting the institution into a senior college as soon as they think desirable and possible to do so." In the light of these instructions, the administration and trustees adopted plans for the orderly advancement to senior college status by adding the junior year in 1961-1962 and the senior year in 1962-1963. During the first full year as a senior college the fall enrollment in 1962 reached an all-time high of 1,730 students including a senior class of 164.

CLASSROOMS

D. RICH MEMORIAL BUILDING (1926). This fire-resistant structure of tapestry-faced brick and Indiana limestone was constructed with that portion of the D. Rich bequest, approximately $160,000, available at Mr. Rich's death. The building, 160 feet long and 120 feet wide, contains classrooms, lecture halls, teachers' offices, and an auditorium to seat 1,250.

J. CLYDE TURNER CHAPEL. In October 1961 the Board of Trustees, prompted by the deep desire to exalt worship as the pre-eminent function of the auditorium in D. Rich Memorial Building, as well as by the intention to associate permanently with its chapel the names of two distinguished Baptists, long time friends of Campbell College, voted unanimously to name the chapel in honor of Dr. J. Clyde Turner and wife, Bertha Hicks Turner. Such action called for complete renovation and installation of improved facilities prior to the formal dedicatory exercises on January 25, 1963.

KIVETT BUILDING (1903). Completion of this massive structure named for Z. T. Kivett, the builder, required nearly three years (May 23, 1901 to November 2, 1903). At present its lower two stories house the college bookstore, several classrooms and teachers offices. It was used by the local elementary school until 1948, when it was converted into a science hall and was thus used until the fall of 1962.

MATHEMATICS HALL (1923). Started by a $2,500 gift of Mr. D. Rich toward a temporary auditorium and gymnasium, this brick-veneered structure, 60 by 90 feet, served as a gymnasium from 1924 to 1953. In 1956 it was converted for use by the department of mathematics and the public relations and development staffs. Removal of public relations and development in 1961 permits its further modification for classroom use.

MUSIC CENTER (1947). The music department has up to the 1963-'64 session been housed in two temporary buildings, 20 x 48 feet each, erected in 1947.

In the summer of 1963, another larger frame structure was built

Britt Dormitory

to provide for the expanded music program being offered. The college is committed to the erection at the earliest possible date of a more adequate music hall for this growing department.

THE NEW ART CENTER (1963). With the procurement in 1963 of the former residence of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, the art department was moved into renovated sections of the home and adjacent garage. Because of the close proximity to the campus, spaciousness and excellent lighting, this department is presently very adequately located.

FRED N. DAY COTTAGE (1936). In 1925 the Rev. Fred N. Day, purchasing a seven-room residence and about two adjacent acres, gave them to Buie's Creek Academy as a home for married students. When Campbell installed home economics in 1936, the building was renovated to provide space for practical training on the cottage plan. With the removal of the home economics department to the new Science Building in 1962 the building is now used as a kindergarten and temporary art studios.

SCIENCE BUILDING (1962). Realizing the strategic place of science in the future preparation of youth in this atomic age, nothing has been spared in the planning and construction of this new three and one-half story structure. Its 44,000 square feet provides spacioulsly for physics, biology, chemistry, and home economics. On the first floor is a small auditorium seating 175 to accommodate science lecture groups as well as for other cultural purposes. Included in its modern conveniences are air conditioning and elevator service.

LIBRARY

CARRIE RICH MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1925). This building consisted originally of two large reading rooms, stack rooms, and librarian's office. In planning it as a memorial to his wife, the one intention of Mr. D. Rich, the donor, was to have the building as flawless and beautiful as was the Christian character of his beloved wife.

The college in 1956 erected an addition, harmonious with the original and three times its size, making the library adequate to store 35,000 volumes and to accommodate in the reading rooms 200 students at one time. Additional tables in the present reading rooms and two added reading rooms in Pearson make it possible to seat a substantially larger number of students at present.

WILLIAM PEARSON HALL (1915). This building bears the name of the man who in 1887 made the first canvass for funds to establish this institution. Until his death on May 25, 1915, he became permanently identified with the school as father-in-law of the founder and active supporter by word and purse.

Pearson Hall was constructed with money borrowed from Harnett

County and repaid by the principal by teaching the public school for this district. It was first used by the elementary department of the school; later converted in 1926 into a music hall; used from 1948 until 1962 as a Men's dormitory; at present used as a library annex and as teacher's offices.

THEATRE

PAUL GREEN THEATRE (1934). Located in a grove between Mathematics Hall and the D. Rich Memorial Building under an arch of oaks and pines, this three-stage amphitheatre is a naturally beautiful and acoustically excellent setting for outdoor musicals and dramas. It was designed by Paul Green distinguished poet and playwright, who is a graduate of Buies Creek Academy. Mr. Green himself supervised the construction of the amphitheatre in 1933-34. Through many performances, including repeated productions of Mr. Green's own symphonic drama "The Highland Call," Campbell players, musicians, and their patrons have enjoyed this contribution to the cultural life of the college.

ATHLETIC FIELD

HERBERT B. TAYLOR ATHLETIC FIELD. This well-lighted athletic field was purchased some years ago to provide for the growing college enrollments. Mr. Herbert B. Taylor of Dunn, N. C., athlete and sports lover, father of the nationally famous Knee-Pants Baseball League, sponsored the necessary park improvements, including stands for the spectators. His deep interest in Campbell College has been over and over expressed in his benefactions and in his devoted services on the Board of Trustees. In recognition of these services the Trustees named the athletic field in his honor.

DORMITORIES

JONES DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1954). By subsequent action by the trustees this building was named in honor of William Hubert Jones and Lula Bostic Jones, faithful trustees and benefactors. Rooms in this modern, fire-resistant building for 72 students are arranged in suites with connecting baths. Each is equipped with built-in closet, chest of drawers, study table, and vanity dresser. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. Lounges on the three floors supplement the reception center, which is equipped with kitchenette and with folding partitions for smaller groupings.

FRED N. DAY DORMITORY (1959). This modern dormitory for 78 students was accomplished by reconstructing a three-story, fire-resistant structure, adding wings to the north and south and a portico to its eastern exposure. As reconstructed, it is similar in appointments to Jones Dormitory, described above. Day Dormitory, as first built in 1937, replaced the Fred N. Day Annex, a two-story frame building destroyed by fire on December 15, 1936.

TREAT DORMITORY (1913). Treat Dormitory has thirty-two rooms and a large basement, which is now used as a recreation room for the women's campus. It is named for M. C. Treat of California, deceased, the largest contributor to its construction.

POWELL DORMITORY (1960). This three-story dormitory, accommodating sixty young women, is modern in construction and equipment throughout. It is adjoined to Treat Dormitory by a connecting lobby and reception room. By order of the Board of Trustees this attractive building has been named in honor of Misses Mabel and Nell Powell to commemorate their years of faithful service and loyalty as teachers and devoted friends of Campbell College.

JAMES E. AND MARY Z. BRYAN DORMITORY (1961). This dormitory, located on the newly acquired tract of land back of Treat, is in many respects the most modern and attractive on the campus. The building is a cluster of twelve one-story apartment units, grouped around an interior court and joined by an exterior wall and roof. One section provides a reception center, a guest room and quarters for the faculty counselor. Each unit consists of four bedrooms, a living room and bath, to accommodate eight young women. The building is named in memory of James E. Bryan, alumnus and successful businessman, and wife, Mary Z. Bryan.

LAYTON DORMITORY (1923). Layton Hall contains 45 rooms for men in its main section. In 1928 an annex of thirteen rooms was built with money given by the late B. N. Duke. Because of the "singular service to the cause of Christ" rendered by Mrs. Joel G. Layton of Lillington, N. C., and her late husband, and because of their generous support of the institution through the years, the Board of Trustees on March 22, 1951, unanimously directed that the main section of this building "be henceforth known as Layton Dormitory."

W. S. BRITT DORMITORY (1947). Constructed with funds supplied by many friends, this twenty-seven-room, fire-resistant dormitory for men is named for an alumnus, W. S. Britt of Lumberton, the largest benefactor.

J. F. KITCHIN DORMITORY FOR MEN (1955). This three-story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 96 men. Each room has built-in closets, chest of drawers, study table, and lavatory. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. A single-story section provides a guest room, accommodations for the dean of men, and a parlor for student use.

NEW DORMITORY FOR MEN (1959). This three story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 102 men. It is similar in design and facilities to the J. F. Kitchin building.

CAMPBELLTOWN APARTMENTS. Twelve duplex houses, erected in 1959, accommodate twenty-four married-student and faculty families. Attractively designed, they are supplied with modern built-in conveniences. In 1962 ten other similar houses were added.

CAMPBELL HOME. This house, originally the home of the Founder of Campbell College, about one-half mile from the campus, has been renovated and equipped to accommodate 18 students.

ELLIS APARTMENTS. These apartments for married students were provided in part by W. Caswell Ellis, alumnus, in memory of Ruth Miller Ellis, deceased mother of his two children, and William Caswell Ellis, Jr., who lived a short but beautiful life.

NORTH DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1962). This three story dormitory located behind Bryan Dormitory consists of apartment units, each housing ten young women with a total accommodation for 96 young women.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR MEN (1962). This modern three-story dormitory located to the west of the President's home houses 106 young men. The rooms are arranged in apartment units consisting of five bedrooms, a living room, and bath.

OTHER BUILDINGS

B. P. MARSHBANKS CAFETERIA (1934). Originally planned for 400 students, this cafeteria was constructed with contributions in cash, materials, and labor, supplemented by appropriations from the college budget. In 1957 it was expanded by addition of three dining rooms and much storage space. Stainless steel kitchen equipment was installed, and modern cafeteria counters were provided for three-line service. The cafeteria is now adequate for a student body of well over 1,000.

JOHN S. PEARSON MEMORIAL INFIRMARY (1960). A new health center, designed to be adequate for the present and readily expandable for future needs, was added to the Campbell family of buildings in October, 1960. This provides room for 16 students in two wards and four semi-private rooms. It is carefully designed as space for providing the medical care that is customarily given in first-class college health units. John S. Pearson, for whom the building is named, was at one time business manager of the Biblical Recorder and was for many years business manager of Progressive Farmer. He was the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Pearson Campbell, wife of the Founder. A challenge gift of Mrs. Campbell started the infirmary project.

JAMES A. CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING (1961). This beautiful, commodious structure is a fitting memorial to the Founder of Campbell College and his widow, Cornelia Pearson Campbell.

The first floor of the two-story structure provides four spacious suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Students and the Business Manager. Located also on this floor will be found an attractive lobby and a large conference room, called the Trustee Room. The second floor provides adequate office space and facilities for such major programs as college development, public relations, publicity, multigraphing, photography, student guidance, religious activities and chapel direction.

CARTER GYMNASIUM (1952). This attractive, modern structure is named to honor the N. H. Carter Family and to commemorate the invaluable services and benefactions of Harry C. Carter of Greensboro, former president of the Trustees. During Campbell's recent years as a junior college the playing floor, standard gymnasium equipment, offices, and two large classrooms of this building have been adequate for a complete physical education program.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING PLANT (1951). The laundry and dry cleaning plant is one of the most useful auxiliary enterprises of the college.

OTHER EQUIPMENT

CHARLES L. ANDREWS CHAPEL ORGAN. In the summer of 1949 Mr. Charles L. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs, N. C., donated to the college a beautiful Baldwin Electronic organ, complete with chimes, for the spacious auditorium in the D. Rich Administration building. The organ adds much to all worship services held in the auditorium and also makes possible the study of organ by a number of interested music students.

THE J. F. AND KATYE HATCHER BLACKMON CARILLON SYSTEM. This lovely contribution to campus life, installed in 1955 from funds donated by Reverend and Mrs. J. F. Blackmon, coordinates the work of the whole day. Sweet toned, the amplified bells automatically announce the passing of the hours from morning until well in the night. Another most attractive feature is daily vespers, automatically presented.

The system likewise has provision for amplifying recitals from the chapel organ, as well as recordings.

BENEFACTIONS

"He only does not live in vain who employs his wealth, his thoughts, his speech to advance the good of others."

The work of the institution has from time to time attracted many friends in and out of the State, who have given generously to its needs. Among its largest benefactors have been William Pearson, Z. T. Kivett, M. C. Treat of California, Fred N. Day, D. Rich, B. N. Duke of New York, D. H. Senter, W. C. Ellis, A. L. Byrd, J. F. Kitchin, Mrs. Sarah Baggett Cox, H. C. Carter, W. H. Jones, Mrs. J. A. Campbell, R. L. Pittman, R. A. Hedgpeth, L. A. McLeod, H. B. Taylor, L. D. Isenhour, Lawton Kitchin, and the R. P. Holding Family. These have aided in securing additional buildings and other property, the school water system, and the beginning of an endowment fund. Grateful acknowledgment is hereby made to these and a host of unnamed contributors, to whom the institution owes its origin and perpetuation.

B. N. Duke Gifts

In the spring of 1926 Mr. Duke gave the school $25,000 for the completion of a sewerage system and other needs. Three additional gifts during the year brought his contributions to $50,000.

ENDOWMENT

During the Commencement exercises in 1924, Mr. W. C. Ellis, Greenville, S. C., suggested a plan for increasing the endowment on an insurance plan. Alumni of the school were asked to take a ten-year endowment policy payable to the school for amounts from $100 up. In this way, the members of the senior class in 1925 subscribed about $5,000 to this fund.

Subsequent efforts have increased this endowment fund by several thousand dollars. Pledges and bequests are annually being converted into tangible assets, which are put into safe investments to produce much needed income as a supplement to student fees.

The D. Rich Endowment Fund. September 29, 1923, Mr. D. Rich, while conducting the devotional exercises at chapel, stated that little sleep had come to him on the previous night, because time was spent in talking with the Lord about Buie's Creek. In his soul was born that night, he said, this striking expression: "Buie's Creek must live." After his death on October 21, 1924, his will revealed that he had left the trustees of Buie's Creek Academy one-eighth of his estate. One-half of this amount, approximately $160,000, available at his death, made possible the construction of D. Rich Administration Building.

In August, 1940, Campbell College received from the will of Mr. D. Rich cash and securities valued at $151,669.80. By unanimous vote the trustees at their next annual meeting authorized that the entire amount be allocated to the permanent endowment fund of the college and that it be known thereafter as the D. Rich Endowment Fund.

Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund. Because of his lifelong interest in Campbell College, which is located in his native county, Mr. Allen L. Byrd bequeathed to this institution a share of his estate amounting to approximately $7,500. In the summer of 1941 a partial payment of $6,837 was received. By order of the Board of Trustees the entire amount is to remain intact as a part of the permanent endowment and is to be known as the Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund in memory of the donor.

ERWIN MILLS FOREST

In consideration of the long friendly relationship between Erwin Mills, Inc., and Campbell College in their joint promotion of the economic, social, cultural and religious development of their constituency, Erwin Mills, Inc., graciously donated to Campbell College in 1960 a valuable tract of timberland, containing approximately 150 acres, which the Board of Trustees of the college has designated as Erwin Mills Forest. This property is to be held for the foreseeable future to provide income for current support.

LOAN FUNDS

We are happy to announce the establishment of the following loan funds for worthy students. These sums, coming unsolicited, express the confidence of these benefactors in the work of Campbell College and their sympathy with poor boys and girls struggling for an education. In behalf of those to be blessed by these amounts, we express our thanks for the following loans:

Four-County Loan Fund. This fund of $1,000 was established in the summer of 1941 by a friend interested in helping students who would otherwise be unable to finance their education. Preference is to be given students from the four counties of Harnett, Johnston, Sampson, and Cumberland, "unless college officials deem students from elsewhere more worthy."

Betty Byrd Green Memorial Loan Fund. In memory of Betty Byrd Green, who in 1887 was among the first students to register in this institution, her children, out of deep gratitude for her sacrificial life, her noble character and her keen intellectual interests, created at the commencement of 1941 this fund to aid worthy students.

Page Loan Fund. This loan fund of $500 was established by Mrs. Theresa Page Magruder in memory of her father, mother, two brothers, and one sister. Members of the family plan to add to this fund from time to time.

Alberta Hinton Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1940 by C. R. Hinton, alumnus of the college, in memory of his mother.

Gerald Motley Loan Fund. This fund is created by friends of Gerald Motley, gifted young minister and loyal alumnus of this institution, who lost his life during the year of 1940 in an automobile accident en route to the college to speak at the daily chapel service. Contributors to this fund would memorialize his nobility of character, his loyalty to Campbell, and his interest in the problems of youth.

Mabel Powell Loan Fund. Former students of Miss Mabel Powell have started this fund out of appreciation for the inspiration and help received from their beloved teacher. Each year the size of the fund is being increased.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ousley Loan Fund. This fund is in honor of the late Mr. H. C. Ousley and Mrs. Ousley, for many years citizens of the Buie's Creek community. It has been established by one of their sons and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Ousley of Waco, Texas. This fund is for the purpose of assisting students who feel led to give themselves to full time Christian service. It is not available to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco.

Demming Morton Ward Loan Fund. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ward, Durham, North Carolina, have established this fund in loving memory of their son, killed in the service of his country on May 8, 1945. Two years prior he had left college as a sophomore to enter the U. S. Air Corps. At the time of his death, he was a first lieutenant flying a transport plane from Burma to India. Lieutenant Ward was a devoted son, an active participant in youth organizations, and a faithful member of his church. Through this memorial fund his parents hope to bless humanity in perpetuity by extending opportunity to other youth to live the more abundant life.

Jessie Slocumb Smith Scholarship Fund. This scholarship is sponsored by the Chicora Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, to commemorate the distinguished services of Jessie Slocumb Smith who for forty years was historian of her chapter. She served likewise in many other capacities, including the presidency. It is proposed to make this an ever enlarging benefit to the youth of this area by adding to the fund from time to time.

Starr Johnson Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been set up in memory of Starr Johnson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis David Johnson, Buie's Creek, North Carolina. Of the initial gift amounting to $500, a scholarship in the amount of $100 will be awarded annually to a deserving freshman until further notice.

Fitchett Memorial Loan Fund. This fund is set up by the Fitchetts of Dunn to aid worthy students in need of financial assistance. Loans must meet the approval of the college committee.

Layton Loan Fund. This is an accumulative fund established by Mrs. Martha Layton Winston in honor of her parents, Mr. Joel G. Layton and Mrs. Maude C. Layton. The college deeply appreciates this scholarship aid to serve generations to come, set up as a tribute to these life-long friends, generous benefactors to Campbell College.

In addition to the loan funds above, Campbell College gratefully acknowledges smaller amounts established by the following friends to help needy students: J. F. Keith, I. T. Valentine, J. H. Barnes, John W. Holmes, Bruce Blackmon, James A. Buchanan.

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM

Under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Campbell College has been granted her proportionate share of Federal funds appropriated to the end "that no student of ability will be denied an opportunity for higher education because of financial need." While the Act provides that prospective teachers and students having special interest either in science, mathematics or modern languages be given preferential consideration, any capable high school graduate may apply for a loan in the amount necessary to attend college, not to exceed $1,000 a year. Information concerning the exceedingly generous terms for obtaining and repaying the loan will be supplied to any interested student upon request.

COLLEGE FOUNDATION, INC. LOAN FUND

Loans in an amount up to $500.00 per student per school year are available to qualified entering freshmen through the College Foundation, Inc. Students who are desirous of participating in this program which was sponsored by the Governor of North Carolina should contact the College Business Manager. The Business Manager will supply the necessary forms and information. If approved, the funds will be disbursed from the College Foundation to the college treasurer. Only students from North Carolina are eligible. Repayment is to begin 90 days after graduation to be repaid over a four year period.

THE TUITION PLAN INC. LOAN FUND

The Tuition Plan, Inc. is a national student loan fund organization that specializes in providing low cost programs for educational cost. The funds are made available to Campbell College students in any amount necessary for the financing of educational expenses. Arrangements for participating in this plan can be made by writing direct to the Tuition Plan, Inc., One Park Ave., New York, N. Y., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EDUCATION FUNDS, INC. LOAN FUND

This also is a national organization designed to finance the total cost of educational expenses over a wide range of plans from one to four years, and is available to all Campbell College students regardless of academic progress. Application for participation in the Education Funds, Inc. loan fund program can be obtained by writing direct to Education Funds, Inc., 10 Dorrance Street, Providence, R. I., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

FIRST CITIZENS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY PREPAID EDUCATION LOAN FUNDS

The college has an arrangement with the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company whereby the bank makes direct loans to all Campbell College students in amounts necessary to defray educational expenses. This plan is designed to meet the needs of families desiring to pay educational costs out of income rather than out of savings. Arrangements for participating in this program can be made direct by writing First Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Prepaid Education Loan Fund Department, Charlotte, N. C., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EXPENSES

For Semester of 18 Weeks

(The College reserves the right, with proper notice to patrons, to make changes in the following schedule of expenses when it proves necessary.)

PROCESSING AND ROOM RESERVATION FEES

A processing fee of $10.00 is payable with all original applications for admission and is not refundable.

A room deposit of $10.00 must accompany the application for a room in one of the dormitories. Priority of application determines the choice of rooms. This deposit is not refundable unless a student is denied admission. After the student enters classes this amount is held as a credit to his or her account against unnecessary damage done to rooms in dormitories. The college will refund any unexpended balance of room deposits upon the student's withdrawal or completion of education program at Campbell College.

Nonresident Fee: Students from outside the State of North Carolina in addition to the above are required to pay a nonresident fee of $25.00 for each semester.

The above statement does not include the cost of books, laundry and a small accident insurance premium. The cost of laundry paid by all boarding students is $18.00 per semester. Books which vary in cost are on a cash basis if purchased from college owned bookstore. The insurance fee varies from $5.00 for women to $8.50 for men.

Through the college infirmary facilities and the college medical staff the college provides for medical attention of the kind commonly provided by the general practitioner. Drugs on prescription of the doctor will cost extra.

A graduation fee of $10.00 will be required of all eligible students.

EXTRAS FOR SPECIAL COURSES AND PART-TIME STUDENTS

For Semester of 18 Weeks

Private lessons in Art (regular students) . . . . .	$50.00
Private lessons in Piano (including piano practice) . . . . .	50.00

In addition to the above students from outside the State of North Carolina will be charged an additional $8.33 for each six weeks.

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the previously listed expenses, Campbell College grants as scholarships to members of the following groups, deductions in amounts indicated.

Ministerial students . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Volunteers for foreign missions . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Students from orphanages . . . . .	$100.00 a year
High School valedictorians . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Children of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year
Wives of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year

To qualify for a scholarship the ministerial student or mission volunteer must present letters of recommendation from his or her church. Continuation of the award of such scholarships is conditioned upon the student's satisfactory performance.

No special considerations or offers of scholarships or self-help employment are valid until approved by the President or Business Manager.

SELF-HELP EMPLOYMENT

The college has always sought to help worthy students unable to finance their college education. To that end all possible work assignments have been reserved for students. The compensation is in keeping with the charges made by the college and is payable in cash monthly. The college reserves the right to apply any compensation due against any unpaid balances currently due on the student account. Any student requiring financial assistance should obtain a "Self-Help Application Blank" from the college. Obviously, the amount of work available is limited. The Committee on job assignments will give consideration to priority of application, as well as to the merits of each case.

SETTLEMENTS

A charge of ten dollars for processing must accompany the application of each new student. This fee of $10.00 is applied against cost of evaluating applications and is not refundable. Each student requesting dormitory reservation must include also a room-reservation deposit of ten dollars. The unexpended balance of the room deposit is refunded upon termination of stay in the dormitory.

By July 15, applicants for the fall term must deposit fifty dollars toward fall expenses. This is not refundable. Students who are accepted later than July 15, must make this deposit within fifteen days after the notice of acceptance is mailed.

Applicants for the spring term must make the non-refundable deposit of fifty dollars by January 15. Applicants notified of acceptance later than the fifteenth of January must make the deposit prior to registration.

This deposit of fifty dollars, or some arrangement satisfactory to the President, is required of all students. If the applicant fails to make the deposit by the appointed time, the application is subject to cancellation by the Admissions Office.

Tuition and General Fees must be paid upon entrance and are not refundable after 48 hours.

Settlement for room and board must be made in advance for each half-semester. In the event of justifiable withdrawal during the semester, the student will be charged for room and board a penalty of ten per cent in excess of the charges for the period of attendance. Proportionate refund may be allowed on charges for board if a student is absent for two consecutive weeks because of sickness.

No refund on any of these payments will be made to the student whose conduct requires suspension or expulsion.

Any variation in the above terms must be approved by the President before the student's entrance.

A student will not be permitted to undergo semester examinations unless satisfactory arrangements for payment of all outstanding obligations for that semester have been approved by the Business Manager.

No statement of work completed will be released by the Registrar until the student has made satisfactory settlement of all charges.

A dormitory student may not move his or her residence from the dormitory during a semester without special permission from the President. Changes proposed for the following semester must have similar approval.

ROOM AND BOARD

DORMITORIES. The college has facilities for housing practically all of its resident students. Others may find rooms in approved homes in the community. All dormitories are equipped with electricity, steam heat, and running water; but as is suggested by the variations in prices charged, the accommodations are not uniform. Every dormitory room is furnished with beds, dresser, chairs and study table or desk. Students must provide their own pillows, bed linens and covering, and towels; also curtains, study lamps, rugs and bookshelves, if these are desired.

BOARD. All students living in college dormitories eat together in the central dining hall, a commodious and well-lighted building. Every effort is made to provide a properly balanced menu of well-prepared foods under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

No student will be allowed to board or room in any private home unless the keeper of the home pledges to support the government of the school and to report upon request as to the conduct of students in the home.

The use of electrical appliances in the dormitories is allowed only by special permission. Radios may be operated in students' rooms with permission of the dean of men or dean of women. In each women's dormitory an ironing room will be provided.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The requirements for entrance into the college conform to the regulations adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the North Carolina College Conference.

High school graduation from a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or the equivalent of the completion of such a course, as shown by examination, is required of all students seeking admission to the freshman class.

The major portion of the preparatory work shall be composed of basic college-preparatory subjects: English, foreign languages, mathematics, natural sciences, and the social studies, and should normally include English, four units; foreign language, two units; mathematics, two units (including one unit of algebra); natural science, one unit; and social studies, one unit.

Students electing curricula leading to graduation, from Campbell or other colleges which may require additional preparation, must remove such deficiencies during the first year of residence, or during summer school preceding or following the first year.

All information showing the quality of work accomplished, the personality, character, and health of the applicant, and the recommendation of appropriate school officials must be available to the college before registration is permitted.

In addition to those students admitted by certificate or examination, special students who demonstrate their ability to profit by the instruction provided by the college may be admitted. The special student will be allowed no credit toward graduation until he has met the entrance requirements fully.

All applicants for admission to the freshman class are expected to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board and have the results sent to the college.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student applying for admission to advanced standing or for acceptance of credit earned at another college must present: (a) a certificate of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended; (b) an official transcript of record from the institution or institutions previously attended; (c) details of the high school work completed.

Admission to the work of the junior year requires a C average on all work attempted. Provision will be made for advanced placement of qualified students on the basis of standard tests in subject areas in general use among the leading colleges and universities.

TRANSFERS

Students transferring from colleges not accredited by the regional accrediting agency will receive provisional credit which must be validated by a record of satisfactory performance during the first year of residence after transfer.

In general, the amount of credit accepted from other institutions in transfer will be determined by the requirements which apply to the non-transfer student. When a student is admitted with fewer quality points than semester hours of credit from another college, that student must make up the deficiency after transferring to Campbell.

A transfer student completing the degrees requirements at Campbell must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the field of the major before graduation.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Campbell College will confer two degrees; Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. It will award an Associate in Arts diploma, upon request, to properly qualified applicants who have completed the equivalent of two years of college work of acceptable quality. It will award a certificate, upon request, to those students who have completed a prescribed one-year business course with an average of C or better on all courses attempted.

To be eligible for a degree, diploma, or certificate, the candidate must have demonstrated evidence of good character and must have met the minimum residence requirement of one full academic year or its equivalent. This shall be interpreted as the last year preceding graduation. The responsibility of making application for graduation in writing at least ninety days prior to the date of the award shall rest with the candidate. It is assumed, further, that all financial obligations have been satisfactorily provided for in advance of graduation.

The conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas and certificates will take place at the end of the regular semester or at the end of the summer session.

A candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must complete 124 semester hours of college work in addition to hygiene and two semesters of physical education. He must attain a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted.

He must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the departmental major at Campbell. He must average C or better in the major.

A candidate for the Associate in Arts diploma must complete 64 semester hours of work including hygiene and in addition to two hours of physical education with a quality point average of 1.00 on all work offered for graduation. Also, he must have a 1.00 average on 80 per cent of all work attempted.

CREDIT, GRADES, POINTS, LOAD, ETC.

A "semester" hour usually represents one class period a week in a subject continued through a full semester. Thus, for a course meeting three times a week, a credit of three semester hours is given at the close of the semester. Courses in science, home economics, and business education carry laboratory requirements. Two hours of laboratory time is converted into one hour of credit. This laboratory credit is combined with lecture credit and accounts for the fact that a given course carrying five semester hours of credit may require a total of eight or more clock hours a week.

The following is the college scale of grading, with the number of quality points assigned for each grade:

A (Excellent)	93-100 per cent	3 points per hour of credit
B (Good)	85-92 per cent	2 points per hour of credit
C (Average)	77-84 per cent	1 point per hour of credit
D (Passing)	70-76 per cent	0 points per hour of credit
F (Failure)	Below 70	0 points per hour of credit

A grade of I must be removed by the completion of the work within 30 days after the opening of the next semester; otherwise it will be recorded as an F. The Dean may make exceptions to this rule in unusual cases.

Any course dropped without permission is recorded as an F. Permission to drop a course may be received only from the Dean of the College with the advice of the instructor involved. The Dean will determine whether the record should indicate dropped with permission, dropped failing, or dropped passing.

A normal load for any student in the college department is sixteen credit hours per semester. Students who enter with deficiencies will be expected to work off the conditions before taking the prescribed courses for credit. A pre-college level course will be considered the equivalent of two semester hours, and this sum is to be subtracted from what is considered the normal load.

For work done in other institutions the Dean of the College will assign appropriate credit.

CLASSIFICATION

The classification of a student depends upon the amount of the college work and the number of quality points he has to his credit and not upon the length of time he has been in college. A student is classified:

- (1) As a senior, upon the completion of 90 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 90 quality points.
- (2) As a junior, upon the completion of 55 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 55 quality points.
- (3) As a sophomore, upon the completion of 23 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 16 quality points.

- (4) As a freshman, if the regular admission requirements have been met.
- (5) As a special student, if for some approved reason he is registered for one or more courses but does not meet the admission requirement.
- (6) As a part-time student, if with approval he is registered for less than 9 hours of credit work.

A minimum of eight semester hours of work passed and a minimum of six quality points earned will enable a full time student to be readmitted for the following full semester without probation. A progressively higher standard will apply to upper-classmen. Any student failing to meet this minimum requirement will have his status determined by the Admissions Committee.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13. The House and Its Furnishings.—A study of the planning and furnishing of homes from an aesthetic and functional standpoint. Practical problems of house-planning in relation to family needs and income, the arrangement of furniture and furnishings and accessories. Prerequisite Art 32.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week,
one semester.

Three semester hours

21. Meal Management.—The planning, marketing, storing, preparing, and serving of food for family meals and special functions at different cost levels. Prerequisite Home Economics 11.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Dress Design and Construction.—Planned to develop good sewing techniques and increased skill in handling various types of materials, practice in developing patterns from basic foundation pattern, pattern alteration and construction.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. Nutrition.—A study of the fundamentals of human nutrition, food preparation and dietary planning. Open to pre-nursing students. Prerequisite Home Economics 11 or equivalent.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Textiles.—A study of textiles, its properties and composition, identification, manufacturing procedures, and analysis; its selection, use and care.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Household Equipment.—Selection, use, care and arrangement of equipment in the home in relation to family needs.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Planning and Evaluating The Home Economics Program.—Planning and evaluating of curriculum in secondary schools as it relates to overall school program and community.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

35. Child Development.—Development and care of the pre-school child in the home. Prerequisite Psychology 22 or 31.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Family Economics.—Basic principles in consumer buying and income planning. Management of family resources as determined by family values.

Two hours lecture period a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

55. Home Management and House Residence.—Principles of management in the home with emphasis on values as they affect the use of family resources. Application of these principles through residence in the home management house.

Completed in nine weeks period.

Two semester hours.

MATHEMATICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. BAIN, MR. RAYNOR, MISS KUHN,
DR. PECK

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. THOMAS, MR. GRIFFIN

INSTRUCTORS: MR. DUVAL, MR. TAYLOR

Requirements for a major in Mathematics: Candidates for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Mathematics must complete any twenty-four semester hours in Mathematics courses numbered above 20.

Also, twelve semester hours from Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics, Education 53, French or German.

1. Sub-Freshman Algebra.—Review of high school algebra for those students offering less than one and one-half units in high school algebra and those not qualified for College Algebra on the basis of a pre-test in mathematics.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit

2. Plane Geometry.—Open to students who do not offer one unit of plane geometry.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

6. Solid Geometry.—Study of lines, planes, and solids in space. Recommended for mathematics majors. Prerequisite: Plane Geometry.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

10. Logarithms and slide rule.—Theory of logarithms and technique of slide rule operations. Recommended for mathematics and science majors.

Three hours a week for six weeks.

One semester hour.

11-12. College Algebra-Trigonometry.—Unified approach to algebra and trigonometry from a modern viewpoint.

Three hours a week two semesters, or six hours a week, one semester.

Six semester hours.

13. Graphics-Engineering Drawing.—Lettering, use of drawing instruments, geometrical constructions, projections, isometric and orthographic drawings.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Graphics-Descriptive Geometry.—Representation of geometrical magnitudes with points, lines, planes and solids concurrent with noncoplanar forces; the solution of problems.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15-16. Principles of Mathematics.—A terminal course with topics selected from fields of modern algebra, trigonometry, calculus, probability, etc. An effort is made to relate mathematics to everyday life situations.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

19. Math for Elementary Teachers.—Designed for elementary education majors, Some of the topics considered are: the nature of the number system, measurement, simple concepts of algebra and geometry, sets and variables.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

20. Mathematics for Elementary Teachers.—Selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 19.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Theory of Equations.—Complex numbers, theorems on roots of polynomial equations, approximations, determinants, matrices, and symmetric functions.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22, 23, 24. Analytic Geometry and Calculus.—Plane analytic geometry, limits, differentiation of algebraic functions, conic sections, and application of derivatives: derivatives, (with applications) of trigonometric, exponential, and logarithm functions by various means (with application), areas under curves, areas of surfaces of revolution, volumes of solids of revolution.

Three hours a week, three semesters.

Nine semester hours.

31. History of Mathematics.—A study of the lives of the leading mathematicians, together with a study of the developments of the number system, algebra, trigonometry, etc. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Differential Equations.—A first course in ordinary differential equations, handling standard types, proceeding to linear equations of higher order; some operator methods; applications to growth, geometrical and solution problems; to dynamical and electrical systems, higher degree equations of order one; special equations of order two; further special applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

33. Linear Algebra.—Introduction to theory of matrices; vector spaces; equivalence, rank, inverse of matrices; congruence; quadratic forms; polynomials over a field; similarly characteristic roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

41. Introduction to Modern Algebra.—Topics included: the number system, elementary theory of groups; rings; integral domains and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

43. Modern Geometry.—A study of the recent geometry of the triangle and circle, with emphasis on harmonic points and lines, isogonal points and lines, inverse points and lines, power of a point, inversion, concurrency, collinearity. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

45. Advanced Calculus.—Topics not covered in elementary calculus with special emphasis on the fundamental processes of calculus.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

MUSIC

PROFESSORS: DR. YODER, MRS. LYNCH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. HORTON, MRS. HORTON, MR. STONE

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR: MR. BLACK

INSTRUCTORS: MISS ELMORE, MR. SCHOLZ

Requirements for a major in Music: 38 semester hours, including music Courses 11, 12, 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 41 and 42. Students must study their major instrument each semester, and a second instrument two semesters. If the student has not achieved a satisfactory degree of proficiency on a second instrument after two semesters, additional study without credit toward the degree will be required. One half recital on the major instrument the junior year and a full recital the senior year is required of all music majors earning the Bachelor of Arts Degree. Choir and/or band participation without credit is required each semester.

Requirements for a major in Music Education: In addition to the courses listed above, the following music courses are required to meet the requirements for certification in teaching: 24, 25, 26, 27, and 53. Students enrolled in this curriculum follow the above requirements for major and minor instruments; however, the student will not enroll in applied music during the semester devoted to the education block. The preparation of a public recital is not required but is strongly encouraged.

Church Music: Students who elect to concentrate study in the area of church music will follow the major in music curriculum and may choose electives from any area of study or from the following elective music courses: 23, 28, 46, 47, and 57.

Prerequisites: Music 11 and 12 are prerequisites to the other music courses excepting the following: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 11a, 11b, 11c and 23. Music 21 and 22 are prerequisites to the following music courses: 31, 32, 41 and 42

Courses outside of the major area are listed under the General Requirements for Degrees, with the exception of Education 22 which is required of all music majors.

1-2. Pre-Harmony.—A presentation of the basic elements of music adopted to music students who are not adequately prepared to enter Music Theory I.
Two hours a week, two semesters. No credit.

11-12. Music Theory I.—The basic rudiments of music, including scales, intervals, chords, sight-singing, melodic and harmonic dictation and keyboard harmony.
Five hours a week, two semesters. Eight semester hours.

13. Music Appreciation.—An introduction to music through an understanding of the principles of form and the elements of music. Various styles and types of vocal and instrumental works are studied. (Not offered to music majors.)
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

21-22. Music Theory II.—A continuation of Music Theory 11 and 12, including advanced modulation, chromatic harmony, seventh chords and altered chords. Continuation of sight-singing, dictation and keyboard harmony.
Five hours a week, two semesters. Eight semester hours.

23. Hymnology.—A Historical and systematic study of Poetic Hymns and Metrical Tunes including the contributions of various ethnic groups to the body of Christian hymnody.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

24. Woodwind Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of woodwind instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching of woodwind instruments.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

25. Brass Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of brass instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching on brass instruments.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

26. String Methods.—Group instruction in the technique, structure and use of stringed instruments. Emphasis placed on the methods of effective teaching on stringed instruments.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

27. Music Methods in the Elementary School.—A course dealing with techniques of teaching, and studying musical materials appropriate to the elementary grades. Deals with methods of teaching songs, creativity, rhythmic studies, the child's voice, music theory in the grades, directed listening, performance on simple instruments and supervision of musical activities in the classroom.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

28. Survey of Church Music.—A study of place of music in the life of the Church from the earliest Biblical accounts to the present including a complete study of the music of the liturgy.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Modal Counterpoint.—A study of the vocal contrapuntal technique of the sixteenth century, with exercises in the five species.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Tonal Counterpoint.—A study of eighteenth century contrapuntal technique with emphasis on the style of Bach.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33-34. History of Music.—The development of western musical culture from its origins to the present, with an emphasis on the chronological growth of musical concepts through the study of the techniques and compositions of the various periods of history.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

35-36. Choral Conducting.—A study of the principles of choral conducting and interpretation, combined with a survey of short choral works. Exercises in arranging for vocal groups.

Two hours a week, two semesters.

Four semester hours.

37. Elementary Public School Music.—The methods, objectives and materials used by the classroom teacher in teaching music in the elementary grades. Includes a review of the basic rudiments of music. (Not offered to music majors.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Instrumental Conducting.—A study of the fundamentals of instrumental conducting; technique of the baton, rehearsal techniques, repertoire, interpretation and leadership.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

41. Orchestration.—The study of instrumental ranges and techniques coupled with arranging for orchestra, band and heterogeneous groups.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Form and Analysis.—A study of small and large forms with analysis of works from choral, piano and symphonic literature.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. Symphonic Literature.—A detailed study of the growth of the larger orchestral forms, illustrated by reference to significant compositions.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Opera Literature.—An analytical and historical study of opera literature from 1600 to the present day.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

46. Choral Literature.—A study of choral compositions from Palestrina to the present with special attention given to the larger forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Church Music Administration.—A study of the operation of a church-wide music program including the graded choir program, music budget, integrated educational program and music materials.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Music Methods in Junior and Senior High School.—The organization and maintenance of a music program in the junior and senior high school, including a study of the materials and methods appropriate to this group.

Three hours a week, one semester. (See Education 53).

57. Supervised Field Work in Church Music.—Practical work in maintaining a church music program, under faculty supervision.
Scheduling to be arranged.

APPLIED MUSIC

11a, 21a, 31a, 41a. Piano.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours of practice. Two semester hours each semester.

11b, 21b, 31b, 41b. Organ.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours of practice. Two semester hours each semester.

11c, 21c, 31c, 41c. Voice.—Two half-hour lessons weekly, with a minimum of five hours of practice. Two semester hours each semester.

Private instruction offered in any of the woodwind, brass or percussion instruments. Credit to be arranged.

3. Touring Choir.—Membership open to all students by consent of the director based on competitive tryouts. Concerts on campus and out of town including an extended Spring Tour. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.
Three hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.

4. Concert Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town.
Three hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.

5. Collegiate Choir.—Open to all freshmen students and others who do not elect to sing in the touring choir. Concerts limited primarily to on campus performances. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.
Three hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.

NATURAL SCIENCE

PROFESSOR: MRS. PROFFIT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. JUNG, DR. BEARD, MR. NELSON, DR. PIERCE, MISS ELIASON, MR. MCINTYRE, MR. UNTHANK, MRS. TUCK

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: DR. HOWARD, MRS. BELL, MRS. BRITTON

INSTRUCTORS: MRS. MCCALL, MR. CARROLL

A candidate for the Bachelor's degree in Natural Science may major in Biology, Chemistry, Science Teaching, or Medical Technology. The requirements for majors in Biology and Chemistry are stated in the appropriate places.

A candidate for the degree in Medical Technology must satisfactorily complete the three-year program prescribed below and an additional year at either Watts Hospital in Durham, Rex Hospital in Raleigh, or Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Winston-Salem. Upon successful completion of the four-year program, the candidate is awarded the degree from Campbell College. Certification follows after satisfactory completion of an examination administered by the Registry of Medical Technologists.

The fourth year is twelve months clinical work in Watts Hospital, Rex Hospital or Baptist Hospital.

Electives in the third year could be chosen from science courses in either Biology or Chemistry, or from courses in the Humanities. It is recommended that the student choose the major portion of the electives in the field of the Humanities.

BIOLOGY

Biology 11-12 or 13 and 14 are prerequisite to all higher courses in Biology.

The general requirements for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Biology must include Chemistry 11, 13; Physics 11-12 is advised. The major will consist of a minimum of twenty-four semester hours in Biology, exclusive of eight hours at the introductory level, and will include eight hours in each of the following series:

- (1) 21, 22, 33, and 37
- (2) 23, 24, 35, 36, and 38
- (3) 31, 32, 34, 41, and 42.

* Genetics, Microbiology, Vertebrate Zoology

† Quantitative or Organic Chemistry.

11-12. Fundamentals of Biology.—An introductory study of structure, processes, principles, and concepts in Biology. The first semester is concerned with cellular biology, which proceeds to the organismic level where attention is given to the biology of higher plants, higher animals and man. The second semester is devoted to studies in heredity, evolution, systematic biology, and ecology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

13. General Botany.—A study of structure, function, heredity, and classification of selected types of portray the evolutionary development of plants. Intended primarily for students needing one semester of Botany. Beginning in 1965-1966, this course will be offered in the first semester only.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

14. General Zoology.—An introduction to the structure, physiology, genetics, and classification of animals. A brief study of general biological facts is followed by a survey of the animal kingdom. Intended primarily for students needing one semester of Zoology. Beginning in 1965-66, this course will be offered in the second semester only.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

21. Morphology of Non-Vascular Plants.—A comparative study of the morphology of bacteria, fungi, algae, and bryophytes, with regard to function and phylogeny.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Morphology of Vascular Plants.—A comparative survey of vascular plants, dealing with their structure and reproduction in respect to developmental relationships.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Invertebrate Zoology.—A detailed study of invertebrate animals with emphasis on structure, function, taxonomy, and phylogenetic relationships.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Vertebrate Zoology.—A study of vertebrate evolution, morphology, distribution, and natural history. The laboratory work consists of dissections, classification, and field trips to selected localities.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Ecology.—A study of ecological principles and problems, primarily in regard to relationships of organisms to marine, fresh water, and terrestrial environments in North Carolina.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Microtechnique.—Instruction and experience are provided in the preparation of plant and animal tissues for study by optical microscopy and in the use of microscopes and micrographic equipment.

Two lecture hours and two three-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Elementary Plant Taxonomy.—An introduction to plant classification, nomenclature, and identification, accompanied by a survey of the local flora. Prerequisite, Biology 21 or 22.

Two lecture and two three-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Microbiology.—A first course in morphology, physiology, and classification of bacteria, yeasts, and molds. Considerable attention is given to microbiological laboratory techniques. Prerequisites. Chemistry 11, 13.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

35. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy.—A comparative study of the organ systems of vertebrates. Selected types are dissected in the laboratory.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

36. Vertebrate Embryology.—A study of embryological development in vertebrates. Prerequisite, Biology 24 or 35.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

37. Anatomy of Seed Plants.—A study of the developmental anatomy of seed plants.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

38. Animal Histology.—A microscopic analysis of animal tissues.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

41. General Animal Physiology.—A study of functions and processes in animals with emphasis on the human organism. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13; Physics 11-12 is recommended.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

42. Genetics.—An analysis of principles and concepts pertaining to heredity, stressing their application in the interpretation of biological phenomena. Prerequisites: Chemistry 11, 13 and a minimum of sixteen semester hours in Biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

CHEMISTRY

Requirements for a major in Chemistry: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Chemistry must satisfactorily complete Chemistry 11-13, 15-16, 27-28, and courses numbered above Chemistry 28 (excluding Chemistry 36) to total a minimum of thirty-six semester hours. Admission to any class is conditioned by satisfactory grades in prerequisite courses, and registration for upper division classes must be approved by the head of the department.

Those who plan to pursue Chemistry as a profession should complete Chemistry 29 and 31, in addition to one year of Physics, and a concentration in Mathematics. A reading knowledge of German and French is highly recommended.

Requirements for certification: Those who seek certification in Science to teach in public high schools, and choose Chemistry as an area of concentration, should satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours in this area, and six semester hours in each of the following: Physics, Earth Science, Biology, and Mathematics. To meet the minimum certification requirements in the area of Chemistry, the following program is recommended: Chemistry 11-12, 13, 15, 17, and one elective from Chemistry 16 or 27.

11. General Chemistry.—A broad overview of the various divisions of chemistry; the basic laws and fundamentals of the science. The occurrence, preparation, and properties of the more common elements are covered. No credit will be given for Chemistry 11 until either Chemistry 12 or 13 is completed.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

12. General Chemistry.—A continuation of Chemistry 11. This is a terminal course for those desiring but one year of chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

13. Qualitative Analysis.—The fundamental principles, problems, and methods of separation and identification of the common cations and anion. Prerequisite, Chemistry 11.

Two lectures and four laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

15. Elementary Quantitative Analysis.—A course in principles and methods of volumetric and gravimetric analysis. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

16. Quantitative Analysis.—A continuation of volumetric and gravimetric methods, and applications of colorimetry and chromatography. Prerequisite, Chemistry 15.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

17. Elementary Organic Chemistry.—An introductory course designed for nurses, medical technology students and others who desire a semester of organic chemistry. Prerequisite, one year of college chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

27-28. Organic Chemistry.—A mechanistic approach to the chemistry of aliphatic aromatic organic compounds. Special topics include stereochemistry, carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13. Chemistry 15-16 are highly recommended as prerequisites.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

29. Qualitative Organic Analysis.—The systematic identification of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28.

Two lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Inorganic Chemistry.—A course dealing with advanced topics in inorganic chemistry. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 15-16.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Physiological Chemistry.—Emphasis on the chemistry of foods, drugs, vitamins and hormones as related to the life processes. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27-28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Biochemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27-28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34-35. Physical Chemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 15-16, a year of Physics, and Mathematics through Integral Calculus.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

36. Science Methods Course in the Teaching of Chemistry.—Prerequisites, as determined by certification requirements.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Credit to be arranged with the Department of Education.

37-38. Chemical Research.—Open only to chemistry majors in their junior and senior years by permission of the instructor. The work may be a research problem or a thorough study of some phase of chemistry. Primarily a laboratory course.

Credit to be arranged with Instructor.

41. Organic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27-28. Chemistry 29 is recommended as a prerequisite, or co-requisite.

One semester.

Two semester hours.

42. Literature Seminar.—An upper division course for chemistry majors.

Two semester hours.

GEOLOGY

21. Physical Geology.—A study of earth materials and landforms and the processes at work upon and within the earth. In the laboratory, emphasis will be placed on the identification of the common minerals and basic rock types and the use of topographic maps. A partial list of topics includes: geologic time; igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic geology; geologic structures; the action of wind, water, and glaciers.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Historical Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21. A history of the earth concerned with the changes in the earth's crust and the life that has existed upon that crust. Laboratory work will include a study of fossils and an introduction to geologic maps.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory, one semester.

Four semester hours.

PHYSICS

11-12. General Physics.—Prerequisite Mathematics 11-12. A study of general physics with emphasis on applications. The course includes demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory work. First semester: mechanics, sound and heat. Second semester: electricity, light, and modern physics.

Three hours lecture, four hour laboratory, two semesters. Ten semester hours.

21. Descriptive Astronomy.—A brief descriptive course in principles, theories, and techniques of astronomy. Prerequisite: Mathematics 11-12. General physics is also highly recommended.

Two hours lecture, two hour laboratory, one semester. Three semester hours.

SCIENCE EDUCATION

13-14. Science for Elementary Teachers.—A study of the principles of the basic sciences. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

PROFESSOR: MR. HOOKS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: MR. MCCALL

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. HYATT, MR. ROBERTS

INSTRUCTORS: MR. COLE, MRS. LLOYD, MISS BLEDSOE, MR. DAVIS

Philosophy of the Department: The department strives to provide skilled leadership and opportunities for students to participate in wholesome educational activities. The program is organized to meet the needs and interests of the students in the areas of class instruction, intramural and extramural participation, recreation, and intercollegiate athletics. In addition, a professional preparation program is offered for students who choose Physical Education and Health as a profession.

Requirements for a major in Physical Education and Health: A candidate for a B.S. degree with a major in Health and Physical Education must satisfactorily complete 36 semester hours of Health and Physical Education in addition to Health 11 and Physical Education 11, 12, 21, and 22.

The student is expected to complete the freshman and sophomore general education requirements in the first two years of the four year program. In addition to the major program, each student is required to develop competencies in a second teaching area. This involves 24 or more semester hours of course work according to the needs of the individual student. Therefore, most of the elective courses should be chosen from the courses available in the second teaching area.

All Health and Physical Education major students must complete Health 21, 22, 37, 42, and 43, and Physical Education 30, 31, 32, 35, 38, and 45. In addition, the men are required to complete Physical Education 36, 46, and 48. The women must complete Physical Education 39, 47, and 49.

HEALTH

11. Health.—A study of vital phenomena and their application to the human organism. Emphasis includes fundamental biological facts of human anatomy and physiology, personal and community health, education for family living, health hazards, and mental health.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. Applied Anatomy and Physiology.—A study of the structure and functions of the body systems in relation to the field of Health and Physical Education. May serve as an elective for pre dental, pre medical, and penursing students by permission of the Director of Physical Education. Two semester sequence may begin either semester.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

Nowhere in all human experience is there to be found an exact counterpart to life on a college campus. Properly planned and self directed, the varied activities on a college campus provide a student with some of the happiest, most meaningful, and decisive experiences of a lifetime; otherwise, this same period, misused and misdirected by an immature, mischief-bent student, can mark the beginning of his downfall. Particularly for the Freshman, away for the first time from the influences of a good home, his choice of friends, his selection of amusements, and his use of spare time, in a large measure will determine success or failure in college. Obviously, the wise student will budget well his spare time, so as to participate in a variety of valuable experiences from a broad range of student activities.

Religious Activities

Most unwise is the student who neglects the cultivation of his religious life in college. Under the unifying efforts of the Baptist Student Union, the college and local Baptist Church provide a full range of activities for the student. Other denominational groups include the Canterbury Club, the Methodist Student Movement, the Newman Club, and the Westminster Fellowship. The college sponsors brief chapel programs, with compulsory student attendance, five days a week. Jointly with the local Baptist Church, Religious Focus Week and Revival Week are conducted each year. Attendance upon morning and evening services at the local Baptist Church is encouraged.

Publications

Students, under faculty supervision, publish a bi-weekly newspaper, Creek Pebbles, and a comprehensive college yearbook, The Pine Burr. Together, these publications afford useful and entertaining journalistic experience, while preserving an interesting portrayal of student life.

Music and Dramatics

The large college chorus and touring choir afford excellent media for students with musical talent and interest. A number of concerts, sacred and secular, by the choir and by smaller groups are presented throughout the year. Of growing interest among the students is the more recently organized opera workshop, which gives opportunity for combining musical and dramatic skills in the presentation of short operatic works and musical comedy selections.

The Campbell Players, a dramatics club, regularly present two or more full-length productions during the year. Both the dramatics and the musical groups participate in the annual speech festival of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Speech Association.

Clubs

Numerous literary clubs at Campbell give opportunity for strengthening interest in subject matter and developing companionships begun in the various classrooms. Such organizations include Epsilon Pi Eta Honor Society, Delta Psi Omega Forensic Society, Alpha Beta Gamma Chemistry Society, Phi Beta Lambda Business Society, an International Relations Club, a Religious Education Club and French, Latin, Spanish Clubs, and Home Economics Club.

Intramural

An extensive intramural program, open to all students, supplements the formal curriculum in physical education at Campbell. Spirited participation in touch football, basketball, volleyball and softball enlivens the campus and encourages friendly rivalry among the residence halls. Lake Small, on college land near the campus proper, affords opportunity for swimming.

Intercollegiate

Campbell teams compete in intercollegiate basketball and baseball among the major sports, and also in golf, track, and tennis. As a junior college, Campbell has enjoyed membership in the North Carolina-Virginia College Athletic Conference. It expects as a senior college to compete against available intercollegiate competition in these sports.

POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT

Traditionally this institution has believed in student participation in government, having inaugurated even as a junior college with a high school department, a faculty-student form of administration. The success of any form of government, however, depends upon whether integrity, excellence of character, sense of what is right, courage and honor govern the decisions and actions of the group governed. As a senior college with more mature student leadership greater participation in the regulation of their own affairs is accorded students, commensurate with their assumption of responsibility for the preservation of the established aims and objectives of the college.

Hopefully, students at Campbell will through closer understanding of administrative aims realize increasingly that rules are enacted solely to protect and augment individual rights and welfare. After all, the purpose of even restrictive legislation pertaining to harmful self-indulgences and group violations of public conscience, is establishment of Christian standards of conduct and enhancement of the institution's service to student groups.

The Student Government of Campbell College proposes to promote good citizenship and school loyalty by precept and example, to foster a better relationship and understanding between all groups associated in any way with the college, to forestall any unwholesome conditions, to make adjustments in the case of individuals or groups who violate the accepted standards of conduct, and to project proposals of amendments and improvements in the existing regulations and policies for the benefit of the college.

The Student Government Council is composed of duly elected student members, as provided for in the Student Handbook, and the Dean of the College, Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and one faculty member appointed by the President of the College, serving as advisors.

Two auxiliary councils; the Woman's Executive Council and the Men's Executive Council, share with this council the responsibility for and jurisdiction over their respective campuses. These two executive councils are responsible to the Student Government Association.

In each of the several residence halls on both the woman's campus and the men's campus, councils known locally as house councils are charged with the responsibility, along with the dormitory supervisor, of dealing with less serious infractions, and enforcement of dormitory regulations. The several councils are responsible to the Executive Council of that particular campus.

In accordance with the traditions and policies of the College, gambling, stealing, use of intoxicants, and immorality are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Such action will be recorded on the student's permanent record and the student's parent or guardian will be advised of such action.

SOME RULES OF GOVERNMENT APPLICABLE TO ALL STUDENTS

1. Any student enrolled in Campbell College who engages in activities or conducts himself, either on the campus or away from the college community, in such a manner as to reflect adversely on himself or the college, is subject to disciplinary action or expulsion. Students en route to and from the college are subject to the regulations of the college.

2. In accordance with the traditions and policies of the college, gambling, stealing and use of intoxicants are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Penalties for such infractions will be recorded on the student's permanent record and reported to his or her parents or guardian.
3. Dishonesty in all forms is destructive to individual and social security and cannot become a part of any sound preparation for successful living. Freedoms and privileges in college life can be granted and preserved only upon the basis of individual and group honor. Cheating on the part of students, whether in quoting passages from others without proper acknowledgment in written assignment or in obtaining secretly disallowed information on examinations, condemns a student as dishonest. Students and faculty are under obligation to report such infractions either to the Student Government Association or to the Dean of the college.
4. Attendance at Chapel, Church School and worship services is considered a part of the student's obligation for his own Christian training. Attendance upon brief chapel programs five days each week is compulsory.
5. Hazing is a violation of local and State statutes. Students found guilty of participating in conduct normally interpreted as hazing will be subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government Association.
6. The use of profanity is everywhere obnoxious in the best society and is therefore a violation of our rules of conduct.
7. Smoking is discouraged. Smoking in classrooms, auditorium, cafeteria, and library is not permitted.
8. Students are warned that the possession of firecrackers and explosives is a violation of State and local regulations and will not be permitted on the college campus. The possession of firearms is discouraged but those bringing firearms must register them with the Dean of Men or the student will be subject to disciplinary action.
9. For the safety of the student, and for the convenience of the college, the student's parents, and those who might call or visit the campus, all boarding students should advise the dormitory proctor when they are leaving the campus. Additional information concerning such matters will be found in the Student Handbook.

10. Any student withdrawing from the college without the approval of the Dean of the College, the Business Manager, and the Registrar, forfeits the right to an honorable dismissal. Request for withdrawal must be presented in writing and signed by parent and guardian. Such requests must be submitted at least twenty-four hours before proposed departure of student.
11. The best interest of the group demands that student organizations and groups request permission in advance from the Committee of Deans to hold dinners, and socials away from the college community.
12. The organization of social fraternities and sororities are not in keeping with the tradition and philosophy of Campbell College. In compliance with the announced wishes of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the college does not permit dancing on college property, or elsewhere under its auspices.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING USE OF COLLEGE PROPERTY

1. All non-resident students who do not establish a home in the local area will be considered boarding students so far as general student regulations and activities are concerned.
2. Students are held responsible for unnecessary damage done to college property. Payment for such damage will be assessed against individuals involved when apprehended.
3. The occupant or occupants of a dormitory room are held responsible for keeping good housekeeping procedures. For health and sanitary reasons the keeping of animals and pets of any kind in residence halls is denied.
4. Dormitory occupants are expected to supply all such personal necessities as pillows, bed linens, two or three changes of sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, towels, bathcloths, etc. All dormitories have single beds. The construction of the newer dormitories makes the hanging of curtains and draperies undesirable and difficult.
5. Radios and record players are permitted so long as they do not interfere with the normal routine of others. Students should not bring television sets since most of the dormitories have a television in the lounge.

6. Short wave radios and similar equipment may not be installed in the dormitories.
7. The more recently constructed buildings have built-in bookshelves, study tables, study and reading lamps. Those living in the older buildings might find it convenient to bring with them a study lamp. All dormitory rooms are supplied with waste baskets, brooms, dust-pans, etc.

REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO POSSESSION AND USE OF AUTOMOBILES

1. The privilege of having a vehicle on the campus will be under the provision of a merit system. If the boarding student fails to meet the stated standards, he or she will be denied the privilege of having the car until the conditions have been met. No refund nor adjustment of fees will be made should he or she be found ineligible to continue to keep the car on the campus.
2. Registration of vehicles will be conducted as a part of the college registration process at the beginning of the semester. A car acquired or brought to the campus after registration must be registered promptly. Additional information concerning the privileges of having an automobile on campus will be found in the Student Handbook.
3. Each vehicle used or parked on the campus must be registered and must display an official parking sticker. The person to whom the registration sticker is issued will be held responsible for traffic violations involving that vehicle.

OTHER INFORMATION

1. Those coming to the area by plane would normally arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. The nearest Atlantic Coast-line Railway Station is Dunn, and the most convenient Seaboard Airline Railway Station is Raleigh. Bus schedules from Raleigh and Fayetteville provide access to Buies Creek.
2. The local post office is situated on the college campus. Students may secure a post office box or pick up their mail general delivery. All correspondence directed to students in care of the college should be delivered with no appreciable delay.
3. Those desiring additional information on rules governing student life and student activities should direct a written statement to, or visit with, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.
4. Students convicted of serious infractions of school regulations forfeit their eligibility for positions on the B.S.U. Council, the dormitory council, the executive council, or the Student Government and other places of responsibility in extra-curricular activities and membership in the Epsilon Pi Eta.

5. The Student Handbook for any given school year supplements the information in the catalogue. Revisions, deletions, and additions to regulations are sometimes advisable. Students are therefore, fully responsible for acquainting themselves and complying with policies as stated in the Student Handbook. The Administration endeavors to supply each student seeking admission a copy of the Student Handbook prior to the date of registration.

CLASS ATTENDANCE REGULATIONS

Campbell College assumes the position that every class hour is important. Provision is made for accurate reporting of attendance of all organized groups working for credit and the daily chapel meeting. All absences are recorded on individual student cards in the Registrar's office.

In order to allow students some latitude in attending to important personal matters, during a full semester two unexcused absences from any class, except laboratory, and six unexcused absences from chapel may be allowed Freshmen and Sophomores who have been admitted without restrictions. Students admitted on probation may not take unexcused absences from any class. They are allowed the six cuts from chapel during one semester.

Some students are admitted on academic probation. They are not privileged to be absent from classes without excuse for the duration of the probation. Occasionally, a student is permitted to enroll after the opening weeks of the term. All late enrollees forfeit the privilege of absences if they have not attended the first five meetings of a class.

Should a student enroll at the regularly appointed time and because of adjustment in schedule fail to meet a class prior to the fifth meeting of that class, the student will be considered ineligible for unexcused absences in that particular class.

A student who has been absent for valid reasons may submit a request for excused absences in the Registrar's office. To receive consideration, such requests must be filed not later than seven days following student's return to class. Whenever possible, the student should anticipate his absence and receive approval from the Registrar and notify his teachers.

Students not on probation who are classified by the Registrar's office as Juniors or Seniors may be entitled to six unexcused absences from one-hour classes and four unexcused absences from classes meeting one and one-half hours at a time for three semester hours credit.

Should an upper classman fail to maintain an average of C on his work, he will be entitled to only two unexcused class absences and six unexcused Chapel absences.

Students on academic probation should not incur absences so as to participate in extra-curricular activities unless with permission of the Dean of the College.

All students are expected to remember:

1. No student will be given credit for a course unless he has attended seventy-five per cent of the class meetings in that course for the semester, except by a special ruling of the faculty.
2. No student should expect an excuse from regularly announced tests unless providentially hindered from attending class.
3. The grade of a student dropping a course without permission of the Dean and the instructor is recorded F.
4. Absences incurred while representing the college on an athletic team, debate team, glee club or other college-sponsored activity, will be recorded as excused absences provided the sponsor of the group requests such of the Registrar's office.
5. The faculty sponsor of any organization that wishes to claim excused absences for students under the regulations above stated before the group leaves the campus, will furnish the Dean with the names of the students involved, the time the group is to leave and return, and the persons going as chaperones.
6. The faculty sponsors of an organization, after securing the approval of the administration, may arrange for students to attend certain programs or other activities in lieu of regular class attendance.
7. Three tardies are equivalent to one absence.
8. The parents written request for a student to be absent from duties at the college is usually granted in the case of emergencies, but the parent is warned that absences seriously interfere with the student's work. The parent must accept responsibility for such absences and the consequence. It is hoped that parents will not send requests except in an emergency.
9. Faculty members may warn a student if he is in danger of exceeding the number of excused absences allowed, but the responsibility for penalties invoked for violations of the above regulations must be assumed by the student.
10. When a Freshman or Sophomore has exceeded the two unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. A combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in suspension, without credit for the work attempted.

11. When a Junior or Senior has exceeded the number of unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. A combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in a suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
12. If a student has been suspended from school for overcutting returns to school and again begins to overcut, he will be permanently expelled. More detailed information concerning attendance regulations will be found in the student handbook.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS

1. No student will be allowed to take part in intercollegiate contests during a semester if he registered later than the fifteenth calendar day following the opening date of the semester.
2. No student who is taking less than three-fourths of a normal load of scholastic work, shall be permitted to represent the college in any contest or any public performance.
3. No one who passed during the previous semester less than eight semester hours and physical education will be permitted to represent the College in any contest or public performance.

It is understood that these regulations do not apply to the performance of special or part-time students in the departments of Music and Dramatics.

REGULATIONS REGARDING SICKNESS

1. Except for emergency cases students needing medical attention should report to the college nurse during office hours.
2. Students are expected at all times to conform to the instructions of the college nurse or college physician as to when to enter and leave the infirmary and when to report for examination or treatment.
3. No meals will be served students in their rooms except upon instructions of the nurse.
4. The college administration assumes no responsibility for complications arising from sickness when the student fails to comply with regulations and instructions of the medical staff or to report promptly such sickness.
5. The college administration will honor no excuses from resident students for any absences on the ground of sickness except upon a statement from the college nurse. The nurse will not offer such statements for absences incurred before such sickness is reported to her.
6. In order that the health record of each student may be complete, each student is required to report to the nurse any visit to the college physician for professional services.

7. If a student requires any professional services other than furnished by the college medical staff, upon returning to school the student will bring a written statement giving the date and general nature of such service, in order that the college nurse may issue excuses for any absence incurred.

8. According to good medical practices and the best interest of the health of the total student group, students should not expect visits from fellow students while confined to the infirmary. Those wishing to visit the sick will normally be denied that privilege.

EPSILON PI ETA SOCIETY

The Epsilon Pi Eta Society was organized in the fall of 1928, for the express purpose of promoting character, leadership and scholarship. Membership in the society is gained by the nomination of at least twenty-five per cent of both the faculty and members of the society, in addition to attaining a fixed scholarship record for at least one year.

DELTA PSI OMEGA

Delta Psi Omega is a national fraternity with the sole purpose of promoting interest in college theatre. Membership is strictly honorary. It can only be won through participation in plays staged by the dramatic organization of the college.

HOW TO APPLY FOR APPLICATION FOR ADMISSION

All students considering Campbell for their undergraduate college training are asked to follow this procedure in making application. The applicant will find it advantageous to apply as early as possible for the year of his intended entrance.

DIRECTIONS FOR THOSE BEGINNING COLLEGE WORK

1. Study the catalogue (copies may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions).
2. Ask the Director of Admissions to answer any questions concerning the college or its program.
3. If possible, visit the college, preferably with your parents, to tour the campus and to discuss your program of study.
4. Obtain from the Admissions Office the necessary forms.
5. Complete the application form carefully and attach a recent photograph. With the application enclose the ten-dollar processing fee, and, if you wish to reserve dormitory accommodations, the ten-dollar room deposit. Mail the application to the Director of Admissions.
6. With the assistance of your principal or guidance counselor, make the necessary arrangements for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Request that the scores be sent to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, Buies Creek, North Carolina. (Code 5100)
7. Upon completing the first half of the senior year, have your high school principal send to the Registrar of the college a record of all high school work attempted.
8. Upon graduation: (a) ask the high school to send to the Registrar of the college a supplementary transcript recording the grades and credits earned during the last semester, and (b) have your family physician complete the Student Health Service form and mail it to the Director of Admissions.

DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE TRANSFER

1. Follow steps 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 above.
2. Request the Registrar of the college at which you are now in attendance, or if not now in school the Registrar of the school where last in attendance, to mail to the Registrar, Campbell College, a complete transcript. If you have been in attendance at more than one college, the Registrar of each institution should mail to the Campbell College Registrar a transcript of all work attempted in that school.

3. Request a letter of recommendation from a responsible official of the college previously attended.

SUMMER SCHOOL TRANSFER

Students enrolling at Campbell College for the summer program should secure from the proper school official to which the credit will be transferred a statement certifying approval of such plans and listing approved courses.

PROVISIONAL ADMISSIONS

Should a student be admitted without completing the admissions procedure, he will not be eligible for credit on work done at Campbell College until he has satisfactorily met the requirements of the Admissions Office.

CAMPBELL'S PURPOSE

Ad astra per aspera

Implicit in this old Latin motto, adopted during the dark days of Reconstruction in the Old South, are beliefs, aims and objectives that have guided this institution through ever-changing circumstances without. Campbell's rise from a community school of sixteen students to eminence as a great southern academy and later to its present standing among the State's largest church-related senior colleges is illustrative of what perseverance can accomplish in scaling the heights. It is a matter of common knowledge that Campbell College has always unapologetically affirmed her faith in an omnipotent, omniscient and benevolent Creator revealed in Jesus Christ who with singularity of purpose ever guides man's destiny; in the potentialities of man when properly related to his Creator; in the competence of liberal arts education to free men to live more abundantly in a democratic society.

Based on the conviction that in Christian Education is to be found "the unifying principle of the total college experience," Campbell's purpose as an educational institution has ever been:

1. To inspire youth with vistas of a better life through study, recreation, social relations, guidance, and worship.
2. To discover and transmit within the context of the Christian perspective (in relation to a liberal arts education) truth about man, his origin and nature, and his ever-expanding environment.
3. To equip the student as a more efficient participant in the world's work through incorporation of certain vocational, pre-professional and professional courses of study, chosen upon the basis of student needs and institutional adequacy. Such courses, at present available, include the following:

1. Professional Four-Year Curricula:
  - (1) primary and secondary education
  - (2) sacred music
  - (3) religious education for church educational directors
  - (4) business administration
2. Four-year Pre-professional Curricula, leading toward law, medicine, dentistry, and the Christian ministry.
3. First Two years of Pre-professional and Vocational Courses of Study, leading to degrees in nursing, medical technology, engineering, agriculture, forestry, industrial arts, and textiles.
4. Two-year Courses in secretarial science and bookkeeping.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Campbell College has for years been fully accredited as a junior college, having held membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, in the American Association of Junior Colleges, in the North Carolina College Conferences, and in the Conference of Church-Related Colleges of North Carolina. While the junior college division will still possess full accreditation in transition, under the policy of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools a new senior college must graduate its third senior class before applying for full accreditation. The college expects to meet the requirements of the Southern Association and apply for admission at the earliest permissible date.

Accredited by the North Carolina College Conference

Based upon Campbell's having met the full minimum requirements for membership in the North Carolina College Conference prior to graduating its first senior class in 1963, this institution was admitted to membership at the annual meeting of the Conference held in the fall of the same year.

Students of Campbell's first graduating classes may be assured the full recognition accorded graduates of new colleges. They have additional assurance in the fact that Campbell is already recognized as a well established institution. Campbell's capable graduates should continue to find ready acceptance as they begin professional life or graduate to higher training in other institutions.

This claim is based upon a record of more than seventy years of public service in education.

NEGEV ARCHAEOLOGICAL SEMINAR

Campbell College is associated with the Institute for Mediterranean Studies which is sponsoring the Negev Archaeological Seminar in conjunction with its excavations in the Middle East. Students who participate in this Seminar spend eight weeks in the Middle East taking courses in Archaeology of Palestine, History of Palestine and Hebrew. The program includes three weeks actual digging at an ancient site. Students will be given academic credit provided they successfully complete the course program and submit the necessary transcript. Students who desire credit must register with the office of this institution. Scholarship aid may be granted. For further details either contact Dr. John T. Bunn or write directly to the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

"Blest and distinguished days! which we should prize The first, the kindest bounty of the skies."

I.

An Humble Beginning

1887 - 1900

On January 5, 1887, Campbell College had its beginning in a small one-room building, forty-eight by twenty-two feet in dimensions, newly built by local citizens for starting a community school.

President J. A. Campbell assumed full financial responsibility for maintaining the institution numbering on its opening day sixteen students, though rather pretentiously called Buie's Creek Academy. While the school was hardly expected to run for more than five months, a surprising growth during the first spring led to the addition of an east wing on the little building, eighteen by twenty-four feet for a primary department. A west wing was added in 1893, eighteen by thirty. By 1896 the growth in enrollment prompted the construction of a three-story annex, fifty by thirty-six feet, with a front projection, fourteen by sixteen feet. The new structure, now 136 feet in length, contained six large classrooms, an Art hall, a Commercial hall, two nicely furnished literary society halls, and a library room. On December 20, 1900, on the closing day of the fall term, this entire building was swept away by fire, probably at the hands of an incendiary.

II.

Resurgence Out of the Ashes

1900 - 1903

All that saved the institution from extinction, probably, was a large, open, unfloored tabernacle, eighty by ninety feet, erected in the spring of 1898 for Commencement exercises. Thanks to the heroic efforts of students, patrons, and other friends, within twenty days seven commodious classrooms were improvised and equipped in this roughly constructed tabernacle, and school reopened on January 8, 1901. These temporary quarters kept the school intact and growing for three years until the completion of the present Kivett Building.

The erection of old Kivett was one of the greatest, most sacrificial ventures ever undertaken by the school. With no money and no large contributors in sight, situated in a community remote from any railroad and made even more inaccessible by bad roads, President Campbell and his associates set about the construction of a brick building to cost the fabulous sum, at that time, of $30,000. Friends subscribed nickels and dimes to buy bricks; students without money cut cord wood to burn the brick made locally and supplied brick to masons on the job. The genius of the whole construction was Z. T. Kivett, who burned the brick and over a three-year period directed the erection of the building as money and credits were slowly obtained.

Emergence as a Great Private Academy

1903 - 1926

From the very first session in 1887 an increasing number of boarding students from this and other states continued to enter Buie's Creek Academy. In the absence of dormitory facilities all boarding students prior to 1913 had to be cared for in private homes. At the opening of that year Treat Dormitory, the first dormitory for girls, named in honor of M. C. Treat, generous benefactor and friend, was dedicated. Not until 1923 was the first residence hall for boys provided. Due to changing social conditions and growing enrollments, the construction of an annex to this first residence hall for men and the remodeling of Pearson Building later provided additional housing accommodations for men. Some idea of the growing influence of the institution is indicated by the fact that total enrollment in 1925 included 380 boarding students from seventy counties in the state and seven states in the nation. Of the institution Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy, wrote: "If every section of the state had such an Academy, North Carolina would in a few years take front rank in education."

Development as an Acclaimed Church-Related Junior College

1926 - 1961

The first step in transition from complete private ownership by J. A. Campbell to possession by North Carolina Baptists came in 1911 when under the name of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., twenty trustees, elected by the Little River Association, controlled Treat dormitory. Later the library was deeded by its donor, D. Rich, to the denomination. In 1925 all the property owned by J. A. Campbell and wife, together with that controlled by the local Association, was deeded to the Baptist State Convention, in whose hands it is now held.

In the fall of 1926, with the consent of the Baptist Board of Education, the institution added a year of college work, and the Baptist State Convention of the same year authorized the advancement of the institution to the rank of a junior college. The Convention, by the adoption of the Hamby resolution, which follows, changed the school's name:

"In view of the fact that our brother, Dr. J. A. Campbell, working strenuously and untiringly through a period of forty years, has built a great school at Buies Creek, known through the years as Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., and recently changed from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College.

"Whereas, it is eminently fitting that such devotion to the cause of education should be kept in memory perpetually, and the name and work of Brother Campbell be preserved as a cherished memorial of North Carolina Baptists, be it

"Resolved, that the Baptist State Convention now in session, request its Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to change the name from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College."

The college received immediate recognition by the State Department of Education and in 1941 was accepted as a fully accredited junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"To the stars through difficulties," originally adopted as the school motto, accurately describes the struggles as a junior college for the ensuing thirty-five years. From a total enrollment during the first college year (1926-1927) of 53 college students, plus 352 in high school and 333 in the elementary grades, the institution grew by its last year of operation as a junior college during 1960-1961 to an enrollment of 1,220 students, of whom 1,056 were in college and 164 were high school and sub-freshman enrollees. Some three million dollars had been expended in the enlargement and expansion of the college. But this record of achievement has not been easy. Through the depression years in the 1930's the college operated without endowment and without current support from the Baptist State Convention until 1937. The Founder and President died in 1934. The second World War all but stripped the campus of male students. During the 1950-1960 decade the college enjoyed its greatest growth in plant expansion and enrollment.

Aspiring to New Heights as a Senior College!

1961 —

In the spring of 1958 in its special session the Baptist State Convention authorized the Campbell College Board of Trustees, "in the light of its rapid expansion since 1950, the need for a senior coeducational Baptist college in the east, and the enthusiasm of its alumni concerning the future of the school (to) consider converting the institution into a senior college as soon as they think desirable and possible to do so." In the light of these instructions, the administration and trustees adopted plans for the orderly advancement to senior college status by adding the junior year in 1961-1962 and the senior year in 1962-1963.

CLASSROOMS

D. RICH MEMORIAL BUILDING (1926). This fire-resistant structure of tapestry-faced brick and Indiana limestone was constructed with that portion of the D. Rich bequest, approximately $160,000, available at Mr. Rich's death. The building, 160 feet long and 120 feet wide, contains classrooms, lecture halls, teachers' offices, and an auditorium to seat 1,250.

J. CLYDE TURNER CHAPEL. In October 1961 the Board of Trustees, prompted by the deep desire to exalt worship as the pre-eminent function of the auditorium in D. Rich Memorial Building, as well as by the intention to associate permanently with its chapel the names of two distinguished Baptists, long time friends of Campbell College, voted unanimously to name the chapel in honor of Dr. J. Clyde Turner and wife, Bertha Hicks Turner. Such action called for complete renovation and installation of improved facilities prior to the formal dedicatory exercises on January 25, 1963.

KIVETT BUILDING (1903). Completion of this massive structure named for Z. T. Kivett, the builder, required nearly three years (May 23, 1901 to November 2, 1903). At present its lower two stories house the college bookstore, several classrooms and teachers offices. It was used by the local elementary school until 1948, when it was converted into a science hall and was thus used until the fall of 1962.

MATHEMATICS HALL (1923). Started by a $2,500 gift of Mr. D. Rich toward a temporary auditorium and gymnasium, this brick-veneered structure, 60 by 90 feet, served as a gymnasium from 1924 to 1953. In 1956 it was converted for use by the department of Mathematics.

MUSIC CENTER (1947). The music department has up to the 1963-'64 session been housed in two temporary buildings, 20 x 48 feet each, erected in 1947.

In the summers of 1963 and 1964, two larger frame structures were built to provide for the expanded music program being offered. The college is committed to the erection at the earliest possible date of a more adequate music hall for this growing department.

THE NEW ART CENTER (1963). With the procurement in 1963 of the former residence of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, the art department was moved into renovated sections of the home and adjacent garage. Because of the close proximity to the campus, spaciousness and excellent lighting, this department is presently very adequately located.

FRED N. DAY COTTAGE (1936). In 1925 the Rev. Fred N. Day, purchasing a seven-room residence and about two adjacent acres, gave them to Buie's Creek Academy as a home for married students. When Campbell installed home economics in 1936, the building was renovated to provide space for practical training on the cottage plan. With the removal of the home economics department to the new Science Building in 1962 the building is now used as a kindergarten and temporary art studios.

SCIENCE BUILDING (1962). Realizing the strategic place of science in the future preparation of youth in this atomic age, nothing has been spared in the planning and construction of this new three and one-half story structure. Its 44,000 square feet provides spaciouly for physics, biology, chemistry, and home economics. On the first floor is a small auditorium seating 175 to accommodate science lecture groups as well as for other cultural purposes. Included in its modern conveniences are air conditioning and elevator service.

LIBRARY

CARRIE RICH MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1925). This building consisted originally of two large reading rooms, stack rooms, and librarian's office. In planning it as a memorial to his wife, the one intention of Mr. D. Rich, the donor, was to have the building as flawless and beautiful as was the Christian character of his beloved wife.

The college in 1956 erected an addition, harmonious with the original and three times its size, making the library adequate to store 35,000 volumes and to accommodate in the reading rooms 200 students at one time. Additional tables in the present reading rooms and two added reading rooms in Pearson make it possible to seat a substantially larger number of students at present.

THE ROBERT A. AND MARGARET P. MCINTYRE LIBRARY (1964). The first well defined departmental library, auxiliary to the general library, took form in space provided for it in the New Science Building. This library was named in honor of these two fine friends and benefactors from Lumberton, N. C. Subsequently in her will, Mrs. McIntyre made special provision for the enlargement of the book collection and also for special equipment for the biological laboratories.

WILLIAM PEARSON HALL (1915). This building bears the name of the man who in 1887 made the first canvass for funds to establish this institution. Until his death on May 25, 1915, he became permanently identified with the school as father-in-law of the founder and active supporter by word and purse.

Pearson Hall was constructed with money borrowed from Harnett County and repaid by the principal by teaching the public school for this district. It was first used by the elementary department of the school; later converted in 1926 into a music hall; used from 1948 until 1962 as a Men's dormitory; at present used as a library annex and as teacher's offices.

THEATRE

PAUL GREEN THEATRE (1934). Located in a grove between Mathematics Hall and the D. Rich Memorial Building under an arch of oaks and pines, this three-stage amphitheatre is a naturally beautiful and acoustically excellent setting for outdoor musicals and dramas. It was designed by Paul Green distinguished poet and playwright, who is a graduate of Buies Creek Academy. Mr. Green himself supervised the construction of the amphitheatre in 1933-34. Through many performances, including repeated productions of Mr. Green's own symphonic drama "The Highland Call," Campbell players, musicians, and their patrons have enjoyed this contribution to the cultural life of the college.

ATHLETIC FIELD

HERBERT B. TAYLOR ATHLETIC FIELD. This well-lighted athletic field was purchased some years ago to provide for the growing college enrollments. Mr. Herbert B. Taylor of Dunn, N. C., athlete and sports lover, father of the nationally famous Knee-Pants Baseball League, sponsored the necessary park improvements, including stands for the spectators. His deep interest in Campbell College has been over and over expressed in his benefactions and in his devoted services on the Board of Trustees. In recognition of these services the Trustees named the athletic field in his honor.

DORMITORIES

JONES DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1954). By subsequent action by the trustees this building was named in honor of William Hubert Jones and Lula Bostic Jones, faithful trustees and benefactors. Rooms in this modern, fire-resistant building for 72 students are arranged in suites with connecting baths. Each is equipped with built-in closet, chest of drawers, study table, and vanity dresser. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. Lounges on the three floors supplement the reception center, which is equipped with kitchenette and with folding partitions for smaller groupings.

FRED N. DAY DORMITORY (1959). This modern dormitory for 78 students was accomplished by reconstructing a three-story, fire-resistant structure, adding wings to the north and south and a portico to its eastern exposure. As reconstructed, it is similar in appointments to Jones Dormitory, described above. Day Dormitory, as first built in 1937, replaced the Fred N. Day Annex, a two-story frame building destroyed by fire on December 15, 1936.

TREAT DORMITORY (1913). Treat Dormitory has thirty-two rooms and a large basement, which is now used as a recreation room for the women's campus. It is named for M. C. Treat of California, deceased, the largest contributor to its construction.

POWELL DORMITORY (1960). This three-story dormitory, accommodating sixty young women, is modern in construction and equipment throughout. It is adjoined to Treat Dormitory by a connecting lobby and reception room. By order of the Board of Trustees this attractive building has been named in honor of Misses Mabel and Nell Powell to commemorate their years of faithful service and loyalty as teachers and devoted friends of Campbell College.

JAMES E. AND MARY Z. BRYAN DORMITORY (1961). This dormitory, located on the newly acquired tract of land back of Treat, is in many respects the most modern and attractive on the campus. The building is a cluster of twelve one-story apartment units, grouped around an interior court and joined by an exterior wall and roof. One section provides a reception center, a guest room and quarters for the faculty counselor. Each unit consists of four bedrooms, a living room and bath, to accommodate eight young women. The building is named in memory of James E. Bryan, alumnus and successful businessman, and wife, Mary Z. Bryan.

LAYTON DORMITORY (1923). Layton Hall contains 45 rooms for men in its main section. In 1928 an annex of thirteen rooms was built with money given by the late B. N. Duke. Because of the "singular service to the cause of Christ" rendered by Mrs. Joel G. Layton of Lillington, N. C., and her late husband, and because of their generous support of the institution through the years, the Board of Trustees on March 22, 1951, unanimously directed that the main section of this building "be henceforth known as Layton Dormitory."

W. S. BRITT DORMITORY (1947). Constructed with funds supplied by many friends, this twenty-seven-room, fire-resistant dormitory for men is named for an alumnus, W. S. Britt of Lumberton, the largest benefactor.

J. F. KITCHIN DORMITORY FOR MEN (1955). This three-story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 96 men. Each room has built-in closets, chest of drawers, study table, and lavatory. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. A single-story section provides a guest room, accommodations for the dean of men, and a parlor for student use.

Britt Dormitory

Intercourt Bryan Dormitory

BALDWIN DORMITORY (1964). This three story, fire-resistant residence hall, with a semi-basement floor, centrally located on the men's campus, houses at present 130 students. It was given its new name November 16, 1964, with appropriate ceremony in honor of O. Hampton Baldwin; Lizzie Luther Baldwin, his deceased wife; Delphia Baldwin, his sister; and O. Luther, his deceased son. The naming commemorates the generous benefactions, previously made, of this fine Columbus County family.

CAMPBELLTOWN APARTMENTS. Twelve duplex houses, erected in 1959, accommodate twenty-four married-student and faculty families. Attractively designed, they are supplied with modern built-in conveniences. In 1962 ten other similar houses were added.

CAMPBELL HOME. This house, originally the home of the Founder of Campbell College, about one-half mile from the campus, has been renovated and equipped to accommodate 18 students.

ELLIS APARTMENTS. These apartments for married students were provided in part by W. Caswell Ellis, alumnus, in memory of Ruth Miller Ellis, deceased mother of his two children, and William Caswell Ellis, Jr., who lived a short but beautiful life.

STRICKLAND DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1962). This three story dormitory located behind Bryan Dormitory consists of apartment units, each housing ten young women with a total accommodation for 96 young women. In 1965 this attractive dormitory was named to commemorate the generous benefactions and invaluable services while on the College's Board of Trustees rendered by Mrs. Mabel C. Strickland and her late husband, J. Hunter Strickland of Four Oaks, North Carolina.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR MEN (1962). This modern three-story dormitory located to the west of the President's home houses 106 young men. The rooms are arranged in apartment units consisting of five bedrooms, a living room, and bath.

OTHER BUILDINGS

B. P. MARSHBANKS CAFETERIA (1934). Originally planned for 400 students, this cafeteria was constructed with contributions in cash, materials, and labor, supplemented by appropriations from the college budget. In 1957 it was expanded by addition of three dining rooms and much storage space. Stainless steel kitchen equipment was installed, and modern cafeteria counters were provided for three-line service. The cafeteria is now adequate for a student body of well over 1,000.

JOHN S. PEARSON MEMORIAL INFIRMARY (1960). A new health center, designed to be adequate for the present and readily expandable for future needs, was added to the Campbell family of buildings in October, 1960. This provides room for 16 students in two wards and four semi-private rooms. It is carefully designed as space for providing the medical care that is customarily given in first-class college health units. John S. Pearson, for whom the building is named, was at one time business manager of the Biblical Recorder and was for many years business manager of Progressive Farmer. He was the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Pearson Campbell, wife of the Founder. A challenge gift of Mrs. Campbell started the infirmary project.

JAMES A. CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING (1961). This beautiful, commodious structure is a fitting memorial to the Founder of Campbell College and his widow, Cornelia Pearson Campbell. The first floor of the two-story structure provides four spacious suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Students and the Business Manager. Located also on this floor will be found an attractive lobby and a large conference room, called the Trustee Room. The second floor provides adequate office space and facilities for such major programs as college development, public relations, publicity, multigraphing, photography, student guidance, religious activities and chapel direction.

CARTER GYMNASIUM (1952). This attractive, modern structure is named to honor the N. H. Carter Family and to commemorate the invaluable services and benefactions of Harry C. Carter of Greensboro, former president of the Trustees. During Campbell's recent years as a junior college the playing floor, standard gymnasium equipment, offices, and two large classrooms of this building have been adequate for a complete physical education program.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING PLANT (1951). The laundry and dry cleaning plant is one of the most useful auxiliary enterprises of the college.

CAMPUS MAINTENANCE BUILDING (1964). This massive structure, inexpensive in construction, provides long needed space for storing large quantities of supplies purchased at lowest available prices. It likewise protects from the weather expensive equipment used by the growing maintenance staff and enables the several labor groups to work under optimum conditions. Moreover, the business management of the college can maintain a daily itemized check on the incoming and out-going supplies.

OTHER EQUIPMENT

CHARLES L. ANDREWS CHAPEL ORGAN. In the summer of 1949 Mr. Charles L. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs, N. C., donated to the college a beautiful Baldwin Electronic organ, complete with chimes, for the spacious auditorium in the D. Rich Administration building. The organ adds much to all worship services held in the auditorium and also makes possible the study of organ by a number of interested music students.

THE J. F. AND KATYE HATCHER BLACKMON CARILLON SYSTEM. This lovely contribution to campus life, installed in 1955 from funds donated by Reverend and Mrs. J. F. Blackmon, coordinates the work of the whole day. Sweet toned, the amplified bells automatically announce the passing of the hours from morning until well in the night. Another most attractive feature is daily vespers, automatically presented.

The system likewise has provision for amplifying recitals from the chapel organ, as well as recordings.

BENEFACTIONS

"He only does not live in vain who employs his wealth, his thoughts, his speech to advance the good of others."

W. C. ELLIS ENDOWMENT FUND

During the Commencement exercises in 1924, Mr. W. C. Ellis, Greenville, S. C., suggested a plan for increasing the endowment on an insurance plan. Alumni of the school were asked to take a ten-year endowment policy payable to the school for amounts from $100 up. In this way, the members of the senior class in 1925 subscribed about $5,000 to this fund.

Subsequent efforts have increased this endowment fund by several thousand dollars. Pledges and bequests are annually being converted into tangible assets, which are put into safe investments to produce much needed income as a supplement to student fees.

ALLEN L. BYRD ENDOWMENT FUND

Because of his lifelong interest in Campbell College, which is located in his native county, Mr. Allen L. Byrd bequeathed to this institution a share of his estate amounting to approximately $7,500. In the summer of 1941 a partial payment of $6,837 was received. By order of the Board of Trustees the entire amount is to remain intact as a part of the permanent endowment and is to be known as the Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund in memory of the donor.

D. RICH ENDOWMENT FUND

On September 29, 1923, Mr. D. Rich, while conducting the devotional exercises at chapel, stated that little sleep had come to him on the previous night, because time was spent in talking with the Lord about Buie's Creek. In his soul was born that night, he said, this striking expression: "Buie's Creek must live." After his death on October 21, 1924, his will revealed that he had left the trustees of Buie's Creek Academy one-eighth of his estate. One-half of this amount, approximately $160,000, available at his death, made possible the construction of D. Rich Administration Building.

In August, 1940, Campbell College received from the will of Mr. D. Rich cash and securities valued at $151,669.80. By unanimous vote the trustees at their next annual meeting authorized that the entire amount be allocated to the permanent endowment fund of the college and that it be known thereafter as the D. Rich Endowment Fund.

B. N. DUKE GIFTS

In the spring of 1926 Mr. Duke gave the school $25,000 for the completion of a sewerage system and other needs. Three additional gifts during the year brought his contributions to $50,000.

ERWIN MILLS FOREST

In consideration of the long friendly relationship between Erwin Mills, Inc., and Campbell College in their joint promotion of the economic, social, cultural and religious development of their constituency, Erwin Mills, Inc., graciously donated to Campbell College in 1960 a valuable tract of timberland, containing approximately 150 acres, which the Board of Trustees of the college has designated as Erwin Mills Forest. This property is to be held for the foreseeable future to provide income for current support.

LEAMAN BAGGETT PARK

In the fall of 1964, Mr. and Mrs. Deke E. Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. Deke L. Baggett donated as a memorial to the late Dr. Leamon Baggett approximately 130 acres of land in Horry County, South Carolina, to be used for field studies by the departments of biology and geology. This land, preserved in its natural state, will provide excellent opportunity for geological studies of the coastal plain area and its biological habitats.

LOAN FUNDS

We are happy to announce the establishment of the following loan funds for worthy students. These sums, coming unsolicited, express the confidence of these benefactors in the work of Campbell College and their sympathy with poor boys and girls struggling for an education. In behalf of those to be blessed by these amounts, we express our thanks for the following loans:

Four-County Loan Fund. This fund of $1,000 was established in the summer of 1941 by a friend interested in helping students who would otherwise be unable to finance their education. Preference is to be given students from the four counties of Harnett, Johnston, Sampson, and Cumberland, "unless college officials deem students from elsewhere more worthy."

Betty Byrd Green Memorial Loan Fund. In memory of Betty Byrd Green, who in 1887 was among the first students to register in this institution, her children, out of deep gratitude for her sacrificial life, her noble character and her keen intellectual interests, created at the commencement of 1941 this fund to aid worthy students.

Page Loan Fund. This loan fund of $500 was established by Mrs. Theresa Page Magruder in memory of her father, mother, two brothers, and one sister. Members of the family plan to add to this fund from time to time.

Alberta Hinton Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1940 by C. R. Hinton, alumnus of the college, in memory of his mother.

Gerald Motley Loan Fund. This fund is created by friends of Gerald Motley, gifted young minister and loyal alumnus of this institution, who lost his life during the year of 1940 in an automobile accident en route to the college to speak at the daily chapel service. Contributors to this fund would memorialize his nobility of character, his loyalty to Campbell, and his interest in the problems of youth.

Mabel Powell Loan Fund. Former students of Miss Mabel Powell have started this fund out of appreciation for the inspiration and help received from their beloved teacher. Each year the size of the fund is being increased.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ousley Loan Fund. This fund is in honor of the late Mr. H. C. Ousley and Mrs. Ousley, for many years citizens of the Buie's Creek community. It has been established by one of their sons and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Ousley of Waco, Texas. This fund is for the purpose of assisting students who feel led to give themselves to full time Christian service. It is not available to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco.

Demming Morton Ward Loan Fund. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ward, Durham, North Carolina, have established this fund in loving memory of their son, killed in the service of his country on May 8, 1945. Two years prior he had left college as a sophomore to enter the U. S. Air Corps. At the time of his death, he was a first lieutenant flying a transport plane from Burma to India. Lieutenant Ward was a devoted son, an active participant in youth organizations, and a faithful member of his church. Through this memorial fund his parents hope to bless humanity in perpetuity by extending opportunity to other youth to live the more abundant life.

Jessie Slocumb Smith Scholarship Fund. This scholarship is sponsored by the Chicora Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, to commemorate the distinguished services of Jessie Slocumb Smith who for forty years was historian of her chapter. She served likewise in many other capacities, including the presidency. It is proposed to make this an ever enlarging benefit to the youth of this area by adding to the fund from time to time.

Starr Johnson Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been set up in memory of Starr Johnson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Lewis David Johnson, Buie's Creek, North Carolina. Of the initial gift amounting to $500, a scholarship in the amount of $100 will be awarded annually to a deserving freshman until further notice.

Fitchett Memorial Loan Fund. This fund is set up by the Fitchetts of Dunn to aid worthy students in need of financial assistance. Loans must meet the approval of the college committee.

Layton Loan Fund. This is an accumulative fund established by Mrs. Martha Layton Winston in honor of her parents, Mr. Joel G. Layton and Mrs. Maude C. Layton. The college deeply appreciates this scholarship aid to serve generations to come, set up as a tribute to these life-long friends, generous benefactors to Campbell College.

J. P. Coggins Memorial Loan Fund. This loan fund for $2,000 was established in 1964 by Mrs. Mattie Coggins Highfill in memory of her father.

In addition to the loan funds above, Campbell College gratefully acknowledges smaller amounts established by the following friends to help needy students: J. F. Keith, I. T. Valentine, J. H. Barnes, John W. Holmes, Bruce Blackmon, James A. Buchanan.

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM

Under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Campbell College has been granted her proportionate share of Federal funds appropriated to the end "that no student of ability will be denied an opportunity for higher education because of financial need." While the Act provides that prospective teachers and students having special interest either in science, mathematics or modern languages be given preferential consideration, any capable high school graduate may apply for a loan in the amount necessary to attend college, not to exceed $1,000 a year. Information concerning the exceedingly generous terms for obtaining and repaying the loan will be supplied to any interested student upon request.

COLLEGE FOUNDATION, INC. LOAN FUND

Loans in an amount up to $500.00 per student per school year are available to qualified entering freshmen through the College Foundation, Inc. Students who are desirous of participating in this program which was sponsored by the Governor of North Carolina should contact the College Business Manager. The Business Manager will supply the necessary forms and information. If approved, the funds will be disbursed from the College Foundation to the college treasurer. Only students from North Carolina are eligible. Repayment is to begin 90 days after graduation to be repaid over a four year period.

THE TUITION PLAN INC. LOAN FUND

The Tuition Plan, Inc. is a national student loan fund organization that specializes in providing low cost programs for educational cost. The funds are made available to Campbell College students in any amount necessary for the financing of educational expenses. Arrangements for participating in this plan can be made by writing direct to the Tuition Plan, Inc., One Park Ave., New York, N. Y., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EDUCATION FUNDS, INC. LOAN FUND

This also is a national organization designed to finance the total cost of educational expenses over a wide range of plans from one to four years, and is available to all Campbell College students regardless of academic progress. Application for participation in the Education Funds, Inc. loan fund program can be obtained by writing direct to Education Funds, Inc., 10 Dorrance Street, Providence, R. I., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

FIRST CITIZENS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
PREPAID EDUCATION LOAN FUNDS

The college has an arrangement with the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company whereby the bank makes direct loans to all Campbell College students in amounts necessary to defray educational expenses. This plan is designed to meet the needs of families desiring to pay educational costs out of income rather than out of savings. Arrangements for participating in this program can be made direct by writing First Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Prepaid Education Loan Fund Department, Charlotte, N. C., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EXPENSES

For Semester of 18 Weeks

(The College reserves the right, with proper notice to patrons, to make changes in the following schedule of expenses when it proves necessary.)

PROCESSING AND ROOM RESERVATION FEES

A processing fee of $10.00 is payable with all original applications for admission and is not refundable.

A room deposit of $10.00 must accompany the application for a room in one of the dormitories. Priority of application determines the choice of rooms. This deposit is not refundable unless a student is denied admission. After the student enters classes this amount is held as a credit to his or her account against unnecessary damage done to rooms in dormitories. The college will refund any unexpended balance of room deposits upon the student's withdrawal or completion of education program at Campbell College.

The above statement does not include the cost of books, laundry and a small accident insurance premium. The cost of laundry paid by all boarding students is $18.00 per semester. Books which vary in cost are on a cash basis if purchased from college owned bookstore. The insurance fee varies from $5.00 for women to $8.50 for men.

Through the college infirmary facilities and the college medical staff the college provides for medical attention of the kind commonly provided by the general practitioner. Drugs on prescription of the doctor will cost extra.

A graduation fee of $10.00 will be required of all eligible students.

In addition to the above, students from outside the State of North Carolina will be charged an additional $8.33 for each six weeks.

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the previously listed expenses, Campbell College grants as scholarships to members of the following groups, deductions in amounts indicated.

Ministerial students . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Volunteers for foreign missions . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Students from orphanages . . . . .	$100.00 a year
High School valedictorians . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Children of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year
Wives of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year

To qualify for a scholarship the ministerial student or mission volunteer must present letters of recommendation from his or her church. Continuation of the award of such scholarships is conditioned upon the student's satisfactory performance.

No special considerations or offers of scholarships or self-help employment are valid until approved by the President or Business Manager.

SELF-HELP EMPLOYMENT

The college has always sought to help worthy students unable to finance their college education. To that end all possible work assignments have been reserved for students. The compensation is in keeping with the charges made by the college and is payable in cash monthly. The college reserves the right to apply any compensation due against any unpaid balances currently due on the student account. Any student requiring financial assistance should obtain a "Self-Help Application Blank" from the college. Obviously, the amount of work available is limited. The Committee on job assignments will give consideration to priority of application, as well as to the merits of each case.

SETTLEMENTS

A charge of ten dollars for processing must accompany the application of each new student. This fee of $10.00 is applied against cost of evaluating applications and is not refundable. Each student requesting dormitory reservation must include also a room-reservation deposit of ten dollars. The unexpended balance of the room deposit is refunded upon termination of stay in the dormitory.

By June 4, applicants for the fall term must deposit fifty dollars toward fall expenses. This is not refundable. Students who are accepted later than June 4, must make this deposit within fifteen days after the notice of acceptance is mailed.

Applicants for the spring term must make the non-refundable deposit of fifty dollars by January 15. Applicants notified of acceptance later than the fifteenth of January must make the deposit prior to registration.

This deposit of fifty dollars, or some arrangement satisfactory to the President, is required of all students. If the applicant fails to make the deposit by the appointed time, the application is subject to cancellation by the Admissions Office.

Tuition and General Fees must be paid upon entrance and are not refundable after 48 hours.

Settlement for room and board must be made in advance for each half-semester. In the event of justifiable withdrawal during the semester, the student will be charged for room and board a penalty of ten per cent in excess of the charges for the period of attendance.

No student fees of any kind are refundable following the Christmas holidays in the first semester or May 1 in the second semester.

No refund on any of these payments will be made to the student whose conduct requires suspension or expulsion.

Any variation in the above terms must be approved by the President before the student's entrance.

A student will not be permitted to undergo semester examinations unless satisfactory arrangements for payment of all outstanding obligations for that semester have been approved by the Business Manager.

No statement of work completed will be released by the Registrar until the student has made satisfactory settlement of all charges.

A dormitory student may not move his or her residence from the dormitory during a semester without special permission from the President. Changes proposed for the following semester must have similar approval.

ROOM AND BOARD

DORMITORIES. The college has facilities for housing most of its resident students. Others may find rooms in approved homes in the community. All dormitories are equipped with electricity, steam heat, and running water; but as is suggested by the variations in prices charged, the accommodations are not uniform. Every dormitory room is furnished with beds, dresser, chairs and study table or desk. Students must provide their own pillows, bed linens and covering, and towels; also curtains, study lamps, rugs and bookshelves, if these are desired.

BOARD. All students living in college dormitories eat together in the central dining hall, a commodious and well-lighted building. Every effort is made to provide a properly balanced menu of well-prepared foods under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

No student will be allowed to board or room in any private home unless the keeper of the home pledges to support the government of the school and to report upon request as to the conduct of students in the home.

The use of electrical appliances in the dormitories is allowed only by special permission. Radios may be operated in students' rooms with permission of the dean of men or dean of women. In each women's dormitory an ironing room will be provided.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The requirements for entrance into the college conform to the regulations adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the North Carolina College Conference.

High school graduation from a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or the equivalent of the completion of such a course, as shown by examination, is required of all students seeking admission to the freshman class.

The major portion of the preparatory work shall be composed of basic college-preparatory subjects: English, foreign languages, mathematics, natural sciences, and the social studies, and should normally include English, four units; foreign language, two units; mathematics, two units (including one unit of algebra); natural science, one unit; and social studies, two units.

Students electing curricula leading to graduation, from Campbell or other colleges which may require additional preparation, must remove such deficiencies during the first year of residence, or during summer school preceding or following the first year.

All information showing the quality of work accomplished, the personality, character, and health of the applicant, and the recommendation of appropriate school officials must be available to the college before registration is permitted.

In addition to those students admitted by certificate or examination, special students who demonstrate their ability to profit by the instruction provided by the college may be admitted. The special student will be allowed no credit toward graduation until he has met the entrance requirements fully.

Every applicant for admission to the freshman class is required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The test is given in December, January, March, May, and July. It is recommended that the Scholastic Aptitude Test be taken early in the senior year.

Students wishing to make application to take the tests should procure application forms from their secondary schools, or write directly to the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey, or Box 1025, Berkeley 1, California, for the Bulletin of Information, which includes an application form and is available without charge. The bulletin lists test centers and gives complete information concerning the tests.

Because of deadlines for filing application to take the College Board tests, the student must make his arrangements well in advance of the testing date so that his application may be received in Princeton or Berkeley by the closing date.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student applying for admission to advanced standing or for acceptance of credit earned at another college must present: (a) a certificate of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended; (b) an official transcript of record from the institution or institutions previously attended; (c) details of the high school work completed.

Admission to the work of the junior year requires a C average on all work attempted. Provision will be made for advanced placement of qualified students on the basis of standard tests in subject areas in general use among the leading colleges and universities.

TRANSFERS

Students transferring from colleges not accredited by the regional accrediting agency will receive provisional credit which must be validated by a record of satisfactory performance during the first year of residence after transfer.

In general, the amount of credit accepted from other institutions in transfer will be determined by the requirements which apply to the non-transfer student. When a student is admitted with fewer quality points than semester hours of credit from another college, that student must make up the deficiency after transferring to Campbell.

A transfer student from a junior college will receive not more than sixty-six semester hours of credit (including Health) plus two semester hours of physical education service courses.

The maximum credit in correspondence courses allowed will be twelve semester hours with not more than six semester hours in the field of the major. The question of determining what is acceptable credit in correspondence courses will be the responsibility of the Dean or Registrar and the Head of the Department.

A transfer student completing the degree requirements at Campbell must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the field of the major before graduation.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Campbell College will confer two degrees; Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. It will award an Associate in Arts diploma, upon request, to properly qualified applicants who have completed the equivalent of two years of college work of acceptable quality.

To be eligible for a degree or diploma, the candidate must have demonstrated evidence of good character and must have met the minimum residence requirement of thirty semester hours. This shall be interpreted as the last year preceding graduation. The responsibility of making application for graduation in writing at least ninety days prior to the date of the award shall rest with the candidate. It is assumed, further, that all financial obligations have been satisfactorily provided for in advance of graduation.

The conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas will take place at the end of the regular semester or at the end of the summer session.

A candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must complete 124 semester hours of college work in addition to Health II and two semesters of physical education. He must attain a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted.

He must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the departmental major at Campbell. He must average C or better in the major.

A candidate for the Associate in Arts diploma must complete 64 semester hours of work including Health II and in addition to two hours of physical education with a quality point average of 1.00 on all work offered for graduation. Also, he must have a 1.00 average on 80 per cent of all work attempted.

CREDIT, GRADES, POINTS, LOAD, ETC.

A "semester" hour usually represents one class period a week in a subject continued through a full semester. Thus, for a course meeting three times a week, a credit of three semester hours is given at the close of the semester. Courses in science, home economics, and business education carry laboratory requirements. Two hours of laboratory time is converted into one hour of credit. This laboratory credit is combined with lecture credit and accounts for the fact that a given course carrying four semester hours of credit may require a total of six or more clock hours a week.

The following is the college scale of grading, with the number of quality points assigned for each grade:

A (Excellent)	93-100 per cent	3 points per hour of credit
B (Good)	85-92 per cent	2 points per hour of credit
C (Average)	77-84 per cent	1 point per hour of credit
D (Passing)	70-76 per cent	0 points per hour of credit
F (Failure)	Below 70	0 points per hour of credit

A grade of I must be removed by the completion of the work within 30 days after the opening of the next semester; otherwise it will be recorded as an F. The Dean may make exceptions to this rule in unusual cases.

Any course dropped without permission is recorded as an F. Permission to add a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar within two weeks following registration. Permission to drop a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar with the advice of the instructor involved. A course may be dropped not later than the end of six weeks. The Dean or the Registrar will determine whether the record should indicate dropped with permission, dropped failing, or dropped passing.

In summer school the time limit to add or drop a course will be based on the equivalent hours of class meetings.

A normal load for any student in the college department is sixteen credit hours per semester. Students who enter with deficiencies will be expected to work off the conditions before taking the prescribed courses for credit. A pre-college level course will be considered the equivalent of two semester hours, and this sum is to be subtracted from what is considered the normal load.

A full-time boarding student must carry a minimum load of fourteen semester hours and may not exceed a maximum of eighteen semester hours exclusive of physical education service courses required of all students.

For work done in other institutions the Dean of the College will assign appropriate credit.

CLASSIFICATION

The classification of a student depends upon the amount of the college work and the number of quality points he has to his credit and not upon the length of time he has been in college. A student is classified:

- (1) As a senior, upon the completion of 90 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 90 quality points.

- (2) As a junior, upon the completion of 55 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 55 quality points.
- (3) As a sophomore, upon the completion of 23 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 16 quality points.
- (4) As a freshman, if the regular admission requirements have been met.
- (5) As a special student, if for some approved reason he is registered for one or more courses but does not meet the admission requirement.
- (6) As a part-time student, if with approval he is registered for less than 9 hours of credit work.
- (7) When a student has a deficit of twenty-five quality points, he will be classified one class lower than he would under the provisions listed above.

A minimum of eight semester hours of work passed and a minimum of six quality points earned will enable a full time student to be readmitted for the following full semester without probation. A progressively higher standard will apply to upper-classmen. Any student failing to meet this minimum requirement will have his status determined by the Admissions Committee.

With the permission of the Dean and the instructor, any person may audit any course or part thereof. Preference, however, is given to staff members, their spouses, and students of the College. Requirements as to attendance and participation are determined by the instructor. An auditor receives no credit and no grade, but satisfactorily completed audits are reported to the Registrar's Office and made a matter of permanent record.

When a student has more than two examinations in one day the middle exam, or exams, will automatically give way. The teacher will arrange for a special exam on make-up day or at a time which is suitable.

When a student has two exams at the same time the teacher of the larger class will give way to the teacher who has the smaller number of students scheduled for exam in that course at that time.

Requests for permission to enroll in summer school courses at other colleges must be approved in writing prior to enrollment by the Dean or Registrar. Courses to be applied against the requirements in the major field must meet with the approval of the Head of the Department.

46. Victorian Novelists.—Reading and analysis of novels by Dickens, Thackeray, the Brontës, George Eliot, Meredith, Hardy and others; individual assignments and reports.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

48. Readings in World Literature.—Selected classics from the western world tracing man's changing vision of the universe; among others, Homer, Sophocles, Job, St. Augustine, Dante, Cervantes, Racine, Goethe.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

51. Modern Drama.—From Ibsen to the present. Realism and naturalism; various developments in non realistic drama, such as symbolism and expessionism. Continental writers important in the modern drama; British and Irish dramatists; American playwrights beginning with O'Neill.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

52. Twentieth Century Poetry.—A study of selected British and American poets, chosen to represent its range and direction, its philosophies and artistic techniques, and its conflicting diversities, from about 1912 to the present.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

JOURNALISM

21. News Reporting and Writing.—Study of newspaper English and style, study and practice of newsgathering techniques, practice in writing the basic types of news and feature stories. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12. An elective for sophomores and juniors.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. News Writing and Editing.—Study and practice of specialized news reporting—sports, speeches, and reviews. Attention to editorial procedure, re-writing, headlining, caption writing, and make-up. Some attention to the elements of photojournalism from the editorial viewpoint. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

SPEECH AND DRAMATICS

13. Voice and Diction.—A basic speech production course designed for the development of a more pleasing and efficient voice. Special attention is given to individual vocal problems.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours

14. Oral Interpretation.—Designed to follow Speech 13. Techniques and practice in the oral presentation of prepared works, original or from literature. Emphasis is on gaining the dramatic value from such works, as well as on improving vocal techniques.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15. Extempore Speaking.—An advanced speech course in the development and presentation of original speeches; pronunciations, voice, gesture, bearing; organization; delivery; speeches for special occasions; the extended address.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

16. Debating.—Open to those who give evidence of academic proficiency and skill in public speaking.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

17. Corrective Speech.—Designed specifically for students afflicted with speech disorders (one to three hours in one semester or extended over several semesters according to need); group meetings of the class, supplemented by clinical periods devoted to individual diagnosis and treatment.

One to three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

PROFESSOR: MR. BURKOT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. COCKBURN, MISS MIX, MR. PHELPS

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MRS. BAGBY, MR. JACOBI, MRS. LOWRIE

The purpose of the department of foreign languages is to provide a student with a working knowledge of one or more foreign languages. The department believes that a liberal education implies the ability to read, understand, write, and converse, on a basic level, in at least one foreign language. Students whose records indicate the successful completion of two units of a foreign language in high school may begin at the intermediate (11-12) level in that particular language. Students presenting three units in high school may begin at the 21-22 level in that same language. All students, before entering intermediate courses or above, must make a passing score on the foreign language examination administered at the beginning of each fall term.

Candidates for a B.A. degree with a major in foreign languages must successfully complete at least 24 hours of upper division courses, (21 and above), 18 of which must be in one language. Teacher certification requirements indicate thirty hours in addition to the two or more high school units in the same language.

Most beginning and intermediate courses make required use of the language laboratory.

LATIN

1-2. Elementary Latin; Reading of Easy Prose.—Open to students who do not offer two units of Latin for entrance.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11. Orations and Letters of Cicero; Prose Composition; Survey of Roman History.—Prerequisite, two units of entrance Latin or Latin 1-2.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Vergil's Aeneid, Bks. I-VI Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 11.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
21. Selection from Latin Prose; Composition; Roman Private Life.—Prerequisite, four units of entrance Latin or Latin 12.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
22. Horace's Odes and Epodes; Roman Life and Literature in the Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 21.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

FRENCH

- 1-2. Elementary French.—Introduction to the basic skills of the language: reading, writing, speaking and aural comprehension.
Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 11-12. Intermediate French.—Continued practice in basic skills; careful review of grammar; reading and discussion of selected literary texts. Prerequisite: French 1-2 or two units of French for entrance.
Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 21-22. Survey of French Literature.—An historical treatment of the main currents of French literature, with analytical studies of selected readings in each period.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 31-32. French Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in French.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
41. The French Classical Drama.—Not offered in 1965-66.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
42. French Romanticism.—Not offered in 1965-66.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
43. Modern French Literature.—Not offered in 1965-66.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
- 45-46. French Civilization and History.—Not offered in 1965-66.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

GERMAN

- 1-2. Elementary German.—A beginner's course offering thorough drill in the essentials of grammar and composition, exercises in pronunciation, easy reading, and gradually increasing use of German in the classroom. A minimum of one hour in the language laboratory is required.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 11-12. Intermediate German.—Thorough review of grammar, study of German culture, conversation. Introduction to scientific and academic German for reading knowledge.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 21-22. Survey of German Literature.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

SPANISH

- 1-2. Elementary Spanish.—Introduction to the basic skills of the language: reading, writing, speaking, and aural comprehension.
Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters. Six semester hours.

11-12. Intermediate Spanish.—Review and progressive practice in basic skills. Selected reading and increased use of laboratory.

Three class hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. Introduction to Spanish Literature.—Reading and discussion of selected masterpieces. Emphasis upon the literature of Spain as the basis of the common heritage shared throughout the Spanish-speaking world.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

31-32. Advanced Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in Spanish. Intensive use of laboratory facilities. (not offered 1965-66)

Three class hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

41-42. Spanish-American Literature and Civilization.—Reading and discussion of passages from representative authors. Opportunity is provided to compare Spanish-American literature as a whole with that of Spain and to evaluate regional and other differences within Latin America itself. (not offered 1965-66)

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

1. Planning and Management of the Contemporary Home.—The planning of a home to meet the needs and preference of the modern family. Emphasis on functional planning and use of materials for efficient living. Management of time, money, and energy as applied to responsibilities of homemaking. Offered to non-majors only.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

7. The Man in the Home.—Exclusively for men. A course designed to aid men in understanding the function, economic and aesthetic qualities of planning a home to meet family needs. A study of housing construction, materials, and specific information pertaining to home maintenance.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours

11. Foods.—A basic study of food selection and preparation with an introduction to menu planning.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week,
one semester.

Three semester hours

12. Clothing Construction and Selection.—Fundamental principles of selection and construction of clothing. An introduction to the classification of textile fibers and fabrics, use of various patterns and principles of fitting.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13. The House and Its Furnishings.—A study of the planning and furnishing of homes from an aesthetic and functional standpoint. Practical problems of house-planning in relation to family needs and income, the arrangement of furniture and furnishings and accessories. Prerequisite Art 15.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week,
one semester.

Three semester hours

21. Meal Management.—The planning, marketing, storing, preparing, and serving of food for family meals and special functions at different cost levels. Prerequisite Home Economics 11.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Dress Design and Construction.—Planned to develop good sewing techniques and increased skill in handling various types of materials, practice in developing patterns from basic foundation pattern, pattern alteration and construction.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. Nutrition.—A study of the fundamentals of human nutrition, food preparation and dietary planning. Open to pre-nursing students.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

32. Textiles.—A study of textiles, its properties and composition, identification and manufacturing procedures; its selection, care and use.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

34. Planning and Evaluating The Home Economics Program.—Planning and evaluating of curriculum in secondary schools as it relates to overall school program and community.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

35. Child Development.—Development and care of the pre-school child in the home. Prerequisite Psychology 22 or 31.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Family Economics.—Basic principles in consumer buying and income planning. Management of family resources as determined by family values.

Two hours lecture period a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

55. Home Management and House Residence.—Principles of management in the home with emphasis on values as they affect the use of family resources. Application of these principles through residence in the home management house.

Completed in one semester

Five semester hours.

65. Family Relationships.—Interpersonal relationships of family members as a factor on individual development; problems associated with individual adjustments, group relationships; emphasis on democratic orientation of family living.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

MATHEMATICS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. BAIN, MR. RAYNOR, MISS KUHN, DR. PECK

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. THOMAS, MR. GRIFFIN, MR. TAYLOR

INSTRUCTORS: MR. DUVALL, MR. GLOVER

Requirements for a major in Mathematics: Candidates for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Mathematics must complete any twenty-four semester hours in Mathematics courses numbered above 20. Also, twelve semester hours from Physics, Chemistry, Education 53, French, German, Logic, Psychology or Philosophy.

1. Sub-Freshman Algebra.—Review of high school algebra for those students offering less than one and one-half units in high school algebra and those not qualified for College Algebra on the basis of a pre-test in mathematics.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

2. Plane Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

6. Solid Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

10. Logarithms and slide rule.—Theory of logarithms and technique of slide rule operations. Recommended for mathematics and science majors.

Three hours a week for six weeks.

One semester hour.

11, 12. College Algebra-Trigonometry.—Unified approach to algebra and trigonometry from a modern viewpoint.

Three hours a week two semesters, or six hours a week, one semester.

Six semester hours.

13. Graphics-Engineering Drawing.—Lettering, use of drawing instruments, geometrical constructions, projections, isometric and orthographic drawings.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Graphics-Descriptive Geometry.—Representation of geometrical magnitudes with points, lines, planes and solids concurrent with noncoplanar forces; the solution of problems.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15, 16. Principles of Mathematics.—A terminal course with topics selected from fields of modern algebra, trigonometry, calculus, probability, etc. An effort is made to relate mathematics to everyday life situations.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

19. Math for Elementary Teachers.—Designed for elementary education majors. Some of the topics considered are: the nature of the number system, measurement, simple concepts of algebra and geometry, sets and variables.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

20. Mathematics for Elementary Teachers.—Selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 19.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Theory of Equations.—Complex numbers, theorems on roots of polynomial equations, approximations, determinants, matrices, and symmetric functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22, 23, 24. Analytic Geometry and Calculus.—Plane analytic geometry, limits, differentiation of algebraic functions, conic sections, and application of derivatives: derivatives, (with applications) of trigonometric, exponential, and logarithm functions by various means (with application), areas under curves, areas of surfaces of revolution, volumes of solids of revolution.

Three hours a week, three semesters.

Nine semester hours.

31. History of Mathematics.—A study of the lives of the leading mathematicians, together with a study of the developments of the number system, algebra, trigonometry, etc. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Junior standing.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Differential Equations.—A first course in ordinary differential equations, handling standard types, proceeding to linear equations of higher order; some operator methods; applications to growth, geometrical and solution problems; to dynamical and electrical systems, higher degree equations of order one; special equations of order two; further special applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Linear Algebra.—Introduction to the theory of matrices; vector spaces; equivalence, rank, inverse of matrices; congruence; quadratic forms; polynomials over a field; similarly characteristic roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Introduction to Probability and Statistics.—A study is made of mathematical models of random phenomena, mean and variance of probability law, law of large number, algebra of expectations, frequency distributions, generating functions, correlation, regression and hypotheses testing. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Introduction to Modern Algebra.—Topics included: the number system, elementary theory of groups; rings; integral domains and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 (should have junior standing).

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Topics in Modern Geometry.—A study of the recent geometry of the triangle and circle, with emphasis on harmonic points and lines, isogonal points and lines, inverse points and lines, power of a point, inversion, concurrency, collinearity. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Mathematics 33.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Advanced Calculus.—(An Introduction to Analysis). A study will be made of functions, sequences, limits, continuity, differentiability, integration and vectors. Prerequisites: Mathematics 24 and Mathematics 33.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

MUSIC

PROFESSORS: DR. YODER, MRS. LYNCH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. HORTON, MRS. HORTON, MR. STONE

INSTRUCTORS: MISS MATTHEWS, MISS ELMORE, MR. SCHOLZ, MR. GATCH

Requirements for a Major in Music: 38 semester hours including music courses 11, 12, 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 41 and 42. Students must study their major instrument each semester, and a second instrument two semesters unless exempt by passing a second instrument proficiency examination. Additional study without credit will be required if the student has not passed the second instrument examination after two semesters of study. One half recital the junior year and a full recital the senior year are required of all majors earning the Bachelor of Arts degree. Choir or Band participation without credit is required each semester.

Requirements for Major in Music Education: Students who desire certification for teaching follow the above requirements for applied music; however the student may not enroll in applied music during the semester devoted to the education block except by permission. Course requirements are the same as for the major in music except that only one semester of counterpoint is required. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, vocal and keyboard majors will complete the following music methods courses: 24, 25, 26, 27 and 53. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, instrumental majors will complete the following music methods courses: 26, 38, 39, 43, 44, 45 and 53. Instrumental majors will substitute 38 instead of 36. All Music Education majors must complete the following Education courses in order to become eligible for certification for teaching: 21, 22, 41 and 53. Music Education majors are required to prepare a joint recital but are encouraged to present a full recital.

Church Music: Students who elect to concentrate study in the area of Church Music follow the major in music curriculum and may choose electives from any area of study or from the following elective music courses: 23, 28, 46, 47 and 57.

Prerequisites: Music 11 and 12 are prerequisites to all music courses excepting the following: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 23 and applied music. Music 21 and 22 are prerequisites to the following music courses: 31, 32, 41 and 42. Non-Music majors who desire college credit in applied music must request credit through the Head of the Music Department. Ordinarily, a non-music student who has previously studied the instrument displays proficiency or who has general knowledge of music theory will be eligible to receive college credit.

Course requirements outside of the major area are listed under the General Requirements for Degrees, with the exception of General Psychology which is required of all music majors.

1-2. Pre-Harmony.—A presentation of the basic elements of music adapted to students who are not adequately prepared to enter Music Theory I

Two hours a week, two semesters.

No credit.

11-12. Music Theory I.—The basic rudiments of music, including scales, intervals, chords, sight-singing, melodic and harmonic dictation and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

13. Music Appreciation.—An introduction to music through an understanding of the principles of form and the elements of music. Various styles and types of vocal and instrumental works are studied. (Not offered to music majors)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21-22. Music Theory II.—A continuation of Music Theory 11 and 12, including advanced modulation, chromatic harmony, seventh chords and altered chords. Continuation of sight-singing, dictation and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

23. Hymnology.—An historical and systematic study of poetic hymns and metrical tunes including the contributions of various ethnic groups to the body of Christian hymnody.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

24. Woodwind Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of woodwind instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

25. Brass and Percussion Methods.—Groups instruction in the teaching, structure and use of brass and percussion instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

26. String Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of stringed instruments.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

27. Music Methods in the Elementary School.—A course dealing with techniques of teaching, and musical materials appropriate to the elementary grades. Deals with methods of teaching songs, creativity, rhythmic studies, the child's voice, music theory in the grades, directed listening, performance on simple instruments and supervision of musical activities in the classroom.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

28. Survey of Church Music.—A study of place of music in the life of the Church from earliest Biblical accounts to the present including a complete study of the music of the liturgy.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Modal Counterpoint.—A study of the vocal contrapuntal technique of the sixteenth century, with exercises in the five species.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Tonal Counterpoint.—A study of eighteenth century contrapuntal technique with emphasis on the style of Bach.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33-34. History of Music.—The development of western musical culture from its origins to the present, with an emphasis on the chronological growth of musical concepts through the study of the techniques and compositions of the various periods of history.

Three hours a week, two semesters

Six semester hours.

35. Conducting.—A study of basic conducting techniques.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

36. Choral Materials.—A general survey of choral materials from the Renaissance to the present, with special attention given to appropriate music for Junior and Senior High School groups and church choirs.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Music for the Classroom Teacher.—The methods and materials used by the classroom teacher in presenting music in the elementary grades. Includes a review of the basic rudiments of music. (Not offered to music majors).

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Instrumental Conducting.—A detail study of conducting as applied to instrumental ensembles with laboratory work in small ensembles and band.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

39. The Marching Band.—The organization, function and techniques of the marching band.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

41. Orchestration.—The study of instrumental ranges and techniques coupled with arranging for orchestra, band and heterogeneous groups.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours

42. Form and Analysis.—A study of small and large forms with analysis of works from choral, piano and symphonic literature.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Minor Instrument Classes in Woodwind Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of woodwinds. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.

a. Flute

b. Oboe and Bassoon

c. Clarinet and Saxophone

Two hours a week, one semester each.

One semester hour each.

44. Minor Instrument Classes in Brass Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of the brass instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.

a. Trumpet and French Horn

b. Trombone

c. Baritone and Tuba

Two hours a week, one semester each.

One semester hour each.

45. Minor Instrument Class in Percussion.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of percussion instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

46. Choral Literature.—A study of choral compositions from Palestrina to the present with special attention given to the larger forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Church Music Administration.—A study of the operation of a church-wide music program including the graded choir program, music budget, integrated educational program and music materials.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Music Methods and Materials.—The organization and maintenance of a music program in the public schools, including a study of materials and methods appropriate for teaching in the vocal or instrumental fields. Correlated with Education 53-MU.

Three hours a week, one-half semester.

One and one-half semester hours.

57. Supervised Field Work in Church Music.—Practical work in maintaining a church music program, under faculty supervision.
Scheduling to be arranged.

APPLIED MUSIC

Private instruction is provided on the instruments listed below. Students who follow the major in music curriculum and receive two one-half hour lessons per week, will earn two hours of college credit each semester. A maximum of twenty hours of applied music may count toward graduation. Non-music students may receive credit for applied music on same basis as music majors by securing the permission of the Head of the Music Department.

- 11a, 12a, 13a, 14a.—Piano
- 11b, 12b, 13b, 14b.—Organ
- 11c, 12c, 13c, 14c.—Voice
- 11d, 12d, 13d, 14d.—Trumpet
- 11e, 12e, 13e, 14e.—French horn
- 11f, 12f, 13f, 14f.—Trombone
- 11g, 12g, 13g, 14g.—Baritone
- 11h, 12h, 13h, 14h.—Tuba
- 11i, 12i, 13i, 14i.—Flute
- 11j, 12j, 13j, 14j.—Oboe
- 11k, 12k, 13k, 14k.—Bassoon
- 11l, 12l, 13l, 14l.—Clarinet
- 11m, 12m, 13m, 14m.—Saxophone
- 11n, 12n, 13n, 14n.—Percussion

ENSEMBLES

3. Touring Choir.—Membership open to all students by consent of the director, based on competitive tryouts. Concerts on campus and out of town including an extended Spring Tour. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

4. Concert Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

5. Collegiate Choir.—Open to all freshmen students and others who do not elect to sing in the touring choir. Concerts limited primarily to on campus performances. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

6. Brass Ensemble.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

7. Chamber Choir.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Emphasis on vocal music appropriate for small groups.

No credit.

8. Stage Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

No credit.

NATURAL SCIENCE

PROFESSORS: MRS. PROFFIT, DR. JUNG

A candidate for the Bachelor's degree in a natural science may major in Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Science Education, or Medical Technology. The requirements for majors in Biology and Chemistry are stated in the appropriate places.

A candidate for the degree in Medical Technology must satisfactorily complete the three-year program prescribed below and an additional year at either Watts Hospital in Durham, Rex Hospital in Raleigh, or Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Winston-Salem. Upon successful completion of the four-year program, the candidate is awarded the degree from Campbell College. Certification follows after satisfactory completion of an examination administered by the Registry of Medical Technologists. A program for pre-medical and pre-dental students may be arranged through consultation with the heads of the science departments.

The fourth year is twelve months clinical work in Watts Hospital, Rex Hospital or Baptist Hospital.

Electives in the third year could be chosen from science courses in either Biology or Chemistry, or from courses in the Humanities. It is recommended that the student choose the major portion of the electives in the field of the Humanities.

BIOLOGY

DR. L. S. BEARD, Head of the Department

Biology 11-12 is prerequisite to all higher courses in Biology.

The general requirements for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13 and Physics 11-12. Students contemplating careers as professional biologists should elect as many as possible of the following: Chemistry 15, 27, 28, Mathematics 22, 23, 24, and Geology 21, 22. The major in Biology will consist of a minimum of twenty-four semester hours, exclusive of Biology 11-12, and will include eight hours in each of the following series:

- (1) 21 and 22
- (2) 23, 24, 35, and 36
- (3) 31, 34, 41, and 42

The requirements for a major in Science Education with a concentration in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13, Physics 11-12, Geology 21, 22, and sixteen semester hours in Biology, exclusive of Biology 11-12. Biology 21, 22, 23, and 24 are recommended for fulfillment of the requirement in Biology. The student is encouraged to elect Chemistry 17, Physics 21, and additional courses in Biology.

11-12. *Fundamentals of Biology.—An introductory study of structure, processes, principles, and concepts in Biology. The first semester is devoted to studies in cell biology and organismic biology pertaining to higher plants, animals, and man, and the second semester to studies in heredity, evolution, systematic biology, and ecology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. *Morphology of Non-Vascular Plants.—A comparative study of structure in bacteria, fungi, algae, and bryophytes, with regard to function and phylogeny.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Morphology of Vascular Plants.—A comparative survey of vascular plants, dealing with their structure, reproduction, and development.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Invertebrate Zoology.—A phylogenetic approach to the biology of invertebrate groups.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Vertebrate Zoology.—A study of vertebrate evolution, functional morphology, natural history, and distribution. Laboratory work is devised to illustrate principles in the above areas, emphasizing field studies, classification, and examination of representative types.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Ecology.—A study of principles and concepts concerning the interactions of organisms with one another and with their environments. The laboratory consists of detailed analyses of local biotic communities.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Microbiology.—A course treating the fundamental aspects of the biology of microorganisms, primarily bacteria. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Two lecture and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

35. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy.—A comparative study of the organ systems of vertebrates. Selected types are dissected in the laboratory.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

36. Vertebrate Embryology.—A study of embryological development in vertebrates. Prerequisite, Biology 24 or 35.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

41. Animal Physiology.—A study of functions and processes in animals. Prerequisites, Biology 23, 24 or 35, Chemistry 11, 13, and Physics 11-12. Chemistry 27, 28 is recommended.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

42. Genetics.—An analysis of principles and concepts in heredity. Prerequisites: Chemistry 11, 13 and a minimum of sixteen semester hours in Biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

CHEMISTRY

DR. JAMES M. JUNG, Head of the Department

Requirements for a major in Chemistry: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Chemistry must satisfactorily complete Chemistry 11, 13, 15, 16, 27, 28, and courses numbered above Chemistry 28 to total a minimum of thirty-six semester hours. Admission to any class is conditioned by satisfactory grades in prerequisite courses, and registration for upper division classes must be approved by the Head of the Department.

Those who plan to pursue Chemistry as a profession should complete Chemistry 29 and 31, in addition to one year of Physics, and Mathematics through Calculus. A reading knowledge of German and French is highly recommended.

Requirements for certification: Those who seek certification in an area of science to teach in public high schools, and choose Chemistry as an area of concentration, should satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours in this area, and six semester hours in each of the following: Physics, Earth Science, Biology, and Mathematics. To meet the minimum certification requirements in the area of Chemistry, the following program is recommended: Chemistry 11, 12, 13, 15, and two courses numbered above Chemistry 15.

11. General Chemistry.—A broad overview of the various divisions of chemistry; the basic laws and fundamentals of the science. The occurrence, preparation, and properties of the more common elements are covered. No credit toward meeting the general requirements in Natural Science will be given for Chemistry 11 until either Chemistry 12 or 13 is satisfactorily completed.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

12. General Chemistry.—A continuation of Chemistry 11. This is a terminal course for those desiring but one year of chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

13. Qualitative Analysis.—The fundamental principles, problems, and methods of separation and identification of the common cations and anion. Prerequisite, Chemistry 11.

Two lectures and four laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

15. Elementary Quantitative Analysis.—A course in principles and methods of volumetric and gravimetric analysis. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

16. Quantitative Analysis.—A continuation of volumetric and gravimetric methods, and applications of colorimetry and chromatography. Prerequisite, Chemistry 15.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

17. Elementary Organic Chemistry.—An introductory course designed for nurses, medical technology students and others who desire a semester of organic chemistry. Prerequisite, one year of college chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

27, 28. Organic Chemistry.—A mechanistic approach to the chemistry of aliphatic and aromatic organic compounds. Special topics include stereochemistry, carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13. Chemistry 15-16 are highly recommended as prerequisites.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

29. Qualitative Organic Analysis.—The systematic identification of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28.

Two lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Inorganic Chemistry.—A course dealing with advanced topics in inorganic chemistry. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 15.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Physiological Chemistry.—Emphasis on the chemistry of foods, drugs, vitamins and hormones as related to the life processes. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Biochemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34, 35. Physical Chemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 15-16, a year of Physics, and Mathematics through Integral Calculus.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

37, 38. Chemical Research.—Open only to chemistry majors in their junior and senior years by permission of the instructor. The work may be a research problem or a thorough study of some phase of chemistry. Primarily a laboratory course.

Credit to be arranged with Instructor.

41. Organic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28. Chemistry 29 is recommended as a prerequisite, or co-requisite.

One semester.

Two semester hours.

42. Literature Seminar.—An upper division course for chemistry majors.

Two semester hours.

GEOLOGY

DR. C. EDWARD HOWARD, Head of the Department

A candidate for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Geology must satisfactorily complete thirty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22. The candidate must also complete Mathematics through Calculus, Chemistry 11 and 13, and eight semester hours of Biology or Physics with both courses being advised. Courses in Engineering Drawing and Inorganic Chemistry are recommended as electives.

Students in Secondary Education who choose Earth Science as an area of concentration must satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22, and a minimum of six semester hours in each of the following areas: Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, and Biology.

21. Physical Geology.—A study of earth materials and landforms and the processes at work upon and within the earth. In the laboratory, emphasis will be placed on the identification of the common minerals and basic rock types and the use of topographic maps. A partial list of topics includes: geologic time, igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic geology; geologic structures; the action of wind, water, and glaciers.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Historical Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21. A history of the earth concerned with the changes in the earth's crust and the life that has existed upon that crust. Laboratory work will include a study of fossils and an introduction to geologic maps.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Elements of Crystallography and Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 21 or eight hours of Chemistry. An introduction to crystallography followed by a study of the physical and chemical properties of minerals. A number of mineral species will be studied in detail. Determinative methods will include blowpipe analysis.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Optical Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. A study of the optical properties of minerals with the aid of the petrographic microscope.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. General Petrology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23, Geology 24 is also recommended. A study of the mode of occurrence, composition, classification, and origin of the igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks and their relations to geological processes and earth history.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Invertebrate Paleontology.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. The systematic classification of invertebrate fossils, their geologic range, distribution and probable habitat, and the use of index-fossils in age determination of geologic formations.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Structural Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 21 and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is also recommended. The recognition, description, and classification of the structures or arrangements of the rock masses in the earth's crust, and a study of the processes which produce them. In the laboratory graphic methods of solving problems of structural geology will be used.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Introduction to Field Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 34 or permission of the instructor and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is recommended. Study and practice in the basic principles of geologic mapping.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Principles of Stratigraphy.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. A study of the processes of formation, composition, sequence, and correlation of the stratified rocks of the earth's crust.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Geomorphology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21 or Geography 13. A study of the origin, evolution and classification of land forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. Principles of Economic Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. The occurrence, genesis, and the distribution of important metallic, non-metallic, and mineral fuel deposits.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

GEOGRAPHY

13. Physical Geography.—An introduction to astronomy with an emphasis on the earth and the solar system followed by a study of climates, soils, and the processes involved in shaping the natural landscape.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

14. Religional Economic Geography.—A study of the continents including the geography of man's agricultural, industrial, mining and commercial activities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Geomorphology.—See Geology 42.

PHYSICS

11, 12. General Physics.—Prerequisite Mathematics 11-12. A study of general physics with emphasis on applications. The course includes demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory work. First semester: mechanics, sound and heat. Second semester: electricity, light, and modern physics.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. Descriptive Astronomy.—A brief descriptive course in principles, theories, and techniques of astronomy. Prerequisite: Mathematics 11-12. General physics is also highly recommended.

Two hours lecture, two hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

GENERAL SCIENCE

13, 14. General Science for Elementary Teachers.—A study of the principles of the basic sciences. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Eight semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

PROFESSOR: Dr. Hooks

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: MR. McCALL

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. ROBERTS, MR. COSTNER, MRS. NEWCOMER

INSTRUCTORS: MR. COLE, MRS. LLOYD, MR. DAVIS

Philosophy of the Department: The department strives to provide skilled leadership and opportunities for students to participate in wholesome educational activities. The program is organized to meet the needs and interests of the students in the areas of class instruction, intramural and extramural participation, recreation, and intercollegiate athletics. In addition, a professional preparation program is offered for students who choose Physical Education and Health as a profession.

Requirements for a major in Physical Education and Health: A candidate for a B.S. degree with a major in Health and Physical Education must satisfactorily complete 36 semester hours of Health and Physical Education in addition to Health 11 and Physical Education 11, 12, 21, and 22.

The student is expected to complete the freshman and sophomore general education requirements in the first two years of the four year program. In addition to the major program, each student is required to develop competencies in a second teaching area. This involves 24 or more semester hours of course work according to the needs of the individual student. Therefore, most of the elective courses should be chosen from the courses available in the second teaching area.

All Health and Physical Education major students must complete Health 21, 22, 37, 42, and 43, and Physical Education 30, 31, 32, 35, 38, and 45. In addition, the men are required to complete Physical Education 36, 46, and 48. The women must complete Physical Education 39, 47, and 49.

HEALTH

11. Health.—A study of vital phenomena and their application to the human organism. Emphasis includes fundamental biological facts of human anatomy and physiology, personal and community health, education for family living, health hazards, and mental health.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. Applied Anatomy and Physiology.—A study of the structure and functions of the body systems in relation to the field of Health and Physical Education. May serve as an elective for pre dental, pre medical, and pre nursing students by permission of the Director of Physical Education. Two semester sequence may begin either semester.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Elementary School Health Program.—An investigation of the principles, practices, and procedures of teaching health in the elementary school with emphasis upon improving the health of the child through healthful school living, health services, and health instruction.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Safety, First Aid, and Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries.—Instruction includes discussion and practical application of the accepted principles of Red Cross first aid and the theory and practice of athletic training and conditioning. Emphasis is placed upon safety and preventive measures with prompt treatment of athletic injuries.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Individual Health and Physical Education.—Prerequisites: Health 21, and 22.—A study of the program of individual physical education for secondary schools including physiology of exercise and kinesiology as applied to pupils with various limitations.

Three hours lecture and one hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. School Health Education.—A study of principles, practices, and procedures of teaching and coordinating the school health program with the total school program at the secondary level.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours

44. First Aid for Elementary Teachers.—A study and application of the basic principles of first aid in relation to elementary school classroom and playground situations.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

30. Principles of Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to the fields of health education, physical education, and recreation including the historical, philosophical, and scientific background, training and qualifications of personnel, and professional opportunities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Organization and Administration of Health and Physical Education.—An orientation to policies, standards, procedures, and problems pertaining to organizing and administering health and physical education programs with special emphasis in the areas of administrative duties of teachers and directors, curriculum development, intramural programs, school health programs, and the duties of the coach and athletic director.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Measurement and Evaluation in Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to elementary statistical procedures as they relate to constructing, administering, scoring and grading tests and measures in health and physical education. Practical application of tests of knowledge, physical fitness, general motor ability, sports skills, and other areas will be stressed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Physical Education in the Elementary School.—An investigation of the principles, practices and procedures of teaching physical education in the elementary school with emphasis on curriculum development and methods and materials involved in teaching.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

Professional Preparation Activity Courses.—The following are laboratory courses for physical education majors with emphasis on teaching and coaching methods and materials, fundamental skills, rules, etiquette, selection and care of equipment, history, and strategy as they apply to each activity.

35. Methods and Materials in Tennis, Badminton, and Golf.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

36. Methods and Materials in Football, Basketball and Weight Training and Isometric Exercises.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

38. Group Games of Low Organization and Rhythms.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

39. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Field Hockey, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

45. Methods and Materials in Track and Field, Aquatics, and Sports Officiating.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

46. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Wrestling, and Baseball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

47. Methods and Materials in Softball and Basketball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

48. Methods and Materials in Volleyball, Soccer, Speedball, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

49. Methods and Materials in Soccer, Speedball, and Volleyball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

Freshmen Required Activity Courses.—Two semesters of Physical Education are required of all students. Instruction is offered in history, care of equipment and facilities, fundamental skills, and elementary or advanced strategy in each activity.

Courses 11, 12, 21, and 22 will consist of combinations of the following activities for men and women. The department recommends a balanced selection of team and individual activities.

Men		Women
Archery	Soccer	Archery	Rhythms
Badminton	Softball	Badminton	Soccer
Basketball	Tennis	Basketball	Softball
Golf	Track and Field	Field Hockey	Tennis
Physical Conditioning	Touch Football	Golf	Tumbling
Recreational Games	Tumbling	Recreational Games	Volleyball
Rhythms	Volleyball
	Wrestling

Uniforms for Activity Classes.—All students in required physical education activity classes must wear the regulation uniform prescribed for the activity in which they are engaged. Physical Education major students must wear the uniforms designated for the professional preparation program. Uniforms may be purchased at the College Book Store.

INDIVIDUAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Students with limitations are assigned to classes in which they may participate according to their capacities. The department strives to work with students and physicians in order to offer satisfying experiences through physical activities. Course offerings are based upon the recommendations of physicians in relation to the student needs. Where conditions warrant, a student may be exempted by joint action of the Dean of Instruction and the Director of Physical Education.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

PROFESSORS: DR. BUNN, DR. Langston

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. Cockburn, Dr. Keyser, Dr. Murell,

MR. NEWTON, DR. WELLBORN

ASSOCIATE: MR. LOWRIE

The specific aim of the Department of Religion is to seek self-consciously and directly to study and declare the reality of God as He is disclosed through scripture, proclaimed in the church and believed by Christians for the express purpose of shaping character in obedience to truth. The specific aim of the division of Philosophy is to search for truth through logical reasoning.

Purposes and programs: The department serves four distinct purposes. One, it offers an entire year of Biblical Studies in order to acquaint every student with the demands and promises of God disclosed in the literature of the Old and New Testaments. Rel. 11 (or 13-14) and 12 (or 23-24) fulfill the general Religion requirements for all degree programs. Two, it offers numerous elective courses to all students, especially those interested in the Liberal Arts. Any student concerned with deepening his knowledge of religious and philosophical beliefs will discover these courses contribute significantly to a constructive and critical vision of human existence. Three, it offers a Major in Religion to any student interested in concentrating in the Liberal Arts. The versatility of this major permits the student to take numerous electives in the related humanities. Four, it offers pre-professional and professional programs to students pursuing a church-related vocation. The Concentration in Religious Education prepares a student for either graduate study in this field or immediate entrance to a church educational career. The Pre-Seminary Block in Religion is designed to equip a student for advanced studies in a Theological Seminary.

All students receiving grants from the school because of their church-related vocations commitment are required to take one of these programs.

Requirements for a Major in Religion: 30 semester hours to be distributed among five areas.

Area One: Biblical Studies, courses numbered 11, 12, 13-14, 23-24, 31-32, 33, 35, 36, 45.

Area Two: Religion Seminar, courses numbered 51-52.

Area Three: Christian Thought, courses numbered 25, 26, 44, 47.

Area Four: History of Christianity, courses numbered 37, 38, 48.

Area Five: Religion and Culture, Religious Education courses numbered 25, 26, 36, 45.

A major is required to take twelve hours in Area One, six hours in Area Two, three hours in Area Three, three hours in Area Four, three hours in Area Five, and three additional hours from Area Three, Four, or Five. A major must also fulfill his language requirements in either German or French.

Requirements for a Concentration in Religious Education: 36 semester hours, including 12 hours in Biblical Studies; 18 hours in Religious Education courses; and 6 hours chosen from Education 31, Education 55, or the Department of Religion and Philosophy.

Pre-Seminary Block in Religion: 24 semester hours. The following courses are required: Religion 13-14, 23-24, 31-32, 51-52. At the conclusion of the sophomore year the student must pass an examination on 13-14 and 23-24, as well as an English proficiency test. Before graduation a comprehensive examination on the entire Block will be administered and each student will be informed by letter of any deficiencies in his preparation. Students taking this Block are encouraged to Major in English, History, Social Science or Religion.

RELIGION

11. Introduction to the Old Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with the necessary framework of reference for Biblical study. Attention is given to the transmission of the text, to the geographical, historical and archaeological background of Scripture. The Old Testament is then approached from the standpoint of its history, literature and faith. (Religion 13-14 may be substituted for 11.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Introduction to the New Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with New Testament times and New Testament Literature. Special consideration is given to the life and message of Jesus and the emergence of the Early Church. (Religion 23-24 may be substituted for 12.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13-14. Old Testament Survey.—An intensive survey of the Old Testament preceded by a summary introduction to archaeology, geography, and the transmission of the text. The Old Testament is approached from the standpoint of its history, literature and theology. (13-14 is not open to students who have received credit for Religion 11.)

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

23-24. New Testament Survey. A comprehensive survey of the books of the New Testament preceded by a summary introduction to such matters as the history of New Testament times, the geography of Palestine, and Biblical criticism. (23-24 is not open to students who have received credit for Religion 12.)

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

25. Basic Christian Beliefs.—An introduction to the study of important Christian teachings concerning God, Jesus Christ, man, sin, salvation, etc. The course is designed primarily to aid the student in evaluating his own religious concepts. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. Basic Christian Ethics.—A systematic study of the ethical implications of the Christian religion. Attention is given to the historical development of the Christian ethic, as well as to the social implications of Christianity in selected problem areas. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31-32. Introduction to New Testament Greek.—A study of New Testament Greek (Koiné) for the beginning student. Selected readings from the Greek text. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Prophetic Literature of the Old Testament.—A study of the times, activities and messages of selected prophets preceded by a general introduction to the development of Hebrew prophetic consciousness. Prerequisite: Rel. 11 or 13-14.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. The Teachings of Jesus.—An intensive study of the teachings of Jesus as presented in the Gospels, with special emphasis upon the principles of Biblical interpretation and a careful exposition of selected passages. Prerequisite: Rel. 12 or 23-24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. The Epistles of Paul.—An intensive study of the Pauline Epistles, with special emphasis upon Paul's thought and a careful exposition of selected passages. Prerequisite: Rel. 12 or 23-24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

37. Patristic and Medieval Christianity.—An historical study of the development of the institutional structures, the worship life and the religious thought of the Christian Church from the New Testament through the Middle Ages. Prerequisite: six hour of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Reformation and Modern Christianity.—An historical study of the men and movements within the Christian Church since the time of Luther, with special emphasis upon the diverse theologies which shape the American scene. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. Christianity and the State.—A study of the ethical implications of the Christian faith in the area of government and politics. Attention will be given to the historical development of church-state relations, as well as the Biblical basis for a Christian doctrine of the state. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Ancient Near Eastern Archaeology.—A comparative survey of the origin and development of cultures in the Indus, Mesopotamian, and Nile Valleys. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Contemporary Theology.—An introduction to the major theological literature of our time. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the central questions posed by this literature so that he may become constructively engaged in the contemporary dialogue. Prerequisite: either Rel. 25 or 38.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

48. Christian Missions.—A course designed to acquaint the student with the Biblical, historical and current missionary principles and practices. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

51-52. Religion Seminar.—The seminar, with guided reading, independent research, and lecture seeks to orient the student in major Christian traditions, theological problems, and Biblical criticism. Prerequisite: Pre-seminary students or Religion majors only.

Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

[To be offered in 1966-67.]

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

25. Survey of Religious Education.—An introduction to the principles upon which a program of religious education is based with an appraisal of the various agencies for carrying on the program. Designed to orient those who are emphasizing religious education and to prepare Christian laymen for more effective service in the church.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours.

26. Educational Organizations.—A study of church organizations and methods used in promoting a well-rounded program of religious education through the church. The course consists of the development of a church calendar with an understanding of the purpose of the various activities which should be included. Methods of promoting such a program will be discussed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Developmental Psychology.—A study of the various age groups from infant through old age. The unfolding life in its physical, mental, social and spiritual aspects is discussed along with the developmental tasks which confront each age group. Prerequisite: A course in general psychology.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

DEPARTMENTAL SEMINAR

Admission by invitation of the department to majors only on the following conditions: (1) an average of "B" on all courses attempted, and specifically on all courses in the social sciences; (2) completion of at least 75 semester hours of college work, including at least 21 hours in the social sciences; (3) the prior agreement of a member of the department to supervise the candidate's seminar paper. Work of the seminar includes readings and discussion. In addition, each student writes a major research paper under the supervision of a member of the department. The topic is chosen with the approval of the student's faculty advisor and the director of the seminar. On the student's record, the seminar will be listed as "75" preceded by the name of the social science discipline in which the student is taking his field of concentration. Ordinarily offered each semester.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

Nowhere in all human experience is there to be found an exact counterpart to life on a college campus. Properly planned and self directed, the varied activities on a college campus provide a student with some of the happiest, most meaningful, and decisive experiences of a lifetime; otherwise, this same period, misused and misdirected by an immature, mischief-bent student, can mark the beginning of his downfall. Particularly for the Freshman, away for the first time from the influences of a good home, his choice of friends, his selection of amusements, and his use of spare time, in a large measure will determine success or failure in college. Obviously, the wise student will budget well his spare time, so as to participate in a variety of valuable experiences from a broad range of student activities.

Religious Activities

Most unwise is the student who neglects the cultivation of his religious life in college. Under the unifying efforts of the Baptist Student Union, the college provides a full range of activities for the student. Other denominational groups include the Canterbury Club, the Methodist Student Movement, the Newman Club, and the Westminster Fellowship. The college sponsors brief chapel programs, with compulsory student attendance, five days a week. Religious Focus Week is conducted each year. Attendance upon church services is encouraged.

Publications

Students, under faculty supervision, publish a weekly newspaper, Creek Pebbles, and a comprehensive college yearbook, The Pine Burr. Together, these publications afford useful and entertaining journalistic experience, while preserving an interesting portrayal of student life.

Music and Dramatics

In order to meet the musical interest of the student body, the Campbell College Music Department sponsors six musical organizations. Instrumentalists may perform with the Concert Band, the Brass Ensemble and the Stage Band. In vocal music, participation is offered in the Touring Choir, the Collegiate Choir and the Chamber Choir. Secular and sacred concerts are performed on and off campus throughout the year.

The Campbell Players, a dramatics club, regularly present two or more full-length productions during the year. Both the dramatics and the musical groups participate in the annual speech festival of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Speech Association.

Clubs

Some thirty campus clubs promote a wide range of student interests, such as literature, religion, dramatics, languages, scholarship, athletics, chess. Such activities give opportunity for strengthening grasp of subject matter, broadening experiences of cultural value, and developing companionships begun in the various classrooms.

Intramural

An extensive intramural program, open to all students, supplements the formal curriculum in physical education at Campbell. Spirited participation in touch football, basketball, volleyball and softball enlivens the campus and encourages friendly rivalry among the residence halls. Lake Small, on college land near the campus proper, affords opportunity for swimming.

Intercollegiate

Campbell teams compete in intercollegiate basketball and baseball among the major sports, and also in golf, track, soccer, and tennis.

POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT

Traditionally this institution has believed in student participation in government, having inaugurated even as a junior college with a high school department, a faculty-student form of administration. The success of any form of government, however, depends upon whether integrity, excellence of character, sense of what is right, courage and honor govern the decisions and actions of the group governed. As a senior college with more mature student leadership, greater participation in the regulation of their own affairs is accorded students, commensurate with their assumption of responsibility for the preservation of the established aims and objectives of the college.

Hopefully, students at Campbell will through closer understanding of administrative aims realize increasingly that rules are enacted solely to protect and augment individual rights and welfare. After all, the purpose of even restrictive legislation pertaining to harmful self-indulgences and group violations of public conscience, is the establishment of Christian standards of conduct and enhancement of the institution's service to student groups.

Rear View South Dormitory for Men

Front View Strickland Dormitory for Women

John S. Pearson Memorial Infirmary

The Student Government of Campbell College proposes to promote good citizenship and school loyalty by precept and example, to foster a better relationship and understanding between all groups associated in any way with the college, to forestall any unwholesome conditions, to make adjustments in the case of individuals or groups who violate the accepted standards of conduct, and to project proposals of amendments and improvements in the existing regulations and policies for the benefit of the college.

The Student Government Council is composed of duly elected student members, as provided for in the Student Handbook, and the Dean of the College, Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and two faculty members appointed by the President of the College, serving as advisors.

Two auxiliary councils; the Woman's Executive Council and the Men's Executive Council, share with this council the responsibility for and jurisdiction over their respective campuses. These two executive councils are responsible to the Student Government Association.

In each of the several residence halls on both the woman's campus and the men's campus, councils known locally as house councils are charged with the responsibility, along with the dormitory supervisor, of dealing with less serious infractions, and enforcement of dormitory regulations. The several councils are responsible to the Executive Council of that particular campus.

In accordance with the traditions and policies of the College, gambling, stealing, use of intoxicants, and immorality are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Such action will be recorded on the student's permanent record and the student's parent or guardian will be advised of such action.

SOME RULES OF GOVERNMENT APPLICABLE TO ALL STUDENTS

1. Any student enrolled in Campbell College who engages in activities or conducts himself, either on the campus or away from the college community, in such a manner as to reflect adversely on himself or the college, is subject to disciplinary action or expulsion. Students en route to and from the college are subject to the regulations of the college.
2. In accordance with the traditions and policies of the college, gambling, stealing and use of intoxicants are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Penalties for such infractions will be recorded on the student's permanent record and reported to his or her parents or guardian.

3. Dishonesty in all forms is destructive to individual and social security and cannot become a part of any sound preparation for successful living. Freedoms and privileges in college life can be granted and preserved only upon the basis of individual and group honor. Cheating on the part of students, whether in quoting passages from others without proper acknowledgment in written assignment or in obtaining secretly disallowed information on examinations, condemns a student as dishonest. Students and faculty are under obligation to report such infractions either to the Student Government Association or to the Dean of the college.
4. Attendance at Chapel, Church School and worship services is considered a part of the student's obligation for his own Christian training. Attendance upon brief chapel programs five days each week is compulsory.
5. Hazing is a violation of local and State statutes. Students found guilty of participating in conduct normally interpreted as hazing will be subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government Association.
6. The use of profanity is everywhere obnoxious in the best society and is therefore a violation of our rules of conduct.
7. Smoking is discouraged. Smoking in classrooms, auditorium, cafeteria, and library is not permitted.
8. Students are warned that the possession of firecrackers and explosives is a violation of State and local regulations and will not be permitted on the college campus.
9. For the safety of the student, and for the convenience of the college, the student's parents, and those who might call or visit the campus, all boarding students should advise the dormitory proctor when they are leaving the campus. Additional information concerning such matters will be found in the Student Handbook.
10. Any student withdrawing from the college without the approval of the Dean of the College, the Business Manager, Librarian, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women, and the Registrar, forfeits the right to an honorable dismissal. Request for withdrawal must be presented in writing and signed by parent and guardian. Such requests must be submitted at least twenty-four hours before the proposed departure of the student.
11. The best interest of the group demands that student organizations and groups request permission in advance from the Committee of Deans to hold dinners, and socials away from the college community.

12. The organization of social fraternities and sororities is not in keeping with the tradition and philosophy of Campbell College. In compliance with the announced wishes of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the college does not permit dancing on college property, or elsewhere under its auspices.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING USE OF COLLEGE PROPERTY

1. All non-resident students who do not establish a home in the local area will be considered boarding students so far as general student regulations and activities are concerned.
2. Students responsible for damage to college property are required to pay for it.
3. The occupant or occupants of a dormitory room are held responsible for good housekeeping procedures. For health and sanitary reasons the keeping of animals and pets of any kind in residence halls is denied.
4. Dormitory occupants are expected to supply all such personal necessities as pillows, two or three changes of sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, towels, bathcloths, etc. All dormitories have single beds. The construction of the newer dormitories makes the hanging of curtains and draperies undesirable and difficult.
5. Radios and record players are permitted so long as they do not interfere with the normal routine of others. Students should not bring television sets since most of the dormitories have a television in the lounge.
6. Short wave radios and similar equipment may not be installed in the dormitories.
7. The more recently constructed buildings have built-in bookshelves, study tables, study and reading lamps. Those living in the older buildings might find it convenient to bring with them a study lamp. All dormitory rooms are supplied with waste baskets, brooms, dust-pans, etc.

REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO POSSESSION AND USE OF AUTOMOBILES

1. The privilege of having a vehicle on the campus will be under the provision of a merit system. If the boarding student fails to meet the stated standards, he or she will be denied the privilege of having the car until the conditions have been met. No refund nor adjustment of fees will be made should he or she be found ineligible to continue to keep the car on the campus.

2. Registration of vehicles will be conducted as a part of the college registration process at the beginning of the semester. A car acquired or brought to the campus after registration must be registered promptly. Additional information concerning the privileges of having an automobile on campus will be found in the Student Handbook.
3. Each vehicle used or parked on the campus must be registered and must display an official parking sticker. The person to whom the registration sticker is issued will be held responsible for traffic violations involving that vehicle.

OTHER INFORMATION

1. Those coming to the area by plane would normally arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. The nearest Atlantic Coast-line Railway Station is Dunn, and the most convenient Seaboard Airline Railway Station is Raleigh. Bus schedules from Raleigh and Fayetteville provide access to Buies Creek.
2. The local post office is situated on the college campus. Students may secure a post office box or pick up their mail general delivery. All correspondence directed to students in care of the college should be delivered with no appreciable delay.
3. Those desiring additional information on rules governing student life and student activities should direct a written statement to, or visit with, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.
4. Students convicted of serious infractions of school regulations forfeit their eligibility for positions on the B.S.U. Council, the dormitory council, the executive council, or the Student Government and other places of responsibility in extra-curricular activities and membership in the Epsilon Pi Eta.
5. Students are responsible for compliance with policies stated in the annual Student Handbook, which is a supplement to the catalogue. The Administration endeavors to supply each student seeking admission a copy of the Student Handbook prior to the date of registration.

CLASS ATTENDANCE REGULATIONS

Campbell College believes that every class hour is important. It keeps attendance records for all class and laboratory sessions and for the daily chapel periods. All absences are recorded on individual student cards in the Registrar's office.

In order to allow students some latitude in attending to important personal matters, during a full semester two unexcused absences from any class, except laboratory, and six unexcused absences from chapel may be allowed Freshmen and Sophomores who have been admitted without restrictions. Students admitted on probation may not take unexcused absences from any class. They are allowed the six cuts from chapel during one semester.

Some students are admitted on academic probation. They are not privileged to be absent from classes without excuse for the duration of the probation. Occasionally, a student is permitted to enroll after the opening weeks of the term. All late enrollees forfeit the privilege of absences if they have not attended the first five meetings of a class.

Should a student enroll at the regularly appointed time and because of adjustment in schedule fail to meet a class prior to the fifth meeting of that class, the student will be considered ineligible for unexcused absences in that particular class.

A student who has been absent for valid reasons may submit a request for excused absences in the Registrar's office. To receive consideration, such requests must be filed not later than seven days following student's return to class. Whenever possible, the student should anticipate his absence and receive approval from the Registrar and notify his teachers.

Students not on probation who are classified by the Registrar's office as Juniors or Seniors may be entitled to six unexcused absences from one-hour classes and four unexcused absences from classes meeting one and one-half hours at a time for three semester hours credit.

Should an upper classman fail to maintain an average of C on his work, he will be entitled to only two unexcused class absences and six unexcused Chapel absences.

Students on academic probation should not incur absences so as to participate in extra-curricular activities unless with permission of the Dean of the College.

All students are expected to remember:

1. Except by a special ruling of the faculty committee, no student will be given credit for a course unless he has attended seventy-five per cent of the class meetings in that course for the semester.
2. No student should expect an excuse from regularly announced tests unless providentially hindered from attending class.
3. The grade of a student dropping a course without permission of the Dean or Registrar and the instructor is recorded F.
4. Absences incurred while representing the college on an athletic team, debate team, glee club or other college-sponsored activity, will be recorded as excused absences provided the sponsor of the group requests such excuses of the Registrar's office.

5. Before the group leaves the campus the faculty sponsor of any organization that wishes to claim excused absences for students under the regulations above stated will furnish the Dean with the names of the students involved, the time the group is to leave and return, and the persons going as chaperones.
6. The faculty sponsors of an organization, after securing the approval of the Dean of the College, may arrange for students to attend programs or other activities in lieu of regular class attendance.
7. Three tardies are equivalent to one absence.
8. The parent's written request for a student to be absent from duties at the college is usually granted in the case of emergencies, but the parent is warned that absences seriously interfere with the student's work. The parent must accept responsibility for such absences and the consequence. It is hoped that parents will not send requests except in an emergency.
9. Faculty members may warn a student if he is in danger of exceeding the number of excused absences allowed, but the responsibility for penalties invoked for violations of the above regulations must be assumed by the student.
10. When a Freshman or Sophomore has exceeded the two unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
11. When a Junior or Senior has exceeded the number of unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in a suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
12. If a student who has been suspended from school for overcutting, returns to school and again begins to overcut, he will be permanently expelled. More detailed information concerning attendance regulations will be found in the student handbook.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS

1. No student will be allowed to take part in intercollegiate contests during a semester if he registered later than the fifteenth calendar day following the opening date of the semester.
2. No student who is taking less than three-fourths of a normal load of scholastic work, shall be permitted to represent the college in any contest or any public performance.

3. No one who passed during the previous semester less than eight semester hours and physical education will be permitted to represent the College in any contest or public performance.

It is understood that these regulations do not apply to the performance of special or part-time students in the departments of Music and Dramatics.

REGULATIONS REGARDING SICKNESS

1. Except for emergency cases students needing medical attention should report to the college nurse during office hours.

2. Students are expected to conform at all times to the instructions of the college nurse or college physician as to when to enter and leave the infirmary and when to report for examination or treatment.

3. No meals will be served students in their rooms except upon instructions of the nurse.

4. The college administration assumes no responsibility for complications arising from sickness when the student fails to comply with regulations and instructions of the medical staff or to report promptly such sickness.

5. The college administration will honor no excuses from resident students for any absences on the ground of sickness except upon a statement from the college nurse. The nurse will not offer such statements for absences incurred before such sickness is reported to her.

6. In order that the health record of each student may be complete, each student is required to report to the nurse any visit to the college physician for professional services.

7. If a student requires any professional services other than furnished by the college medical staff, upon returning to school the student will bring a written statement giving the date and general nature of such service, in order that the college nurse may issue excuses for any absence incurred.

8. According to good medical practices and the best interest of the health of the total student group, students should not expect visits from fellow students while confined to the infirmary. Those wishing to visit the sick will normally be denied that privilege.

EPSILON PI ETA SOCIETY

The Epsilon Pi Eta Society was organized in the fall of 1928, for the express purpose of promoting character, leadership and scholarship. Membership in the society is gained by the nomination of at least twenty-five per cent of both the faculty and members of the society, in addition to attaining a fixed scholarship record for at least one year.

HOW TO APPLY FOR ADMISSION

DIRECTIONS FOR THOSE BEGINNING COLLEGE WORK

1. Study the catalogue (copies may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions).
2. Ask the Director of Admissions to answer any questions concerning the college or its program.
3. If possible, visit the college, preferably with your parents, to tour the campus and to discuss your program of study.
4. Obtain from the Admissions Office the necessary forms.
5. Complete the application form carefully and attach a recent photograph. With the application enclose the ten-dollar processing fee, and, if you wish to reserve dormitory accommodations, the ten-dollar room deposit. Mail the application to the Director of Admissions.
6. With the assistance of your principal or guidance counselor, make the necessary arrangements for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Request that the scores be sent to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, Buies Creek, North Carolina. (Code 5100)
7. Upon completing the first half of the senior year, have your high school principal send to the Registrar of the college a record of all high school work attempted.
8. Have your personal physician send the Student Health Service form fully and properly completed to the Director of Admissions.
9. Upon graduation: (a) ask the high school to send to the Registrar of the college a supplementary transcript recording the grades and credits earned during the last semester, and (b) have your family physician complete the Student Health Service form and mail it to the Director of Admissions.

DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE TRANSFER

1. Follow steps 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 8.
2. Make available your scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board.
3. Request the Registrar of the college at which you are now in attendance, or if not now in school the Registrar of the school where last in attendance, to mail to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, a complete transcript. If you have been in attendance at more than one college, the Registrar of each institution should mail to the Campbell College Director of Admissions a transcript of all work attempted in that school.

4. Request a letter of recommendation from a responsible official of the college previously attended.

SUMMER SCHOOL TRANSFER

Students enrolling at Campbell College for the summer program should secure from the proper school official to which the credit will be transferred a statement certifying approval of such plans and listing approved courses.

PROVISIONAL ADMISSIONS

Should a student be admitted without completing the admissions procedure, he will not be eligible for credit on work done at Campbell College until he has satisfactorily met the requirements of the Admissions Office.

CAMPBELL'S PURPOSE

Ad astra per aspera

Implicit in this old Latin motto, adopted during the dark days of Reconstruction in the Old South, are beliefs, aims and objectives that have guided this institution through ever-changing circumstances without. Campbell's rise from a community school of sixteen students to eminence as a great southern academy and later to its present standing among the State's largest church-related senior colleges is illustrative of what perseverance can accomplish in scaling the heights. It is a matter of common knowledge that Campbell College has always unapologetically affirmed her faith in an omnipotent, omniscient and benevolent Creator revealed in Jesus Christ who with singularity of purpose ever guides man's destiny; in the potentialities of man when properly related to his Creator; in the competence of liberal arts education to free men to live more abundantly in a democratic society.

Based on the conviction that in Christian Education is to be found "the unifying principle of the total college experience," Campbell's purpose as an educational institution has ever been:

1. To inspire youth with vistas of a better life through study, recreation, social relations, guidance, and worship.

2. To discover and transmit within the context of the Christian perspective (in relation to a liberal arts education) truth about man, his origin and nature, and his ever-expanding environment.

3. To equip the student as a more efficient participant in the world's work through incorporation of certain vocational, pre-professional and professional courses of study, chosen upon the basis of student needs and institutional adequacy. Such courses, at present available, include the following:

1. Professional Four-Year Curricula:

- (1) primary and secondary education
- (2) sacred music
- (3) religious education for church educational directors
- (4) business administration
- (5) medical technology

2. Four-year Pre-professional Curricula, leading toward law, medicine, dentistry, and the Christian ministry.

3. Two-year Courses in secretarial science and bookkeeping.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Campbell College has for years been fully accredited as a junior college, having held membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, in the American Association of Junior Colleges, in the North Carolina College Conferences, and in the Conference of Church-Related Colleges of North Carolina. While the junior college division will still possess full accreditation in transition, under the policy of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools a new senior college must graduate its third senior class before applying for full accreditation. The college expects to meet the requirements of the Southern Association and has applied for admission at the earliest permissible date.

Accredited by the North Carolina College Conference

Based upon Campbell's having met the full minimum requirements for membership in the North Carolina College Conference prior to graduating its first senior class in 1963, this institution was admitted to membership at the annual meeting of the Conference held in the fall of the same year.

Students of Campbell's first graduating classes may be assured the full recognition accorded graduates of new colleges. They have additional assurance in the fact that Campbell is already recognized as a well established institution. Campbell's capable graduates should continue to find ready acceptance as they begin professional life or graduate to higher training in other institutions.

This claim is based upon a record of more than seventy years of public service in education.

NEGEV ARCHAEOLOGICAL SEMINAR

Campbell College is associated with the Institute for Mediterranean Studies which is sponsoring the Negev Archaeological Seminar in conjunction with its excavations in the Middle East. Students who participate in this Seminar spend eight weeks in the Middle East taking courses in Archaeology of Palestine, History of Palestine and Hebrew. The program includes three weeks actual digging at an ancient site. Students will be given academic credit provided they successfully complete the course program and submit the necessary transcript. Students who desire credit must register with the office of this institution. Scholarship aid may be granted. For further details either contact Dr. John T. Bunn or write directly to the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

"Blest and distinguished days! which we should prize The first, the kindest bounty of the skies."

I.

An Humble Beginning

1887 - 1900

On January 5, 1887, Campbell College had its beginning in a small one-room building, forty-eight by twenty-two feet in dimensions, newly built by local citizens for starting a community school.

President J. A. Campbell assumed full financial responsibility for maintaining the institution numbering on its opening day sixteen students, though rather pretentiously called Buie's Creek Academy. While the school was hardly expected to run for more than five months, a surprising growth during the first spring led to the addition of an east wing on the little building, eighteen by twenty-four feet for a primary department. A west wing was added in 1893, eighteen by thirty. By 1896 the growth in enrollment prompted the construction of a three-story annex, fifty by thirty-six feet, with a front projection, fourteen by sixteen feet. The new structure, now 136 feet in length, contained six large classrooms, an Art hall, a Commercial hall, two nicely furnished literary society halls, and a library room. On December 20, 1900, on the closing day of the fall term, this entire building was swept away by fire, probably at the hands of an incendiary.

II.

Resurgence Out of the Ashes

1900 - 1903

All that saved the institution from extinction, probably, was a large, open, unfloored tabernacle, eighty by ninety feet, erected in the spring of 1898 for Commencement exercises. Thanks to the heroic efforts of students, patrons, and other friends, within twenty days seven commodious classrooms were improvised and equipped in this roughly constructed tabernacle, and school reopened on January 8, 1901. These temporary quarters kept the school intact and growing for three years until the completion of the present Kivett Building.

The erection of old Kivett was one of the greatest, most sacrificial ventures ever undertaken by the school. With no money and no large contributors in sight, situated in a community remote from any railroad and made even more inaccessible by bad roads, President Campbell and his associates set about the construction of a brick building to cost the fabulous sum, at that time, of $30,000. Friends subscribed nickels and dimes to buy bricks; students without money cut cord wood to burn the brick made locally and supplied brick to masons on the job. The genius of the whole construction was Z. T. Kivett, who burned the brick and over a three-year period directed the erection of the building as money and credits were slowly obtained.

Emergence as a Great Private Academy

1903 - 1926

From the very first session in 1887 an increasing number of boarding students from this and other states continued to enter Buie's Creek Academy. In the absence of dormitory facilities all boarding students prior to 1913 had to be cared for in private homes. At the opening of that year Treat Dormitory, the first dormitory for girls, named in honor of M. C. Treat, generous benefactor and friend, was dedicated. Not until 1923 was the first residence hall for boys provided. Due to changing social conditions and growing enrollments, the construction of an annex to this first residence hall for men and the remodeling of Pearson Building later provided additional housing accommodations for men. Some idea of the growing influence of the institution is indicated by the fact that total enrollment in 1925 included 380 boarding students from seventy counties in the state and seven states in the nation. Of the institution Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy, wrote: "If every section of the state had such an Academy, North Carolina would in a few years take front rank in education."

Development as an Acclaimed Church-Related Junior College

1926 - 1961

The first step in transition from complete private ownership by J. A. Campbell to possession by North Carolina Baptists came in 1911 when under the name of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., twenty trustees, elected by the Little River Association, controlled Treat dormitory. Later the library was deeded by its donor, D. Rich, to the denomination. In 1925 all the property owned by J. A. Campbell and wife, together with that controlled by the local Association, was deeded to the Baptist State Convention, in whose hands it is now held.

In the fall of 1926, with the consent of the Baptist Board of Education, the institution added a year of college work, and the Baptist State Convention of the same year authorized the advancement of the institution to the rank of a junior college. The Convention, by the adoption of the Hamby resolution, which follows, changed the school's name:

"In view of the fact that our brother, Dr. J. A. Campbell, working strenuously and untiringly through a period of forty years, has built a great school at Buies Creek, known through the years as Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., and recently changed from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College.

"Whereas, it is eminently fitting that such devotion to the cause of education should be kept in memory perpetually, and the name and work of Brother Campbell be preserved as a cherished memorial of North Carolina Baptists, be it

"Resolved, that the Baptist State Convention now in session, request its Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to change the name from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College."

The college received immediate recognition by the State Department of Education and in 1941 was accepted as a fully accredited junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"To the stars through difficulties," originally adopted as the school motto, accurately describes the struggles as a junior college for the ensuing thirty-five years. From a total enrollment during the first college year (1926-1927) of 53 college students, plus 352 in high school and 333 in the elementary grades, the institution grew by its last year of operation as a junior college during 1960-1961 to an enrollment of 1,220 students, of whom 1,056 were in college and 164 were high school and sub-freshman enrollees. Some three million dollars had been expended in the enlargement and expansion of the college. But this record of achievement has not been easy. Through the depression years in the 1930's the college operated without endowment and without current support from the Baptist State Convention until 1937. The Founder and President died in 1934. The second World War all but stripped the campus of male students. During the 1950-1960 decade the college enjoyed its greatest growth in plant expansion and enrollment.

Aspiring to New Heights as a Senior College!

1961 —

In the spring of 1958 in its special session the Baptist State Convention authorized the Campbell College Board of Trustees, "in the light of its rapid expansion since 1950, the need for a senior coeducational Baptist college in the east, and the enthusiasm of its alumni concerning the future of the school (to) consider converting the institution into a senior college as soon as they think desirable and possible to do so." In the light of these instructions, the administration and trustees adopted plans for the orderly advancement to senior college status by adding the junior year in 1961-1962 and the senior year in 1962-1963.

CLASSROOMS

D. RICH MEMORIAL BUILDING (1926). This fire-resistant structure of tapestry-faced brick and Indiana limestone was constructed with that portion of the D. Rich bequest, approximately $160,000, available at Mr. Rich's death. The building, 160 feet long and 120 feet wide, contains classrooms, lecture halls, teachers' offices, and an auditorium to seat 1,250.

J. CLYDE TURNER CHAPEL. In October 1961 the Board of Trustees, prompted by the deep desire to exalt worship as the pre-eminent function of the auditorium in D. Rich Memorial Building, as well as by the intention to associate permanently with its chapel the names of two distinguished Baptists, long time friends of Campbell College, voted unanimously to name the chapel in honor of Dr. J. Clyde Turner and wife, Bertha Hicks Turner. Such action called for complete renovation and installation of improved facilities prior to the formal dedicatory exercises on January 25, 1963.

KIVETT BUILDING (1903). Completion of this massive structure named for Z. T. Kivett, the builder, required nearly three years (May 23, 1901 to November 2, 1903). At present its lower two stories house the college bookstore, several classrooms and teachers offices. It was used by the local elementary school until 1948, when it was converted into a science hall and was thus used until the fall of 1962.

MATHEMATICS HALL (1923). Started by a $2,500 gift of Mr. D. Rich toward a temporary auditorium and gymnasium, this brick-veneered structure, 60 by 90 feet, served as a gymnasium from 1924 to 1953. In 1956 it was converted for use by the department of Mathematics.

MUSIC CENTER (1947). The music department has up to the 1963-'64 session been housed in two temporary buildings, 20 x 48 feet each, erected in 1947.

In the summers of 1963 and 1964, two larger frame structures were built to provide for the expanded music program being offered. The college is committed to the erection at the earliest possible date of a more adequate music hall for this growing department.

THE NEW ART CENTER (1963). With the procurement in 1963 of the former residence of Mrs. J. A. Campbell, the art department was moved into renovated sections of the home and adjacent garage. Because of the close proximity to the campus, spaciousness and excellent lighting, this department is presently very adequately located.

FRED N. DAY COTTAGE (1936). In 1925 the Rev. Fred N. Day, purchasing a seven-room residence and about two adjacent acres, gave them to Buie's Creek Academy as a home for married students. When Campbell installed home economics in 1936, the building was renovated to provide space for practical training on the cottage plan. With the removal of the home economics department to the new Science Building in 1962 the building is now used as a kindergarten and temporary art studios.

SCIENCE BUILDING (1962). Realizing the strategic place of science in the future preparation of youth in this atomic age, nothing has been spared in the planning and construction of this new three and one-half story structure. Its 44,000 square feet provides spacioulsy for geology, physics, biology, chemistry, and home economics. On the first floor is a small auditorium seating 175 to accommodate science lecture groups as well as for other cultural purposes. Included in its modern conveniences are air conditioning and elevator service.

CORNELIA PEARSON CAMPBELL HOME MANAGEMENT HOUSE (1965). This house was erected as a residence by Mrs. James A. Campbell in 1935, following the death of her husband on March 18, 1934. Here she lived the remainder of her ninety-seven years until her death on February 19, 1963. Later in that year, the house was purchased by the college and used temporarily as a rooming place for students. During the summer of 1965, the residence was completely renovated for use as the Home Management House of the Department of Home Economics, and named in honor of Mrs. Campbell, whose connection with the institution dates back to its opening day on January 5, 1887. It accommodates eight girls enrolled in the Home Management and House Residence course.

LIBRARY

CARRIE RICH MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1925). This building consisted originally of two large reading rooms, stack rooms, and librarian's office. In planning it as a memorial to his wife, the one intention of Mr. D. Rich, the donor, was to have the building as flawless and beautiful as was the Christian character of his beloved wife.

The college in 1956 erected an addition, harmonious with the original and three times its size, making the library adequate to store 35,000 volumes and to accommodate in the reading rooms 200 students at one time.

In 1965 it became necessary to project on the rear of the former structure an addition to the library that provided at present more than double the usable floor space previously available. The new addition contains a three-story stack section for books, a two-story section for reading rooms, and includes besides, special reading rooms, carrels, lounges and offices. The new section, facing the campus, for all practical purposes, constitutes a new main entrance to the building. At present the library includes reading room space for at least 2,500 students and stack space for 100,000 volumes or more.

Britt Dormitory

THE ROBERT A. AND MARGARET P. MCINTYRE LIBRARY (1964). The first well defined departmental library, auxiliary to the general library, took form in space provided for it in the New Science Building. This library was named in honor of these two fine friends and benefactors from Lumberton, N. C. Subsequently in her will, Mrs. McIntyre made special provision for the enlargement of the book collection and also for special equipment for the biological laboratories.

WILLIAM PEARSON HALL (1915). This building bears the name of the man who in 1887 made the first canvass for funds to establish this institution. Until his death on May 25, 1915, he became permanently identified with the school as father-in-law of the founder and active supporter by word and purse.

Pearson Hall was constructed with money borrowed from Harnett County and repaid by the principal by teaching the public school for this district. It was first used by the elementary department of the school; later converted in 1926 into a music hall; used from 1948 until 1962 as a Men's dormitory; at present used as a library annex and as teacher's offices.

THEATRE

PAUL GREEN THEATRE (1934). Located in a grove between Mathematics Hall and the D. Rich Memorial Building under an arch of oaks and pines, this three-stage amphitheatre is a naturally beautiful and acoustically excellent setting for outdoor musicals and dramas. It was designed by Paul Green distinguished poet and playwright, who is a graduate of Buies Creek Academy. Mr. Green himself supervised the construction of the amphitheatre in 1933-34. Through many performances, including repeated productions of Mr. Green's own symphonic drama "The Highland Call," Campbell players, musicians, and their patrons have enjoyed this contribution to the cultural life of the college.

ATHLETIC FIELD

HERBERT B. TAYLOR ATHLETIC FIELD. This well-lighted athletic field was purchased some years ago to provide for the growing college enrollments. Mr. Herbert B. Taylor of Dunn, N. C., athlete and sports lover, father of the nationally famous Knee-Pants Baseball League, sponsored the necessary park improvements, including stands for the spectators. His deep interest in Campbell College has been over and over expressed in his benefactions and in his devoted services on the Board of Trustees. In recognition of these services the Trustees named the athletic field in his honor.

DORMITORIES

JONES DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1954). By subsequent action by the trustees this building was named in honor of William Hubert Jones and Lula Bostic Jones, faithful trustees and benefactors. Rooms in this modern, fire-resistant building for 72 students are arranged in suites with connecting baths. Each is equipped with built-in closet, chest of drawers, study table, and vanity dresser. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. Lounges on the three floors supplement the reception center, which is equipped with kitchenette and with folding partitions for smaller groupings.

FRED N. DAY DORMITORY (1959). This modern dormitory for 78 students was accomplished by reconstructing a three-story, fire-resistant structure, adding wings to the north and south and a portico to its eastern exposure. As reconstructed, it is similar in appointments to Jones Dormitory. Day Dormitory, as first built in 1937, replaced the Fred N. Day Annex, a two-story frame building destroyed by fire on December 15, 1936.

TREAT DORMITORY (1913). Treat Dormitory has thirty-two rooms and a large basement, which is now used as a recreation room for the women's campus. It is named for M. C. Treat of California, deceased, the largest contributor to its construction.

POWELL DORMITORY (1960). This three-story dormitory, accommodating sixty young women, is modern in construction and equipment throughout. It is adjoined to Treat Dormitory by a connecting lobby and reception room. By order of the Board of Trustees this attractive building has been named in honor of Misses Mabel and Nell Powell to commemorate their years of faithful service and loyalty as teachers and devoted friends of Campbell College.

JAMES E. AND MARY Z. BRYAN DORMITORY (1961). This dormitory, located on the newly acquired tract of land back of Treat, is in many respects the most modern and attractive on the campus. The building is a cluster of twelve one-story apartment units, grouped around an interior court and joined by an exterior wall and roof. One section provides a reception center, a guest room and quarters for the faculty counselor. Each unit consists of four bedrooms, a living room and bath, to accommodate eight young women. The building is named in memory of James E. Bryan, alumnus and successful businessman, and wife, Mary Z. Bryan.

LAYTON DORMITORY (1923). Layton Hall contains 45 rooms for men in its main section. In 1928 an annex of thirteen rooms was built with money given by the late B. N. Duke. Because of the "singular service to the cause of Christ" rendered by Mrs. Joel G. Layton of Lillington, N. C., and her late husband, and because of their generous support of the institution through the years, the Board of Trustees on March 22, 1951, unanimously directed that the main section of this building "be henceforth known as Layton Dormitory."

W. S. BRITT DORMITORY (1947). Constructed with funds supplied by many friends, this twenty-seven-room, fire-resistant dormitory for men is named for an alumnus, W. S. Britt of Lumberton, the largest benefactor.

J. F. KITCHIN DORMITORY FOR MEN (1955). This three-story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 96 men. Each room has built-in closets, chest of drawers, study table, and lavatory. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. A single-story section provides a guest room, accommodations for the dean of men, and a parlor for student use.

BALDWIN DORMITORY (1964). This three story, fire-resistant residence hall, with a semi-basement floor, centrally located on the men's campus, houses at present 130 students. It was given its new name November 16, 1964, with appropriate ceremony in honor of O. Hampton Baldwin; Lizzie Luther Baldwin, his deceased wife; Delphia Baldwin, his sister; and O. Luther, his deceased son. The naming commemorates the generous benefactions, previously made, of this fine Columbus County family.

CAMPBELLTOWN APARTMENTS. Twelve duplex houses, erected in 1959, accommodate twenty-four married-student and faculty families. Attractively designed, they are supplied with modern built-in conveniences. In 1962 ten other similar houses were added.

CAMPBELL HOME. This house, originally the home of the Founder of Campbell College, about one-half mile from the campus, has been renovated and equipped to accommodate 18 students.

ELLIS APARTMENTS. These apartments for married students were provided in part by W. Caswell Ellis, alumnus, in memory of Ruth Miller Ellis, deceased mother of his two children, and William Caswell Ellis, Jr., who lived a short but beautiful life.

STRICKLAND DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1962). This three story dormitory located behind Bryan Dormitory consists of apartment units, each housing ten young women with a total accommodation for 96 young women. In 1965 this attractive dormitory was named to commemorate the generous benefactions and invaluable services while on the College's Board of Trustees rendered by Mrs. Mabel

C. Strickland and her late husband, J. Hunter Strickland of Four Oaks, North Carolina.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR MEN (1962). This modern three-story dormitory located to the west of the President's home houses 106 young men. The rooms are arranged in apartment units consisting of five bedrooms, a living room, and bath.

OTHER BUILDINGS

B. P. MARSHBANKS CAFETERIA (1934). Originally planned for 400 students, this cafeteria was constructed with contributions in cash, materials, and labor, supplemented by appropriations from the college budget. In 1957 it was expanded by addition of three dining rooms and much storage space. Stainless steel kitchen equipment was installed, and modern cafeteria counters were provided for three-line service. The cafeteria is now adequate for a student body of well over 1,000.

JOHN S. PEARSON MEMORIAL INFIRMARY (1960). A new health center, designed to be adequate for the present and readily expandable for future needs, was added to the Campbell family of buildings in October, 1960. This provides room for 16 students in two wards and four semi-private rooms. It is carefully designed as space for providing the medical care that is customarily given in first-class college health units. John S. Pearson, for whom the building is named, was at one time business manager of the Biblical Recorder and was for many years business manager of Progressive Farmer. He was the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Pearson Campbell, wife of the Founder. A challenge gift of Mrs. Campbell started the infirmary project.

JAMES A. CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING (1961). This beautiful, commodious structure is a fitting memorial to the Founder of Campbell College and his widow, Cornelia Pearson Campbell. The first floor of the two-story structure provides four spacious suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Students and the Business Manager. Located also on this floor will be found an attractive lobby and a large conference room, called the Trustee Room. The second floor provides adequate office space and facilities for such major programs as college development, public relations, publicity, multigraphing, photography, student guidance, religious activities and chapel direction.

CARTER GYMNASIUM (1952). This attractive, modern structure is named to honor the N. H. Carter Family and to commemorate the invaluable services and benefactions of Harry C. Carter of Greensboro, former president of the Trustees. During Campbell's recent years as a junior college the playing floor, standard gymnasium equipment, offices, and two large classrooms of this building have been adequate for a complete physical education program.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING PLANT (1951). The laundry and dry cleaning plant is one of the most useful auxiliary enterprises of the college.

O. W. GODWIN, SR. MAINTENANCE BUILDING (1964): Named in honor of O. W. Godwin, Sr. of Dunn in recognition of his invaluable planning and assistance in the inexpensive construction of this massive structure which provides long needed space for storing large quantities of supplies purchased at lowest available prices. It likewise protects from the weather expensive equipment used by the growing maintenance staff and enables the several labor groups to work under optimum conditions. Moreover, the business management of the college can maintain a daily itemized check on the incoming and out-going supplies.

OTHER MEMORIALS

CHARLES L. ANDREWS CHAPEL ORGAN. In the summer of 1949 Mr. Charles L. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs, N. C., donated to the college a beautiful Baldwin Electronic organ, complete with chimes, for the spacious auditorium in the D. Rich Administration building. The organ adds much to all worship services held in the auditorium and also makes possible the study of organ by a number of interested music students.

THE J. F. AND KATYE HATCHER BLACKMON CARILLON SYSTEM. This lovely contribution to campus life, installed in 1955 from funds donated by Reverend and Mrs. J. F. Blackmon, coordinates the work of the whole day. Sweet toned, the amplified bells automatically announce the passing of the hours from morning until well in the night. Another most attractive feature is daily vespers, automatically presented.

The system likewise has provision for amplifying recitals from the chapel organ, as well as recordings.

THE LEWIS EDWARD AND MARTHA BARNES TYNER CHAIR OF BIBLE. The children of this fine Robeson County family, grateful for the Christian precepts of their home and for their superior educational advantages afforded them by their parents, set up in 1964 a generous trust fund for the establishment of this memorial Chair of Bible at Campbell College.

THE LORETTA BLISS WALTHOUR TRUST FUND. Mrs. Walthour of Windemere, Florida, has recently created a trust fund for the purpose of establishing the Loretta Bliss Walthour Chair of Sociology.

She plans to add periodically to the amount of the fund until the income from it will equal the salary of the professor chosen to occupy the chair.

BENEFACTIONS

"He only does not live in vain who employs his wealth, his thoughts, his speech to advance the good of others."

P.

W. C. ELLIS ENDOWMENT FUND

During the Commencement exercises in 1924, Mr. W. C. Ellis, Greenville, S. C., suggested a plan for increasing the endowment on an insurance plan. Alumni of the school were asked to take a ten-year endowment policy payable to the school for amounts from $100 up. In this way, the members of the senior class in 1925 subscribed about $5,000 to this fund.

Subsequent efforts have increased this endowment fund by several thousand dollars. Pledges and bequests are annually being converted into tangible assets, which are put into safe investments to produce much needed income as a supplement to student fees.

ALLEN L. BYRD ENDOWMENT FUND

Because of his lifelong interest in Campbell College, which is located in his native county, Mr. Allen L. Byrd bequeathed to this institution a share of his estate amounting to approximately $7,500. In the summer of 1941 a partial payment of $6,837 was received. By order of the Board of Trustees the entire amount is to remain intact as a part of the permanent endowment and is to be known as the Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund in memory of the donor.

D. RICH ENDOWMENT FUND

On September 29, 1923, Mr. D. Rich, while conducting the devotional exercises at chapel, stated that little sleep had come to him on the previous night, because time was spent in talking with the Lord about Buie's Creek. In his soul was born that night, he said, this striking expression: "Buie's Creek must live." After his death on October 21, 1924, his will revealed that he had left the trustees of Buie's Creek Academy one-eighth of his estate. One-half of this amount, approximately $160,000, available at his death, made possible the construction of D. Rich Administration Building.

In August, 1940, Campbell College received from the will of Mr. D. Rich cash and securities valued at $151,669.80. By unanimous vote the trustees at their next annual meeting authorized that the entire amount be allocated to the permanent endowment fund of the college and that it be known thereafter as the D. Rich Endowment Fund.

B. N. DUKE GIFTS

In the spring of 1926 Mr. Duke gave the school $25,000 for the completion of a sewerage system and other needs. Three additional gifts during the year brought his contributions to $50,000.

ERWIN MILLS FOREST

In consideration of the long friendly relationship between Erwin Mills, Inc., and Campbell College in their joint promotion of the economic, social, cultural and religious development of their constituency, Erwin Mills, Inc., graciously donated to Campbell College in 1960 a valuable tract of timberland, containing approximately 150 acres, which the Board of Trustees of the college has designated as Erwin Mills Forest. This property is to be held for the foreseeable future to provide income for current support.

BLACKMON MEDICAL CENTER

Junious F. and Katye Hatcher Blackmon Medical Center, located in the Pearson Infirmary, was named for the parents of Dr. B. B. Blackmon, College Physician and Mrs. Bradeene Blackmon Vail, R.N. in grateful recognition of their services, benefactions and friendship.

LEAMAN BAGGETT PARK

In the fall of 1964, Mr. and Mrs. Deke E. Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. Deke L. Baggett donated as a memorial to the late Dr. Leamon Baggett approximately 130 acres of land in Horry County, South Carolina, to be used for field studies by the departments of biology and geology. This land, preserved in its natural state, will provide excellent opportunity for geological studies of the coastal plain area and its biological habitats.

LOAN FUNDS

We are happy to announce the establishment of the following loan funds for worthy students. These sums, coming unsolicited, express the confidence of these benefactors in the work of Campbell College and their sympathy with poor boys and girls struggling for an education. In behalf of those to be blessed by these amounts, we express our thanks for the following loans:

Four-County Loan Fund. This fund of $1,000 was established in the summer of 1941 by a friend interested in helping students who would otherwise be unable to finance their education. Preference is to be given students from the four counties of Harnett, Johnston, Sampson, and Cumberland, "unless college officials deem students from elsewhere more worthy."

Betty Byrd Green Memorial Loan Fund. In memory of Betty Byrd Green, who in 1887 was among the first students to register in this institution, her children, out of deep gratitude for her sacrificial life, her noble character and her keen intellectual interests, created at the commencement of 1941 this fund to aid worthy students.

Page Loan Fund. This loan fund of $500 was established by Mrs. Theresa Page Magruder in memory of her father, mother, two brothers, and one sister. Members of the family plan to add to this fund from time to time.

Alberta Hinton Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1940 by C. R. Hinton, alumnus of the college, in memory of his mother.

Gerald Motley Loan Fund. This fund is created by friends of Gerald Motley, gifted young minister and loyal alumnus of this institution, who lost his life during the year of 1940 in an automobile accident en route to the college to speak at the daily chapel service. Contributors to this fund would memorialize his nobility of character, his loyalty to Campbell, and his interest in the problems of youth.

Mabel Powell Loan Fund. Former students of Miss Mabel Powell have started this fund out of appreciation for the inspiration and help received from their beloved teacher. Each year the size of the fund is being increased.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ousley Loan Fund. This fund is in honor of the late Mr. H. C. Ousley and Mrs. Ousley, for many years citizens of the Buie's Creek community. It has been established by one of their sons and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Ousley of Waco, Texas. This fund is for the purpose of assisting students who feel led to give themselves to full time Christian service. It is not available to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco.

Demming Morton Ward Loan Fund. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ward, Durham, North Carolina, have established this fund in loving memory of their son, killed in the service of his country on May 8, 1945. Two years prior he had left college as a sophomore to enter the U. S. Air Corps. At the time of his death, he was a first lieutenant flying a transport plane from Burma to India. Lieutenant Ward was a devoted son, an active participant in youth organizations, and a faithful member of his church. Through this memorial fund his parents hope to bless humanity in perpetuity by extending opportunity to other youth to live the more abundant life.

Jessie Slocumb Smith Scholarship Fund. This scholarship is sponsored by the Chicora Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, to commemorate the distinguished services of Jessie Slocumb Smith who for forty years was historian of her chapter. She served likewise in many other capacities, including the presidency. It is proposed to make this an ever enlarging benefit to the youth of this area by adding to the fund from time to time.

Starr Johnson Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been set up in memory of Starr Johnson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis David Johnson, Buie's Creek, North Carolina. Of the initial gift amounting to $500, a scholarship in the amount of $100 will be awarded annually to a deserving freshman until further notice.

Fitchett Memorial Loan Fund. This fund is set up by the Fitchetts of Dunn to aid worthy students in need of financial assistance. Loans must meet the approval of the college committee.

Layton Loan Fund. This is an accumulative fund established by Mrs. Martha Layton Winston in honor of her parents, Mr. Joel G. Layton and Mrs. Maude C. Layton. The college deeply appreciates this scholarship aid to serve generations to come, set up as a tribute to these life-long friends, generous benefactors to Campbell College.

J. P. Coggins Memorial Loan Fund. This loan fund for $2,000 was established in 1964 by Mrs. Mattie Coggins Highfill in memory of her father.

A. C. Barefoot Memorial Loan Fund. This fund, initially amounting to $2,000, was established by Dr. A. C. Barefoot, Jr., Raleigh, North Carolina, in memory of his father, a long time farmer, business man, and civic and church leader of Angier, North Carolina, who "still speaketh" through the lives of those blessed through his son's benefaction.

The William M. Tally Ministerial Loan Fund. This devoted friend conveyed to Campbell College in his will a $5,000 loan fund to help capable ministerial students in need of financial assistance. Application can be made to the college only for short-term loans, due to the present size of the fund.

Ernest Vernon Hancock, Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been established by his parents in his memory. Vernon Junior was a member of the first Senior College graduating class in 1963. He met death in an automobile accident on April 20, 1964.

In addition to the loan funds above, Campbell College gratefully acknowledges smaller amounts established by the following friends to help needy students: J. F. Keith, I. T. Valentine, J. H. Barnes, John W. Holmes, Bruce Blackmon, James A. Buchanan.

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM

Under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Campbell College has been granted her proportionate share of Federal funds appropriated to the end "that no student of ability will be denied an opportunity for higher education because of financial need." While the Act provides that prospective teachers and students having special interest either in science, mathematics or modern languages be given preferential consideration, any capable high school graduate may apply for a loan in the amount necessary to attend college, not to exceed $1,000 a year. Information concerning the exceedingly generous terms for obtaining and repaying the loan will be supplied to any interested student upon request.

COLLEGE FOUNDATION, INC. LOAN FUND

Loans in an amount up to $500.00 per student per school year are available to qualified entering freshmen through the College Foundation, Inc. Students who are desirous of participating in this program which was sponsored by the Governor of North Carolina should contact the College Business Manager. The Business Manager will supply the necessary forms and information. If approved, the funds will be disbursed from the College Foundation to the college treasurer. Only students from North Carolina are eligible. Repayment is to begin 90 days after graduation to be repaid over a four year period.

THE TUITION PLAN INC. LOAN FUND

The Tuition Plan, Inc. is a national student loan fund organization that specializes in providing low cost programs for educational cost. The funds are made available to Campbell College students in any amount necessary for the financing of educational expenses. Arrangements for participating in this plan can be made by writing direct to the Tuition Plan, Inc., One Park Ave., New York, N. Y., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EDUCATION FUNDS, INC. LOAN FUND

This also is a national organization designed to finance the total cost of educational expenses over a wide range of plans from one to four years, and is available to all Campbell College students regardless of academic progress. Application for participation in the Education Funds, Inc. loan fund program can be obtained by writing direct to Education Funds, Inc., 10 Dorrance Street, Providence, R. I., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

FIRST CITIZENS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
PREPAID EDUCATION LOAN FUNDS

The college has an arrangement with the First Citizens Bank and Trust Company whereby the bank makes direct loans to all Campbell College students in amounts necessary to defray educational expenses. This plan is designed to meet the needs of families desiring to pay educational costs out of income rather than out of savings. Arrangements for participating in this program can be made direct by writing First Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Prepaid Education Loan Fund Department, Charlotte, N. C., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EXPENSES

For Semester of 18 Weeks

(The College reserves the right, with proper notice to patrons, to make changes in the following schedule of expenses when it proves necessary.)

PROCESSING AND ROOM RESERVATION FEES

A processing fee of $10.00 is payable with all original applications for admission and is not refundable.

A room deposit of $10.00 must accompany the application for a room in one of the dormitories. Priority of application determines the choice of rooms. This deposit is not refundable unless a student is denied admission. After the student enters classes this amount is held as a credit to his or her account against unnecessary damage done to rooms in dormitories. The college will refund any unexpended balance of room deposits upon the student's withdrawal or completion of education program at Campbell College.

Nonresident Fee: Students from outside the State of North Carolina in addition to the above are required to pay a nonresident fee of $25.00 for each semester.

The above statement does not include the cost of books, laundry and a small accident insurance premium. The cost of laundry paid by all boarding students is $18.00 per semester. Books which vary in cost are on a cash basis if purchased from college owned bookstore. The insurance fee varies from $5.00 for women to $8.50 for men.

Through the college infirmary facilities and the college medical staff the college provides for medical attention of the kind commonly provided by the general practitioner. Drugs on prescription of the doctor will cost extra.

A graduation fee of $10.00 will be required of all eligible students.

EXTRAS FOR SPECIAL COURSES AND PART-TIME STUDENTS

For Semester of 18 Weeks

LABORATORY FEES

Each natural science student is required to pay a minimum laboratory fee of ten dollars ($10.00) per course per semester (except Chemistry 36). This fee will be used to defray expenses for specimens, depreciation of equipment and instructional supplies necessary for class and laboratory instruction. Students will be charged for supplies and breakage in excess of the $10.00 required minimum fee.

EXPENSES FOR SUMMER SCHOOL (1966)

Tuition and general fees, including accident insurance, each six weeks..	$107.50
Room and board, each six weeks.....	72.50
Laundry, required of all resident students, each six weeks.....	6.00

In addition to the above, students from outside the State of North Carolina will be charged an additional $8.33 for each six weeks.

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the previously listed expenses, Campbell College grants as scholarships to members of the following groups, deductions in amounts indicated.

Ministerial students.....	$100.00 a year
Volunteers for foreign missions.....	$100.00 a year
Students from orphanages.....	$100.00 a year
High School valedictorians.....	$100.00 a year
Children of ministers.....	$ 50.00 a year
Wives of ministers.....	$ 50.00 a year

To qualify for a scholarship the ministerial student or mission volunteer must present letters of recommendation from his or her church. Continuation of the award of such scholarships is conditioned upon the student's satisfactory performance.

No special considerations or offers of scholarships or self-help employment are valid until approved by the President or Business Manager.

SELF-HELP EMPLOYMENT

The college has always sought to help worthy students unable to finance their college education. To that end all possible work assignments have been reserved for students. The compensation is in keeping with the charges made by the college and is payable in cash monthly. The college reserves the right to apply any compensation due against any unpaid balances currently due on the student account. Any student requiring financial assistance should obtain a "Self-Help Application Blank" from the college. Obviously, the amount of work available is limited. The Committee on job assignments will give consideration to priority of application, as well as to the merits of each case.

SETTLEMENTS

A charge of ten dollars for processing must accompany the application of each new student. This fee of $10.00 is applied against cost of evaluating applications and is not refundable. Each student requesting dormitory reservation must include also a room-reservation deposit of ten dollars. The unexpended balance of the room deposit is refunded upon termination of stay in the dormitory.

Applicants for the fall or spring term must pay a deposit of fifty dollars within two weeks after receipt of notice of acceptance. This amount will be credited toward fall or spring expenses. In the event of cancellation, the deposit will not be refunded.

Students enrolled during the spring semester must make this payment not later than two weeks before the close of the semester or make satisfactory provision with the Business Office. This amount will be credited toward fall expenses.

All students are required to have made this payment before registration. Failure to attend to this matter on schedule subjects the student's application for admission to cancellation by the Admissions Office.

Tuition and General Fees must be paid upon entrance and are not refundable after 48 hours.

Settlement for room and board must be made in advance for each half-semester. In the event of justifiable withdrawal during the semester, the student will be charged for room and board a penalty of ten per cent in excess of the charges for the period of attendance.

No student fees of any kind are refundable following the Christmas holidays in the first semester or May 1 in the second semester.

No refund on any of these payments will be made to the student whose conduct requires suspension or expulsion.

Any variation in the above terms must be approved by the President before the student's entrance.

A student will not be permitted to undergo semester examinations unless satisfactory arrangements for payment of all outstanding obligations for that semester have been approved by the Business Manager.

No statement of work completed will be released by the Registrar until the student has made satisfactory settlement of all charges.

Insurance payment made at the time of registration is not refundable. Protection continues for the period of coverage although the student is no longer in school.

ROOM AND BOARD

DORMITORIES. The college has facilities for housing most of its resident students. Others may find rooms in approved homes in the community. All dormitories are equipped with electricity, steam heat, and running water; but as is suggested by the variations in prices charged, the accommodations are not uniform. Every dormitory room is furnished with beds, dresser, chairs and study table or desk. Students must provide their own pillows, bed linens and covering, and towels; also curtains, study lamps, rugs and bookshelves, if these are desired.

BOARD. All students living in college dormitories eat together in the central dining hall, a commodious and well-lighted building. Every effort is made to provide a properly balanced menu of well-prepared foods under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

No student will be allowed to board or room in any private home unless the keeper of the home pledges to support the government of the school and to report upon request as to the conduct of students in the home.

The use of electrical appliances in the dormitories is allowed only by special permission. Radios may be operated in students' rooms with permission of the dean of men or dean of women. In each women's dormitory an ironing room will be provided.

A dormitory student may not move his or her residence from the dormitory during a semester without special permission from the President. Changes proposed for the following semester must have similar approval.

The use of air conditioning units must be approved by the Director of Maintenance Services. Installation of air conditioning units must be under the supervision of the department of maintenance services. Cost of air conditioning equipment and all installation cost must be paid by the student. A monthly charge of $5.00 will be assessed each student operating an air conditioning unit for the months of September, October, November, March, April, May, June, July and August. No charge will be assessed for units that remain installed during the months of December, January and February.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The requirements for entrance into the college conform to the regulations adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the North Carolina College Conference.

High school graduation from a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or the equivalent of the completion of such a course, as shown by examination, is required of all students seeking admission to the freshman class.

The major portion of the preparatory work shall be composed of basic college-preparatory subjects: English, foreign languages, mathematics, natural sciences, and the social studies, and should normally include English, four units; foreign language, two units; mathematics, two units (including one unit of algebra); natural science, one unit; and social studies, two units.

Students electing curricula leading to graduation, from Campbell or other colleges which may require additional preparation, must remove such deficiencies during the first year of residence, or during summer school preceding or following the first year.

All information showing the quality of work accomplished, the personality, character, and health of the applicant, and the recommendation of appropriate school officials must be available to the college before registration is permitted.

In addition to those students admitted by certificate or examination, special students who demonstrate their ability to profit by the instruction provided by the college may be admitted. The special student will be allowed no credit toward graduation until he has met the entrance requirements fully.

Every applicant for admission to the freshman class is required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The test is given in December, January, March, May, and July. It is recommended that the Scholastic Aptitude Test be taken early in the senior year.

Students wishing to make application to take the tests should procure application forms from their secondary schools, or write directly to the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey, or Box 1025, Berkeley 1, California, for the Bulletin of Information, which includes an application form and is available without charge. The bulletin lists test centers and gives complete information concerning the tests.

Because of deadlines for filing application to take the College Board tests, the student must make his arrangements well in advance of the testing date so that his application may be received in Princeton or Berkeley by the closing date.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student applying for admission to advanced standing or for acceptance of credit earned at another college must present: (a) a certificate of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended; (b) an official transcript of record from the institution or institutions previously attended; (c) details of the high school work completed.

Admission to the work of the junior year requires a C average on all work attempted. Provision will be made for advanced placement of qualified students on the basis of standard tests in subject areas in general use among the leading colleges and universities.

TRANSFERS

Students transferring from colleges not accredited by the regional accrediting agency will receive provisional credit which must be validated by a record of satisfactory performance during the first year of residence after transfer.

In general, the amount of credit accepted from other institutions in transfer will be determined by the requirements which apply to the non-transfer student. When a student is admitted with fewer quality points than semester hours of credit from another college, that student must make up the deficiency after transferring to Campbell.

A transfer student from a junior college will receive not more than sixty-six semester hours of credit (including Health) plus two semester hours of physical education service courses.

The maximum credit in correspondence courses allowed will be twelve semester hours with not more than six semester hours in the field of the major. The question of determining what is acceptable credit in correspondence courses will be the responsibility of the Dean or Registrar and the Head of the Department.

A transfer student completing the degree requirements at Campbell must complete a minimum of nine semester hours of upper division work in the field of the major before graduation.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Campbell College will confer two degrees; Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. It will award an Associate in Arts diploma, upon request, to properly qualified applicants who have completed the equivalent of two years of college work of acceptable quality.

To be eligible for a degree or diploma, the candidate must have demonstrated evidence of good character and must have met the minimum residence requirement of thirty semester hours. This shall be interpreted as the last year preceding graduation. The responsibility of making application for graduation in writing at least ninety days prior to the date of the award shall rest with the candidate. It is assumed, further, that all financial obligations have been satisfactorily provided for in advance of graduation.

The conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas will take place at the end of the regular semester or at the end of the summer session.

A candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must complete 128 semester hours of college work including Health 11 and two semesters of physical education. He must attain a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted, and a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted at Campbell.

He must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the departmental major at Campbell. He must average C or better in the major.

A candidate for the Associate in Arts diploma must complete 64 semester hours of work including Health 11 and in addition to two hours of physical education with a quality point average of 1.00 on all work offered for graduation. Also, he must have a 1.00 average on 80 per cent of all work attempted.

CREDIT, GRADES, POINTS, LOAD, ETC.

A "semester" hour usually represents one class period a week in a subject continued through a full semester. Thus, for a course meeting three times a week, a credit of three semester hours is given at the close of the semester. Courses in science, home economics, and business education carry laboratory requirements. Two hours of laboratory time is converted into one hour of credit. This laboratory credit is combined with lecture credit and accounts for the fact that a given course carrying four semester hours of credit may require a total of six or more clock hours a week.

The following is the college scale of grading, with the number of quality points assigned for each grade:

A (Excellent)	93-100 per cent	3 points per hour of credit
B (Good)	85-92 per cent	2 points per hour of credit
C (Average)	77-84 per cent	1 point per hour of credit
D (Passing)	70-76 per cent	0 points per hour of credit
F (Failure)	Below 70	0 points per hour of credit

A grade of I must be removed by the completion of the work within 30 days after the opening of the next semester; otherwise it will be recorded as an F. The Dean may make exceptions to this rule in unusual cases.

Any course dropped without permission is recorded as an F. Permission to add a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar within two weeks following registration. Permission to drop a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar with the advice of the instructor involved. A course may be dropped not later than the end of six weeks. The Dean or the Registrar will determine whether the record should indicate dropped with permission, dropped failing, or dropped passing.

In summer school the time limit for adding or dropping a course will be based on the equivalent hours of class meetings.

A normal load for any student in the college department is sixteen credit hours per semester. Students who enter with deficiencies will be expected to work off the conditions before taking the prescribed courses for credit. A pre-college level course will be considered the equivalent of two semester hours, and this sum is to be subtracted from what is considered the normal load.

A full-time boarding student must carry a minimum load of fourteen semester hours and may not exceed a maximum of eighteen semester hours exclusive of physical education service courses required of all students.

For work done in other institutions the Dean of the College will assign appropriate credit.

GRADUATION DISTINCTIONS

CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.25 average of all work attempted.

MAGNA CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.50 average on all work attempted.

SUMMA CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.75 average on all work attempted.

To be eligible for honors a student must have completed a minimum of 60 semester hours at Campbell. To be eligible for honors a student must have completed the last 60 hours of work prior to graduation within a five year period.

The entire record of a student is considered with the understanding that a transfer student may receive no honors which require a quality point average higher than the quality point average attained on work at Campbell College.

CLASSIFICATION

The classification of a student depends upon the amount of the college work and the number of quality points he has to his credit and not upon the length of time he has been in college. A student is classified:

- (1) As a senior, upon the completion of 90 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 90 quality points.
- (2) As a junior, upon the completion of 55 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 55 quality points.
- (3) As a sophomore, upon the completion of 23 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 16 quality points.
- (4) As a freshman, if the regular admission requirements have been met.
- (5) As a special student, if for some approved reason he is registered for one or more courses but does not meet the admission requirement.
- (6) As a part-time student, if with approval he is registered for less than 9 hours of credit work.
- (7) When a student has a deficit of twenty-five quality points, he will be classified one class lower than he would under the provisions listed above.

A minimum of eight semester hours of work passed and a minimum of six quality points earned will enable a full time student to be re-admitted for the following full semester without probation. A progressively higher standard will apply to upper-classmen. Any student failing to meet this minimum requirement will have his status determined by the Admissions Committee.

With the permission of the Dean and the instructor, any person may audit any course or part thereof. Preference, however, is given to staff members, their spouses, and students of the College. Requirements as to attendance and participation are determined by the instructor. An auditor receives no credit and no grade, but satisfactorily completed audits are reported to the Registrar's Office and made a matter of permanent record.

When a student has more than two examinations in one day the middle exam, or exams, will automatically give way. The teacher will arrange for a special exam on make-up day or at a time which is suitable.

When a student has two exams at the same time the teacher of the larger class will give way to the teacher who has the smaller number of students scheduled for exam in that course at that time.

Requests for permission to enroll in summer school courses at other colleges must be approved in writing prior to enrollment by the Dean or Registrar. Courses to be applied against the requirements in the major field must meet with the approval of the Head of the Department.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

PROFESSORS: DR. WEYER, DR. WEAVER

VISITING PROFESSOR: DR. FREEMAN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. BICKLEY, MR. W. S. HORTON, DR. LEE, DR. MORTER, MRS. PARKER

INSTRUCTORS: MRS. GRAY, MR. REEVES, MR. SHERRON

PART-TIME INSTRUCTOR: MRS. DAIL

OBJECTIVES

The purposes of the Department of Education and Psychology are as follows:

- (1) To coordinate the educational preparation of all prospective teachers and to provide the necessary professional courses and experiences. Teacher Education has been one of the important functions of the college since it became a senior college.
- (2) To provide a major in Elementary Education.
- (3) To provide a major in psychology.
- (4) To contribute to the over-all general-education objectives of the college through courses in education and psychology.

ADMISSION POLICY

All candidates for teacher education must be officially admitted to the teacher education program of the college. The criteria for admission to this program include, among other requirements, the following:

- (1) Grades—a minimum average of C in the major field, in professional education courses, and in overall scholastic work.
- (2) Approval of the major department and of the Department of Education.
- (3) Approval of the Dean of the College and the Dean of Students.

To qualify for a North Carolina, Class A teaching certificate the degree Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must be obtained. The requirements for these degrees are listed elsewhere in this catalogue. The Elementary Education major is planned for those students who wish to qualify for an Elementary Class A certificate. The student wishing to qualify for a secondary certificate must select a major in an academic field—the academic field in which he wishes to be certified. Below is a summary of the professional education courses which must be taken to qualify for an elementary school certificate or a secondary school certificate.

General Psychology, 3 semester hours, is a requirement for all prospective teachers.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS

Sophomore Year: Introduction to Education—either semester
Junior Year: Human Growth and Development—first semester;
The Elementary School—second semester.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the first semester of the senior year, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the junior year: Education 41, Human Growth and Development and Education 51, The Elementary School; and during the second semester, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School and Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School. The Education Block of the first semester would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary School, Education 46, Science in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the second semester, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the senior year: Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary Schools, and Education 46, Science in the Elementary School. The second semester Education Block would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School, Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

The Elementary Education major requires a minimum of 92 hours of specific general-education and academic work including an area of concentration of 21 hours in the social studies and a second area of concentration of 20 hours in English and speech. The professional courses include 30 hours of required work. These requirements are listed in more detail in the summary of general requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education under "General Requirements for Degrees."

51. Modern Drama.—From Ibsen to the present. Realism and naturalism; various developments in non realistic drama, such as symbolism and expressionism. Continental writers important in the modern drama; British and Irish dramatists; American playwrights beginning with O'Neill.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

52. Twentieth Century Poetry.—A study of selected British and American poets, chosen to represent its range and direction, its philosophies and artistic techniques, and its conflicting diversities, from about 1912 to the present.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

JOURNALISM

21. News Reporting and Writing.—Study of newspaper English and style, study and practice of newsgathering techniques, practice in writing the basic types of news and feature stories. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12. An elective for sophomores and juniors.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. News Writing and Editing.—Study and practice of specialized news reporting—sports, speeches, and reviews. Attention to editorial procedure, re-writing, headlining, caption writing, and make-up. Some attention to the elements of photojournalism from the editorial viewpoint. Creek Pebbles is a laboratory for this course. Prerequisite: English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

SPEECH AND DRAMATICS

13. Voice and Diction.—A basic speech production course designed for the development of a more pleasing and efficient voice. Special attention is given to individual vocal problems.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours

14. Oral Interpretation.—Designed to follow Speech 13. Techniques and practice in the oral presentation of prepared works, original or from literature. Emphasis is on gaining the dramatic value from such works, as well as on improving vocal techniques.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15. Extempore Speaking.—An advanced speech course in the development and presentation of original speeches; pronunciations, voice, gesture, bearing; organization; delivery; speeches for special occasions; the extended address.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

16. Debating.—Open to those who give evidence of academic proficiency and skill in public speaking.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

17. Corrective Speech.—Designed specifically for students afflicted with speech disorders (one to three hours in one semester or extended over several semesters according to need); group meetings of the class, supplemented by clinical periods devoted to individual diagnosis and treatment.

One to three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

53. Play Production.—

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

PROFESSORS: MR. BURKOT, DR. MYERS

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. COCKBURN, MISS MIX, MR. PHELPS

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MRS. BAGBY, MR. JACOBI, MRS. LOWRIE

The purpose of the department of foreign languages is to provide a student with a working knowledge of one or more foreign languages. The department believes that a liberal education implies the ability to read, understand, write, and converse, on a basic level, in at least one foreign language. Students whose records indicate the successful completion of two units of a foreign language in high school may begin at the intermediate (11-12) level in that particular language. Students presenting three units in high school may begin at the 21-22 level in that same language. All students, before entering intermediate courses or above, must make a passing score on the foreign language examination administered at the beginning of each fall term.

At the present time, the department offers a major only in French. The requirements for a major and for certification are the same—30 semester hours above the 1-2 level.

Most beginning and intermediate courses make required use of the language laboratory.

LATIN

1-2. Elementary Latin; Reading of Easy Prose.—Open to students who do not offer two units of Latin for entrance.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11. Orations and Letters of Cicero; Prose Composition; Survey of Roman History.—Prerequisite, two units of entrance Latin or Latin 1-2.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Vergil's Aeneid, Bks. I-VI Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 11.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Selection from Latin Prose; Composition; Roman Private Life.—Prerequisite, four units of entrance Latin or Latin 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Horace's Odes and Epodes; Roman Life and Literature in the Augustan Age.—Prerequisite, Latin 21.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

FRENCH

1-2. Elementary French.—Introduction to the basic skills of the language: reading, writing, speaking and aural comprehension.

Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

11-12. Intermediate French.—Continued practice in basic skills; careful review of grammar; reading and discussion of selected literary texts. Prerequisite: French 1-2 or two units of French for entrance.

Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

21-22. Survey of French Literature.—An historical treatment of the main currents of French literature, with analytical studies of selected readings in each period.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

31-32. French Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in French.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

41. The French Classical Drama.—

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. French Romanticism.—
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
43. Modern French Literature.—
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
44. French Realism and Naturalism.—
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
- 45-46. French Civilization and History.—
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
47. Medieval French Literature.—
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

GERMAN

- 1-2. Elementary German.—A beginner's course offering thorough drill in the essentials of grammar and composition, exercises in pronunciation, easy reading, and gradually increasing use of German in the classroom. A minimum of one hour in the language laboratory is required.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 11-12. Intermediate German.—Thorough review of grammar, study of German culture, conversation. Introduction to scientific and academic German for reading knowledge.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 21-22. Survey of German Literature.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

SPANISH

- 1-2. Elementary Spanish.—Introduction to the basic skills of the language: reading, writing, speaking, and aural comprehension.
Three class hours a week, and laboratory work weekly, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 11-12. Intermediate Spanish.—Review and progressive practice in basic skills. Selected reading and increased use of laboratory.
Three class hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 21-22. Introduction to Spanish Literature.—Reading and discussion of selected masterpieces. Emphasis upon the literature of Spain as the basis of the common heritage shared throughout the Spanish-speaking world.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 31-32. Spanish Composition and Conversation.—Required of majors in Spanish. Intensive use of laboratory facilities.
Three class hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.
- 41-42. Spanish-American Literature and Civilization.—Reading and discussion of passages from representative authors. Opportunity is provided to compare Spanish-American literature as a whole with that of Spain and to evaluate regional and other differences within Latin America itself.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

1. Planning and Management of the Contemporary Home.—The planning of a home to meet the needs and preference of the modern family. Emphasis on functional planning and use of materials for efficient living. Management of time, money, and energy as applied to responsibilities of homemaking. Offered to non-majors only.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

2. Orientation.—Choice of professions in Home Economics, history of Home Economics, giving current accounts of new openings and developments. Required of all freshman majors and transfers.

Two hours a week, one semester. No Credit.

7. The Man in the Home.—Exclusively for men. A course designed to aid men in understanding the function, economic and aesthetic qualities of planning a home to meet family needs. A study of housing construction, materials, and specific information pertaining to home maintenance.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours

11. Foods.—A basic study of food selection and preparation with an introduction to menu planning.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week,
one semester.

Three semester hours

12. Clothing Construction and Selection.—Fundamental principles of selection and construction of clothing. An introduction to the classification of textile fibers and fabrics, use of various patterns and principles of fitting.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13. The House and Its Furnishings.—A study of the planning and furnishing of homes from an aesthetic and functional standpoint. Practical problems of house-planning in relation to family needs and income, the arrangement of furniture and furnishings and accessories. Prerequisite Art 15.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week,
one semester.

Three semester hours

21. Meal Management.—The planning, marketing, storing, preparing, and serving of food for family meals and special functions at different cost levels. Prerequisite Home Economics 11.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. Dress Design and Construction.—Planned to develop good sewing techniques and increased skill in handling various types of materials, practice in developing patterns from basic foundation pattern, pattern alteration and construction.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. Nutrition.—A study of the fundamentals of human nutrition, food preparation and dietary planning. Open to pre-nursing students.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

32. Textiles.—A study of textiles, its properties and composition, identification and manufacturing procedures; its selection, care and use.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

34. Planning and Evaluating The Home Economics Program.—Planning and evaluating of curriculum in secondary schools as it relates to overall school program and community.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

35. Child Development.—Development and care of the pre-school child in the home. Prerequisite Psychology 22 or 31.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Family Economics.—Basic principles in consumer buying and income planning. Management of family resources as determined by family values.

Two hours lecture period a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

55. Home Management and House Residence.—Principles of management in the home with emphasis on values as they affect the use of family resources. Application of these principles through residence in the home management house.

Prerequisite: Home Economics 21, 45.

Completed in one semester

Five semester hours.

65. Family Relationships.—Interpersonal relationships of family members as a factor on individual development; problems associated with individual adjustments, group relationships; emphasis on democratic orientation of family living.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR: DR. CANADAY

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. BAIN, MISS KUHN, DR. PECK

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. GRIFFIN, MR. TAYLOR, MR. THOMAS

INSTRUCTORS: MR. DUVAL, MR. JOHNSON, MR. TODD

PART-TIME INSTRUCTORS: MR. BASSETT, MR. CROW, MR. STINSON,
MR. WEBB

Requirements for a major in Mathematics: Candidates for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Mathematics must complete any twenty-four semester hours in Mathematics courses numbered above 20. Also, twelve semester hours from Physics, Chemistry, Education 53, French, German, Logic, Psychology or Philosophy.

1. Sub-Freshman Algebra.—Review of high school algebra for those students offering less than one and one-half units in high school algebra and those not qualified for College Algebra on the basis of a pre-test in mathematics.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

2. Plane Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

6. Solid Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

10. Logarithms and slide rule.—Theory of logarithms and technique of slide rule operations. Recommended for mathematics and science majors.

Three hours a week for six weeks.

One semester hour.

11, 12. College Algebra-Trigonometry.—Unified approach to algebra and trigonometry from a modern viewpoint.

Three hours a week two semesters, or six hours a week, one semester.

Six semester hours.

13. Graphics-Engineering Drawing.—Lettering, use of drawing instruments, geometrical constructions, projections, isometric and orthographic drawings.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Graphics-Descriptive Geometry.—Representation of geometrical magnitudes with points, lines, planes and solids concurrent with noncoplanar forces; the solution of problems.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

15, 16. Principles of Mathematics.—A terminal course with topics selected from fields of modern algebra, trigonometry, calculus, probability, etc. An effort is made to relate mathematics to everyday life situations.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

19. Math for Elementary Teachers.—Designed for elementary education majors. Some of the topics considered are: the nature of the number system, measurement, simple concepts of algebra and geometry, sets and variables.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours.

20. Mathematics for Elementary Teachers.—Selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 19.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
21. Theory of Equations.—Complex numbers, theorems on roots of polynomial equations, approximations, determinants, matrices, and symmetric functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
- 22, 23, 24. Analytic Geometry and Calculus.—Plane analytic geometry, limits, differentiation of algebraic functions, conic sections, and application of derivatives: derivatives, (with applications) of trigonometric, exponential, and logarithm functions by various means (with application), area under curves, areas of surfaces of revolution, volumes of solids of revolution.
Three hours a week, three semesters. Nine semester hours.
31. History of Mathematics.—A study of the lives of the leading mathematicians, together with a study of the developments of the number system, algebra, trigonometry, etc. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Junior standing.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
32. Differential Equations.—A first course in ordinary differential equations, handling standard types, proceeding to linear equations of higher order; some operator methods; applications to growth, geometrical and solution problems; to dynamical and electrical systems, higher degree equations of order one; special equations of order two; further special applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
33. Linear Algebra.—Introduction to the theory of matrices; vector spaces; equivalence, rank, inverse of matrices; congruence; quadratic forms; polynomials over a field; similarly characteristic roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
35. Introduction to Probability and Statistics.—A study is made of mathematical models of random phenomena, mean and variance of probability law, law of large number, algebra of expectations, frequency distributions, generating functions, correlation, regression and hypotheses testing. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24 which may be taken concurrently.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
41. Introduction to Modern Algebra.—Topics included: the number system, elementary theory of groups; rings; integral domains and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 (should have junior standing).
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
43. Topics in Modern Geometry.—A study of the recent geometry of the triangle and circle, with emphasis on harmonic points and lines, isononal points and lines, inverse points and lines, power of a point, inversion, concurrency, collinearity. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Mathematics 33.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
45. Advanced Calculus.—(An Introduction to Analysis). A study will be made of functions, sequences, limits, continuity, differentiability, integration and vectors. Prerequisites: Mathematics 24 and Mathematics 33.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

MUSIC

PROFESSOR: DR. YODER

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MRS. HORTON, MR. STONE

INSTRUCTORS: MISS ELMORE, MR. GATCH, MR. C. POWELL,
MRS. M. C. POWELL, MR. SCHOLZ

Requirements for a Major in Music: 38 semester hours including music courses 11, 12, 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 41 and 42. Students must study their major instrument each semester, and a second instrument two semesters unless exempt by passing a second instrument proficiency examination. Additional study without credit will be required if the student has not passed the second instrument examination after two semesters of study. One half recital the junior year and a full recital the senior year are required of all majors earning the Bachelor of Arts degree. Credit earned for participation in vocal and instrumental ensembles may not be included in the 124 hours required for graduation with the major in music.

Requirements for Major in Music Education: Students who desire certification for teaching follow the above requirements for applied music; however the student may not enroll in applied music during the semester devoted to the education block except by permission. Course requirements are the same as for the major in music except that only one semester of counterpoint is required. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, vocal and keyboard majors will complete the following music methods courses: 24, 25, 26, 27, 47 and 53. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, instrumental majors will complete the following music methods courses: 26, 38, 39, 43, 44, 45 and 53. Instrumental majors will substitute 38 instead of 36. All Music Education majors must complete the following Education courses in order to become eligible for certification for teaching: 21, 22, 41 and 53. Music Education majors are required to prepare a joint recital but are encouraged to present a full recital.

Church Music: Students who elect to concentrate in the area of Church Music follow the major in music curriculum and may choose electives from any area of study or from the following music courses: 23, 28, 46, 48 and 57.

Prerequisites: Music 11 and 12 are prerequisites to all music courses excepting the following: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 23 and applied music. Music 21 and 22 are prerequisites to the following music courses: 31, 32, 41 and 42. Non-Music majors who desire college credit in applied music must request credit through the Head of the Music Department. Ordinarily, a non-music student who has previously studied the instrument displays proficiency or who has general knowledge of music theory will be eligible to receive college credit.

Course requirements outside of the major area are listed under the General Requirements for Degrees, with the exception of General Psychology which is required of all music majors.

1-2. Pre-Harmony.—A presentation of the basic elements of music adapted to students who are not adequately prepared to enter Music Theory I
Two hours a week, two semesters. No credit.

11-12. Music Theory I.—The basic rudiments of music, including scales, intervals, chords, sight-singing, melodic and harmonic dictation and keyboard harmony.
Five hours a week, two semesters. Eight semester hours.

13. Music Appreciation.—An introduction to music through an understanding of the principles of form and the elements of music. Various styles and types of vocal and instrumental works are studied. (Not offered to music majors)
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

21-22. Music Theory II.—A continuation of Music Theory 11 and 12, including advanced modulation, chromatic harmony, seventh chords and altered chords. Continuation of sight-singing, dictation and keyboard harmony.
Five hours a week, two semesters. Eight semester hours.

23. Hymnology.—An historical and systematic study of poetic hymns and metrical tunes including the contributions of various ethnic groups to the body of Christian hymnody.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

24. Woodwind Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of woodwind instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

25. Brass and Percussion Methods.—Groups instruction in the teaching, structure and use of brass and percussion instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

26. String Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of stringed instruments.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.

27. Music Methods in the Elementary School.—A course dealing with techniques of teaching, and musical materials appropriate to the elementary grades. Deals with methods of teaching songs, creativity, rhythmic studies, the child's voice, music theory in the grades, directed listening, performance on simple instruments and supervision of musical activities in the classroom.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

28. Survey of Church Music.—A study of place of music in the life of the Church from earliest Biblical accounts to the present including a complete study of the music of the liturgy.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

31. Modal Counterpoint.—A study of the vocal contrapuntal technique of the sixteenth century, with exercises in the five species.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

32. Tonal Counterpoint.—A study of eighteenth century contrapuntal technique with emphasis on the style of Bach.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

33-34. History of Music.—The development of western musical culture from its origins to the present, with an emphasis on the chronological growth of musical concepts through the study of the techniques and compositions of the various periods of history.
Three hours a week, two semesters. Six semester hours.

35. Conducting.—A study of basic conducting techniques.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
36. Choral Materials.—A general survey of choral materials from the Renaissance to the present, with special attention given to appropriate music for Junior and Senior High School groups and church choirs.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
37. Music for the Classroom Teacher.—The methods and materials used by the classroom teacher in presenting music in the elementary grades. Includes a review of the basic rudiments of music. (Not offered to music majors).
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
38. Instrumental Conducting.—A detail study of conducting as applied to instrumental ensembles with laboratory work in small ensembles and band.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
39. The Marching Band.—The organization, function and techniques of the marching band.
Two hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.
41. Orchestration.—The study of instrumental ranges and techniques coupled with arranging for orchestra, band and heterogeneous groups.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
42. Form and Analysis.—A study of small and large forms with analysis of works from choral, piano and symphonic literature.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
43. Minor Instrument Classes in Woodwind Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of woodwinds. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.
- a. Flute
  - b. Oboe and Bassoon
  - c. Clarinet and Saxophone
- Two hours a week, one semester each. One semester hour each.
44. Minor Instrument Classes in Brass Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of the brass instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.
- a. Trumpet and French Horn
  - b. Trombone
  - c. Baritone and Tuba
- Two hours a week, one semester each. One semester hour each.
45. Minor Instrument Class in Percussion.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of percussion instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level.
Two hours a week, one semester. One semester hour.
46. Choral Literature.—A study of choral compositions from Palestrina to the present with special attention given to the larger forms.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
47. Music Methods in the Junior and Senior High School.—The organization and administration of music programs in the Junior and Senior High School, including the following; suitable textbooks, the general music class, the adolescent voice and its care, testing and classification of voices, suitable songs and texts, the aims and purposes of music in secondary education.
Two hours a week, one semester. Two semester hours.
48. Church Music Administration.—A study of the operation of a church-wide music program including the graded choir program, music budget, integrated educational program and music materials.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

53. Music Methods and Materials.—The organization and maintenance of a music program in the public schools, including a study of materials and methods appropriate for teaching in the vocal or instrumental fields. Correlated with Education 53-MU.

Three hours a week, one-half semester.

One and one-half semester hours.

57. Supervised Field Work in Church Music.—Practical work in maintaining a church music program, under faculty supervision.

Scheduling to be arranged.

APPLIED MUSIC

Private instruction is provided on the instruments listed below. Students who follow the major in music curriculum and receive two one-half hour lessons per week, will earn two hours of college credit each semester. A maximum of twenty hours of applied music may count toward graduation. Non-music students may receive credit for applied music on same basis as music majors by securing the permission of the Head of the Music Department.

- 11a, 12a, 13a, 14a.—Piano
- 11b, 12b, 13b, 14b.—Organ
- 11c, 12c, 13c, 14c.—Voice
- 11d, 12d, 13d, 14d.—Trumpet
- 11e, 12e, 13e, 14e.—French horn
- 11f, 12f, 13f, 14f.—Trombone
- 11g, 12g, 13g, 14g.—Baritone
- 11h, 12h, 13h, 14h.—Tuba
- 11i, 12i, 13i, 14i.—Flute
- 11j, 12j, 13j, 14j.—Oboe
- 11k, 12k, 13k, 14k.—Bassoon
- 11l, 12l, 13l, 14l.—Clarinet
- 11m, 12m, 13m, 14m.—Saxophone
- 11n, 12n, 13n, 14n.—Percussion

ENSEMBLES

3. Touring Choir.—Membership open to all students by consent of the director, based on competitive tryouts. Concerts on campus and out of town including an extended Spring Tour. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

4. Concert Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

5. Collegiate Choir.—Open to all freshmen students and others who do not elect to sing in the touring choir. Concerts limited primarily to on campus performances. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

6. Brass Ensemble.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

7. Chamber Choir.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Emphasis on vocal music appropriate for small groups.

No credit.

8. Stage Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

No credit.

NATURAL SCIENCE

PROFESSORS: DR. JUNG, DR. LANDON, MRS. PROFFIT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. BEARD, MISS N. ELIASON, DR. HOWARD, MR. MCINTYRE, MR. NELSON

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MRS. BRITTON, DR. CLAUS, MR. HOPE, DR. LAMB, DR. NORMAN

INSTRUCTORS: MRS. MCCALL, MISS MATTHEWS, MR. PERKINS, MR. SOOTS

PART-TIME ASSISTANT: MRS. JACKSON

A candidate for the Bachelor's degree in a natural science may major in Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Science Education, or Medical Technology. The requirements for majors in Biology, Chemistry and Geology are stated in the appropriate places.

A candidate for the degree in Medical Technology must satisfactorily complete the three-year program prescribed below and an additional year at either Watts Hospital in Durham, Rex Hospital in Raleigh, or North Carolina Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Winston-Salem. Upon successful completion of the four-year program, the candidate is awarded the degree from Campbell College. Certification follows after satisfactory completion of an examination administered by the Registry of Medical Technologists. A program for pre-medical and pre-dental students may be arranged through consultation with the heads of the science departments.

The fourth year is twelve months clinical work in Watts Hospital, Rex Hospital or Baptist Hospital.

Electives in the third year could be chosen from science courses in either Biology or Chemistry, or from courses in the Humanities. It is recommended that the student choose the major portion of the electives in the field of the Humanities.

BIOLOGY

DR. L. S. BEARD, Head of the Department

Biology 11-12 is prerequisite to all higher courses in Biology.

The general requirements for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13 and Physics 11-12. Students contemplating careers as professional biologists should elect as many as possible of the following: Chemistry 15, 27, 28, Mathematics 22, 23, 24, and Geology 21, 22. The major will consist of a minimum of thirty-two semester hours, and will include Biology 45, 46 and two courses in each of the following series:

- A. 21, 22, 23, and 38.
- B. 23, 24, 35, and 36.
- C. 31, 34, 41, and 42.

The requirements for a major in Science Education with a concentration in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13, 17, Physics 11-12, 21, Geology 21, 22, and a minimum of twenty-four semester hours in Biology. The concentration will include Biology 21 or 22, 23 or 24, and two courses in series C.

11-12. General Biology.—An introductory study of structure, processes, principles, and concepts in Biology. The first semester is concerned with cell and organismic biology; the second semester with heredity, evolution, systematic and environmental biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. Morphology of Non-Vascular Plants.—A comparative study of structure in bacteria, fungi, algae, and bryophytes, with regard to function and phylogeny.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Morphology of Vascular Plants.—A comparative survey of vascular plants, dealing with their structure, reproduction, and development.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Invertebrate Zoology.—A phylogenetic approach to the biology of invertebrate groups.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Vertebrate Zoology.—A study of vertebrate evolution, functional morphology natural history, and distribution. Laboratory work is devised to illustrate principles in the above areas, emphasizing field studies, classification, and examination of representative types.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Ecology.—A study of principles and concepts concerning the interactions of organisms with one another and with their environments. The laboratory consists of detailed analyses of local biotic communities.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Elementary Plant Taxonomy.—An introduction to plant classification, nomenclature, identification, distribution, and biosystematics.

Prerequisite: Biology 21 or 22.

Two lecture and two three-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Microbiology.—A course treating the fundamental aspects of the biology of microorganisms, primarily bacteria. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Two lecture and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

35. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy.—A comparative study of the organ systems of vertebrates. Selected types are dissected in the laboratory.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

36. Vertebrate Embryology.—A study of embryological development in vertebrates. Prerequisite, Biology 24 or 35.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

38. Anatomy of Seed Plants.—A study of the developmental anatomy of seed plants.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

41. Animal Physiology.—A study of functions and processes in animals. Prerequisites, Biology 23, 24 or 35, Chemistry 11, 13, and Physics 11-12. Chemistry 27, 28 is recommended.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

42. Genetics.—A treatment of basic elements and practices in the science of heredity.

Prerequisites: Chemistry 11, 13 and sixteen hours in Biology, or permission of the instructor.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

45, 46. Biology Seminar.—Presentation of reports, discussions, lectures, and papers on selected topics in Biology. Required of Biology majors in their senior year.

One hour a week, two semesters.

Two semester hours.

50. Special Problem.—Investigation of a problem under the guidance of a faculty member, the results of which are reported in thesis form. Open to students majoring in the Department of Biology in their senior year. Credit is arranged according to the nature of the investigation.

One or two semester hours.

CHEMISTRY

DR. JAMES M. JUNG, Head of the Department

Requirements for a major in Chemistry: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Chemistry must satisfactorily complete Chemistry 11, 13, 15, 16, or 31, 27, 28, and courses numbered above Chemistry 28 to total a minimum of thirty-five semester hours. In addition, one year of Physics, and Mathematics through Calculus are required of all Chemistry majors. A reading knowledge of German and French is highly recommended.

Requirements for certification: Those who seek certification in an area of science to teach in public high schools, and choose Chemistry as an area of concentration, should satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours in this area, and six semester hours in each of the following: Physics, Earth Science, Biology, and Mathematics. To meet the minimum certification requirements in the area of Chemistry, the following program is recommended: Chemistry 11, 12, 13, 15, and two courses numbered above Chemistry 15.

11. General Chemistry.—A broad overview of the various divisions of chemistry; the basic laws and fundamentals of the science. The occurrence, preparation, and properties of the more common elements are covered. No credit toward meeting the general requirements in Natural Science will be given for Chemistry 11 until either Chemistry 12 or 13 is satisfactorily completed.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

12. General Chemistry.—A continuation of Chemistry 11. This is a terminal course for those desiring but one year of chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

13. Qualitative Analysis.—The fundamental principles, problems, and methods of separation and identification of the common cations and anion. Prerequisite, Chemistry 11.

Three lectures and four laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

15. Elementary Quantitative Analysis.—A course in principles and methods of volumetric and gravimetric analysis. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

16. Quantitative Analysis.—A continuation of volumetric and gravimetric methods, and applications of colorimetry and chromatography. Prerequisite, Chemistry 15.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

17. Elementary Organic Chemistry.—An introductory course designed for nurses, medical technology students and others who desire a semester of organic chemistry. Prerequisite, one year of college chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

27, 28. Organic Chemistry.—A mechanistic approach to the chemistry of aliphatic and aromatic organic compounds. Special topics include stereochemistry, carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13. Chemistry 15-16 are highly recommended as prerequisites.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

29. Qualitative Organic Analysis.—The systematic identification of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28.

Two lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Inorganic Chemistry.—A course dealing with advanced topics in inorganic chemistry. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 15.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Physiological Chemistry.—Emphasis on the chemistry of foods, drugs, vitamins and hormones as related to the life processes. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Biochemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34, 35. Physical Chemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 15-16, a year of Physics, and Mathematics through Integral Calculus.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

36. Inorganic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of inorganic compounds.

Prerequisites: Chemistry 31.

Hours to be arranged.

Two semester hours.

37, 38. Chemical Research.—Open only to chemistry majors in their junior and senior years by permission of the instructor. The work may be a research problem or a thorough study of some phase of chemistry. Primarily a laboratory course.

Credit to be arranged with Instructor.

41. Organic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28. Chemistry 29 is recommended as a prerequisite, or co-requisite.

One semester.

Two semester hours.

42. Literature Seminar.—An upper division course for chemistry majors.

Two semester hours.

GEOLOGY

DR. C. EDWARD HOWARD, Head of the Department

A candidate for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Geology must satisfactorily complete thirty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22. The candidate must also complete Mathematics through Calculus, Chemistry 11 and 13, and eight semester hours of Biology or Physics with both courses being advised.

Students in Secondary Education who choose Earth Science as an area of concentration must satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22, and a minimum of six semester hours in each of the following areas: Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, and Biology.

21. Physical Geology.—A study of earth materials and landforms and the processes at work upon and within the earth. In the laboratory, emphasis will be placed on the identification of the common minerals and basic rock types and the use of topographic maps. A partial list of topics includes: geologic time, igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic geology; geologic structures; the action of wind, water, and glaciers.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Historical Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21. A history of the earth concerned with the changes in the earth's crust and the life that has existed upon that crust. Laboratory work will include a study of fossils and an introduction to geologic maps.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Elements of Crystallography and Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 21 or eight hours of Chemistry. An introduction to crystallography followed by a study of the physical and chemical properties of minerals. A number of mineral species will be studied in detail. Determinative methods will include blowpipe analysis.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Optical Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. A study of the optical properties of minerals with the aid of the petrographic microscope.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. General Petrology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23, Geology 24 is also recommended. A study of the mode of occurrence, composition, classification, and origin of the igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks and their relations to geological processes and earth history.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Invertebrate Paleontology.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. The systematic classification of invertebrate fossils, their geologic range, distribution and probable habitat, and the use of index-fossils in age determination of geologic formations.

Three hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Structural Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 21 and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is also recommended. The recognition, description, and classification of the structures or arrangements of the rock masses in the earth's crust, and a study of the processes which produce them. In the laboratory graphic methods of solving problems of structural geology will be used.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Introduction to Field Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 34 or permission of the instructor and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is recommended. Study and practice in the basic principles of geologic mapping.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Principles of Stratigraphy.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. A study of the processes of formation, composition, sequence, and correlation of the stratified rocks of the earth's crust.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Geomorphology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21 or Geography 13. A study of the origin, evolution and classification of land forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

44. Principles of Economic Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. The occurrence, genesis, and the distribution of important metallic, non-metallic, and mineral fuel deposits.

Two hours lecture, one three hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

GEOGRAPHY

13. Physical Geography.—An introduction to astronomy with an emphasis on the earth and the solar system followed by a study of climates, soils, and the processes involved in shaping the natural landscape.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

14. Regional Economic Geography.—A study of the continents including the geography of man's agricultural, industrial, mining and commercial activities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Geomorphology.—See Geology 42.

PHYSICS

11, 12. General Physics.—Prerequisite Mathematics 11-12. A study of general physics with emphasis on applications. The course includes demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory work. First semester: mechanics, sound and heat. Second semester: electricity, light, and modern physics.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. Descriptive Astronomy.—A brief descriptive course in principles, theories, and techniques of astronomy. Prerequisite: Mathematics 11-12. The laboratory consists of a basic study of light, using the telescope, and field trips to the local planetarium and other astronomical installations.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

GENERAL SCIENCE

13, 14. General Science for Elementary Teachers.—A study of the principles of the basic sciences. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Eight semester hours.

17. Household Physics.—A course for Home Economics Majors emphasizing the principles of physics as they apply to the home. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: MR. MCCALL

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. COSTNER, MRS. NEWCOMER, MR. ROBERTS

INSTRUCTORS: MR. G. BROWN, MR. COLE, MR. DAVIS, MR. HOOD, MRS. LLOYD

Philosophy of the Department: The department strives to provide skilled leadership and opportunities for students to participate in wholesome educational activities. The program is organized to meet the needs and interests of the students in the areas of class instruction, intramural and extramural participation, recreation, and intercollegiate athletics. In addition, a professional preparation program is offered for students who choose Physical Education and Health as a profession.

Requirements for a major in Physical Education and Health: A candidate for a B.S. degree with a major in Health and Physical Education must satisfactorily complete 36 semester hours of Health and Physical Education in addition to Health 11 and Physical Education 11, 12, 21, and 22.

The student is expected to complete the freshman and sophomore general education requirements in the first two years of the four year program. In addition to the major program, each student is required to develop competencies in a second teaching area. This involves 24 or more semester hours of course work according to the needs of the individual student. Therefore, most of the elective courses should be chosen from the courses available in the second teaching area.

All Health and Physical Education major students must complete Health 21, 22, 37, 42, and 43, and Physical Education 30, 31, 32, 35, 38, and 45. In addition, the men are required to complete Physical Education 36, 46, and 48. The women must complete Physical Education 39, 47, and 49.

HEALTH

11. Health.—A study of vital phenomena and their application to the human organism. Emphasis includes fundamental biological facts of human anatomy and physiology, personal and community health, education for family living, health hazards, and mental health.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. Applied Anatomy and Physiology.—A study of the structure and functions of the body systems in relation to the field of Health and Physical Education. May serve as an elective for pre dental, pre medical, and pre nursing students by permission of the Director of Physical Education. Two semester sequence may begin either semester.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Elementary School Health Program.—An investigation of the principles, practices, and procedures of teaching health in the elementary school with emphasis upon improving the health of the child through healthful school living, health services, and health instruction. For Elementary Education majors only.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Safety, First Aid, and Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries.—Instruction includes discussion and practical application of the accepted principles of Red Cross first aid and the theory and practice of athletic training and conditioning. Emphasis is placed upon safety and preventive measures with prompt treatment of athletic injuries.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Individual Health and Physical Education.—Prerequisites: Health 21, and 22.—A study of the program of individual physical education for secondary schools including physiology of exercise and kinesiology as applied to pupils with various limitations.

Three hours lecture and one hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. School Health Education.—A study of principles, practices, and procedures of teaching and coordinating the school health program with the total school program at the secondary level.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours.

44. First Aid for Elementary Teachers.—A study and application of the basic principles of first aid in relation to elementary school classroom and playground situations.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

30. Principles of Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to the fields of health education, physical education, and recreation including the historical, philosophical, and scientific background, training and qualifications of personnel, and professional opportunities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Organization and Administration of Health and Physical Education.—An orientation to policies, standards, procedures, and problems pertaining to organizing and administering health and physical education programs with special emphasis in the areas of administrative duties of teachers and directors, curriculum development, intramural programs, school health programs, and the duties of the coach and athletic director.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Measurement and Evaluation in Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to elementary statistical procedures as they relate to constructing, administering, scoring and grading tests and measures in health and physical education. Practical application of tests of knowledge, physical fitness, general motor ability, sports skills, and other areas will be stressed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Physical Education in the Elementary School.—An investigation of the principles, practices and procedures of teaching physical education in the elementary school with emphasis on curriculum development and methods and materials involved in teaching. For Elementary Education majors only.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

Professional Preparation Activity Courses.—The following are laboratory courses for physical education majors with emphasis on teaching and coaching methods and materials, fundamental skills, rules, etiquette, selection and care of equipment, history, and strategy as they apply to each activity.

35. Methods and Materials in Tennis, Badminton, and Golf.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

36. Methods and Materials in Football, Basketball and Weight Training and Isometric Exercises.

Four hours a week, one semester

Two semester hours.

38. Group Games of Low Organization and Rhythms.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

39. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Field Hockey, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

45. Methods and Materials in Track and Field, Aquatics, and Sports Officiating.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

46. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Wrestling, and Baseball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

47. Methods and Materials in Softball and Basketball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

48. Methods and Materials in Volleyball, Soccer, Speedball, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

49. Methods and Materials in Soccer, Speedball, and Volleyball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

11, 12. Freshmen Required Activity Courses.—Two semesters of Physical Education are required of all students. Instruction is offered in history, care of equipment and facilities, fundamental skills, and elementary or advanced strategy in each activity.

Courses 11, 12, 21, and 22 will consist of combinations of the following activities for men and women. The department recommends a balanced selection of team and individual activities. Physical Education 21-22 are intended for majors only

Men		Women
Archery	Soccer	Archery	Rhythms
Badminton	Softball	Badminton	Soccer
Basketball	Tennis	Basketball	Softball
Golf	Track and Field	Field Hockey	Tennis
Physical Conditioning	Touch Football	Golf	Tumbling
Recreational Games	Tumbling	Recreational Games	Volleyball
Rhythms	Volleyball
	Wrestling

Uniforms for Activity Classes.—All students in required physical education activity classes must wear the regulation uniform prescribed for the activity in which they are engaged. Physical Education major students must wear the uniforms designated for the professional preparation program. Uniforms may be purchased at the College Book Store.

INDIVIDUAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Students with limitations are assigned to classes in which they may participate according to their capacities. The department strives to work with students and physicians in order to offer satisfying experiences through physical activities. Course offerings are based upon the recommendations of physicians in relation to the student needs. Where conditions warrant, a student may be exempted by joint action of the Dean of Instruction and the Director of Physical Education.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

PROFESSORS: DR. BUNN, DR. LANGSTON

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. M. BROWN, DR. COCKBURN, DR. KEYSER, DR. MURRELL, MR. NEWTON

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. CROSSLEY, MR. LOWRIE, DR. MAL-LORY

The specific aim of the Department of Religion is to seek self-consciously and directly to study and declare the reality of God as He is disclosed through scripture, proclaimed in the church and believed by Christians for the express purpose of shaping character in obedience to truth. The specific aim of the division of Philosophy is to search for truth through logical reasoning.

Purposes and programs: The department serves four distinct purposes. One, it offers an entire year of Biblical Studies in order to acquaint every student with the demands and promises of God disclosed in the literature of the Old and New Testaments. Rel. 11 (or 13-14) and 12 (or 23-24) fulfils the general Religion requirements for all degree programs. Two, it offers numerous elective courses to all students, especially those interested in the Liberal Arts. Any student concerned with deepening his knowledge of religious and philosophical beliefs will discover these courses contribute significantly to a constructive and critical vision of human existence. Three, it offers a Major in Religion to any student interested in concentrating in the Liberal Arts. The versatility of this major permits the student to take numerous electives in the related humanities. Four, it offers pre-professional and professional programs to students pursuing a church-related vocation. The Concentration in Religious Education prepares a student for either graduate study in this field or immediate entrance to a church educational career. The Pre-Seminary Block in Religion is designed to equip a student for advanced studies in a Theological Seminary.

All students receiving grants from the school because of their church-related vocations commitment are required to take one of these programs.

Requirements for a Major in Religion: 30 semester hours to be distributed among five areas.

Area One: Biblical Studies, courses numbered 11, 12, 13-14, 23-24, 31-32, 33, 35, 36, 45.

Area Two: Religion Seminar, courses numbered 51-52.

Area Three: Christian Thought, courses numbered 25, 26, 44, 47.

Area Four: History of Christianity, courses numbered 37, 38, 48.

Area Five: Religion and Culture, Religious Education courses numbered 25, 26, 36, 45.

A major is required to take twelve hours in Area One, six hours in Area Two, three hours in Area Three, three hours in Area Four, three hours in Area Five, and three additional hours from Area Three, Four, or Five. A major must also fulfill his language requirements in either German or French.

Requirements for a Concentration in Religious Education: 36 semester hours, including 12 hours in Biblical Studies; 18 hours in Religious Education courses; and 6 hours chosen from Education 31, Education 55, or the Department of Religion and Philosophy.

Pre-Seminary Block in Religion: 24 semester hours. The following courses are required: Religion 13-14, 23-24, 31-32, 51-52. At the conclusion of the sophomore year the student must pass an examination on 13-14 and 23-24, as well as an English proficiency test. Before graduation a comprehensive examination on the entire Block will be administered and each student will be informed by letter of any deficiencies in his preparation. Students taking this Block are encouraged to Major in English, History, Social Science or Religion.

RELIGION

11. Introduction to the Old Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with the necessary framework of reference for Biblical study. Attention is given to the transmission of the text, to the geographical, historical and archaeological background of Scripture. The Old Testament is then approached from the standpoint of its history, literature and faith. (Religion 13-14 may be substituted for 11.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Introduction to the New Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with New Testament times and New Testament Literature. Special consideration is given to the life and message of Jesus and the emergence of the Early Church. (Religion 23-24 may be substituted for 12.)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

13-14. Old Testament Survey.—An intensive survey of the Old Testament preceded by a summary introduction to archaeology, geography, and the transmission of the text. The Old Testament is approached from the standpoint of its history, literature and theology. (13-14 is not open to students who have received credit for Religion 11.)

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

23-24. New Testament Survey. A comprehensive survey of the books of the New Testament preceded by a summary introduction to such matters as the history of New Testament times, the geography of Palestine, and Biblical criticism. (23-24 is not open to students who have received credit for Religion 12.)

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

25. Basic Christian Beliefs.—An introduction to the study of important Christian teachings concerning God, Jesus Christ, man, sin, salvation, etc. The course is designed primarily to aid the student in evaluating his own religious concepts. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. Basic Christian Ethics.—A systematic study of the ethical implications of the Christian religion. Attention is given to the historical development of the Christian ethic, as well as to the social implications of Christianity in selected problem areas. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

30. The Minister: His Work and Message.—An introduction to the aspects of the minister's work with particular reference to pastoral counseling, the church and community, leadership in worship and preaching. One half of the course will be given to the preparation and delivery of sermons. On-class critique of delivered sermons will be utilized.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31-32. Introduction to New Testament Greek.—A study of New Testament Greek (Koiné) for the beginning student. Selected readings from the Greek text. Prerequisite: six hours in Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Prophetic Literature of the Old Testament.—A study of the times, activities and messages of selected prophets preceded by a general introduction to the development of Hebrew prophetic consciousness. Prerequisite: Rel. 11 or 13-14.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. The Teachings of Jesus.—An intensive study of the teachings of Jesus as presented in the Gospels, with special emphasis upon the principles of Biblical interpretation and a careful exposition of selected passages. Prerequisite: Rel. 12 or 23-24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. The Epistles of Paul.—An intensive study of the Pauline Epistles, with special emphasis upon Paul's thought and a careful exposition of selected passages. Prerequisite: Rel. 12 or 23-24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

37. Patristic and Medieval Christianity.—An historical study of the development of the institutional structures, the worship life and the religious thought of the Christian Church from the New Testament through the Middle Ages. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Reformation and Modern Christianity.—An historical study of the men and movements within the Christian Church since the time of Luther, with special emphasis upon the diverse theologies which shape the American scene. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. World Religions.—An introduction to the historical study of religions, and survey of the history, literature, faith and worship, and contemporary importance of the major religious traditions of India, China, Japan, and Islam,

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

DEPARTMENTAL SEMINAR

Admission by invitation of the department to majors only on the following conditions: (1) an average of "B" on all courses attempted, and specifically on all courses in the social sciences; (2) completion of at least 75 semester hours of college work, including at least 21 hours in the social sciences; (3) the prior agreement of a member of the department to supervise the candidate's seminar paper. Work of the seminar includes readings and discussion. In addition, each student writes a major research paper under the supervision of a member of the department. The topic is chosen with the approval of the student's faculty advisor and the director of the seminar. On the student's record, the seminar will be listed as "75" preceded by the name of the social science discipline in which the student is taking his field of concentration. Ordinarily offered each semester.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

Nowhere in all human experience is there to be found an exact counterpart to life on a college campus. Properly planned and self directed, the varied activities on a college campus provide a student with some of the happiest, most meaningful, and decisive experiences of a lifetime; otherwise, this same period, misused and misdirected by an immature, mischief-bent student, can mark the beginning of his downfall. Particularly for the Freshman, away for the first time from the influences of a good home, his choice of friends, his selection of amusements, and his use of spare time, in a large measure will determine success or failure in college. Obviously, the wise student will budget well his spare time, so as to participate in a variety of valuable experiences from a broad range of student activities.

Religious Activities

Most unwise is the student who neglects the cultivation of his religious life in college. Under the unifying efforts of the Baptist Student Union, the college provides a full range of activities for the student. Other denominational groups include the Canterbury Club, the Methodist Student Movement, the Newman Club, and the Westminster Fellowship. The college sponsors brief chapel programs, with compulsory student attendance, three days a week. Religious Focus Week is conducted each year. Attendance upon church services is encouraged.

Publications

Students, under faculty supervision, publish a weekly newspaper, Creek Pebbles, and a comprehensive college yearbook, The Pine Burr. Together, these publications afford useful and entertaining journalistic experience, while preserving an interesting portrayal of student life.

Music and Dramatics

In order to meet the musical interest of the student body, the Campbell College Music Department sponsors six musical organizations. Instrumentalists may perform with the Concert Band, the Brass Ensemble and the Stage Band. In vocal music, participation is offered in the Touring Choir, the Collegiate Choir and the Chamber Choir. Secular and sacred concerts are performed on and off campus throughout the year.

The Campbell Players, a dramatics club, regularly present two or more full-length productions during the year. Both the dramatics and the musical groups participate in the annual speech festival of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Speech Association.

Clubs

Some thirty campus clubs promote a wide range of student interests, such as literature, religion, dramatics, languages, scholarship, athletics, chess. Such activities give opportunity for strengthening grasp of subject matter, broadening experiences of cultural value, and developing companionships begun in the various classrooms.

5.

ATHLETICS

Intramural

An extensive intramural program, open to all students, supplements the formal curriculum in physical education at Campbell. Spirited participation in touch football, basketball, volleyball and softball enlivens the campus and encourages friendly rivalry among the residence halls.

Intercollegiate

Campbell teams compete in intercollegiate basketball and baseball among the major sports, and also in golf, track, soccer, and tennis.

POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT

Traditionally this institution has believed in student participation in government, having inaugurated even as a junior college with a high school department, a faculty-student form of administration. The success of any form of government, however, depends upon whether integrity, excellence of character, sense of what is right, courage and honor govern the decisions and actions of the group governed. As a senior college with more mature student leadership greater participation in the regulation of their own affairs is accorded students, commensurate with their assumption of responsibility for the preservation of the established aims and objectives of the college.

Hopefully, students at Campbell will through closer understanding of administrative aims realize increasingly that rules are enacted solely to protect and augment individual rights and welfare. After all, the purpose of even restrictive legislation pertaining to harmful self-indulgences and group violations of public conscience, is the establishment of Christian standards of conduct and enhancement of the institution's service to student groups.

The Student Government of Campbell College proposes to promote good citizenship and school loyalty by precept and example, to foster a better relationship and understanding between all groups associated in any way with the college, to forestall any unwholesome conditions, to make adjustments in the case of individuals or groups who violate the accepted standards of conduct, and to project proposals of amendments and improvements in the existing regulations and policies for the benefit of the college.

The Student Government Council is composed of duly elected student members, as provided for in the Student Handbook, and the Dean of the College, Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and two faculty members appointed by the President of the College, serving as advisors.

Two auxiliary councils; the Woman's Executive Council and the Men's Executive Council, share with this council the responsibility for and jurisdiction over their respective campuses. These two executive councils are responsible to the Student Government Association.

In each of the several residence halls on both the woman's campus and the men's campus, councils known locally as house councils are charged with the responsibility, along with the dormitory supervisor, of dealing with less serious infractions, and enforcement of dormitory regulations. The several councils are responsible to the Executive Council of that particular campus.

SOME RULES OF GOVERNMENT APPLICABLE TO ALL STUDENTS

1. Any student enrolled in Campbell College who engages in activities or conducts himself, either on the campus or away from the college community, in such a manner as to reflect adversely on himself or the college, is subject to disciplinary action or expulsion. Students en route to and from the college are subject to the regulations of the college.
2. In accordance with the traditions and policies of the college, gambling, stealing and use of intoxicants and immorality are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Penalties for such infractions will be recorded on the student's permanent record and reported to his or her parents or guardian.
3. Dishonesty in all forms is destructive to individual and social security and cannot become a part of any sound preparation for successful living. Freedoms and privileges in college life can be granted and preserved only upon the basis of individual and group honor. Cheating on the part of students, whether in quoting passages from others without proper acknowledgment in written assignment or in obtaining secretly disallowed information on examinations, condemns a student as dishonest. Students and faculty are under obligation to report such infractions either to the Student Government Association or to the Dean of the college.

4. Attendance at Chapel, Church School and worship services is considered a part of the student's obligation for his own Christian training. Attendance upon brief chapel programs two or three days each week is compulsory.
5. Hazing is a violation of local and State statutes. Students found guilty of participating in conduct normally interpreted as hazing will be subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government Association.
6. The use of profanity is everywhere obnoxious in the best society and is therefore a violation of our rules of conduct.
7. Smoking is discouraged. Smoking in classroom buildings, auditoriums, cafeteria, library and gymnasium is not permitted.
8. Students are warned that the possession of firecrackers and explosives is a violation of State and local regulations and will not be permitted on the college campus.
9. For the safety of the student, and for the convenience of the college, the student's parents, and those who might call or visit the campus, all boarding students should advise the dormitory proctor when they are leaving the campus. Additional information concerning such matters will be found in the Student Handbook.
10. Any student withdrawing from the college without the approval of the Dean of the College, the Business Manager, Librarian, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women, and the Registrar, forfeits the right to an honorable dismissal. Request for withdrawal should be presented in writing and in most instances, signed by parent and guardian. Such requests must be submitted at least twenty-four hours before the proposed departure of the student.
11. The best interest of the college community demands that student organizations and groups request permission in advance from the Committee of Deans to hold dinners, and socials away from the college community.
12. The organization of social fraternities and sororities is not in keeping with the tradition and philosophy of Campbell College.
13. In compliance with the announced wishes of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the college does not permit dancing on college property, or elsewhere under its auspices.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING USE OF COLLEGE PROPERTY

1. All non-resident students who do not establish a home in the local area will be considered boarding students so far as general student regulations and activities are concerned.
2. Students responsible for damage to college property are required to pay for it. After careful checking to determine the identity of the person responsible, it may be necessary to assess the damage among all the occupants of a room, suite, or dormitory.
3. The occupant or occupants of a dormitory room are held responsible for good housekeeping procedures. For health and sanitary reasons the keeping of animals and pets of any kind in residence halls is denied.
4. Dormitory occupants are expected to supply all such personal necessities as pillows, two or three changes of sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, towels, bathcloths, etc. All dormitories have single beds. The construction of the newer dormitories makes the hanging of curtains and draperies undesirable and difficult.
5. Radios and record players are permitted so long as they do not interfere with the normal routine of others. Students should not bring television sets since most of the dormitories have a television in the lounge.
6. Short wave radios and similar equipment may not be installed in the dormitories. No provision is made for installation of private telephones in dormitory rooms.
7. The more recently constructed buildings have built-in bookshelves and study tables. Those living in the older buildings might find it convenient to bring with them a study lamp. All dormitory rooms are supplied with brooms, dust-pans, etc.

REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO POSSESSION AND USE OF AUTOMOBILES

1. The privilege of having a vehicle on the campus will be under the provision of a merit system. If the resident student fails to meet the stated standards, he or she will be denied the privilege of having the car until the conditions have been met. No refund nor adjustment of fees will be made should he or she be found ineligible to continue to keep the car on the campus.
2. Registration of vehicles will be conducted as a part of the college registration process at the beginning of the semester. A car acquired or brought to the campus after registration must be registered promptly. Additional information concerning the privileges of having an automobile on campus will be found in the Student Handbook.

3. Each vehicle used or parked on the campus must be registered and must display an official parking sticker. The person to whom the registration sticker is issued will be held responsible for traffic violations involving that vehicle.

OTHER INFORMATION

1. Those coming to the area by plane would normally arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. The nearest Atlantic Coast-line Railway Station is Dunn, and the most convenient Seaboard Airline Railway Station is Raleigh. Bus schedules from Raleigh and Fayetteville provide access to Buies Creek.
2. The local post office is situated on the college campus. Students may secure a post office box or pick up their mail general delivery. All correspondence directed to students in care of the college should be delivered with no appreciable delay.
3. Those desiring additional information on rules governing student life and student activities should direct a written statement to, or visit with, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.
4. Students convicted of serious infractions of school regulations forfeit their eligibility for positions on the B.S.U. Council, the dormitory council, the executive council, or the Student Government and other places of responsibility in extra-curricular activities and membership in the Epsilon Pi Eta.
5. Students are responsible for compliance with policies stated in the annual Student Handbook, which is a supplement to the catalogue. The Administration endeavors to supply each student seeking admission a copy of the Student Handbook prior to the date of registration.

CLASS ATTENDANCE REGULATIONS

Campbell College believes that every class hour is important. It keeps attendance records for all class and laboratory sessions and for the daily chapel periods. All absences are recorded on individual student cards in the Registrar's office.

In order to allow students some latitude in attending to important personal matters, during a full semester two unexcused absences from any class, except laboratory, and two unexcused absences from chapel may be allowed Freshmen and Sophomores who have been admitted without restrictions. Students admitted on probation may not take unexcused absences from any class. They are allowed the two cuts from chapel during one semester.

Some students are admitted on academic probation. They are not privileged to be absent from classes without excuse for the duration of the probation. Occasionally, a student is permitted to enroll after the opening weeks of the term. All late enrollees forfeit the privilege of absences if they have not attended the first five meetings of a class.

Should a student enroll at the regularly appointed time and because of adjustment in schedule fail to meet a class prior to the fifth meeting of that class, the student will be considered ineligible for unexcused absences in that particular class.

A student who has been absent for valid reasons may submit a request for excused absences in the Registrar's office. To receive consideration, such requests must be filed not later than seven days following student's return to class. Whenever possible, the student should anticipate his absence and receive approval from the Registrar and notify his teachers.

Students not on probation who are classified by the Registrar's office as Juniors or Seniors may be entitled to six unexcused absences from one-hour classes and four unexcused absences from classes meeting one and one-half hours at a time for three semester hours credit.

Should an upper classman fail to maintain an average of C on his work, he will be entitled to only two unexcused class absences and two unexcused Chapel absences.

Students on academic probation should not incur absences so as to participate in extra-curricular activities unless with permission of the Dean of the College.

All students are expected to remember:

1. Except by a special ruling of the faculty committee, no student will be given credit for a course unless he has attended seventy-five per cent of the class meetings in that course for the semester
2. No student should expect an excuse from regularly announced tests unless providentially hindered from attending class.
3. The grade of a student dropping a course without permission of the Dean or Registrar and the instructor is recorded F.
4. Absences incurred while representing the college on an athletic team, debate team, glee club or other college-sponsored activity, will be recorded as excused absences provided the sponsor of the group requests such excuses of the Registrar's office.
5. Before the group leaves the campus the faculty sponsor of any organization that wishes to claim excused absences for students under the regulations above stated will furnish the Dean with the names of the students involved, the time the group is to leave and return, and the persons going as chaperones.
6. The faculty sponsors of an organization, after securing the approval of the Dean of the College, may arrange for students to attend programs or other activities in lieu of regular class attendance.

7. Three tardies are equivalent to one absence.
8. The parent's written request for a student to be absent from duties at the college is usually granted in the case of emergencies, but the parent is warned that absences seriously interfere with the student's work. The parent must accept responsibility for such absences and the consequence. It is hoped that parents will not send requests except in an emergency.
9. Faculty members may warn a student if he is in danger of exceeding the number of excused absences allowed, but the responsibility for penalties invoked for violations of the above regulations must be assumed by the student.
10. When a Freshman or Sophomore has exceeded the two unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
11. When a Junior or Senior has exceeded the number of unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in a suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
12. If a student who has been suspended from school for overcutting, returns to school and again begins to overcut, he will be permanently expelled. More detailed information concerning attendance regulations will be found in the student handbook.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS

1. No student will be allowed to take part in intercollegiate contests during a semester if he registered later than the fifteenth calendar day following the opening date of the semester.

2. No student who is taking less than three-fourths of a normal load of scholastic work, shall be permitted to represent the college in any contest or any public performance.

3. No one who passed during the previous semester less than eight semester hours and physical education will be permitted to represent the College in any contest or public performance.

REGULATIONS REGARDING SICKNESS

1. Except for emergency cases students needing medical attention should report to the college nurse during office hours.

2. Students are expected to conform at all times to the instructions of the college nurse or college physician as to when to enter and leave the infirmary and when to report for examination or treatment.

3. No meals will be served students in their rooms except upon instructions of the nurse.

4. The college administration assumes no responsibility for complications arising from sickness when the student fails to comply with regulations and instructions of the medical staff or to report promptly such sickness.

5. The college administration will honor no excuses from resident students for any absences on the ground of sickness except upon a statement from the college nurse. The nurse will not offer such statements for absences incurred before such sickness is reported to her.

6. In order that the health record of each student may be complete, each student is required to report to the nurse any visit to the college physician for professional services.

7. If a student requires any professional services other than furnished by the college medical staff, upon returning to school the student will bring a written statement giving the date and general nature of such service, in order that the college nurse may issue excuses for any absence incurred.

8. According to good medical practices and the best interest of the health of the total student group, students should not expect visits from fellow students while confined to the infirmary. Those wishing to visit the sick will normally be denied that privilege.

EPSILON PI ETA SOCIETY

The Epsilon Pi Eta Society was organized in the fall of 1928, for the express purpose of promoting character, leadership and scholarship. Membership in the society is gained by the nomination of at least twenty-five per cent of both the faculty and members of the society, in addition to attaining a fixed scholarship record for at least one year.

HOW TO APPLY FOR ADMISSION

DIRECTIONS FOR THOSE BEGINNING COLLEGE WORK

1. Study the catalogue (copies may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions).
2. Ask the Director of Admissions to answer any questions concerning the college or its program.
3. If possible, visit the college, preferably with your parents, to tour the campus and to discuss your program of study.
4. Obtain from the Admissions Office the necessary forms.
5. Complete the application form carefully and attach a recent photograph. With the application enclose the ten-dollar processing fee, and, if you wish to reserve dormitory accommodations, the ten-dollar room deposit. Mail the application to the Director of Admissions.
6. With the assistance of your principal or guidance counselor, make the necessary arrangements for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Request that the scores be sent to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, Buies Creek, North Carolina. (Code 5100)
7. Upon completing the first half of the senior year, have your high school principal send to the Registrar of the college a record of all high school work attempted.
8. Have your personal physician send the Student Health Service form fully and properly completed to the Director of Admissions.
9. Upon graduation: (a) ask the high school to send to the Registrar of the college a supplementary transcript recording the grades and credits earned during the last semester, and (b) have your family physician complete the Student Health Service form and mail it to the Director of Admissions.

DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE TRANSFER

1. Follow steps 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 8.
2. Make available your scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board.
3. Request the Registrar of the college at which you are now in attendance, or if not now in school the Registrar of the school where last in attendance, to mail to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, a complete transcript. If you have been in attendance at more than one college, the Registrar of each institution should mail to the Campbell College Director of Admissions a transcript of all work attempted in that school.

4. Request a letter of recommendation from a responsible official of the college previously attended.

SUMMER SCHOOL TRANSFER

Students enrolling at Campbell College for the summer program should secure from the proper school official to which the credit will be transferred a statement certifying approval of such plans and listing approved courses.

PROVISIONAL ADMISSIONS

Should a student be admitted without completing the admissions procedure, he will not be eligible for credit on work done at Campbell College until he has satisfactorily met the requirements of the Admissions Office.

CAMPBELL'S PURPOSE

Ad astra per aspera

Implicit in this old Latin motto, adopted during the dark days of Reconstruction in the Old South, are beliefs, aims and objectives that have guided this institution through ever-changing circumstances without. Campbell's rise from a community school of sixteen students to eminence as a great southern academy and later to its present standing among the State's largest church-related senior colleges is illustrative of what perseverance can accomplish in scaling the heights. It is a matter of common knowledge that Campbell College has always unapologetically affirmed her faith in an omnipotent, omniscient and benevolent Creator revealed in Jesus Christ who with singularity of purpose ever guides man's destiny; in the potentialities of man when properly related to his Creator; in the competence of liberal arts education to free men to live more abundantly in a democratic society.

Based on the conviction that in Christian Education is to be found "the unifying principle of the total college experience," Campbell's purpose as an educational institution has ever been:

1. To inspire youth with vistas of a better life through study, recreation, social relations, guidance, and worship.

2. To discover and transmit within the context of the Christian perspective (in relation to a liberal arts education) truth about man, his origin and nature, and his ever-expanding environment.

3. To equip the student as a more efficient participant in the world's work through incorporation of certain vocational, pre-professional and professional courses of study, chosen upon the basis of student needs and institutional adequacy. Such courses, at present available, include the following:

1. Professional Four-Year Curricula:

- (1) elementary and secondary education
    - (2) sacred music
    - (3) religious education for church educational directors
    - (4) business administration
    - (5) medical technology

2. Four-year Pre-professional Curricula, leading toward law, medicine, dentistry, and the Christian ministry.

3. Two-year Courses in secretarial science and bookkeeping.

ACADEMIC STANDING

Campbell College for years held membership in the North Carolina College Conference as a fully accredited junior college.

On the basis of having met existing standards in the North Carolina Association of Colleges and Universities Campbell was admitted as a fully accredited senior college in 1963.

In 1966 Campbell College was fully accredited as a four-year college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

This institution also holds membership in the North Carolina Foundation of Church-Related Colleges and the North Carolina Council of Church-Related Colleges.

NEGEV ARCHAEOLOGICAL SEMINAR

Campbell College is associated with the Institute for Mediterranean Studies which is sponsoring the Negev Archaeological Seminar in conjunction with its excavations in the Middle East. Students who participate in this Seminar spend eight weeks in the Middle East taking courses in Archaeology of Palestine, History of Palestine and Hebrew. The program includes three weeks actual digging at an ancient site. Students will be given academic credit provided they successfully complete the course program and submit the necessary transcript. Students who desire credit must register with the office of this institution. Scholarship aid may be granted. For further details either contact Dr. John T. Bunn or write directly to the Institute for Mediterranean Studies, 2054 University Avenue, Berkeley, California.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

"Blest and distinguished days! which we should prize The first, the kindest bounty of the skies."

I.

An Humble Beginning

1887 - 1900

On January 5, 1887, Campbell College had its beginning in a small one-room building, forty-eight by twenty-two feet in dimensions, newly built by local citizens for starting a community school.

President J. A. Campbell assumed full financial responsibility for maintaining the institution numbering on its opening day sixteen students, though rather pretentiously called Buie's Creek Academy. While the school was hardly expected to run for more than five months, a surprising growth during the first spring led to the addition of an east wing on the little building, eighteen by twenty-four feet for a primary department. A west wing was added in 1893, eighteen by thirty. By 1896 the growth in enrollment prompted the construction of a three-story annex, fifty by thirty-six feet, with a front projection, fourteen by sixteen feet. The new structure, now 136 feet in length, contained six large classrooms, an Art hall, a Commercial hall, two nicely furnished literary society halls, and a library room. On December 20, 1900, on the closing day of the fall term, this entire building was swept away by fire, probably at the hands of an incendiary.

II.

Resurgence Out of the Ashes

1900 - 1903

All that saved the institution from extinction, probably, was a large, open, unfloored tabernacle, eighty by ninety feet, erected in the spring of 1898 for Commencement exercises. Thanks to the heroic efforts of students, patrons, and other friends, within twenty days seven commodious classrooms were improvised and equipped in this roughly constructed tabernacle, and school reopened on January 8, 1901. These temporary quarters kept the school intact and growing for three years until the completion of the present Kivett Building.

The erection of old Kivett was one of the greatest, most sacrificial ventures ever undertaken by the school. With no money and no large contributors in sight, situated in a community remote from any railroad and made even more inaccessible by bad roads, President Campbell and his associates set about the construction of a brick building to cost the fabulous sum, at that time, of $30,000. Friends subscribed nickels and dimes to buy bricks; students without money cut cord wood to burn the brick made locally and supplied brick to masons on the job. The genius of the whole construction was Z. T. Kivett, who burned the brick and over a three-year period directed the erection of the building as money and credits were slowly obtained.

Emergence as a Great Private Academy

1903 - 1926

From the very first session in 1887 an increasing number of boarding students from this and other states continued to enter Buie's Creek Academy. In the absence of dormitory facilities all boarding students prior to 1913 had to be cared for in private homes. At the opening of that year Treat Dormitory, the first dormitory for girls, named in honor of M. C. Treat, generous benefactor and friend, was dedicated. Not until 1923 was the first residence hall for boys provided. Due to changing social conditions and growing enrollments, the construction of an annex to this first residence hall for men and the remodeling of Pearson Building later provided additional housing accommodations for men. Some idea of the growing influence of the institution is indicated by the fact that total enrollment in 1925 included 380 boarding students from seventy counties in the state and seven states in the nation. Of the institution Hon. Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy, wrote: "If every section of the state had such an Academy, North Carolina would in a few years take front rank in education."

Development as an Acclaimed Church-Related Junior College

1926 - 1961

The first step in transition from complete private ownership by J. A. Campbell to possession by North Carolina Baptists came in 1911 when under the name of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., twenty trustees, elected by the Little River Association, controlled Treat dormitory. Later the library was deeded by its donor, D. Rich, to the denomination. In 1925 all the property owned by J. A. Campbell and wife, together with that controlled by the local Association, was deeded to the Baptist State Convention, in whose hands it is now held.

In the fall of 1926, with the consent of the Baptist Board of Education, the institution added a year of college work, and the Baptist State Convention of the same year authorized the advancement of the institution to the rank of a junior college. The Convention, by the adoption of the Hamby resolution, which follows, changed the school's name:

"In view of the fact that our brother, Dr. J. A. Campbell, working strenuously and untiringly through a period of forty years, has built a great school at Buies Creek, known through the years as Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., and recently changed from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College.

"Whereas, it is eminently fitting that such devotion to the cause of education should be kept in memory perpetually, and the name and work of Brother Campbell be preserved as a cherished memorial of North Carolina Baptists, be it

"Resolved, that the Baptist State Convention now in session, request its Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to change the name from Buie's Creek Academy, Inc., to Campbell College."

The college received immediate recognition by the State Department of Education and in 1941 was accepted as a fully accredited junior college by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

"To the stars through difficulties," originally adopted as the school motto, accurately describes the struggles as a junior college for the ensuing thirty-five years. From a total enrollment during the first college year (1926-1927) of 53 college students, plus 352 in high school and 333 in the elementary grades, the institution grew by its last year of operation as a junior college during 1960-1961 to an enrollment of 1,220 students, of whom 1,056 were in college and 164 were high school and sub-freshman enrollees. Some three million dollars had been expended in the enlargement and expansion of the college. But this record of achievement has not been easy. Through the depression years in the 1930's the college operated without endowment and without current support from the Baptist State Convention until 1937. The Founder and President died in 1934. The second World War all but stripped the campus of male students. During the 1950-1960 decade the college enjoyed its greatest growth in plant expansion and enrollment.

Aspiring to New Heights as a Senior College!

1961 —

In the spring of 1958 in its special session the Baptist State Convention authorized the Campbell College Board of Trustees, "in the light of its rapid expansion since 1950, the need for a senior coeducational Baptist college in the east, and the enthusiasm of its alumni concerning the future of the school (to) consider converting the institution into a senior college as soon as they think desirable and possible to do so." In the light of these instructions, the administration and trustees adopted plans for the orderly advancement to senior college status by adding the junior year in 1961-1962 and the senior year in 1962-1963.

CLASSROOMS

D. RICH MEMORIAL BUILDING (1926). This fire-resistant structure of tapestry-faced brick and Indiana limestone was constructed with that portion of the D. Rich bequest, approximately $160,000, available at Mr. Rich's death. The building, 160 feet long and 120 feet wide, contains classrooms, lecture halls, teachers' offices, and an auditorium to seat 1,250.

J. CLYDE TURNER CHAPEL. In October 1961 the Board of Trustees, prompted by the deep desire to exalt worship as the pre-eminent function of the auditorium in D. Rich Memorial Building, as well as by the intention to associate permanently with its chapel the names of two distinguished Baptists, long time friends of Campbell College, voted unanimously to name the chapel in honor of Dr. J. Clyde Turner and wife, Bertha Hicks Turner. Such action called for complete renovation and installation of improved facilities prior to the formal dedicatory exercises on January 25, 1963.

KIVETT BUILDING (1903). Completion of this massive structure named for Z. T. Kivett, the builder, required nearly three years (May 23, 1901 to November 2, 1903). At present its lower two stories house the college bookstore, several classrooms and teachers offices. It was used by the local elementary school until 1948, when it was converted into a science hall and was thus used until the fall of 1962.

MATHEMATICS HALL (1923). Started by a $2,500 gift of Mr. D. Rich toward a temporary auditorium and gymnasium, this brick-veneered structure, 60 by 90 feet, served as a gymnasium from 1924 to 1953. In 1956 it was converted for use by the department of Mathematics.

MUSIC CENTER (1947). The music department has up to the 1963-'64 session been housed in two temporary buildings, 20 x 48 feet each, erected in 1947.

In the summers of 1963 and 1964, two additional frame structures were built to provide for the expanded music program being offered. The college is committed to the erection at the earliest possible date of a more adequate music hall for this growing department.

FRED N. DAY COTTAGE (1936). In 1925 the Rev. Fred N. Day, purchasing a seven-room residence and about two adjacent acres, gave them to Buie's Creek Academy as a home for married students. When Campbell installed home economics in 1936, the building was renovated to provide space for practical training on the cottage plan. With the removal of the home economics department to the new Science Building in 1962 the building is now used as a kindergarten and temporary art studios.

SCIENCE BUILDING (1962). Realizing the strategic place of science in the future preparation of youth in this atomic age, nothing has been spared in the planning and construction of this new three and one-half story structure. Its 44,000 square feet provides spaciouly for geology, physics, biology, chemistry, and home economics. On the first floor is a small auditorium seating 175 to accommodate science lecture groups as well as for other cultural purposes. Included in its modern conveniences are air conditioning and elevator service.

CORNELIA PEARSON CAMPBELL HOME MANAGEMENT HOUSE (1965). This house was erected as a residence by Mrs. James A. Campbell in 1935, following the death of her husband on March 18, 1934. Here she lived the remainder of her ninety-seven years until her death on February 19, 1963. Later in that year, the house was purchased by the college and used temporarily as a rooming place for students. During the summer of 1965, the residence was completely renovated for use as the Home Management House of the Department of Home Economics, and named in honor of Mrs. Campbell, whose connection with the institution dates back to its opening day on January 5, 1887. It accommodates eight girls enrolled in the Home Management and House Residence course.

LIBRARY

CARRIE RICH MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1925). This building consisted originally of two large reading rooms, stack rooms, and librarian's office. In planning it as a memorial to his wife, the one intention of Mr. D. Rich, the donor, was to have the building as flawless and beautiful as was the Christian character of his beloved wife.

The college in 1956 erected an addition, harmonious with the original and three times its size, making the library adequate to store 35,000 volumes and to accommodate in the reading rooms 200 students at one time.

In 1965 it became necessary to project on the rear of the former structure an addition to the library that provided at present more than double the usable floor space previously available. The new addition contains a three-story stack section for books, a two-story section for reading rooms, and includes besides, special reading rooms, carrels, lounges and offices. The new section, facing the campus, for all practical purposes, constitutes a new main entrance to the building.

At present the library includes reading room space for at least 2,500 students and stack space for 100,000 volumes or more.

THE ROBERT A. AND MARGARET P. MCINTYRE LIBRARY (1964). The first well defined departmental library, auxiliary to the general library, took form in space provided for it in the New Science Building. This library was named in honor of these two fine friends and benefactors from Lumberton, N. C. Subsequently in her will, Mrs. McIntyre made special provision for the enlargement of the book collection and also for special equipment for the biological laboratories.

H. TRENT PARKS MEMORIAL LIBRARY (1965). Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Parks of Exmore, Virginia, this valuable library was established in the Department of Geology as a memorial to their son. Since the establishment of this library numerous other individuals have contributed many additional volumes.

WILLIAM PEARSON HALL (1915). This building bears the name of the man who in 1887 made the first canvass for funds to establish this institution. Until his death on May 25, 1915, he became permanently identified with the school as father-in-law of the founder and active supporter by word and purse.

Pearson Hall was constructed with money borrowed from Harnett County and repaid by the principal by teaching the public school for this district. It was first used by the elementary department of the school; later converted in 1926 into a music hall; used from 1948 until 1962 as a Men's dormitory; at present used as a library annex and as teacher's offices.

THEATRE

PAUL GREEN THEATRE (1934). Located in a grove between Mathematics Hall and the D. Rich Memorial Building under an arch of oaks and pines, this three-stage amphitheatre is a naturally beautiful and acoustically excellent setting for outdoor musicals and dramas. It was designed by Paul Green distinguished poet and playwright, who is a graduate of Buies Creek Academy. Mr. Green himself supervised the construction of the amphitheatre in 1933-34. Through many performances, including repeated productions of Mr. Green's own symphonic drama "The Highland Call," Campbell players, musicians, and their patrons have enjoyed this contribution to the cultural life of the college.

ATHLETIC FIELD

HERBERT B. TAYLOR ATHLETIC FIELD. This well-lighted athletic field was purchased some years ago to provide for the growing college enrollments. Mr. Herbert B. Taylor of Dunn, N. C., athlete and sports lover, father of the nationally famous Knee-Pants Baseball League, sponsored the necessary park improvements, including stands for the spectators. His deep interest in Campbell College has been over and over expressed in his benefactions and in his devoted services on the Board of Trustees. In recognition of these services the Trustees named the athletic field in his honor.

DORMITORIES

JONES DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1954). By subsequent action by the trustees this building was named in honor of William Hubert Jones and Lula Bostic Jones, faithful trustees and benefactors. Rooms in this modern, fire-resistant building for 72 students are arranged in suites with connecting baths. Each is equipped with built-in closet, chest of drawers, study table, and vanity dresser.

FRED N. DAY DORMITORY (1959). This modern dormitory for 78 students was accomplished by reconstructing a three-story, fire-resistant structure, adding wings to the north and south and a portico to its eastern exposure. As reconstructed, it is similar in appointments to Jones Dormitory. Day Dormitory, as first built in 1937, replaced the Fred N. Day Annex, a two-story frame building destroyed by fire on December 15, 1936.

TREAT DORMITORY (1913). Treat Dormitory has thirty-two rooms and a large basement, which is now used as a recreation room for the women's campus. It is named for M. C. Treat of California, deceased, the largest contributor to its construction.

POWELL DORMITORY (1960). This three-story dormitory, accommodating sixty young women, is modern in construction and equipment throughout. It is adjoined to Treat Dormitory by a connecting lobby and reception room. By order of the Board of Trustees this attractive building has been named in honor of Misses Mabel and Nell Powell to commemorate their years of faithful service and loyalty as teachers and devoted friends of Campbell College.

JAMES E. AND MARY Z. BRYAN DORMITORY (1961). This dormitory, located on the newly acquired tract of land back of Treat, is in many respects the most modern and attractive on the campus. The building is a cluster of twelve one-story apartment units, grouped around an interior court and joined by an exterior wall and roof. One section provides a reception center, a guest room and quarters for the faculty counselor. Each unit consists of four bedrooms, a living room and bath, to accommodate eight young women. The building is named in memory of James E. Bryan, alumnus and successful businessman, and wife, Mary Z. Bryan.

LAYTON DORMITORY (1923). Layton Hall contains 45 rooms for men in its main section. In 1928 an annex of thirteen rooms was built with money given by the late B. N. Duke. Because of the "singular service to the cause of Christ" rendered by Mrs. Joel G. Layton of Lillington, N. C., and her late husband, and because of their generous support of the institution through the years, the Board of Trustees on March 22, 1951, unanimously directed that the main section of this building "be henceforth known as Layton Dormitory."

W. S. BRITT DORMITORY (1947). Constructed with funds supplied by many friends, this twenty-seven-room, fire-resistant dormitory for men is named for an alumnus, W. S. Britt of Lumberton, the largest benefactor.

J. F. KITCHIN DORMITORY FOR MEN (1955). This three-story, fire-resistant dormitory accommodates 96 men. Each room has built-in closets, chest of drawers, study table, and lavatory. Floors are of monolithic terrazzo. A single-story section provides a guest room, accommodations for the dean of men, and a parlor for student use.

BALDWIN DORMITORY (1964). This three story, fire-resistant residence hall, with a semi-basement floor, centrally located on the men's campus, houses at present 130 students. It was given its new name November 16, 1964, with appropriate ceremony in honor of O. Hampton Baldwin; Lizzie Luther Baldwin, his deceased wife; Delphia Baldwin, his sister; and O. Luther, his deceased son. The naming commemorates the generous benefactions, previously made, of this fine Columbus County family.

CAMPBELLTOWN APARTMENTS. Twelve duplex houses, erected in 1959, accommodate twenty-four married-student and faculty families. Attractively designed, they are supplied with modern built-in conveniences. In 1962 ten other similar houses were added.

ELLIS MEMORIAL APARTMENTS. These apartments for married students were provided in part by W. Caswell Ellis, alumnus, in memory of Ruth Miller Ellis, deceased mother of his two children, and William Caswell Ellis, Jr., who lived a short but beautiful life.

STRICKLAND DORMITORY FOR WOMEN (1962). This three story dormitory located behind Bryan Dormitory consists of apartment units, each housing fourteen young women with a total accommodation for 126 young women. In 1965 this attractive dormitory was named to commemorate the generous benefactions and invaluable services while on the College's Board of Trustees rendered by Mrs. Mabel C. Strickland and her late husband, J. Hunter Strickland of Four Oaks, North Carolina.

SOUTH DORMITORY FOR MEN (1962). This modern three-story dormitory located to the west of the President's home houses 122 young men. The rooms are arranged in apartment units consisting of seven bedrooms, and bath.

TWO NEW DORMITORIES (1967). (1) A one hundred-bed dormitory for women. (2) A two hundred-bed dormitory for men with cafeteria for 350 students. Both dormitories and added cafeteria should be ready for occupancy by September, 1967. Each dormitory is modern in every way including air conditioning for summer and winter.

OTHER BUILDINGS

B. P. MARSHBANKS CAFETERIA (1934). Originally planned for 400 students, this cafeteria was constructed with contributions in cash, materials, and labor, supplemented by appropriations from the college budget. In 1957 it was expanded by addition of three dining rooms and much storage space. Stainless steel kitchen equipment was installed, and modern cafeteria counters were provided for three-line service. The cafeteria is now adequate for a student body of well over 1,000.

JOHN S. PEARSON MEMORIAL INFIRMARY (1960). A new health center, designed to be adequate for the present and readily expandable for future needs, was added to the Campbell family of buildings in October, 1960. This provides room for 16 students in two wards and four semi-private rooms. It is carefully designed as space for providing the medical care that is customarily given in first-class college health units. John S. Pearson, for whom the building is named, was at one time business manager of the Biblical Recorder and was for many years business manager of Progressive Farmer. He was the brother of Mrs. Cornelia Pearson Campbell, wife of the Founder. A challenge gift of Mrs. Campbell started the infirmary project.

JAMES A. CAMPBELL ADMINISTRATION BUILDING (1961). This beautiful, commodious structure is a fitting memorial to the Founder of Campbell College and his widow, Cornelia Pearson Campbell. The first floor of the two-story structure provides four spacious suites of offices for the President, Dean of the College, Dean of Students and the Business Manager. Located also on this floor will be found an attractive lobby and a large conference room, called the Trustee Room. The second floor provides adequate office space and facilities for such major programs as college development, public relations, publicity, multigraphing, photography, student guidance, religious activities and chapel direction.

CARTER GYMNASIUM (1952). This attractive, modern structure is named to honor the N. H. Carter Family and to commemorate the invaluable services and benefactions of Harry C. Carter of Greensboro, former president of the Trustees. During Campbell's recent years as a junior college the playing floor, standard gymnasium equipment, offices, and two large classrooms of this building have been adequate for a complete physical education program.

LAUNDRY AND DRY CLEANING PLANT (1951). The laundry and dry cleaning plant is one of the most useful auxiliary enterprises of the college.

O. W. GODWIN, SR. MAINTENANCE BUILDING (1964): Named in honor of O. W. Godwin, Sr. of Dunn in recognition of his invaluable planning and assistance in the inexpensive construction of this massive structure which provides long needed space for storing large quantities of supplies purchased at lowest available prices.

OTHER MEMORIALS

CHARLES L. ANDREWS CHAPEL ORGAN. In the summer of 1949 Mr. Charles L. Andrews, Chalybeate Springs, N. C., donated to the college a beautiful Baldwin Electronic organ, complete with chimes, for the spacious auditorium in the D. Rich Administration building. The organ adds much to all worship services held in the auditorium and also makes possible the study of organ by a number of interested music students.

THE J. F. AND KATYE HATCHER BLACKMON CARILLON SYSTEM. This lovely contribution to campus life, installed in 1955 from funds donated by Reverend and Mrs. J. F. Blackmon, coordinates the work of the whole day. Sweet toned, the amplified bells automatically announce the passing of the hours from morning until well in the night. Another most attractive feature is daily vespers, automatically presented.

The system likewise has provision for amplifying recitals from the chapel organ, as well as recordings.

THE LEWIS EDWARD AND MARTHA BARNES TYNER CHAIR OF BIBLE. The children of this fine Robeson County family, grateful for the Christian precepts of their home and for their superior educational advantages afforded them by their parents, set up in 1964 a generous trust fund for the establishment of this memorial Chair of Bible at Campbell College.

THE LORETTA BLISS WALTHOUR TRUST FUND. Mrs. Walthour of Windemere, Florida, has recently created a trust fund for the purpose of establishing the Loretta Bliss Walthour Chair of Sociology.

She plans to add periodically to the amount of the fund until the income from it will equal the salary of the professor chosen to occupy the chair.

BENEFACTIONS

*"He only does not live in vain who employs his wealth,
his thoughts, his speech to advance the good of others."*

W. C. ELLIS ENDOWMENT FUND

During the Commencement exercises in 1924, Mr. W. C. Ellis, Greenville, S. C., suggested a plan for increasing the endowment on an insurance plan. Alumni of the school were asked to take a ten-year endowment policy payable to the school for amounts from $100 up. In this way, the members of the senior class in 1925 subscribed about $5,000 to this fund.

Subsequent efforts have increased this endowment fund by several thousand dollars. Pledges and bequests are annually being converted into tangible assets, which are put into safe investments to produce much needed income as a supplement to student fees.

ALLEN L. BYRD ENDOWMENT FUND

Because of his lifelong interest in Campbell College, which is located in his native county, Mr. Allen L. Byrd bequeathed to this institution a share of his estate amounting to approximately $7,500. In the summer of 1941 a partial payment of $6,837 was received. By order of the Board of Trustees the entire amount is to remain intact as a part of the permanent endowment and is to be known as the Allen L. Byrd Endowment Fund in memory of the donor.

D. RICH ENDOWMENT FUND

On September 29, 1923, Mr. D. Rich, while conducting the devotional exercises at chapel, stated that little sleep had come to him on the previous night, because time was spent in talking with the Lord about Buie's Creek. In his soul was born that night, he said, this striking expression: "Buie's Creek must live." After his death on October 21, 1924, his will revealed that he had left the trustees of Buie's Creek Academy one-eighth of his estate. One-half of this amount, approximately $160,000, available at his death, made possible the construction of D. Rich Administration Building.

In August, 1940, Campbell College received from the will of Mr. D. Rich cash and securities valued at $151,669.80. By unanimous vote the trustees at their next annual meeting authorized that the entire amount be allocated to the permanent endowment fund of the college and that it be known thereafter as the D. Rich Endowment Fund.

B. N. DUKE GIFTS

In the spring of 1926 Mr. Duke gave the school $25,000 for the completion of a sewerage system and other needs. Three additional gifts during the year brought his contributions to $50,000.

ERWIN MILLS FOREST

In consideration of the long friendly relationship between Erwin Mills, Inc., and Campbell College in their joint promotion of the economic, social, cultural and religious development of their constituency, Erwin Mills, Inc., graciously donated to Campbell College in 1960 a valuable tract of timberland, containing approximately 150 acres, which the Board of Trustees of the college has designated as Erwin Mills Forest. This property is to be held for the foreseeable future to provide income for current support.

BLACKMON MEDICAL CENTER

Junious F. and Katye Hatcher Blackmon Medical Center, located in the Pearson Infirmary, was named for the parents of Dr. B. B. Blackmon, College Physician and Mrs. Bradeene Blackmon Vail, R.N. in grateful recognition of their services, benefactions and friendship.

LEAMAN BAGGETT PARK

In the fall of 1964, Mr. and Mrs. Deke E. Baggett and Mr. and Mrs. Deke L. Baggett donated as a memorial to the late Dr. Leamon Baggett approximately 130 acres of land in Horry County, South Carolina, to be used for field studies by the departments of biology and geology. This land, preserved in its natural state, will provide excellent opportunity for geological studies of the coastal plain area and its biological habitats.

LOAN FUNDS

We are happy to announce the establishment of the following loan funds for worthy students. These sums, coming unsolicited, express the confidence of these benefactors in the work of Campbell College and their sympathy with poor boys and girls struggling for an education. In behalf of those to be blessed by these amounts, we express our thanks for the following loans:

Four-County Loan Fund. This fund of $1,000 was established in the summer of 1941 by a friend interested in helping students who would otherwise be unable to finance their education. Preference is to be given students from the four counties of Harnett, Johnston, Sampson, and Cumberland, "unless college officials deem students from elsewhere more worthy."

Betty Byrd Green Memorial Loan Fund. In memory of Betty Byrd Green, who in 1887 was among the first students to register in this institution, her children, out of deep gratitude for her sacrificial life, her noble character and her keen intellectual interests, created at the commencement of 1941 this fund to aid worthy students.

Page Loan Fund. This loan fund of $500 was established by Mrs. Theresa Page Magruder in memory of her father, mother, two brothers, and one sister. Members of the family plan to add to this fund from time to time.

Alberta Hinton Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1940 by C. R. Hinton, alumnus of the college, in memory of his mother.

Gerald Motley Loan Fund. This fund is created by friends of Gerald Motley, gifted young minister and loyal alumnus of this institution, who lost his life during the year of 1940 in an automobile accident en route to the college to speak at the daily chapel service. Contributors to this fund would memorialize his nobility of character, his loyalty to Campbell, and his interest in the problems of youth.

Mabel Powell Loan Fund. Former students of Miss Mabel Powell have started this fund out of appreciation for the inspiration and help received from their beloved teacher. Each year the size of the fund is being increased.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ousley Loan Fund. This fund is in honor of the late Mr. H. C. Ousley and Mrs. Ousley, for many years citizens of the Buie's Creek community. It has been established by one of their sons and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. John W. Ousley of Waco, Texas. This fund is for the purpose of assisting students who feel led to give themselves to full time Christian service. It is not available to those who are addicted to the use of tobacco.

Demming Morton Ward Loan Fund. Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ward, Durham, North Carolina, have established this fund in loving memory of their son, killed in the service of his country on May 8, 1945. Two years prior he had left college as a sophomore to enter the U. S. Air Corps. At the time of his death, he was a first lieutenant flying a transport plane from Burma to India. Lieutenant Ward was a devoted son, an active participant in youth organizations, and a faithful member of his church. Through this memorial fund his parents hope to bless humanity in perpetuity by extending opportunity to other youth to live the more abundant life.

Jessie Slocumb Smith Scholarship Fund. This scholarship is sponsored by the Chicora Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, to commemorate the distinguished services of Jessie Slocumb Smith who for forty years was historian of her chapter. She served likewise in many other capacities, including the presidency. It is proposed to make this an ever enlarging benefit to the youth of this area by adding to the fund from time to time.

Starr Johnson Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been set up in memory of Starr Johnson, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis David Johnson, Buie's Creek, North Carolina. Of the initial gift amounting to $500, a scholarship in the amount of $100 will be awarded annually to a deserving freshman until further notice.

Fitchett Memorial Loan Fund. This fund is set up by the Fitchetts of Dunn to aid worthy students in need of financial assistance. Loans must meet the approval of the college committee.

Layton Loan Fund. This is an accumulative fund established by Mrs. Martha Layton Winston in honor of her parents, Mr. Joel G. Layton and Mrs. Maude C. Layton. The college deeply appreciates this scholarship aid to serve generations to come, set up as a tribute to these life-long friends, generous benefactors to Campbell College.

J. P. Coggins Memorial Loan Fund. This loan fund for $2,000 was established in 1964 by Mrs. Mattie Coggins Highfill in memory of her father.

A. C. Barefoot Memorial Loan Fund. This fund, initially amounting to $2,000, was established by Dr. A. C. Barefoot, Jr., Raleigh, North Carolina, in memory of his father, a long time farmer, business man, and civic and church leader of Angier, North Carolina, who "still speaketh" through the lives of those blessed through his son's benefaction.

The William M. Tally Ministerial Loan Fund. This devoted friend conveyed to Campbell College in his will a $5,000 loan fund to help capable ministerial students in need of financial assistance. Application can be made to the college only for short-term loans, due to the present size of the fund.

Ernest Vernon Hancock, Jr. Memorial Scholarship Fund. This fund has been established by his parents in his memory. Vernon Junior was a member of the first Senior College graduating class in 1963. He met death in an automobile accident on April 20, 1964.

The Mabel C. and J. Hunter Strickland Loan Fund. This fund was established in 1966 to assist worthy, ambitious students of limited means in obtaining college preparation for more abundant living.

In addition to the loan funds above, Campbell College gratefully acknowledges smaller amounts established by the following friends to help needy students: J. F. Keith, I. T. Valentine, J. H. Barnes, John W. Holmes, Bruce Blackmon, James A. Buchanan.

NATIONAL DEFENSE STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM

Under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958, Campbell College has been granted her proportionate share of Federal funds appropriated to the end "that no student of ability will be denied an opportunity for higher education because of financial need." While the Act provides that prospective teachers and students having special interest either in science, mathematics or modern languages be given preferential consideration, any capable high school graduate may apply for a loan in the amount necessary to attend college, not to exceed $1,000 a year. Information concerning the exceedingly generous terms for obtaining and repaying the loan will be supplied to any interested student upon request.

COLLEGE FOUNDATION, INC. LOAN FUND

Loans in an amount up to $500.00 per student per school year are available to qualified entering freshmen through the College Foundation, Inc. Students who are desirous of participating in this program which was sponsored by the Governor of North Carolina should contact the College Business Manager. The Business Manager will supply the necessary forms and information. If approved, the funds will be disbursed from the College Foundation to the college treasurer. Only students from North Carolina are eligible. Repayment is to begin 90 days after graduation to be repaid over a four year period.

THE TUITION PLAN INC. LOAN FUND

The Tuition Plan, Inc. is a national student loan fund organization that specializes in providing low cost programs for educational cost. The funds are made available to Campbell College students in any amount necessary for the financing of educational expenses. Arrangements for participating in this plan can be made by writing direct to the Tuition Plan, Inc., One Park Ave., New York, N. Y., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EDUCATION FUNDS, INC. LOAN FUND

This also is a national organization designed to finance the total cost of educational expenses over a wide range of plans from one to four years, and is available to all Campbell College students regardless of academic progress. Application for participation in the Education Funds, Inc. loan fund program can be obtained by writing direct to Education Funds, Inc., 10 Dorrance Street, Providence, R. I., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

FIRST-CITIZENS BANK AND TRUST COMPANY
PREPAID EDUCATION LOAN FUNDS

The college has an arrangement with the First-Citizens Bank and Trust Company whereby the bank makes direct loans to all Campbell College students in amounts necessary to defray educational expenses. This plan is designed to meet the needs of families desiring to pay educational costs out of income rather than out of savings. Arrangements for participating in this program can be made direct by writing First-Citizens Bank and Trust Company, Prepaid Education Loan Fund Department, Charlotte, N. C., or by communicating with the College Business Manager.

EXPENSES

For Semester of 18 Weeks

(The College reserves the right, with proper notice to patrons, to make changes in the following schedule of expenses when it proves necessary.)

PROCESSING AND ROOM RESERVATION FEES

A processing fee of $10.00 is payable with all original applications for admission and is not refundable.

A room deposit of $10.00 must accompany the application for a room in one of the dormitories. Priority of application determines the choice of rooms. This deposit is not refundable unless a student is denied admission. After the student enters classes this amount is held as a credit to his or her account against unnecessary damage done to rooms in dormitories. The college will refund any unexpended balance of room deposits upon the student's withdrawal or completion of education program at Campbell College.

In addition to the above, students from outside the State of North Carolina will be charged an additional $8.33 for each six weeks.

SCHOLARSHIPS

From the previously listed expenses, Campbell College grants as scholarships to members of the following groups, deductions in amounts indicated.

Ministerial students . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Volunteers for foreign missions . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Students from orphanages . . . . .	$100.00 a year
High School valedictorians . . . . .	$100.00 a year
Children of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year
Wives of ministers . . . . .	$ 50.00 a year

To qualify for a scholarship the ministerial student or mission volunteer must present letters of recommendation from his or her church. Continuation of the award of such scholarships is conditioned upon the student's satisfactory performance.

No special considerations or offers of scholarships or self-help employment are valid until approved by the President or Business Manager.

SELF-HELP EMPLOYMENT

The college has always sought to help worthy students unable to finance their college education. To that end all possible work assignments have been reserved for students. The compensation is in keeping with the charges made by the college and is payable in cash monthly. The college reserves the right to apply any compensation due against any unpaid balances currently due on the student account. Any student requiring financial assistance should obtain a "Self-Help Application Blank" from the college. Obviously, the amount of work available is limited. The Committee on job assignments will give consideration to priority of application, as well as to the merits of each case.

SETTLEMENTS

A charge of ten dollars for processing must accompany the application of each new student. This fee of $10.00 is applied against cost of evaluating applications and is not refundable. Each student requesting dormitory reservation must include also a room-reservation deposit of ten dollars. The unexpended balance of the room deposit is refunded upon termination of stay in the dormitory.

Applicants for the fall or spring term must pay a deposit of fifty dollars within two weeks after receipt of notice of acceptance. This amount will be credited toward fall or spring expenses. In the event of cancellation, the deposit will not be refunded.

Students enrolled during the spring semester must make this payment not later than two weeks before the close of the semester or make satisfactory provision with the Business Office. This amount will be credited toward fall expenses.

All students are required to have made this payment before registration. Failure to attend to this matter on schedule subjects the student's application for admission to cancellation by the Admissions Office.

Tuition and General Fees must be paid upon entrance and are not refundable after 48 hours.

Settlement for room and board must be made in advance for each half-semester. In the event of justifiable withdrawal during the semester, the student will be charged for room and board a penalty of ten per cent in excess of the charges for the period of attendance.

No student fees of any kind are refundable following the Christmas holidays in the first semester or May 1 in the second semester.

No refund on any of these payments will be made to the student whose conduct requires suspension or expulsion.

Any variation in the above terms must be approved by the President before the student's entrance.

A student will not be permitted to undergo semester examinations unless satisfactory arrangements for payment of all outstanding obligations for that semester have been approved by the Business Manager.

No statement of work completed will be released by the Registrar until the student has made satisfactory settlement of all charges.

Insurance payment made at the time of registration is not refundable. Protection continues for the period of coverage although the student is no longer in school.

ROOM AND BOARD

DORMITORIES. The college has facilities for housing most of its resident students. Others may find rooms in approved homes in the community. All dormitories are equipped with electricity, steam heat, and running water; but as is suggested by the variations in prices charged, the accommodations are not uniform. Every dormitory room is furnished with beds, dresser, chairs and study table or desk. Students must provide their own pillows, bed linens and covering, and towels; also curtains, study lamps, rugs and bookshelves, if these are desired.

BOARD. All students living in college dormitories eat together in the college operated dining halls, commodious and well-lighted buildings. Every effort is made to provide a properly balanced menu of well-prepared foods under thoroughly sanitary conditions.

The college reserves priority in the assignment of boarding students. When the capacity of college-owned facilities has been reached, students may be referred to approved homes and living accommodations in the community.

No student will be allowed to board or room in any private home unless the keeper of the home pledges to support the government of the school and to report upon request as to the conduct of students in the home.

The use of electrical appliances in the dormitories is allowed only by special permission. Radios may be operated in students' rooms with permission of the dean of men or dean of women. In each women's dormitory an ironing room will be provided.

A dormitory student may not move his or her residence from the dormitory during a semester without special permission from the President. Changes proposed for the following semester must have similar approval.

The use of air conditioning units must be approved by the Director of Maintenance Services. Installation of air conditioning units must be under the supervision of the department of maintenance services. Cost of air conditioning equipment and all installation cost must be paid by the student. A monthly charge of $5.00 will be assessed each student operating an air conditioning unit for the months of September, October, November, March, April, May, June, July and August. No charge will be assessed for units that remain installed during the months of December, January and February.

No special charge is made to students living in dormitories that are centrally air-conditioned.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

The requirements for entrance into the college conform to the regulations adopted by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the North Carolina College Conference.

High school graduation from a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or the equivalent of the completion of such a course, as shown by examination, is required of all students seeking admission to the freshman class.

The major portion of the preparatory work shall be composed of basic college-preparatory subjects: English, foreign languages, mathematics, natural sciences, and the social studies, and should normally include English, four units; foreign language, two units; mathematics, two units (preferably two units of algebra); natural science, one unit; and social studies, two units.

Students electing curricula leading to graduation, from Campbell or other colleges which may require additional preparation, must remove such deficiencies during the first year of residence, or during summer school preceding or following the first year.

All information showing the quality of work accomplished, the personality, character, and health of the applicant, and the recommendation of appropriate school officials must be available to the college before registration is permitted.

In addition to those students admitted by certificate or examination, special students who demonstrate their ability to profit by the instruction provided by the college may be admitted. The special student will be allowed no credit toward graduation until he has met the entrance requirements fully.

Every applicant for admission to the freshman class is required to take the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. The test is given in December, January, March, May, and July. It is recommended that the Scholastic Aptitude Test be taken early in the senior year.

Students wishing to make application to take the tests should procure application forms from their secondary schools, or write directly to the College Entrance Examination Board, Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey, or Box 1025, Berkeley 1, California, for the Bulletin of Information, which includes an application form and is available without charge. The bulletin lists test centers and gives complete information concerning the tests.

Because of deadlines for filing application to take the College Board tests, the student must make his arrangements well in advance of the testing date so that his application may be received in Princeton or Berkeley by the closing date.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

A student applying for admission to advanced standing or for acceptance of credit earned at another college must present: (a) a certificate of honorable dismissal from the institution last attended; (b) an official transcript of record from the institution or institutions previously attended; (c) details of the high school work completed.

Admission to the work of the junior year requires a C average on all work attempted. Provision will be made for advanced placement of qualified students on the basis of standard tests in subject areas in general use among the leading colleges and universities.

TRANSFERS

Students transferring from colleges not accredited by the regional accrediting agency will receive provisional credit which must be validated by a record of satisfactory performance during the first year of residence after transfer.

In general, the amount of credit accepted from other institutions in transfer will be determined by the requirements which apply to the non-transfer student. When a student is admitted with fewer quality points than semester hours of credit from another college, that student must make up the deficiency after transferring to Campbell.

A transfer student from a junior college will receive not more than sixty-six semester hours of credit (including Health) plus two semester hours of physical education service courses.

The maximum credit in correspondence courses allowed will be twelve semester hours with not more than six semester hours in the field of the major. The question of determining what is acceptable credit in correspondence courses will be the responsibility of the Dean or Registrar and the Head of the Department.

A transfer student completing the degree requirements at Campbell must complete a minimum of nine semester hours of upper division work in the field of the major before graduation.

RETENTION REQUIREMENTS

The quality point ratio is determined by dividing the quality points earned by the number of semester hours attempted.

To be eligible for readmission in the fall, students must have met the following quality point average requirements on all college-level work attempted:

1. Students who have attempted fewer than 47 semester hours must have a quality point ratio of 0.4.
2. Students who have attempted 47 but fewer than 78 semester hours must have a quality point ratio of 0.6.

3. Students who have attempted 78 but fewer than 110 semester hours must have a quality point ratio of 0.8.
4. Students who have attempted 110 but fewer than 130 semester hours must have a quality point ratio of 0.85.
5. Students who have attempted 130 or more semester hours must have a quality point ratio of 0.9.

Any student who is not meeting the above retention requirements should attend summer school at Campbell College to remove his deficiency.

If a student who has not earned a 1.0 quality point average in a given term is readmitted, he will be on probation during the next term.

Transfer students must meet these retention requirements before beginning their third semester at Campbell.

The maximum number of hours that students are normally allowed to attempt before qualifying for graduation is 160. A student may exceed this number only with the approval of the Committee on Admissions and Retention.

Students who have been ruled ineligible for readmission, on the basis of these requirements, may appeal to the Admissions and Retention Committee through the Academic Dean.

Readmission of any student from one semester to another is not automatic. The Admissions and Retention Committee may suspend from college at the end of any term any student whose academic achievement for that term has not been satisfactory.

THE COURSE OF STUDY

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

Campbell College will confer two degrees; Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. It will award an Associate in Arts diploma, upon request, to properly qualified applicants who have completed the equivalent of two years of college work of acceptable quality.

To be eligible for a degree or diploma, the candidate must have demonstrated evidence of good character and must have met the minimum residence requirement of thirty semester hours. This shall be interpreted as the last year preceding graduation. The responsibility of making application for graduation in writing at least ninety days prior to the date of the award shall rest with the candidate. It is assumed, further, that all financial obligations have been satisfactorily provided for in advance of graduation.

The conferring of degrees and the awarding of diplomas will take place at the end of the regular semester or at the end of the summer session.

A candidate for a degree of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must complete 128 semester hours of college work including Health 11 and two semesters of physical education. He must attain a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted, and a quality point average of 1.00 or C on all work attempted at Campbell.

He must complete a minimum of nine semester hours in the departmental major at Campbell. He must average C or better in the major.

A candidate for the Associate in Arts diploma must complete 64 semester hours of work including Health 11 and in addition to two hours of physical education with a quality point average of 1.00 on all work offered for graduation. Also, he must have a 1.00 average on 80 per cent of all work attempted.

CREDIT, GRADES, POINTS, LOAD, ETC.

A "semester" hour usually represents one class period a week in a subject continued through a full semester. Thus, for a course meeting three times a week, a credit of three semester hours is given at the close of the semester. Courses in science, home economics, and business education carry laboratory requirements. Two hours of laboratory time is converted into one hour of credit. This laboratory credit is combined with lecture credit and accounts for the fact that a given course carrying four semester hours of credit may require a total of six or more clock hours a week.

The following is the college scale of grading, with the number of quality points assigned for each grade:

A (Excellent)	93-100 per cent	3 points per hour of credit
B (Good)	85-92 per cent	2 points per hour of credit
C (Average)	77-84 per cent	1 point per hour of credit
D (Passing)	70-76 per cent	0 points per hour of credit
F (Failure)	Below 70	0 points per hour of credit

A grade of I must be removed by the completion of the work within 30 days after the opening of the next semester; otherwise it will be recorded as an F. The Dean may make exceptions to this rule in unusual cases.

Any course dropped without permission is recorded as an F. Permission to add a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar within two weeks following registration. Permission to drop a course may be granted only by the Dean or Registrar with the advice of the instructor involved. A course may be dropped not later than the end of six weeks. The Dean or the Registrar will determine whether the record should indicate dropped with permission, dropped failing, or dropped passing.

In summer school the time limit for adding or dropping a course will be based on the equivalent hours of class meetings.

A normal load for any student in the college department is sixteen credit hours per semester. Students who enter with deficiencies will be expected to work off the conditions before taking the prescribed courses for credit. A pre-college level course will be considered the equivalent of two semester hours, and this sum is to be subtracted from what is considered the normal load.

A full-time boarding student must carry a minimum load of fourteen semester hours and may not exceed a maximum of eighteen semester hours exclusive of physical education service courses required of all students.

For work done in other institutions the Dean of the College will assign appropriate credit.

Requests for permission to enroll in courses at other colleges must be approved in writing prior to enrollment by the Dean or Registrar. Courses to be applied against the requirements in the major field must meet with the approval of the Head of the Department.

The college will not accept credits earned at another school while a student is under academic or social suspension.

GRADUATION DISTINCTIONS

CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.25 average of all work attempted.

MAGNA CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.50 average on all work attempted.

SUMMA CUM LAUDE: A student must attain a 2.75 average on all work attempted.

To be eligible for honors a student must have completed a minimum of 60 semester hours at Campbell. To be eligible for honors a student must have completed the last 60 hours of work prior to graduation within a five year period.

The entire record of a student is considered with the understanding that a transfer student may receive no honors which require a quality point average higher than the quality point average attained on work at Campbell College.

CLASSIFICATION

The classification of a student depends upon the amount of the college work and the number of quality points he has to his credit and not upon the length of time he has been in college. A student is classified:

- (1) As a senior, upon the completion of 90 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 90 quality points.
- (2) As a junior, upon the completion of 55 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 55 quality points.
- (3) As a sophomore, upon the completion of 23 semester hours with grades sufficient to entitle him to 16 quality points.
- (4) As a freshman, if the regular admission requirements have been met.
- (5) As a special student, if for some approved reason he is registered for one or more courses but does not meet the admission requirement.
- (6) As a part-time student, if with approval he is registered for less than 9 hours of credit work.
- (7) When a student has a deficit of twenty-five quality points, he will be classified one class lower than he would under the provisions listed above.

A minimum of eight semester hours of work passed and a minimum of six quality points earned will enable a full time student to be readmitted for the following full semester without probation. A progressively higher standard will apply to upper-classmen. Any student failing to meet this minimum requirement will have his status determined by the Admissions Committee.

With the permission of the Dean and the instructor, any person may audit any course or part thereof. Preference, however, is given to staff members, their spouses, and students of the College. Requirements as to attendance and participation are determined by the instructor. An auditor receives no credit and no grade, but satisfactorily completed audits are reported to the Registrar's Office and made a matter of permanent record.

When a student has more than two examinations in one day the middle exam, or exams, will automatically give way. The teacher will arrange for a special exam on make-up day or at a time which is suitable.

When a student has two exams at the same time the teacher of the larger class will give way to the teacher who has the smaller number of students scheduled for exam in that course at that time.

THE GENERAL COLLEGE CURRICULUM

All students are under the jurisdiction of the General College Curriculum until they are admitted to a Major or Special Program. After admission to a Major or Special Program, the Department primarily involved assumes responsibility for directing the student's academic program. Students interested in pursuing any Special Program or in majoring in Business Education, Elementary Education, Home Economics or Music should enter these programs at the earliest possible date, preferably upon registering for their first semester. Students interested in obtaining a Teacher's Certificate should indicate this before registering for the Sophomore year.

The General College Curriculum is composed of six distinct areas. Ordinarily, the courses should be selected in the order indicated below, although the student may select for his Variable Option during his Freshman year an additional course in Areas "C" or "D", and thereby gain an additional Variable Option during the Sophomore year. If the student is not taking a normal load, or if a course must be repeated, the Variable Option should give way to the other areas. (A normal load is 15 or 16 hours in addition to one hour of Physical Education.) Every student will be assigned to an advisor who will assist him in making his choices. Prior to registration for any semester, every student must have the courses he plans to take approved by his advisor.

A. ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

All students must take an English course every semester until the English requirement is fulfilled. (No student will be allowed to drop Freshman English.)

B. FOREIGN LANGUAGES

All students must take a Foreign Language every semester until the Foreign Language requirement is fulfilled.

C. MATHEMATICS AND NATURAL SCIENCE

All students must take Mathematics every semester until the Mathematics requirement is fulfilled. All students must take 8 hours of a Natural Science during either the Freshman or Sophomore year.

D. WESTERN CIVILIZATION

All students must take either History 11, 12 or Religion 11, 12 during the Freshman year. All students must take the other during either the Freshman or Sophomore year. (Students interested in majoring in History or Social Science must take History 11, 12 during the Freshman year.)

E. PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

All students must take Physical Education 11, 12 during the Freshman year, and Health 11 prior to admission to the Junior class.

F. VARIABLE OPTION

FRESHMAN: Ordinarily the Freshman will have another course to choose in addition to those required above.

If the Freshman is fundamentally uncertain about what he desires to pursue as a Major, then it is highly recommended that he select an additional course in either Area C or D.

If the Freshman desires to explore a prospective Major, then the the following recommendations will place him in the most advantageous position to be admitted to this Major.

Major	Variable Option
Biology	Biology 11-12
Business Administration	A Natural Science
Chemistry	Chemistry 11, 13
English	Another course in Areas C or D
Foreign Language	Another course in Areas C or D
Geology	Chemistry 11, 13 or Geology 21, 22
History	Another course in Areas C or D
Home Economics	Home Economics 11, 12
Mathematics	A Natural Science or another Math
Music	Music 11-12
Physical Education	Another course in Areas C or D
Religion	Religion 13-14
Social Science	Another course in Areas C or D

If the Freshman so desires, he may select for his Variable Option one of the following courses:

Art 14, 11, 12

English 18

Home Economics 1, 7

Music 13

Secretarial Science 11, 12

Speech 13, 14

SOPHOMORE: After fulfilling the requirements stated in Areas A through E, the Sophomore is then encouraged to select for his Variable Options courses that meet the remaining General Requirements for a B.A. or B.S. Degree (e.g., Art 14 or Music 13, and six additional hours of Social Science from among the following: Economics, Geography, Government, History, Philosophy and Sociology.) However, if the Sophomore has a preference for a Major, but has not been admitted to this Major, then he should consult his advisor on what he should take. Ordinarily, the Sophomore will be assigned to an advisor knowledgeable in this area of preference.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR: All Juniors and Seniors who have not been admitted to a Major must have their programs approved by the Dean's Office.

G. DEVIATIONS All deviations from the General College Curriculum must be approved by the Dean's Office.

EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY

PROFESSORS: DR. WEYER, DR. FREEMAN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. BICKLEY, MR. COLLINS, MR. W. S.

HORTON, DR. MORTER, MRS. PARKER, DR. TURNER

INSTRUCTOR: MRS. GRAY.

PART-TIME INSTRUCTOR: MRS. DAIL

OBJECTIVES

The purposes of the Department of Education and Psychology are as follows:

- (1) To coordinate the educational preparation of all prospective teachers and to provide the necessary professional courses and experiences. Teacher Education has been one of the important functions of the college since it became a senior college.
- (2) To provide a major in Elementary Education.
- (3) To provide a major in psychology.
- (4) To contribute to the over-all general-education objectives of the college through courses in education and psychology.

ADMISSION POLICY

All candidates for teacher education must be officially admitted to the teacher education program of the college. The criteria for admission to this program include, among other requirements, the following:

- (1) Grades—a minimum average of C in the major field, in professional education courses, and in overall scholastic work.
- (2) Approval of the major department and of the Department of Education.
- (3) Approval of the Dean of the College and the Dean of Students.
- (4) No conditions, academic or otherwise.

To qualify for a North Carolina, Class A teaching certificate the degree Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science must be obtained. The requirements for these degrees are listed elsewhere in this catalogue. The Elementary Education major is planned for those students who wish to qualify for an Elementary Class A certificate. The student wishing to qualify for a secondary certificate must select a major in an academic field—the academic field in which he wishes to be certified. Below is a summary of the professional education courses which must be taken to qualify for an elementary school certificate or a secondary school certificate.

General Psychology, 3 semester hours, is a requirement for all prospective teachers.

ELEMENTARY TEACHERS

Sophomore Year: Introduction to Education—either semester
Junior Year: Human Growth and Development—first semester;
The Elementary School—second semester.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the first semester of the senior year, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the junior year: Education 41, Human Growth and Development and Education 51, The Elementary School; and during the second semester, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School and Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School. The Education Block of the first semester would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary School, Education 46, Science in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

When the student wishes to do student teaching the second semester, the following courses should be taken the first semester of the senior year: Education 43, Language Arts in the Elementary Schools, and Education 46, Science in the Elementary School. The second semester Education Block would include: Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 44, Arithmetic in the Elementary School, Education 45, Social Studies in the Elementary School, and Education 57, Student Teaching.

The Elementary Education major requires a minimum of 92 hours of specific general-education and academic work including an area of concentration of 21 hours in the social studies and a second area of concentration of 20 hours in English and speech. The professional courses include 30 hours of required work. These requirements are listed in more detail in the summary of general requirements for a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education under "General Requirements for Degrees."

SECONDARY TEACHERS

Students who plan to teach in High School should complete Education 21, 22, and 41 not later than the second semester of the Junior Year. The Education Block of 15 hours, Education 31, Educational Psychology, Education 52, The Secondary School, Education 53, Methods and Materials in the Secondary School and Education 57, Student Teaching, which may be taken either the first semester or the second semester of the Senior Year, depending upon the student's major, will complete the Education requirements for teacher certification, provided the student has completed the requirements for his major.

PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS

Requirements for a major in psychology: 30 semester hours, including courses 22, 60, 63, 64, 66, and 70. Elective hours may be selected from: 32, 61, 62, 65, 67, 69, 71, and 72. There is no essential sequence of courses except that course 22 is a prerequisite to all courses except 66.

Psychology majors should take Biology 11 and 12. Students considering graduate study for work in clinical and counselling psychology should take additional work in biology and sociology. Anyone planning to work in the experimental field should elect courses in mathematics, statistics, and chemistry. Those considering the personnel and industrial field in psychology should elect Business Administration 31 (Management) and Economics 54 (Labor Economics). Anyone planning to work in the public school should take Education 21. The foreign language that is recommended for graduation is either French or German. Psychology majors may qualify for either a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree.

INSTRUCTORS: MRS. HINCHMAN, MR. SKAGGS

Requirements for a major in English: 36 semester hours, including courses 11, 12, 21 and 22, which are prescribed for all Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees, and 18 hours from courses numbered above 30.

The 18 semester hours from courses numbered above 30 may be chosen, with departmental advice and approval, out of more than 50 hours available, according to specific purposes. However, the program must include Shakespeare (3 hours), Chaucer or the English Language (3 hours), and six hours in English literature after the year 1700; also English 37 for transfer students who did not have a course in American literature in the institution from which they transferred.

Not more than 18 hours from courses numbered below 30 may be credited toward the major of 36 hours. Any additional credits from these lower division courses must be entered as extra beyond the 36 specified for the major.

Requirements for a teaching certificate: For prospective teachers of English in the secondary schools, the requirements for the major are the same as stated above, but with more prescribed courses.

The State Department of Education recommends 12 hours of Language, a requirement which can be fulfilled from the 14 hours available in courses 11, 12, 28, 33 and 36.

Another requirement is six hours in Language and Literature Skills, defined as "reading, interpretation of literature, oral and written exposition, the library, journalistic writing." Courses in Speech and Journalism, which appear in the following outline of courses, fall within this area. The State requirement in English and American literature, 12 hours, will be more than fulfilled in the regular major.

Prerequisites: Unless it is stated otherwise in the descriptions, English 11, 12, 21, 22 are prerequisites to all of the following courses numbered above 30.

9. Composition*.—A preparatory course in the construction of paragraphs and simple compositions. Instruction and practice in grammar, spelling, punctuation and mechanics. This course is prerequisite to English 11 for students whom standardized placement examinations prove to be unprepared for undertaking the work of English 11 successfully.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

10. Reading.—A laboratory course intended primarily to help students whose score on standardized placement tests indicates that their lack of skill in reading will cause them serious difficulty in their college work.

Two hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

11. Freshman English.—A study of grammar, punctuation, spelling and mechanics; principles and methods of composition; study of essays and other selected readings as a basis for constant practice in self-expression. Regular themes, reports, and conferences. Required outside reading.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

12. Freshman English.—Composition, continued; a study of selected masterpieces representing basic types of literature; training in the research paper; required outside reading. Prerequisite, English 11.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Major English Writers.—A study of major writers from Chaucer to Johnson in their cultural and historical setting, with emphasis on appreciation and interpretation of their principal works. Prerequisite, English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22. American Literature to 1855.—A survey of the literature of the United States, 1607-1855, with emphasis on the historical, geographical, religious and philosophical trends as interpreted through principal writings. Prerequisite, English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. Business Communication.—The fundamentals of business writing carefully examined; application of these fundamentals in the writing of a business report and in the writing of letters—sales, credit, adjustment, application, and related types. Prerequisite, English 11-12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

---

* Proficiency in the use of the English language is recognized by the Faculty as a requirement in all departments. A composition deficiency, indicated by cc under the final grade for any course, may be assigned in any department to a student above the freshman year whose writing is unsatisfactory, regardless of previous credits in composition.

For the removal of the cc by the English Department the student is required to take English 9 during the first semester after the composition condition is assigned, or to repeat without credit English 11, or to proceed immediately with some other plan of work approved by a committee of the English Department. Removal of the deficiency is prerequisite to graduation.

The writing of all rising juniors is examined for proficiency; that of Campbell College students during their last semester of sophomore English; that of transfer students during the orientation period.

28. Word Study and Vocabulary.—A systematic study of word origins and meanings, with the objective of vocabulary building as a means of improving the ability to think, read and communicate effectively. Prerequisite, English 11-12.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

29. Creative Writing.—A course for students interested in doing creative writing, whether in prose or verse. All applicants for admission to the course have an opportunity to submit samples of their work during the first week of the semester. Prerequisite, sophomore or junior standing.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Literature of the English Renaissance.—A study of main Renaissance religious and philosophical ideas as they appear in works of literary figures in Renaissance England. Particular attention to selected poetry and prose of Sidney, Spenser, Donne and to selected plays.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

PROFESSORS: DR. MYERS, MR. BURKOT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MRS. BAGBY, DR. COCKBURN, MISS MIX,
MR. PHELPS

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. JACOBI

INSTRUCTOR: MR. RAMOS

The department of foreign languages believes that the liberal arts curriculum should require the attainment by the student of the ability to read, speak, and write at least one foreign language.

During the registration period, a placement test is given to those students presenting two units of the same language. If the student passes this test, he is eligible to enter the intermediate courses (those numbered 11 and 12). If he fails the test, he must take the elementary courses before entering the intermediate courses.

An advanced placement test stressing reading ability is given to those students presenting three or more units of the same language. If the student passes this test, he is eligible to enter advanced courses (those numbered 21 and above) without, however, receiving any credit for the intermediate courses he has omitted. If he should fail this test, he will still be eligible to enter the intermediate courses without further testing.

At the present time a major is offered only in French. A major requires 30 hours above the elementary level or 36 hours if begun at the elementary level. Certification to teach in the secondary schools of this state requires the same number of hours.

It is recommended that a student majoring in French use his electives to secure as strong a liberal arts background as possible. His electives should include another language and courses in such fields as English, history, philosophy, religion, and the sciences.

Most of the elementary and intermediate courses offered by the department require frequent use of the language laboratory.

With the exception of certain types of major programs in music, language requirements must be fulfilled by courses in one language.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory period a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

27. Nutrition.—A study of the fundamentals of human nutrition, food preparation and dietary planning. Open to pre-nursing students.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

32. Textiles.—A study of textiles, its properties and composition, identification and manufacturing procedures; its selection, care and use.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

34. Planning and Evaluating The Home Economics Program.—Planning and evaluating of curriculum in secondary schools as it relates to overall school program and community.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

35. Child Development.—A study of the factors affecting the physiological development of the pre-school child. Emphasis on the influence of the home on development. Observation in the nursery school gives opportunity for studying the child in a group situation.

Three lecture hours a week, plus one hour of observation, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Family Health.—Health care of the family, simple procedures for the care of sickness and accidents in the home.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

45. Family Economics.—A study in the use of family resources for the purpose of attaining family goals. Basic principles of planning the use of the family income and consumer buying.

Two hours lecture a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

46. Demonstration Techniques.—Basic techniques in using the lecture-demonstration method for educational methods for educational or professional use.

Four hours lecture a week for nine weeks, one semester.

Two semester hours.

48. Housing.—Social, economic, and aesthetic factors given to house design and its relationship to its environment.

Two hours lecture a week.

Two semester hours.

49. Household Equipment.—The selection, use and care of common types of household equipment. (Offered alternate years)

Two hours lecture a week.

Two semester hours.

55. Home Management and House Residence.—Principles of management in the home with emphasis on values as they affect the use of family resources. Application of these principles through residence in the home management house.

Prerequisite: Home Economics 21, 45.

Completed in one semester

Five semester hours.

65. Family Relationships.—Interpersonal relationships of family members as a factor on individual development; problems associated with individual adjustments, group relationships; emphasis on democratic orientation of family living.

Three hours lecture a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

MATHEMATICS

PROFESSOR: DR. CANADAY

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: MR. BAIN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. DUVALL, MR. TAYLOR, MR. THOMAS

INSTRUCTORS: MR. JOHNSON, MR. TODD, MR. JONES, MISS KEEN

PART-TIME INSTRUCTORS: MR. CROW, MR. WEBB, MR. NYE,

MR. VANDERWALL

Requirements for a major in Mathematics: Candidates for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Mathematics must complete any twenty-seven semester hours in Mathematics courses numbered above 20. Also, twelve semester hours from Physics, Chemistry, Education 53, French, German, Logic, Psychology or Philosophy.

1. Sub-Freshman Algebra.—Review of high school algebra for those students offering less than one and one-half units in high school algebra and those not qualified for College Algebra on the basis of a pre-test in mathematics.

Three hours a week, one semester.

No credit.

2. Plane Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

6. Solid Geometry.—By Arrangement.

No credit.

10. Logarithms and slide rule.—Theory of logarithms and technique of slide rule operations. Recommended for mathematics and science majors.

Three hours a week for six weeks.

One semester hour.

11, 12. College Algebra-Trigonometry.—Unified approach to algebra and trigonometry from a modern viewpoint.

Three hours a week two semesters, or six hours a week, one semester.

Six semester hours.

13. Graphics-Engineering Drawing.—Lettering, use of drawing instruments, geometrical constructions, projections, isometric and orthographic drawings.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

14. Graphics-Descriptive Geometry.—Representation of geometrical magnitudes with points, lines, planes and solids concurrent with noncoplanar forces; the solution of problems.

Four hours of laboratory a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

19. Math for Elementary Teachers.—Designed for elementary education majors. Some of the topics considered are: the nature of the number system, measurement, simple concepts of algebra and geometry, sets and variables.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours.

20. Mathematics for Elementary Teachers.—Selected topics in algebra, geometry, and trigonometry. Prerequisite: Mathematics 19.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21. Theory of Equations.—Complex numbers, theorems on roots of polynomial equations, approximations, determinants, matrices, and symmetric functions. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

22, 23, 24. Analytic Geometry and Calculus.—Plane analytic geometry, limits, differentiation of algebraic functions, conic sections, and application of derivatives: derivatives, (with applications) of trigonometric, exponential, and logarithm functions by various means (with application), area under curves, areas of surfaces of revolution, volumes of solids of revolution.

Four hours a week, three semesters.

Twelve semester hours.

31. History of Mathematics.—A study of the lives of the leading mathematicians, together with a study of the developments of the number system, algebra, trigonometry, etc. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Junior standing.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Differential Equations.—A first course in ordinary differential equations, handling standard types, proceeding to linear equations of higher order; some operator methods; applications to growth, geometrical and solution problems; to dynamical and electrical systems, higher degree equations of order one; special equations of order two; further special applications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33. Linear Algebra.—Introduction to the theory of matrices; vector spaces; equivalence, rank, inverse of matrices; congruence; quadratic forms; polynomials over a field; similarly characteristic roots. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Introduction to Probability and Statistics.—A study is made of mathematical models of random phenomena, mean and variance of probability law, law of large number, algebra of expectations, frequency distributions, generating functions, correlation, regression and hypotheses testing. Prerequisite: Mathematics 24 which may be taken concurrently.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Introduction to Modern Algebra.—Topics included: the number system, elementary theory of groups; rings; integral domains and fields. Prerequisite: Mathematics 22 (should have junior standing).

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Topics in Modern Geometry.—A study of the recent geometry of the triangle and circle, with emphasis on harmonic points and lines, isononal points and lines, inverse points and lines, power of a point, inversion, concurrency, collinearity. Recommended for prospective teachers of mathematics. Prerequisite: Mathematics 23 and Mathematics 33.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Advanced Calculus.—(An Introduction to Analysis). A study will be made of functions, sequences, limits, continuity, differentiability, integration and vectors. Prerequisites: Mathematics 24 and Mathematics 33.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

MUSIC

PROFESSOR: DR. YODER

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MRS. HORTON, MR. STONE

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR: MR. BARTOSZ

INSTRUCTORS: MISS ELMORE, MR. GATCH, MR. COMPTON, MRS. LEWIS

Requirements for a Major in Music: 38 semester hours including music courses 11, 12, 21, 22, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 41 and 42. Students must study their major instrument each semester, and a second instrument two semesters unless exempt by passing a second instrument proficiency examination. Additional study without credit will be required if the student has not passed the second instrument examination after two semesters of study. One half recital the junior year and a full recital the senior year are required of all majors earning the Bachelor of Arts degree. Credit earned for participation in vocal and instrumental ensembles may not be included in the 124 hours required for graduation with the major in music.

Requirements for Major in Music Education: Students who desire certification for teaching follow the above requirements for applied music; however the student may not enroll in applied music during the semester devoted to the education block except by permission. Course requirements are the same as for the major in music except that only one semester of counterpoint is required. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, vocal and keyboard majors will complete the following music methods courses: 24, 25, 26, 27, 47 and 53. In addition to the requirements for the major in music, instrumental majors will complete the following music methods courses: 26, 38, 39, 43, 44, 45 and 53. Instrumental majors will substitute 38 instead of 36. All Music Education majors must complete the following Education courses in order to become eligible for certification for teaching:

21, 22, 41 and 53. Students earning the Bachelor of Science degree in Music Education are required to prepare a joint recital, but are encouraged to present a full recital during their senior year.

Church Music: Students who elect to concentrate in the area of Church Music follow the major in music curriculum and may choose electives from any area of study or from the following music courses: 23, 28, 46, 48 and 57.

Prerequisites: Music 11 and 12 are prerequisites to all music courses excepting the following: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 23 and applied music. Music 21 and 22 are prerequisites to the following music courses: 31, 32, 41 and 42. Non-Music majors who desire college credit in applied music must request credit through the Head of the Music Department. Ordinarily, a non-music student who has previously studied the instrument displays proficiency or who has general knowledge of music theory will be eligible to receive college credit.

Course requirements outside of the major area are listed under the General Requirements for Degrees, with the exception of General Psychology which is required of all music majors.

1-2. Pre-Harmony.—A presentation of the basic elements of music adapted to students who are not adequately prepared to enter Music Theory I

Two hours a week, two semesters.

No credit.

11-12. Music Theory I.—The basic rudiments of music, including scales, intervals, chords, sight-singing, melodic and harmonic dictation and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

13. Music Appreciation.—An introduction to music through an understanding of the principles of form and the elements of music. Various styles and types of vocal and instrumental works are studied. (Not offered to music majors)

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

21-22. Music Theory II.—A continuation of Music Theory 11 and 12, including advanced modulation, chromatic harmony, seventh chords and altered chords. Continuation of sight-singing, dictation and keyboard harmony.

Five hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

23. Hymnology.—An historical and systematic study of poetic hymns and metrical tunes including the contributions of various ethnic groups to the body of Christian hymnody.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

24. Woodwind Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of woodwind instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

25. Brass and Percussion Methods.—Groups instruction in the teaching, structure and use of brass and percussion instruments. (Not offered to instrumental majors)

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

26. String Methods.—Group instruction in the teaching, structure and use of stringed instruments.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

27. Music Methods in the Elementary School.—A course dealing with techniques of teaching, and musical materials appropriate to the elementary grades. Deals with methods of teaching songs, creativity, rhythmic studies, the child's voice, music theory in the grades, directed listening, performance on simple instruments and supervision of musical activities in the classroom.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

28. Survey of Church Music.—A study of place of music in the life of the Church from earliest Biblical accounts to the present including a complete study of the music of the liturgy.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

29. Piano Pedagogy.—An outline of the materials of instruction from the elementary through the more advanced levels. Attention is given to methods of teaching technique, progressive studies, repertoire, interpretation and style.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

31. Modal Counterpoint.—A study of the vocal contrapuntal technique of the sixteenth century, with exercises in the five species.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Tonal Counterpoint.—A study of eighteenth century contrapuntal technique with emphasis on the style of Bach.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

33-34. History of Music.—The development of western musical culture from its origins to the present, with an emphasis on the chronological growth of musical concepts through the study of the techniques and compositions of the various periods of history.

Three hours a week, two semesters

Six semester hours.

35. Conducting.—A study of basic conducting techniques.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

36. Choral Materials.—A general survey of choral materials from the Renaissance to the present, with special attention given to appropriate music for Junior and Senior High School groups and church choirs.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Music for the Classroom Teacher.—The methods and materials used by the classroom teacher in presenting music in the elementary grades. Includes a review of the basic rudiments of music. (Not offered to music majors).

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

38. Instrumental Conducting.—A detail study of conducting as applied to instrumental ensembles with laboratory work in small ensembles and band.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

39. The Marching Band.—The organization, function and techniques of the marching band.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

41. Orchestration.—The study of instrumental ranges and techniques coupled with arranging for orchestra, band and heterogeneous groups.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Form and Analysis.—A study of small and large forms with analysis of works from choral, piano and symphonic literature.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. Minor Instrument Classes in Woodwind Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of woodwinds. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.

- a. Flute
- b. Oboe and Bassoon
- c. Clarinet and Saxophone

Two hours a week, one semester each.

One semester hour each.

44. Minor Instrument Classes in Brass Instruments.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of the brass instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level on each instrument.

- a. Trumpet and French Horn
- b. Trombone
- c. Baritone and Tuba

Two hours a week, one semester each.

One semester hour each.

45. Minor Instrument Class in Percussion.—A study of the playing technique and the teaching of percussion instruments. Students are required to advance to the intermediate level.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

46. Choral Literature.—A study of choral compositions from Palestrina to the present with special attention given to the larger forms.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Music Methods in the Junior and Senior High School.—The organization and administration of music programs in the Junior and Senior High School, including the following; suitable textbooks, the general music class, the adolescent voice and its care, testing and classification of voices, suitable songs and texts, the aims and purposes of music in secondary education.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

48. Church Music Administration.—A study of the operation of a church-wide music program including the graded choir program, music budget, integrated educational program and music materials.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Music Methods and Materials.—The organization and maintenance of a music program in the public schools, including a study of materials and methods appropriate for teaching in the vocal or instrumental fields. Correlated with Education 53-MU.

Three hours a week, one-half semester.

One and one-half semester hours.

57. Supervised Field Work in Church Music.—Practical work in maintaining a church music program, under faculty supervision.

Scheduling to be arranged.

APPLIED MUSIC

Private instruction is provided on the instruments listed below. One half hour of instruction per week earns one semester hour of credit. One hour per week earns two semester hours of credit. A maximum of twenty hours of applied music may count toward graduation. Non-music students may receive credit for applied music on same basis as music majors by securing the permission of the Head of the Music Department.

11a, 12a, 13a, 14a.—Piano

11b, 12b, 13b, 14b.—Organ

- 11c, 12c, 13c, 14c.—Voice
 11d, 12d, 13d, 14d.—Trumpet
 11e, 12e, 13e, 14e.—French horn
 11f, 12f, 13f, 14f.—Trombone
 11g, 12g, 13g, 14g.—Baritone
 11h, 12h, 13h, 14h.—Tuba
 11i, 12i, 13i, 14i.—Flute
 11j, 12j, 13j, 14j.—Oboe
 11k, 12k, 13k, 14k.—Bassoon
 11l, 12l, 13l, 14l.—Clarinet
 11m, 12m, 13m, 14m.—Saxophone
 11n, 12n, 13n, 14n.—Percussion

ENSEMBLES

3. Touring Choir.—Membership open to all students by consent of the director, based on competitive tryouts. Concerts on campus and out of town including an extended Spring Tour. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

4. Concert Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Concerts on campus and out of town.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

5. Collegiate Choir.—Open to all freshmen students and others who do not elect to sing in the touring choir. Concerts limited primarily to on campus performances. Performance of secular and sacred choral music.

Three hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

6. Brass Ensemble.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

Two hours a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

7. Chamber Choir.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director. Emphasis on vocal music appropriate for small groups.

No credit.

8. Stage Band.—Open to all students and faculty with the consent of the director.

No credit.

10. Woodwind Ensemble.—Open to all students and faculty with consent of director.

NATURAL SCIENCE

PROFESSORS: DR. HOWARD, DR. JUNG, MRS. PROFFIT

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. BEARD, MISS N. ELIASON, MR. MC-INTYRE, MR. NELSON

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MRS. BRITTON, MR. HOPE, DR. LAMB, DR. MARTIN, DR. PERKINS, MRS. MCCALL

INSTRUCTORS: MISS MATTHEWS, MR. SOOTS, MRS. ALLRED

PART-TIME ASSISTANT: MRS. JACKSON

A candidate for the Bachelor's degree in a natural science may major in Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Science Education, or Medical Technology. The requirements for majors in Biology, Chemistry and Geology are stated in the appropriate places.

A candidate for the degree in Medical Technology must satisfactorily complete the three-year program prescribed below and an additional year at either Watts Hospital in Durham, Rex Hospital in Raleigh, or North Carolina Baptist Hospital School of Nursing in Winston-Salem. Upon successful completion of the four-year program, the candidate is awarded the degree from Campbell College. Certification follows after satisfactory completion of an examination administered by the Registry of Medical Technologists. A program for pre-medical and pre-dental students may be arranged through consultation with the heads of the science departments.

BIOLOGY

DR. L. S. BEARD, Head of the Department

Biology 11-12 is prerequisite to all higher courses in Biology.

The general requirements for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13 and Physics 11-12. Students contemplating careers as professional biologists should elect as many as possible of the following: Chemistry 15, 16, 27, 28, Mathematics 22, 23, 24, and Geology 21, 22. The major will consist of a minimum of thirty-two semester hours, and will include Biology 45, 46 and two courses in each of the following series:

- A. 21, 22, 23, and 38.
- B. 23, 24, 35, and 36.
- C. 31, 34, 41, and 42.

The requirements for a major in Science Education with a concentration in Biology include Mathematics 11-12, Chemistry 11, 13, 17, Physics 11-12, 21, Geology 21, 22, and a minimum of twenty-four semester hours in Biology. The concentration will include one course in each of series A and B, and two courses in series C.

11-12. General Biology.—An introduction to biological structure, function, processes, principles, and concepts. Biology 11 is concerned with environmental biology, cell structure and division, heredity, and evolution. Biology 12 continues with the evolutionary process and proceeds to cell metabolism and higher plant and mammalian biology.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. Morphology of Non-Vascular Plants.—A comparative study of structure in bacteria, fungi, algae, and bryophytes, with regard to function and phylogeny.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Morphology of Vascular Plants.—A comparative survey of vascular plants, dealing with their structure, reproduction, and development.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Invertebrate Zoology.—A phylogenetic approach to the biology of invertebrate groups.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Vertebrate Zoology.—A study of vertebrate evolution, functional morphology, natural history, and distribution. Laboratory work is devised to illustrate principles in the above areas, emphasizing field studies, classification, and examination of representative types.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Ecology.—A study of principles and concepts concerning the interactions of organisms with one another and with their environments. The laboratory consists of detailed analyses of local biotic communities.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Elementary Plant Taxonomy.—An introduction to plant classification, nomenclature, identification, distribution, and biosystematy. Prerequisite: Biology 21 or 22.

Two lecture and two three-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Microbiology.—A course treating the fundamental aspects of the biology of microorganisms, primarily bacteria. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Two lecture and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

35. Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy.—A comparative study of the organ systems of vertebrates. Selected types are dissected in the laboratory.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

36. Vertebrate Embryology.—A study of embryological development in vertebrates. Prerequisite, Biology 24 or 35.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

38. Anatomy of Seed Plants.—A study of the developmental anatomy of seed plants.

Two lecture hours and two two-hour laboratories a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

41. Animal Physiology.—A study of functions and processes in animals. Prerequisites, Biology 23, 24 or 35, Chemistry 11, 13, and Physics 11-12. Chemistry 27, 28 is recommended.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

42. Genetics.—A treatment of basic elements and practices in the science of heredity.

Prerequisites: Chemistry 11, 13 and sixteen hours in Biology, or permission of the instructor.

Three lecture hours and one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

45, 46. Biology Seminar.—Presentation of reports, discussions, lectures, and papers on selected topics in Biology. Required of Biology majors in their senior year.

One hour a week, two semesters.

Two semester hours.

50. Special Problem.—Investigation of a problem under the guidance of a faculty member, the results of which are reported in thesis form. Open to students majoring in the Department of Biology in their senior year. Credit is arranged according to the nature of the investigation.

One or two semester hours.

CHEMISTRY

DR. JAMES M. JUNG, Head of the Department

Requirements for a major in Chemistry: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Chemistry must satisfactorily complete Chemistry 11, 13, 15, 16, or 31, 27, 28, and courses numbered above Chemistry 28 to total a minimum of thirty-five semester hours. In addition, one year of Physics, and Mathematics through Calculus are required of all Chemistry majors. A reading knowledge of German and French is highly recommended.

Requirements for certification: Those who seek certification in an area of science to teach in public high schools, and choose Chemistry as an area of concentration, should satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours in this area, and six semester hours in each of the following: Physics, Earth Science, Biology, and Mathematics. To meet the minimum certification requirements in the area of Chemistry, the following program is recommended: Chemistry 11, 12, 13, 15, and two courses numbered above Chemistry 15.

11. General Chemistry.—A broad overview of the various divisions of chemistry; the basic laws and fundamentals of the science. The occurrence, preparation, and properties of the more common elements are covered. No credit toward meeting the general requirements in Natural Science will be given for Chemistry 11 until either Chemistry 12 or 13 is satisfactorily completed.

Corequisite or Prerequisite: Math. 11

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

12. General Chemistry.—A continuation of Chemistry 11. This is a terminal course for those desiring but one year of chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

13. Qualitative Analysis.—The fundamental principles, problems, and methods of separation and identification of the common cations and anion. Prerequisite, Chemistry 11.

Three lectures and four laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

15. Elementary Quantitative Analysis.—A course in principles and methods of volumetric and gravimetric analysis. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

16. Quantitative Analysis.—A continuation of volumetric and gravimetric methods, and applications of colorimetry and chromatography. Prerequisite, Chemistry 15.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Five semester hours.

17. Elementary Organic Chemistry.—An introductory course designed for nurses, medical technology students and others who desire a semester of organic chemistry. Prerequisite, one year of college chemistry.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

27, 28. Organic Chemistry.—A mechanistic approach to the chemistry of aliphatic and aromatic organic compounds. Special topics include stereochemistry, carbohydrates, amino acids and proteins. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13. Chemistry 15-16 are highly recommended as prerequisites.

Three lectures and six laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Ten semester hours.

29. Qualitative Organic Analysis.—The systematic identification of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28.

Two lectures and six laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

31. Inorganic Chemistry.—A course dealing with advanced topics in inorganic chemistry. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 15.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

32. Physiological Chemistry.—Emphasis on the chemistry of foods, drugs, vitamins and hormones as related to the life processes. Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28. Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

33. Biochemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 11, 13, 27, 28.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34, 35. Physical Chemistry.—Prerequisites, Chemistry 15-16, a year of Physics, and Mathematics through Integral Calculus.

Three lectures and three laboratory hours a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

36. Inorganic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of inorganic compounds.

Prerequisites: Chemistry 31.

Hours to be arranged.

Two semester hours.

37, 38. Chemical Research.—Open only to chemistry majors in their junior and senior years by permission of the instructor. The work may be a research problem or a thorough study of some phase of chemistry. Primarily a laboratory course.

Credit to be arranged with Instructor.

41. Organic Preparations.—A laboratory course employing special techniques in the preparation of organic compounds. Prerequisites, Chemistry 27, 28. Chemistry 29 is recommended as a prerequisite, or co-requisite.

One semester.

Two semester hours.

42. Literature Seminar.—An upper division course for chemistry majors.

Two semester hours.

GEOLOGY

DR. C. EDWARD HOWARD, Head of the Department

A candidate for a Bachelor's degree with a major in Geology must satisfactorily complete thirty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22. The candidate must also complete Mathematics 22 or equivalent, Chemistry 11 and 13, and eight semester hours of Biology or Physics with both courses being advised.

Students in Secondary Education who choose Earth Science as an area of concentration must satisfactorily complete twenty-four semester hours of Geology, including Geology 21 and 22, and a minimum of six semester hours in each of the following areas: Mathematics, Chemistry, Physics, and Biology.

21. Physical Geology.—A study of earth materials and landforms and the processes at work upon and within the earth. In the laboratory, emphasis will be placed on the identification of the common minerals and basic rock types and the use of topographic maps. A partial list of topics includes: geologic time, igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic geology; geologic structures; the action of wind, water, and glaciers.

Three hours lecture, one two-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

22. Historical Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21. A history of the earth concerned with the changes in the earth's crust and the life that has existed upon that crust. Laboratory work will include a study of fossils and an introduction to geologic maps.

Three hours lecture, one two-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

23. Elements of Crystallography and Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 21 or eight hours of Chemistry. An introduction to crystallography followed by a study of the physical and chemical properties of minerals. A number of mineral species will be studied in detail. Determinative methods will include blowpipe analysis.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

24. Optical Mineralogy.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. A study of the optical properties of minerals with the aid of the petrographic microscope.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

26. General Petrology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. Geology 24 is also recommended. A study of the mode of occurrence, composition, classification, and origin of the igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks and their relations to geological processes and earth history.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Invertebrate Paleontology.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. The systematic classification of invertebrate fossils, their geologic range, distribution and probable habitat, and the use of index-fossils in age determination of geologic formations.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

34. Structural Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 21 and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is also recommended. The recognition, description, and classification of the structures or arrangements of the rock masses in the earth's crust, and a study of the processes which produce them. In the laboratory graphic methods of solving problems of structural geology will be used.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Introduction to Field Geology.—Prerequisites: Geology 34 or permission of the instructor and a working knowledge of trigonometry. Geology 22 is recommended. Study and practice in the basic principles of geologic mapping.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Principles of Stratigraphy.—Prerequisite: Geology 22. A study of the processes of formation, composition, sequence, and correlation of the stratified rocks of the earth's crust.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Geomorphology.—Prerequisite: Geology 21. A study of the origin, evolution and classification of land forms.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week. Three semester hours.

44. Principles of Economic Geology.—Prerequisite: Geology 23. The occurrence, genesis, and the distribution of important metallic, non-metallic, and mineral fuel deposits.

Two hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

51. Geology Seminar.—Discussions and presentation of reports on selected topics.

One hour a week, one semester.

One semester hour.

GEOGRAPHY

13. Physical Geography.—An introduction to astronomy with an emphasis on the earth and the solar system followed by a study of climates, soils, and the processes involved in shaping the natural landscape.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

14. Regional Economic Geography.—A study of the continents including the geography of man's agricultural, industrial, mining and commercial activities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

PHYSICS

11, 12. General Physics.—Prerequisite Mathematics 11-12. A study of general physics with emphasis on applications. The course includes demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory work. First semester: mechanics, sound and heat. Second semester: electricity, light, and modern physics.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, two semesters.

Eight semester hours.

21. Descriptive Astronomy.—A brief descriptive course in principles, theories, and techniques of astronomy. Prerequisite: Mathematics 11-12. The laboratory consists of a basic study of light, using the telescope, and field trips to the local planetarium and other astronomical installations.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

GENERAL SCIENCE

13, 14. General Science for Elementary Teachers.—A study of the principles of the basic sciences. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, one three-hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Eight semester hours.

17. Household Physics.—A course for Home Economics Majors emphasizing the principles of physics as they apply to the home. The course consists of demonstrated lectures and coordinated laboratory assignments.

Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory a week, one semester.

Four semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION AND HEALTH

ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR: MR. MCCALL

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. COSTNER, MRS. NEWCOMER, MR. ROBERTS, MRS. LLOYD

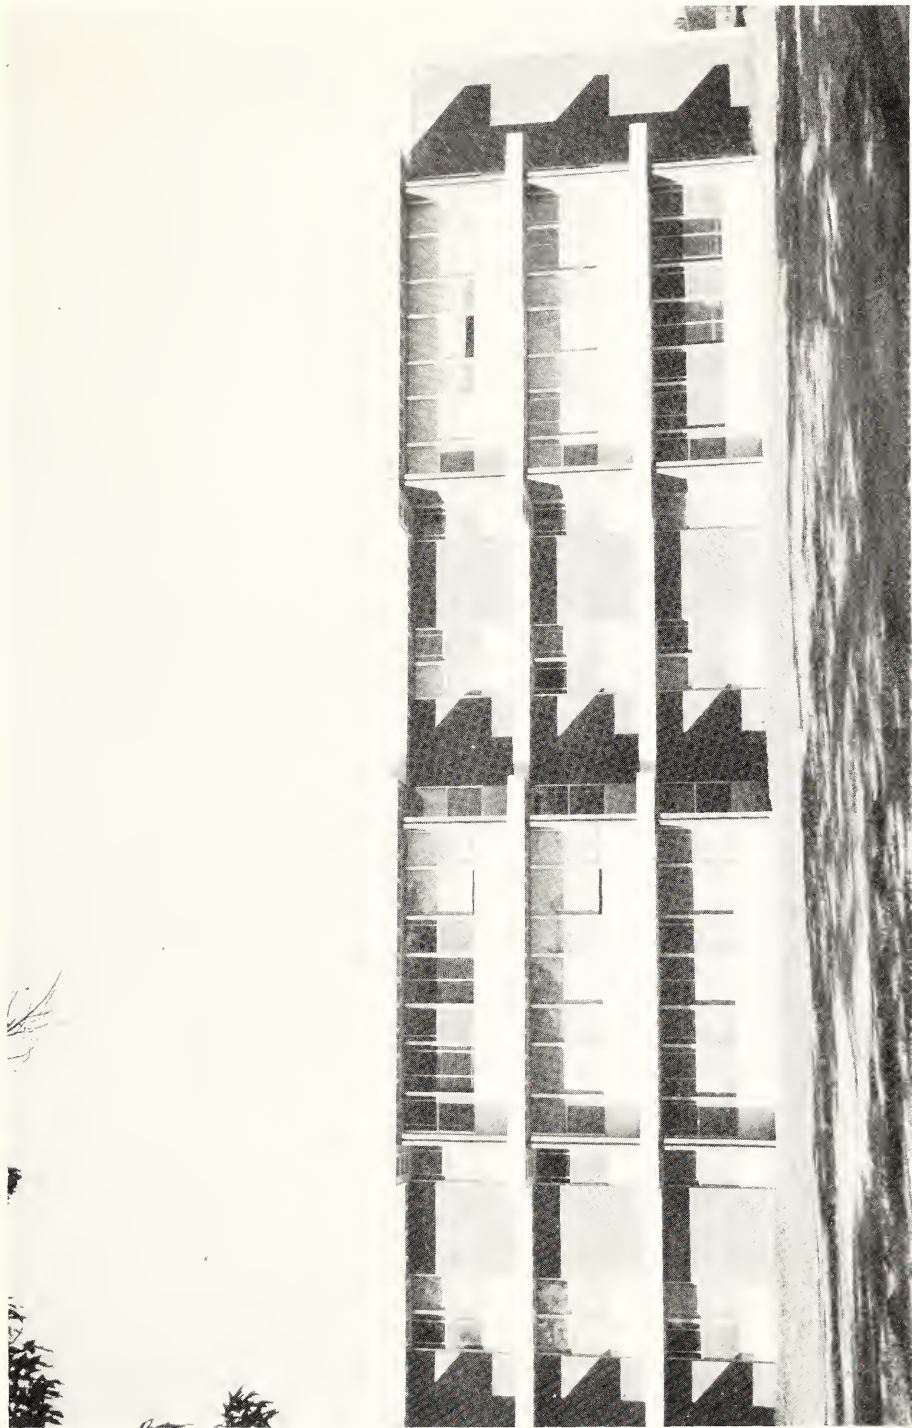

INSTRUCTORS: MR. G. BROWN, MR. COLE, MR. DAVIS, MR. HOOD

Philosophy of the Department: The department strives to provide skilled leadership and opportunities for students to participate in wholesome educational activities. The program is organized to meet the needs and interests of the students in the areas of class instruction, intramural and extramural participation, recreation, and intercollegiate athletics. In addition, a professional preparation program is offered for students who choose Physical Education and Health as a profession.

Requirements for a major in Physical Education and Health: A candidate for a B.S. degree with a major in Health and Physical Education must satisfactorily complete 36 semester hours of Health and Physical Education in addition to Health 11 and Physical Education 11, 12, 21, and 22.

The student is expected to complete the freshman and sophomore general education requirements in the first two years of the four year program. In addition to the major program, each student is required to develop competencies in a second teaching area. This involves 24 or more semester hours of course work according to the needs of the individual student. Therefore, most of the elective courses should be chosen from the courses available in the second teaching area.

All Health and Physical Education major students must complete Health 21, 22, 37, 42, and 43, and Physical Education 30, 31, 32, 35, 38, and 45. In addition, the men are required to complete Physical Education 36, 46, and 48. The women must complete Physical Education 39, 47, and 49.

Rear View South Dormitory for Men

Front View Strickland Dormitory for Women

John S. Pearson Memorial Infirmary

HEALTH

11. Health.—A study of vital phenomena and their application to the human organism. Emphasis includes fundamental biological facts of human anatomy and physiology, personal and community health, education for family living, health hazards, and mental health.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

21, 22. Applied Anatomy and Physiology.—A study of the structure and functions of the body systems in relation to the field of Health and Physical Education. May serve as an elective for pre dental, premedical, and pre nursing students by permission of the Director of Physical Education. Two semester sequence may begin either semester.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

33. Elementary School Health Program.—An investigation of the principles, practices, and procedures of teaching health in the elementary school with emphasis upon improving the health of the child through healthful school living, health services, and health instruction. For Elementary Education majors only.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

37. Safety, First Aid, and Prevention and Care of Athletic Injuries.—Instruction includes discussion and practical application of the accepted principles of Red Cross first aid and the theory and practice of athletic training and conditioning. Emphasis is placed upon safety and preventive measures with prompt treatment of athletic injuries.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

42. Individual Health and Physical Education.—Prerequisites: Health 21, and 22.—A study of the program of individual physical education for secondary schools including physiology of exercise and kinesiology as applied to pupils with various limitations.

Three hours lecture and one hour laboratory a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

43. School Health Education.—A study of principles, practices, and procedures of teaching and coordinating the school health program with the total school program at the secondary level.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours

44. First Aid for Elementary Teachers.—A study and application of the basic principles of first aid in relation to elementary school classroom and playground situations.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

30. Principles of Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to the fields of health education, physical education, and recreation including the historical, philosophical, and scientific background, training and qualifications of personnel, and professional opportunities.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

31. Organization and Administration of Health and Physical Education.—An orientation to policies, standards, procedures, and problems pertaining to organizing and administering health and physical education programs with special emphasis in the areas of administrative duties of teachers and directors, curriculum development, intramural programs, school health programs, and the duties of the coach and athletic director.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

32. Measurement and Evaluation in Health and Physical Education.—An introduction to elementary statistical procedures as they relate to constructing, administering, scoring and grading tests and measures in health and physical education. Practical application of tests of knowledge, physical fitness, general motor ability, sports skills, and other areas will be stressed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

34. Physical Education in the Elementary School.—An investigation of the principles, practices and procedures of teaching physical education in the elementary school with emphasis on curriculum development and methods and materials involved in teaching. For Elementary Education majors only.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

Professional Preparation Activity Courses.—The following are laboratory courses for physical education majors with emphasis on teaching and coaching methods and materials, fundamental skills, rules, etiquette, selection and care of equipment, history, and strategy as they apply to each activity.

35. Methods and Materials in Tennis, Badminton, and Golf.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

36. Methods and Materials in Football, Basketball and Weight Training and Isometric Exercises.

Four hours a week, one semester

Two semester hours.

38. Group Games of Low Organization and Rhythms.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

39. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Field Hockey, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

45. Methods and Materials in Track and Field, Aquatics, and Sports Officiating.

Two hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

46. Methods and Materials in Tumbling, Wrestling, and Baseball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

47. Methods and Materials in Softball and Basketball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

48. Methods and Materials in Volleyball, Soccer, Speedball, and Archery.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

49. Methods and Materials in Soccer, Speedball, and Volleyball.

Four hours a week, one semester.

Two semester hours.

11, 12. Freshmen Required Activity Courses.—Two semesters of Physical Education are required of all students. Instruction is offered in history, care of equipment and facilities, fundamental skills, and elementary or advanced strategy in each activity.

Courses 11, 12, 21, and 22 will consist of combinations of the following activities for men and women. The department recommends a balanced selection of team and individual activities. Physical Education 21-22 are intended for majors only

Men		Women
Archery	Soccer	Archery	Rhythms
Badminton	Softball	Badminton	Soccer
Basketball	Tennis	Basketball	Softball
Golf	Track and Field	Field Hockey	Tennis
Physical Conditioning	Touch Football	Golf	Tumbling
Recreational Games	Tumbling	Recreational Games	Volleyball
Rhythms	Volleyball
	Wrestling

Uniforms for Activity Classes.—All students in required physical education activity classes must wear the regulation uniform prescribed for the activity in which they are engaged. Physical Education major students must wear the uniforms designated for the professional preparation program. Uniforms may be purchased at the College Book Store.

INDIVIDUAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Students with limitations are assigned to classes in which they may participate according to their capacities. The department strives to work with students and physicians in order to offer satisfying experiences through physical activities. Course offerings are based upon the recommendations of physicians in relation to the student needs. Where conditions warrant, a student may be exempted by joint action of the Dean of Instruction and the Director of Physical Education.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

PROFESSORS: DR. BUNN, DR. LANGSTON, DR. NEWMAN

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: DR. COCKBURN, DR. KEYSER, DR. MURRELL, MR. NEWTON

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR: DR. MALLORY

The specific aim of the Department of Religion is to seek self-consciously and directly to study and declare the reality of God as He is disclosed through scripture, proclaimed in the church and believed by Christians for the express purpose of shaping character in obedience to truth. The specific aim of the division of Philosophy is to search for truth through logical reasoning.

Purposes and Programs: The department serves four distinct purposes. One, it offers an entire year of Biblical Studies in order to acquaint every student with the demands and promises of God disclosed in the literature of the Old and New Testaments. Religion 11 and 12 fulfill the general Religion requirement for all degree programs. Two, it offers numerous elective courses to all students, especially those interested in the Liberal Arts. Any student concerned with deepening his knowledge of religion and philosophical beliefs will discover that these courses contribute significantly to a constructive and critical vision of human existence. Three, it offers a Major in Religion, B.A. only, to any student interested in concentrating in the Liberal Arts. The versatility of this major permits the student to take numerous electives in the related humanities. Four, it offers pre-professional and professional programs to students pursuing a church-related vocation. The Concentration in Religious Education prepares a student for either graduate study in this field or immediate entrance to a church educational career. The suggested Pre-Seminary Block in Religion is designed to equip a student for advanced studies in a theological seminary.

All students receiving scholarships from the school because of their church related vocations commitment are required to take one religion course, or the equivalent, each semester while enrolled. It is recommended that all Christian vocation students who do not elect to receive scholarship aid take as many elective courses, as feasible, in the field of Religion and Philosophy.

Requirements for a Major in Religion: 30 semester hours to be distributed among five areas.

Area One: Biblical Studies, courses numbered 11, 12, 21, 22, 31-32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 45, 46.

Area Two: Religion Seminar, courses numbered 51-52.

Area Three: Christian Thought, courses numbered 25, 26, 47.

Area Four: History of Christianity, courses numbered 37, 38, 48.

Area Five: Religion and Culture, Religious Education courses numbered 25, 26, 36, 45. Religion courses numbered 41, 42.

A major is required to take 12 hours in Area One, 6 hours in Area Two, 3 hours in Area Three, 3 hours in Area Four, 3 hours in Area Five and 3 additional hours from Area Three, Four, or Five. A major should fulfill his language requirements in either German or French.

Requirements for a Concentration in Religious Education: 36 semester hours, including 12 hours in Area One; 18 hours in Religious Education courses, and 6 hours chosen from Education 31, Education 55, or Areas One through Five.

Pre-Seminary Block in Religion: 24 semester hours. The following courses are suggested for pre-seminary students. Religion 11, 12 (Freshman Year); Religion 21, 22 (Sophomore Year); Religion 31-32 (Junior Year); Religion 51-52 (Senior Year). Students taking this Block are encouraged to major in English, Foreign Language, History, Psychology, Religion, or Social Science.

RELIGION

11. Introduction to the Old Testament.—A course designed to acquaint the beginning student with the necessary framework of reference for Biblical study. Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Ancient Near Eastern Archaeology.—A comparative survey of the origin and development of cultures in the Indus, Mesopotamian, and Nile Valleys. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies and History 11 and 12.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

46. Biblical Archaeology.—A study of archaeological findings from surface exploration and excavation which relate to Biblical documents and times.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

47. Contemporary Theology.—An introduction to the major theological literature of our time. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the central questions posed by this literature so that he may become constructively engaged in the contemporary dialogue. Prerequisite: either Rel. 25 or 38.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

48. Christian Missions.—A course designed to acquaint the student with the Biblical, historical and current missionary principles and practices. Prerequisite: six hours of Biblical studies.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

51-52. Religion Seminar.—The seminar, with guided reading, independent research, and lecture seeks to orient the student in major Christian traditions, theological problems, and Biblical criticism. Prerequisite: Pre-seminary students or Religion majors only.

Three hours a week, two semesters.

Six semester hours.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

25. Survey of Religious Education.—An introduction to the principles upon which a program of religious education is based with an appraisal of the various agencies for carrying on the program. Designed to orient those who are emphasizing religious education and to prepare Christian laymen for more effective service in the church.

Three hours a week, one semester

Three semester hours.

26. Educational Organizations.—A study of church organizations and methods used in promoting a well-rounded program of religious education through the church. The course consists of the development of a church calendar with an understanding of the purpose of the various activities which should be included.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

35. Developmental Psychology.—A study of the various age groups from infant through old age. The unfolding life in its physical, mental, social and spiritual aspects is discussed along with the developmental tasks which confront each age group. Prerequisite: A course in general psychology.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

36. Teaching of Religion.—A study of the principles, materials, and methods of education in general and religious education in particular. Enlistment and training of teachers for a local church will be discussed.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

41. Recreational Leadership.—A study of the needs and values of a recreation program, the principles to be followed, and the materials and methods to be used.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

45. Psychology of Religion.—A study of the psychological aspects of religious experience. The course is designed to give students a degree of psychological insight into their own spiritual experiences and to understand better the work of Christian counseling.

Three hours a week, one semester.

Three semester hours.

53. Problems of Religious Education.—A consideration of the various problems encountered by those who are responsible for leadership in the field of religious education. Research and background for participation in the Depth Study (57) will be included.

Six hours a week, one-half semester.

Three semester hours.

57. Depth Study.—A descriptive study of the educational program of a local church which has a professional minister of education. The study will be conducted on a full-time basis during one-half of a semester. The results of the findings will be presented in senior thesis form. Prerequisite: Rel. Ed. 53.

Full-time, one-half semester.

Six semester hours.

PHILOSOPHY

21. Great Questions in Philosophy.—A systematic introduction to the major philosophical problems, designed to help each student to develop his own philosophy.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
22. The Art of Clear Thinking.—An elementary course in logic, designed to help each student to reason correctly, both deductively and inductively.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
31. Ancient and Medieval Philosophy.—An historical study of the development of philosophical ideas from Ancient Greece through the renaissance.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
32. Modern and Contemporary Philosophy.—An historical study of philosophic literature since Descartes.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
38. Science, Philosophy and Faith.—A review of the history of the scientific movement and its consequences in both philosophy and theology.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
39. The Problem of Evil.—An historical study of the problem of evil with special consideration for its implications for the traditional Theism.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.
45. Philosophy of History.—An examination of prevalent interpretations of History with particular reference to those implicit in Western culture.
Three hours a week, one semester. Three semester hours.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

PROFESSORS: DR. GASS, MR. TRIPP

ASSOCIATE PROFESSORS: MR. GRAHAM, DR. HAYNES, DR. MOORE,
DR. NEWCOMER, DR. BROWN

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS: MR. EASLEY, DR. MALLORY, MRS. RIDDLE,
MR. JACKSON

INSTRUCTORS: MR. MOSS, MRS. SCOGGIN

Requirements for a major in Social Sciences: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in the social sciences must complete satisfactorily at least 42 semester hours in the social sciences, which must include History 11-12. He will concentrate in one field of the social sciences by completing at least 18 hours in economics, geography, sociology, government, or history. In addition, he will complete 6 hours in each of three fields of the social sciences other than the field of concentration; but History 11-12 shall in no case count toward the fulfillment of this requirement.

Requirements for a major in History: A candidate for the Bachelor of Arts or the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in history must complete satisfactorily at least 30 semester hours of history, which must include History 11-12 and History 21-22, and six hours of non-United States history on the Junior-Senior level. In addition, he must complete satisfactorily the following related courses: Government 29, Economics 23-24, and either Geography 13 or Sociology 25.

Requirements for teacher certification in the social studies: The student who desires certification for the teaching of the social studies in the secondary schools, regardless of the degree or major sought, is to complete 24 semester hours in history, including History 11-12 and History 21-22. In addition, the student is to complete 6 hours in each of the following: economics, sociology, geography, and government.

LIFE ON THE CAMPUS

Nowhere in all human experience is there to be found an exact counterpart to life on a college campus. Properly planned and self directed, the varied activities on a college campus provide a student with some of the happiest, most meaningful, and decisive experiences of a lifetime; otherwise, this same period, misused and misdirected by an immature, mischief-bent student, can mark the beginning of his downfall. Particularly for the Freshman, away for the first time from the influences of a good home, his choice of friends, his selection of amusements, and his use of spare time, in a large measure will determine success or failure in college. Obviously, the wise student will budget well his spare time, so as to participate in a variety of valuable experiences from a broad range of student activities.

Religious Activities

Most unwise is the student who neglects the cultivation of his religious life in college. Under the unifying efforts of the Baptist Student Union, the college provides a full range of activities for the student. Other denominational groups include the Canterbury Club, the Methodist Student Movement, the Newman Club, and the Westminster Fellowship. The college sponsors brief chapel programs, with compulsory student attendance, three days a week. Religious Focus Week is conducted each year. Attendance upon church services is encouraged.

Publications

Students, under faculty supervision, publish a weekly newspaper, Creek Pebbles, and a comprehensive college yearbook, The Pine Burr. Together, these publications afford useful and entertaining journalistic experience, while preserving an interesting portrayal of student life.

Music and Dramatics

In order to meet the musical interest of the student body, the Campbell College Music Department sponsors six musical organizations. Instrumentalists may perform with the Concert Band, the Brass Ensemble and the Stage Band. In vocal music, participation is offered in the Touring Choir, the Collegiate Choir and the Chamber Choir. Secular and sacred concerts are performed on and off campus throughout the year.

The Campbell Players, a dramatics club, regularly present two or more full-length productions during the year. Both the dramatics and the musical groups participate in the annual speech festival of the North Carolina Intercollegiate Speech Association.

Clubs

Some thirty campus clubs promote a wide range of student interests, such as literature, religion, dramatics, languages, scholarship, athletics, chess. Such activities give opportunity for strengthening grasp of subject matter, broadening experiences of cultural value, and developing companionships begun in the various classrooms.

ATHLETICS

Intramural

An extensive intramural program, open to all students, supplements the formal curriculum in physical education at Campbell. Spirited participation in touch football, basketball, volleyball and softball enlivens the campus and encourages friendly rivalry among the residence halls.

Intercollegiate

Campbell teams compete in intercollegiate basketball and baseball among the major sports, and also in golf, track, soccer, and tennis.

POLICIES OF GOVERNMENT

Traditionally this institution has believed in student participation in government, having inaugurated even as a junior college with a high school department, a faculty-student form of administration. The success of any form of government, however, depends upon whether integrity, excellence of character, sense of what is right, courage and honor govern the decisions and actions of the group governed. As a senior college with more mature student leadership greater participation in the regulation of their own affairs is accorded students, commensurate with their assumption of responsibility for the preservation of the established aims and objectives of the college.

Hopefully, students at Campbell will through closer understanding of administrative aims realize increasingly that rules are enacted solely to protect and augment individual rights and welfare. After all, the purpose of even restrictive legislation pertaining to harmful self-indulgences and group violations of public conscience, is the establishment of Christian standards of conduct and enhancement of the institution's service to student groups.

The Student Government of Campbell College proposes to promote good citizenship and school loyalty by precept and example, to foster a better relationship and understanding between all groups associated in any way with the college, to forestall any unwholesome conditions, to make adjustments in the case of individuals or groups who violate the accepted standards of conduct, and to project proposals of amendments and improvements in the existing regulations and policies for the benefit of the college.

The Student Government Council is composed of duly elected student members, as provided for in the Student Handbook, and the Dean of the College, Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, Dean of Men, and two faculty members appointed by the President of the College, serving as advisors.

Two auxiliary councils; the Woman's Executive Council and the Men's Executive Council, share with this council the responsibility for and jurisdiction over their respective campuses. These two executive councils are responsible to the Student Government Association.

In each of the several residence halls on both the woman's campus and the men's campus, councils known locally as house councils are charged with the responsibility, along with the dormitory supervisor, of dealing with less serious infractions, and enforcement of dormitory regulations. The several councils are responsible to the Executive Council of that particular campus.

GENERAL RULES OF GOVERNMENT APPLYING TO STUDENTS

1. Any student enrolled in Campbell College who engages in activities or conducts himself, either on the campus or away from the college community, in such a manner as to reflect adversely on himself or the college, is subject to disciplinary action or expulsion. Students en route to and from the college are subject to the regulations of the college.
2. In accordance with the traditions and policies of the college, gambling, stealing and use of intoxicants and immorality are not condoned. Those guilty of these and other infractions are subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government. Penalties for such infractions will be recorded on the student's permanent record and reported to his or her parents or guardian.
3. Dishonesty in all forms is destructive to individual and social security and cannot become a part of any sound preparation for successful living. Freedoms and privileges in college life can be granted and preserved only upon the basis of individual and group honor. Cheating on the part of students, whether in quoting passages from others without proper acknowledgment in written assignment or in obtaining secretly disallowed information on examinations, condemns a student as dishonest. Students and faculty are under obligation to report such infractions either to the Student Government Association or to the Dean of the College.

4. Attendance at Chapel, Church School and worship services is considered a part of the student's obligation for his own Christian training. Attendance upon brief chapel programs two or three days each week is compulsory.
5. Hazing is a violation of local and State statutes. Students found guilty of participating in conduct normally interpreted as hazing will be subject to disciplinary action by the Student Government Association.
6. The use of profanity is everywhere obnoxious in the best society and is therefore a violation of our rules of conduct.
7. Smoking is discouraged. Smoking in classroom buildings, auditoriums, cafeteria, library and gymnasium is not permitted.
8. Students are warned that the possession of firecrackers and explosives is a violation of State and local regulations and will not be permitted on the college campus.
9. For the safety of the student, and for the convenience of the college, the student's parents, and those who might call or visit the campus, all boarding students should advise the dormitory proctor when they are leaving the campus. Additional information concerning such matters will be found in the Student Handbook.
10. Any student withdrawing from the college without the approval of the Dean of the College, the Business Manager, Librarian, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women, and the Registrar, forfeits the right to an honorable dismissal. Request for withdrawal should be presented in writing and in most instances, signed by parent and guardian. Such requests must be submitted at least twenty-four hours before the proposed departure of the student.
11. Student organizations or groups should obtain permission in advance from the Dean of Students before planning or promoting dinners, socials, and other functions off the campus.
12. The organization of social fraternities and sororities is not in keeping with the tradition and philosophy of Campbell College.
13. In compliance with the announced wishes of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention, the college does not permit dancing on college property, or elsewhere under its auspices.
14. Young ladies when signing out for dating or other special privileges, on or off the campus, will be held responsible for any deviations from the terms of the sign out understanding.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING USE OF COLLEGE PROPERTY

1. All non-resident students who do not establish a home in the local area will be considered boarding students so far as general student regulations and activities are concerned.
2. Students responsible for damage to college property are required to pay for it. After careful checking to determine the identity of the person responsible, it may be necessary to assess the damage among all the occupants of a room, suite, or dormitory.
3. The occupant or occupants of a dormitory room are held responsible for good housekeeping procedures. For health and sanitary reasons the keeping of animals and pets of any kind in residence halls is denied.
4. Dormitory occupants are expected to supply all such personal necessities as pillows, two or three changes of sheets, pillow cases, blankets, spreads, towels, bathcloths, etc. All dormitories have single beds. The construction of the newer dormitories makes the hanging of curtains and draperies undesirable and difficult.
5. Radios and record players are permitted so long as they do not interfere with the normal routine of others. Students should not bring television sets since most of the dormitories have a television in the lounge.
6. Short wave radios and similar equipment may not be installed in the dormitories. No provision is made for installation of private telephones in dormitory rooms.
7. The more recently constructed buildings have built-in bookshelves and study tables. Those living in the older buildings might find it convenient to bring with them a study lamp. All dormitory rooms are supplied with brooms, dust-pans, etc.

REGULATIONS PERTAINING TO POSSESSION AND USE OF AUTOMOBILES

1. The privilege of having a vehicle on the campus will be under the provision of a merit system. If the resident student fails to meet the stated standards, he or she will be denied the privilege of having the car until the conditions have been met. No refund nor adjustment of fees will be made should he or she be found ineligible to continue to keep the car on the campus.
2. Registration of vehicles will be conducted as a part of the college registration process at the beginning of the semester. A car acquired or brought to the campus after registration must be registered promptly. Additional information concerning the privileges of having an automobile on campus will be found in the Student Handbook.

3. Each vehicle used or parked on the campus must be registered and must display an official parking sticker. The person to whom the registration sticker is issued will be held responsible for traffic violations involving that vehicle.

OTHER INFORMATION

1. Those coming to the area by plane would normally arrive at the Raleigh-Durham Airport. The nearest Atlantic Coast-line Railway Station is Dunn, and the most convenient Seaboard Airline Railway Station is Raleigh. Bus schedules from Raleigh and Fayetteville provide access to Buies Creek.
2. The local post office is situated on the college campus. Students may secure a post office box or pick up their mail general delivery. All correspondence directed to students in care of the college should be delivered with no appreciable delay.
3. Those desiring additional information on rules governing student life and student activities should direct a written statement to, or visit with, the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.
4. Students convicted of serious infractions of school regulations forfeit their eligibility for positions on the B.S.U. Council, the dormitory council, the executive council, or the Student Government and other places of responsibility in extra-curricular activities and membership in the Epsilon Pi Eta.
5. Students are responsible for compliance with policies stated in the annual Student Handbook, which is a supplement to the catalogue. The Administration endeavors to supply each student seeking admission a copy of the Student Handbook prior to the date of registration.

CLASS ATTENDANCE REGULATIONS

Campbell College believes that every class hour is important. It keeps attendance records for all class and laboratory sessions and for the daily chapel periods. All absences are recorded on individual student cards in the Registrar's office.

In order to allow students some latitude in attending to important personal matters, during a full semester two unexcused absences from any class, except laboratory, and three unexcused absences from chapel may be allowed Freshmen and Sophomores who have been admitted without restrictions. Students admitted on probation may not take unexcused absences from any class. They are allowed the three unexcused absences from chapel during one semester.

Some students are admitted on academic probation. They are not privileged to be absent from classes without excuse for the duration of the probation. Occasionally, a student is permitted to enroll after the opening weeks of the term. All late enrollees forfeit the privilege of absences if they have not attended the first five meetings of a class.

Should a student enroll at the regularly appointed time and because of adjustment in schedule fail to meet a class prior to the fifth meeting of that class, the student will be considered ineligible for unexcused absences in that particular class.

A student who has been absent for valid reasons may submit a request for excused absences in the Registrar's office. To receive consideration, such requests must be filed not later than seven days following student's return to class. Whenever possible, the student should anticipate his absence and receive approval from the Registrar and notify his teachers.

Students not on probation who are classified by the Registrar's office as Juniors or Seniors may be entitled to six unexcused absences from one-hour classes and four unexcused absences from classes meeting one and one-half hours at a time for three semester hours credit. They are allowed three unexcused absences from chapel during one semester.

Should an upper classman fail to maintain an average of C on his work, he will be entitled to only two unexcused class absences and three unexcused Chapel absences.

Students on academic probation should not incur absences so as to participate in extra-curricular activities unless with permission of the Dean of the College.

All students are expected to remember:

1. Except by a special ruling of the faculty committee, no student will be given credit for a course unless he has attended seventy-five per cent of the class meetings in that course for the semester
2. No student should expect an excuse from regularly announced tests unless providentially hindered from attending class.
3. The grade of a student dropping a course without permission of the Dean or Registrar and the instructor is recorded F.
4. Absences incurred while representing the college on an athletic team, debate team, glee club or other college-sponsored activity, will be recorded as excused absences provided the sponsor of the group requests such excuses of the Registrar's office.
5. Before the group leaves the campus the faculty sponsor of any organization that wishes to claim excused absences for students under the regulations above stated will furnish the Dean with the names of the students involved, the time the group is to leave and return, and the persons going as chaperones.

6. The faculty sponsors of an organization, after securing the approval of the Dean of the College, may arrange for students to attend programs or other activities in lieu of regular class attendance.
7. Three tardies are equivalent to one absence.
8. The parent's written request for a student to be absent from duties at the college is usually granted in the case of emergencies, but the parent is warned that absences seriously interfere with the student's work. The parent must accept responsibility for such absences and the consequence. It is hoped that parents will not send requests except in an emergency.
9. Faculty members may warn a student if he is in danger of exceeding the number of excused absences allowed, but the responsibility for penalties invoked for violations of the above regulations must be assumed by the student.
10. When a Freshman or Sophomore has exceeded the two unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
11. When a Junior or Senior has exceeded the number of unexcused absences allowed in a class during a semester, he will receive a semester grade of F after the first overcut. Any combination of ten excessive absences from classes or chapel will result in a suspension, without credit for the work attempted.
12. If a student who has been suspended from school for overcutting, returns to school and again begins to overcut, he will be permanently expelled. More detailed information concerning attendance regulations will be found in the student handbook.

ELIGIBILITY REGULATIONS

1. No student will be allowed to take part in intercollegiate contests during a semester if he registered later than the fifteenth calendar day following the opening date of the semester.
2. No student who is taking less than three-fourths of a normal load of scholastic work, shall be permitted to represent the college in any contest or any public performance.
3. No one who passed during the previous semester less than eight semester hours and physical education will be permitted to represent the College in any contest or public performance.
4. No one will be allowed to represent the college in any contest or public performance who has a deficit at the beginning of the semester of twenty or more quality points.

REGULATIONS REGARDING SICKNESS

1. Except for emergency cases students needing medical attention should report to the college nurse during office hours.

2. Students are expected to conform at all times to the instructions of the college nurse or college physician as to when to enter and leave the infirmary and when to report for examination or treatment.

3. No meals will be served students in their rooms except upon instructions of the nurse.

4. The college administration assumes no responsibility for complications arising from sickness when the student fails to comply with regulations and instructions of the medical staff or to report promptly such sickness.

5. The college administration will honor no excuses from resident students for any absences on the ground of sickness except upon a statement from the college nurse. The nurse will not offer such statements for absences incurred before such sickness is reported to her.

6. In order that the health record of each student may be complete, each student is required to report to the nurse any visit to the college physician for professional services.

7. If a student requires any professional services other than furnished by the college medical staff, upon returning to school the student will bring a written statement giving the date and general nature of such service, in order that the college nurse may issue excuses for any absence incurred.

8. According to good medical practices and the best interest of the health of the total student group, students should not expect visits from fellow students while confined to the infirmary. Those wishing to visit the sick will normally be denied that privilege.

EPSILON PI ETA SOCIETY

The Epsilon Pi Eta Society was organized in the fall of 1928, for the express purpose of promoting character, leadership and scholarship. Membership in the society is gained by the nomination of at least twenty-five per cent of both the faculty and members of the society, in addition to attaining a fixed scholarship record for at least one year.

HOW TO APPLY FOR ADMISSION

DIRECTIONS FOR THOSE BEGINNING COLLEGE WORK

1. Study the catalogue (copies may be obtained by writing to the Director of Admissions).
2. Ask the Director of Admissions to answer any questions concerning the college or its program.
3. If possible, visit the college, preferably with your parents, to tour the campus and to discuss your program of study.
4. Obtain from the Admissions Office the necessary forms.
5. Complete the application form carefully and attach a recent photograph. With the application enclose the ten-dollar processing fee, and, if you wish to reserve dormitory accommodations, the ten-dollar room deposit. Mail the application to the Director of Admissions.
6. With the assistance of your principal or guidance counselor, make the necessary arrangements for taking the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board. Request that the scores be sent to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, Buies Creek, North Carolina. (Code 5100)
7. Upon completing the first half of the senior year, have your high school principal send to the Registrar of the college a record of all high school work attempted.
8. Have your personal physician send the Student Health Service form fully and properly completed to the Director of Admissions.
9. Upon graduation: (a) ask the high school to send to the Registrar of the college a supplementary transcript recording the grades and credits earned during the last semester, and (b) have your family physician complete the Student Health Service form and mail it to the Director of Admissions.

DIRECTIONS FOR PROSPECTIVE TRANSFER

1. Follow steps 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 8.
2. Make available your scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board.
3. Request the Registrar of the college at which you are now in attendance, or if not now in school the Registrar of the school where last in attendance, to mail to the Director of Admissions, Campbell College, a complete transcript. If you have been in attendance at more than one college, the Registrar of each institution should mail to the Campbell College Director of Admissions a transcript of all work attempted in that school.

4. Request a letter of recommendation from a responsible official of the college previously attended.

SUMMER SCHOOL TRANSFER

Students enrolling at Campbell College for the summer program should secure from the proper school official to which the credit will be transferred a statement certifying approval of such plans and listing approved courses.

PROVISIONAL ADMISSIONS

Should a student be admitted without completing the admissions procedure, he will not be eligible for credit on work done at Campbell College until he has satisfactorily met the requirements of the Admissions Office.
